After knocking out Johnny Fitzpatrick the evening before, Danny Paul, Alberta heavyweight, stepped into the ring of the National sporting club at London three years ago tonight and outpointed Dan McCorkindale of South Africa in 12 rounds. Paul signed to fight McCorkindale after the latter's original opponent, Bill Mainwright, champion of the English Midlands, became ill with influenza.

Kingston Wants Majors Hoisted Out

KINGSTON, Feb. 13.—Kingston Combines have appealed to the highest courts in sport to have the O.H.A. reconsider its decision on Hamilton's default of a senior O.H.A. game with Port Colborne. Officers of the Kingston club claim that according to the O.H.A. constitution, which leaves no alternative, that Hamilton should be debarred from further competition in the O.H.A., which would automatically reinstate Kingston Combines, who were eliminated by Port Colborne's upset victory in the last scheduled game last Friday.

Kingston appealed to the Ontario Athletic Commission yesterday to launch an investigation and also protested to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the Ontario Hockey Association.

The two night meetings of the O.H.A. subcommittee in Toronto which reached the decision to tax Hamilton $800 instead of barring the team for defaulting, has been questioned.

The constitution rules that any team defaulting a game without suitable notice or excuse is debarred from further competition but the O.H.A. claimed that there is another clause that gives the executive power to change regulations.

Kingston hockey officials claim this is the second revision of the constitution in judgments against Kingston as last year the Kingston team as O.H.A. senior B champions was deprived of a constitutional chance to play the N.O.H.A. champions in a Provincial playoff.

Board Of Works Budgets For $88,850

A requisition of $88,850 was proposed to the City Council last night by the Board of Works whose account for last year showed an overdraft of $3,580.85.

The Board actually expended in 1941 the large sum of $147,950.19, but one-third of that amount represented a credit with Wartime Housing Limited for work done on the Burnham's Point and Park Hill Road properties where temporary communities were supplied with such services as sewers, graded roads, and other accommodation for which the work was done by employees of the Board.

Total credit from Wartime Housing was $50,369.34, leaving a net expenditure of $97,580.85 drawn from the city treasury. The appropriation to the Board last year was $94,000.

Even a casual analysis of the Board's balance sheet indicates that the department kept a close watch on its spending limit. One of the unforeseen items was $4,278.52 for cost of living bonus to employees of the Board, and when that sum is set off against the deficit of $3,580.85, it is evident that the final result would otherwise have been a slight surplus.

Streets and Bridges.

The Board is asking or $51,150 to be spent on roads and bridges this year.

In 1941 the expenditure under this main heading was $68,114.06, minus credits of $5,763.16, leaving the net expenditure at $62,350.90, and the appropriation for this part of the Board's work was $57,800.

Several of the other items comprising the Board's estimates are: Snow removal, $16,000; dust laying, $8,000; new equipment, $3,500; and sewage disposal, $9,000.

The shadow of A.R.P. passed over the tabulating of this year's costs. The Board spent $472.57 in 1941 on small tools, and recommends that this item be increased to $1,000. Alderman Dutton said he attended the Civilian Defence Committee meeting last Sunday, and noted the comments of W. J. Scott, Ontario Fire Marshall, about the advisability of having on hand an adequate supply of crowbars, picks, winches, and other tools of that kind.

Alderman Dutton said it seemed an exceedingly remote possibility that Peterborough would ever experience the need of such equipment by reason of enemy air raids, "but we would be in a bad way if we ever did need them for that purpose and did not have them at hand."

Cost of drains dug by the Board last year included the following: Albert Street $5,335.93, Bethune $175.93, Lynch Street $186.44, Kent $191.81, Maple $195.93, Pine $303.91, Lafayette $647, Chamberlain Street $1,135.

ly for a day when snow and sleet shrouded the strait, the Nazis were ready yesterday to take their great risk in daylight, giving their great ships the protection also of naval forces and air fighters supplied in relays from the French coast.

Although the shores of France are visible in clear weather from the English cliffs across the Dover Strait, the joint communique said the weather was so thick the enemy ships were not once spotted from this shore.

6 Torpedo Hits

At least six torepdo hits were believed to have been scored but there was no indication of their effectiveness.

One, air-launched, was credited to a Swordfish plane and three more to Beaufort torpedo-bombers. The others were sent scudding through the murk from torpedo tubes of a destroyer and a motor torpedo boat.

"At about 11 a.m. yesterday (Thursday), Royal Air Force fighter aircraft reported an enemy squadron consisting of the Scharnhorst, the Gneisenau and the Prinz Eugen, acompanied by destroyers, torpedo boats, E-boats and minesweepers, were approaching the Dover Strait from the west," said the joint communique in the first account of the battle.

"The enemy squadron also was heavily escorted by fighter aircraft.

"Visibility at this time varied from three to five miles. On receipt of this report, coastal craft of the Dover naval command immediately were sent out to attack, together with Swordfish aircraft of the fleet air arm, strongly escorted by R.A.F. fighters.

"Attacks by both Swordfish and coastal aircraft were pressed close to home in the face of intense fire from all vessels and opposition by enemy fighters.

"Reports indicate the Swordfish scored at least one hit on one of the enemy heavy ships and one of the motor torpedo boats also claimed a possible hit, but owing to the intense barrage and the heavy smoke screen put up by the enemy it was impossible to see the results. Six Swordfish aircraft are missing.

Dover Guns In Action

"During this time the Dover defences opened fire at extreme range, which was replied to by enemy shore batteries.

"The attacks were pressed home with the greatest determination in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire and strong fighter opposition, which resulted in the loss of twenty of our bombers....and sixteen fighters.

"Fifteen enemy fighters were destroyed by our fighter escort and at least three more by the bombers themselves."

At 3.34 p.m.—when the nautical hare-and-hound chase had been thrashing through the channel for more than four and one-half hours —British destroyers sighted the quarry and, the communique said, "went into the attack in the face of heavy bombing, and also heavy gunfire from all the enemy's surface ships.

"Our destroyers took advantage of a rain squall to press the attack home. There is reason to believe that at least one torpedo hit was obtained. Casualties in our destroyers were not heavy."

One question Britons were sure to ask their war leaders was how the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau and Prinz Eugen could put to sea in trim for a perilous challenge to Britain's sea might after having sat through more than 100 air attacks on Brest, of which they presumably were the specific targets of 66. The last was Wednesday—just a day before they sallied forth.

Brest a Hot Spot.

Authoritative sources pointed out they were small targets in a large space and that the harbor of Brest was singularly defensible against aerial torpedo attacks which caused such havoc to the Italian fleet at Taranto.

There has been doubt among informed observers for some time that the ships ever had been critically damaged and some experts even questioned whether the attacks were worth their cost.

Another likely question was why Hitler took such great chances to get the ships out of Brest. The concensus was that he hoped to use the hard-hitting surface boats on the Atlantic supply lanes with the U-boats to strike heavily at both Britain and the United States.

A second possibility, that the three warships are to be taken circuitously to the Mediterranean for an expected major drive there, also was given some credence.

A third theory was that Germany is projecting an invasion attempt against Britain, but this was viewed as less plausible than the others.

The proposed plebiscite in which the government plans to seek release from its pledges against conscription was a theme of all the speeches but one.

W. R. Aylesworth (Con. Frontenac-Addington) had the distinction of being the only speaker who failed to mention it.

He appealed for consideration of the farming community as a vital and essential part of the war effort, and as a group that must be aided if the supply of foodstuffs from Canada is to be maintained; and urged creation of a land army of men and women at army rates of pay, prepared to serve where needed.

Two Bolt Party

There were two outright bolters from the Liberal ranks as far as the plebiscite is concerned. Emmanuel D'Anjou (Lib. Rimouski), said he would vote against the plebiscite being held and would work against it in his constituency. Maurice Bourget (Lib. Levis) also opposed the proposed national vote on grounds it is a source of disunity and an opening wedge for union government and conscription.

But other French-speaking Quebec members promised their support of the plebiscite although saying they would oppose conscription.

The one English-speaking Quebec member who spoke—F. P. Whitman (Lib. Montreal-Mount Royal), a veteran of the first Great War—said conscription should be enforced if necessary and he added, if it is considered necessary to have such a measure, the government should bring it in at once, even before the plebiscite is held.

It was Mr. Whitman who suggested "the appointment of a controller to insist that the freedom of the press is guaranteed to papers that print only facts and not propaganda that undermines our war effort." He did not elaborate on this proposal.

He also recommended enactment of some form of compulsory savings for the duration of the war, bearing heavily on large incomes and easily on those in the smaller brackets.

He suggested Finance Minister Ilsley feel free to take any action he might consider desirable for conscription of accumulated wealth.

Close Early Next Week.

There were signs the debate might end early next week and a vote by Tuesday was considered a possibility. Introduction of the plebiscite bill is to follow immediately after voting on the address and its amendments is completed.

Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F., Weyburg) said the extent to which factional strife was developing in Canada caused him to dread the future.

Much of this strife was due to the efforts of "certain groups" to gain power so they might regiment labor and exploit the farmer, Mr. Douglas said, but there was also widespread dissatisfaction over failure of the Government to give leadership.

He scored the Government for permitting the Vichy government to maintain a legation in Ottawa after British sailors had died in combat with the Vichy French forces.

Recalling that Prime Minister Mackenzie King had justified his action on the ground Prime Minister Churchill wanted the legation here, Mr. Douglas said "the Prime Minister has a marvellous faculty of finding some one else's skirts behind which to hide."

L. Philip Picard (Lib. Bellechase) said French-Canadian had proved their willingness to fight for the Empire on foreign fields in the South African war, in the first Great War and in the present conflict.

But they would never willingly accept conscription which would force them to fight outside Canada, unless convinced that it is the only way to save their country. They would be hard to convince, he said.

Nevertheless he urged his fellow Quebec members to support the plebiscite and give an affirmative answer to the question.

Get The Japs Out Of B.C.

Arthur Slaght (Lib. Parry Sound) made the suggestion for appointment of parliamentary under-secretaries. It had been forecast in the speech from the throne in 1936, he recalled, and he had been disappointed when the government did not proceed with the proposal.

He named 16 members including representatives of the opposition, who he believed would be valuable assistance to over-worked members of the cabinet war committee, and recommended them to the government.

Mr. Slaght pleaded for harmony and united effort to win the war.

Enemies within had been the answer to lightning victories achieved by the Axis powers, he said, and added:

"Let us get the Japanese out of British Columbia before irreparable damage may be done. Three days from now may be too late."

The proposed plebiscite would provide an opportunity to prove Canadian unit was a fact and that it would continue to the end of the war, Mr. Slaght said.

Agitation for conscription and violent criticism of the government, noticeable in recent weeks, had their origin in the selection last November of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen as leader of the Conservative party, he declared, but he praised Conservative House Leader Hanson, other opposition group leaders, and individual opposition members.

Sees Unity Under King

Under Prime Minister Mackenzie King a degree of unity in Canada had been achieved which had never before existed, he said.

The disorders in Montreal Wednesday night thad not been very significant said Mr. Slaght. He recalled similar scenes in 1939 when the Duplessis Government went to the country but at that time the great mass of Quebec people were shown to be sane-thinking and the Duplessis party had been "snowed under."

Mr. Slaght said he had many differences in the past with Hon. R. J. Manion, former Conservative leader, but paid tribute to him for following the "splendid example" of Wendell Willkie in setting aside politics in the emergency. Dr. Manion was conducting an important and onerous war task as director of civil air raid precautions and Mr. Slaght said he had been told he was "doing a mighty good job."

Practically every Conservative member had accepted Dr. Manion's pledge against conscription at the 1940 election. They owed their seats in the House to that pledge.

Dr. Manion had not proposed they ignore the pledge. The whole agitation for conscription "gets back to one man, the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen," Mr. Slaght said.

Fairview Friends Honor Geo. Spicer

FAIRVIEW, Feb. 13 — (ENS). — The Fairview community has been called on once more to bid farewell to another one of the boys, George Spicer son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Spicer.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Cockburn generously opened their home on Saturday evening to the community in honor of George. Gerald Harrison read the address and Master Bobby Cockburn presented George with a lovely gold ring. George is with the R.C.A.F. at Manning Pool, Toronto, and is being transferred this week to Fredericton, New Brunswick. Everyone enjoyed an evening of cards. Lunch was served.

Kenneth Tully of the R.C.A.F. at Belleville is spending two weeks' vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tully.

Cattle Gain 25, Calves 50 On Toronto Mart

TORONTO, Feb. 13 — (CP). — A moderate run of cattle was cleared at prices 25 cents higher on all classes except bulls. Calves were stronger to 50 cents higher. Lambs gained 25 cents while hogs and sheep were unchanged.

The opening run of cattle was light owing to heavy snowfall, but the trucks were able to deliver a fairly liberal volume by the close. Weighty steers sold at $9.25 to $10.25, with a few at $10.50. Butcher steers and heifers were mostly $8.50 to $9.75, with a few light steers up to $10.25. Butcher cows sold at $5.50 to $7.50. Bulls were slow at $7.25 to $8.50. Fed calves were mostly $10 to $11.25 with a few $11.50. Medium to good stockers sold at $7 to $8.50. Good milkers and springers were steady at $90 to $115 each.

A light run of calves sent prices up 50 cents on tops. Choice vealers were $14.50 to $15.50, with common lights downward to $8. Most of the veal calves sold between $13 and $15 cwt.

Hogs were unchanged at $15 to $15.15 dressed for the basic grade. Sows sold mostly at $10.50 dressed.

The lamb run was very light. One car of Westerns sold at $12.50 and a few lots of local lambs brought $10 to $12.50 according to quality. Sheep sold steady at $4 to $7.50 cwt.

Ryckman shot down a Messerschmitt 109F and damaged another while the three other Canadians, members of another squadron who flew their Hurricanes into the middle of a protecting escort of German fighters shared their confirmed, probable and damaged planes among them, none taking individual credit for the successes.

Several Canadian-manned Hudsons from the famed, R.C.A.F "Demon Squadron" of the Coastal Command joined in the direct attack on the warships, but by the time they arrived at the scene of fighting the weather had deteriorated considerably and they were unable to determine immediately the effect of their attacks.

At least two Canadian bomber squadrons were also in action. Eight Hampden bombers from a squadron commanded by Wing-Cmdr. N. W. Timmerman of Kingston, Ont., and Wellingtons from Wing-Cmdr. R. M. Fenwick-Wilson's squadron were among the force which strove to prevent the raiders from reaching haven at Heligoland. Fenwick-Wilson is from Rock Creek, B.C.

Composer Shot

BRIGHTON, England, Feb. 13—(AP).—Felix Powell, composer of the first Great War marching song, "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," died last night of a gunshot wounded suffered in a home guard headquarters. An inquest was ordered into his death, and no details were divulged of the circumstances in which he was shot.

Valentine Tea Attracts Crowd

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 13.—(ENS)—Samples big and samples small, all British made, were offered for sale at the annual Valentine Tea of the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Church held in the parish hall on Tuesday afternoon. A color scheme in keeping with the Valentine season was carried out with hearts and Valentine motifs.

Mrs. (Rev.) S. A. R. Wood and Mrs. S. E. White greeted the guests as they entered the cosy atmosphere of the hall. In charge of the dainty tea tables with their centres of candles in silver holders were Mrs. W. M. Traill and Miss Amy Watson with tea assistants, Miss Ann Dench and Miss V. Martin.

The Dorcas committee were in charge of the table with its many dainty and useful aprons as well as many other articles knitted and sewn. Presiding at this table were Mrs. B. I. Dench and Mrs. William Armstrong.

The sample sale was an interesting feature with its many and varied articles; for it was at this table in charge of Mrs. William Webdale and Mrs. E. Waldon, that one could purchase for a small sum, small packages of cereals, cellophane wrapped cookies, baking soda in miniature packages or small boxes of soap flakes, etc.

Novelties were in charge of Miss Florence Atwood and consisted of many varied articles both for the home or personal wear.

The home-cooking table with its many dainty cookies and cakes was in charge of Mrs. J. Sanderson and Miss S. Hetherington.

Cashier of the afternoon was Mrs. S. Touchburn, who reported gratifying results for the afternoon's efforts.

OMEMEE

Farmers' Club $817 Surplus

OMEMEE, Feb. 13—(ENS).—The annual meeting of the Omemee Farmers' Club was held in the club rooms on Tuesday evening. There were 33 members present when the meeting was called to order by the president, Jack Windrem, who was chairman for the evening.

The auditor's report, read by Dr. Weir, showed a successful year.

The farmers received a total of $93,233.98 for the following livestock shipped during 1941: 2,541 hogs, 508 cattle, 30 calves and 735 sheep. The year closed with a balance of $817, which was paid out in dividends to the members of the club.

J. Clancy was appointed to act as chairman for the election of officers for 1942, and the following were elected:

President, Jack Windrem Vice-President, C. R. Hart; Treasurer, William Brown; Secretary, S. D. Vaughan; Directors: J. Clancy, C. R. Hart, H. Franks, A. Rutherford, O. Grardy; Shipping Committee: W. Wilson, J. Boyd, B. Rehill, E. Switzer and J. Rix; Auditors: David Weir and W. C. Veals.

It was decided to donate $50 to the British War Victims' Fund. The fees for 1942 were set at $1. The president, the secretary and the auditors were named as a committee to set the divided for 1942.

One active service recruit was accepted Thursday at the armoury. He was Percy Batting of 318 King street, Peterborough who joined the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps.

REGISTRATION CARD FOUND.

A national registration card bearing the name of Elizabeth Edmiston, Hamilton, picked up on the street to-day, awaits an owner at the police station.

GOES ACTIVE SERVICE.

Ross Pulkinghorn, well known as a ruby and basketball player in Peterborough, has gone to Brockville to take an officer's course at the training camp there. He will go overseas as a member of the Canadian Artillery.

OUT IN THE COLD.

It was a frosty morning to-day and police court devotees found it particularly so because there was no docket except a plea of guilty traffic case on the bill-of-fare today, and they had to hit the great out-of-doors again.

MUST BE EQUIPPED.

The police department reports that bicycle owners are still turning up to apply for licenses without first having their wheels properly equipped. It is repeated once more that no licenses will be issued unless the bicycles have a white stripe and a reflector at the rear and a light in front.

KICKED BY HORSE.

Arthur Hancock of R.R. 2, Peterborough, known as Lily Lake area, was kicked about the head and face by a horse as he was cleaning the animal yesterday. He was badly bruised about the head and suffered slight fracture at the back of his head, but his injury is not regarded as serious. He will, however, be confined to bed for a few days.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED.

Additional men volunteers for civilian defense work are required in the first aid and firemen's divisions, the A.R.P. president, M. R. Sloan, told the Examiner to-day. Men for fire fighting must be from 30 to 50 years of age and fairly fit They are asked to sign up at the fire hall. Those who wish to take part in first aid may register with Dr. D. B. Avison, M.O.H., or at one of Dick Raine's stores, Brock and George, or Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets

HAS RELATIVES HERE

A.B. John Day, one of the survivors in a group of 47 which reached an Eastern Canada port after their ship was torpedoed is a nephew of Herbert Young. He is a native of Kingston and joined the merchant marine in February 1941. He was prominent in sports, playing interscholastic hockey and is a member of the Kingston Yacht Club. He is said to have spent two and a half days in an open lifeboat after the tanker was torpedoed.

WANT ACT AMENDED

Loss of J. G. McCarney from the Board of Education as Separate School representative prompted the Board to approve a motion by T. J. Carley and D. G. Melton last night urging the Minister of Education to amend the School Act to permit a member of the County Council or the Separate School Board to sit as a member of the Board. Existing legislation forces the Separate School Board and County Council to name some person other than a member as their representative on the Board.

GIRLS' GAME OFF

The game between Electrics and Generals scheduled for the Y.W.C.A. gym tonight has been postponed owing to the illness of some of the players but the boys' game between Dominions and Quakers will be played starting at 8 o'clock.

A NICE GESTURE

Miss Jean Cameron, writing on behalf of the Madrigal Singers offered the Board of Education some stands without charge to the Board. The offer was accepted. The Board also decided to take a full-page ad in this season's edition of the Echoes, the school paper.

AT LONG LAST.

The request from the Property Committee that the principal's office in Queen Alexandra School be moved to the ground floor to conform with other school layouts was turned down in committee but was revived at the Board meeting on Thursday night by D. G. H. Melton, moved for action seconded by Mr. Canning, and the measure was approved.

FORMING NEW UNIT.

A request from Mrs. J. G. Wharry for the use of the P.C.B.S. auditorium was granted by the Board of Education. The hall is required for a meeting of the Canadian Women's Volunteer Services which is being formed here. Mrs. Gordon Conant, and other provincial officers will address the gathering. The film, "Britannia is a Woman," will be shown. No admission charge is being made so no fee was charged.

TO ADDRESS CLUB TONIGHT

Mr. A. L. Malby is to address the Y.M.C.A. Friday night supper club this evening on the subject of "Carrier Current" which was also the subject of his prize winning paper in the Engineering Institute of Canada competition. It is expected he will illustrate his talk with some equipment manufactured locally. Mr. D. A. Drynan will introduce the speaker to the club.

GETS NEW APPOINTMENT

On motion of G. Wilson Craw and Dr. C. M. Scott, J. E. R. Munro, principal of the Queen Alexandra School was appointed to the High School Entrance Board to replace Major R. S. Bolton who is now on active service, having been given leave of absence for the duration. The item of business was discussed at the regular meeting of the Board, Thursday evening.

INJURES EYE

Ernie Hotrum, an employee of the tool department in a local factory suffered an eye injury a few days ago when a small piece of flying steel struck the eye. For a while it appeared that he might lose the eye, but officials hope now that no permanent injury has been done. He is in the hospital and an operation will probably be necessary.

CADETS HERE TO-NIGHT.

Col. Robert Hoggard, principal of the Salvation Army Training College, Toronto, is bringing a party of cadets to the local temple this evening, for a week-end series of services. Included in the group is a native Chinese girl, Miss Chow, now studying in Canada, who plans to return to her native land as a missionary soon. Col. Hoggard spent several years in Korea, and Adjutant McDowell, another member of the party, has just returnel from India.

Board Cuts City Demand $34,910

Board of Education whittled more than $16,000 off its estimates for 1942 in a session that lasted almost to midnight on Thursday, and this reduction coupled with a surplus of about $18,000 from last year, makes the cost of education in the city for the current year, just $34,910 less than in 1941.

This substantial reduction that amounts to about one and a half mills was brought about by the surplus, by a substantial reduction in expenditures, and by an estimated increase in revenue during 1942 from county pupils.

In 1941 the amount required from the city treasurer for educational purposes by the Board amounted to $294,954.00 and this year the total will be $260,044.00.

D. G. H. Melton, chairman of the Finance committee, pointed out that every chairman had cut estimates to rock bottom.

Cost of Living Bonus

When the report of the committee on appointments was submitted by Dr. C. M. Scott, two of the items were questioned, the first item dealt with the proposed cost of living bonus for the teachers and recommended that no action be taken. This was questioned by T. J. Carley, K.C., who said "I think this question should get further consideration." The second item was a request for an increase in salary by Dr. S. J. Graham, full time dentist who is now being paid $3,000. After some discussion it was moved by Mr. Melton and seconded by D. V. Canning that the dentist be given a ten per cent raise. The motion carried.

When the question of bonuses was brought up again, Mr. Melton said "My feeling is that consideration be given to those in the lower income brackets. Janitors are already getting this bonus, and I think teachers getting less than $2,000 and with dependents should get the bonus."

T. J. Carley—"I favor those up to $1,600.00, particularly if they have dependents. The demands on a teacher are higher because of his station in life."

Mrs. Morris—"I move that all employees with dependents, other than janitors receiving $1,500 or less be given $100 a year bonus effective on March 1st." It was seconded by D. G. H. Melton.

Mr. Craw—"Who will define dependents."

Mr. Carley—"We can add a rider that those with dependents be referred to the committee on appointments, and the inspector can make a survey to aid the committee." The motion as amended by Mrs. Morris carried unanimously.

The gist of the proposal appears to be that the wage ceiling is $1,500 and any Board of Education employee getting $1,500 or less is eligible for the bonus if he has dependents.

To take care of this additional expense, the Board placed $1,000 in the estimates.

The Board ratified the action of the committee on appointments in granting salary increase to Miss H. Buller and Miss R. Semple. They also approved the suggestion of showing some recognition to the Collegiate Rugby team, winners in the district last year.

Handicraft Class

The recommendation passed along to the 1942 Board that provision be made for a handicraft class, was adopted, and as all of the committee chairmen concerned had made provision in the estimates to take care of the various features of the new venture, the Board had nothing to do, except approve of the suggestion that such a class be set up.

George A. Macdonald, chairman of the Advisory Vocational Committee, submitted the estimates of that committee which were adopted on motion of Mrs. Morris and Mr. Melton. Mr. Macdonald stayed right with the Board until the last and when Mrs. Morris urged that any questions on Vocational matters be dealt with so that he might leave, Mr. Macdonald laughingly replied that he was enjoying his visit.

D. V. Canning was on the prowl for information throughout the meeting, and when G. W. Craw, chairman of the property committee, recommended that a fence be built on the north side of the King George school property to safeguard the children, at a cost of $300, Mr. Canning sidetracked the group for a few minutes on the cost of miscellaneous repairs. There were two items, one itemized repairs and the other miscellaneous repairs, and the estimate was practically the same in each case. Mr. Canning wanted to know why this was the case.

Both Mr. Craw, the property committee chairman, and Mr. Walker pointed out that property estimates this year were down $5,000 and this miscellaneous repairs was the only item in the budget which covered the unforeseen, as well as a hundred and one minor repairs which could scarcely be classified. Mr. Canning was satisfied with the explanation, but it was decided there would be no increase in the estimates to cover the fence, which was approved.

The fence had been considered before but was turned down because the material was not available. Later it had been learned that the wire fence was available if ordered at once, and hence was brought up again. When the pupils played baseball or football the ball often rolled down to the heavily travelled road, and children retrieving it were in danger of being struck by cars.

"Better a fence at the top of a cliff than an ambulance at the bottom" was Mr. Melton's brief statement of approval and Mr. Craw was authorized to carry on this additional item.

Mr. Canning also asked why public school fees were not shown in the estimates and it was pointed out that they were expended for text books, and one balanced the other.

The Board has to suspend the rules at 11 o'clock to carry on business and the motion by Mr. Carley and Mr. Thompson carried. The session was concluded shortly after 11 o'clock.

Cup Is Awarded To Leading War Stamp Salesman

Presentation of the Examiner Gold Trophy was made on the stage of the Capitol Theatre Thursday evening before a large audience. All the boys and girl carriers of the Peterborough Examiner were invited to attend the show, and took keen interest in the awarding of prizes to the winners. LEFT to RIGHT, Alderman Adam Sands, Jack Harris, Carlotta Laing, Donald Pagett (winner of the Gold Trophy for the month of January), R. E. Layfield, chairman of the Industrial Division, War Savings Committee.

All Under $175 Per Month In Bonus List

OTTAWA, Feb. 13—(CP). — All persons receiving salaries or wages of less than $175 a month are excluded from the class of "salaried official," They are made subject to the wages and cost-of-living bonus order, under amendments to the wartime salaries order of last Nov. 27 which were tabled in the House of Commons by Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance.

Those receiving $250 a month or more are considered to be salaried officials unless their duties or responsibilities showed clearly that they are not above the rank of foreman or comparable rank, in which case they are subject to the wages order. The Order-in-Council was dated February 6.

Mr. Ilsley said another change was intended to remove the source of "what is regarded as discrimination within many organizations where highly-paid workmen or foremen are entitled to a cost-of-living bonus under the wages order while junior salaried officials earning no more, or even less, are prevented from receiving such a bonus by the provisions of the salaries order."

An employer is not permitted to pay a newly - appointed salaried official a rate of salary higher than the rate previously paid to another official performing substantially the same services.

"This provision is intended, among other things," Mr. Ilsley said, "to check the practice of employers trying to entice employees from one another by the promise of higher salaries."

Employers must give the government notification of promotions within three months of the first payment of the increased salary. Advance notice is required for increases when the salary is $7,500 a year.

Bonuses or pay increases granted by employers in place of the government - approved cost-of-living bonuses must be brought up to the level of the government-approved bonus on the first payroll on or after February 15, under an Order-in-Council tabled by Hon. Norman McLarty, Secretary of State.

Board Rejects Application Kinsmen Club

The third request from the Kinsmen Club for use of two rooms at the King Edward School to hold a bridge and euchre for the Milk for Britain Fund died a natural death at the Board of Education meeting on Thursday.

The first request was granted in committee, but the Kinsmen had to switch dates, and make another application. The second request was turned over to the Board, and rendered ineffective because the Board did not meet in time to deal with it. The third application was dealt with last night.

H. G. Walker, chairman of the Board explained after the letter had been read that the water was turned off in the schools at night, the fires were banked, there were no caretakers on duty ,and he added there was no furniture to accommodate adults.

At this point G. W. Craw pointed out that the application form itself indicated the public schools were available without charge for war purposes.

Mrs. Morris: "I move that the question of renting be referred to the Supervision committee for a report."

Mr. Canning: "You are just kicking this thing around. First, the Supervision committee refused to deal with it, and referred it to the Board; now the procedure is reversed."

Mr. Craw: "These rules and regulations are quite plain, permission is granted to any organization approved of by the Supervision committee engaged in war work, free of charge."

Mr. Carley: "Where did those rules come from?"

At this point Mr. Huggins, the secretary, read the minutes of a meeting in July, 1940, which were approved and which embodied a report from the Supervision committee dealing with the question.

Mr. Carley: "This arose out of the Home and School groups using the schools for bowling."

Mrs. Morris: "You will notice the rules refer to inside organizations, with special provision for the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides."

Mr. Craw: "Why does it say that a permit will be granted to all organizations "

Mrs. Morris: "I will move that the Supervision committee investigate the feasibility of the question of renting public school space to other than inside organizations and report to the Board. A real survey is apparently needed. Mr. Carley seconded the motion.

Mr. Canning: "I will move an amendment, that in the meantime because the Board will not get around to dealing with this application before the date asked, that we rent the space to the Kinsmen for $5 without prejudice to any future action of the Board." Mr. Craw seconded the amendment.

Mr. Carley: "That is really something else again. We can deal with this application after Mrs. Morris' motion is disposed of."

Mr. Canning: "That suits me. I will put it as a motion then."

The motion by Mrs. Morris and Mr. Carley carried unanimously.

Mr. Carley: "Isn't there something behind all this. I am a little curious as to why the Kinsmen let the ad. appear after the application had been turned down?"

Mr. Craw: "That was a plain mistake. Mr. Sands, on making second application was advised it would be O.K. He did not receive the letter until he arrived home on Tuesday after work, and he phoned me to take the ad. out of the next day's issue."

Mr. Melton: "Who is sponsoring this; is it the Kinsmen or someone else. It is a rather strange coincidence that during the get-acquainted meetings last Fall there were two incidents and now King Edward School is in the spotlight."

At this point Mr. Carley and Mr. Craw engaged in a word battle on the question of editorials appearing in The Examiner which criticized the action of the Board, and Mr. Melton supported Mr. Carley in his views. The brief exchange was halted by Mr. Walker, the chairman, who put Mr. Canning's motion to the meeting. Craw and Canning voted in favor but the motion was defeated; Mrs. Morris and Messrs. Carley, Melton, Thompson, and Dr. Scott opposing it.

Boy Badly Injured By Barbs On Fence

Norman Nisbett, Jr., 347 Charlotte street, is in hospital in a serious condition as a result of an accident that occurrel when he was sleigh riding. The sled on which he was riding crashed into a barbed wire fence and badly lacerated his throat and caused a fracture of the jaw. The accident ocurred at Rye's Hill near the Prince of Wales school.

War—25 Years Ago

FEB. 13, 1917—Denmark, Norway and Sweden presented note to Germany refusing to recognize legality of submarine blockade. Sinking of the White Star liner Afric and American steamship Lyman M. Law reported.

Council Refuses To Take Action

Tenants of the old stores on the south side of Charlotte Street, the site of the proposed customs-postal building, failed to persuade the council Thursday night to apply to the Dominion government to suspend demolition until after the war.

"The buildings should not be torn down until after the war, and notices to vacate, which we have received, should be revoked, permitting us to stay on the said premises," the tenants proposed, urging that their request be forwarded to the Public Works Department of the Dominion Government.

Present leases expire on May 1, and Mayor Hamilton said that the occupants of the property are greatly concerned because there are no vacant stores available for them, and they will be virtually put out of business.

"But, I don't feel like asking the government to do anything," Mayor Hamilton said. "We have been asking for quite a long time for permission to use that property for parking accommodation, and I think we ought to let things take their course."

Alderman Gordon's "no action" motion was seconded by Alderman Bradburn.

Four Awards Given Collegiate Pupils

Four additional awards for scholastic competition at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School were announced at the meeting of the Board of Education on Thursday evening.

The first was donated by the Canadian General Electric Company, through the Works Manager, Ian McRae. The prize is $25 in cash for proficiency in public speaking, and will be competed for by pupils in Grade 13, and Special Commercial.

The second award is also for cash, $25 given by the Canadian Raybestos Company, through its vice-president, Robert Abbott, and is for competition in Grade 12 Commercial, for proficiency in typing.

J. H. Jamison, manager of the Canadian Department Stores has given a merchandising certificate valued at $15 to be competed for by the girls in the Household Economics, Grade 11, for proficiency in sewing.

The fourth award is a cheque for $15 donated by Charles H. Saunders, manager of the Richard Hall Store and it will be given to the pupil standing first in Grade 10 in sewing.

Zeller's Dance Adds $40 For War Victims

The staff of Zellers store held a dance in the Knights of Columbus Hall on Simcoe street and there is acknowledgment today of the sum of $40 for the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund. This was a St. Valentine's dance with decoration carried out in Valentine colors of red and white, and music was supplied by Patsy Connell's orchestra.

The committee in charge of this successful event was composed of L. P. Hatton, assistant manager of the store, and Helen Black, Irene Chimenti, and Dorothy Chimenti, to whom credit is due for the success attained. There were three spot dances, and these also were made the means of helping along the war effort by the giving of war saving certificates as prizes.

Havelock Reports

Once again the fund's representative, Miss Minnie Williams in Havelock is heard from with a donation of $3.25, and also with two memberships in the Churchill Club.

Four personal donations, the largest number to appear in one day for some time are listed, an increase which could well be followed up in an ever expanding manner, and the monthly collection from the box at the Bell Telephone Co. Ltd. amounted to $2.60, this also showing a little increase over the previous collection.

Market Stall

Giving a new start to this sphere of activity on behalf of the fund, this Saturday's market will see a revival of what had proved to be quite a source of income in the latter months of last year, with the Honor Bound Sunday School Class of George Street United Church taught by Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, holding a sale of home-made cooking and other various articles to help along the work of the fund, and should other groups wish to book it for the following Saturdays for the same purpose the secretary of the fund would be glad to hear from them.

The employees of the Canadian Department Stores are now engaged in selling tickets for a draw on a 1942 model 5 tube Viking Mantel Radio at 10c each or three for 25c, which will be climaxed by a dance to be held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on St. Patrick's Day where music will be supplied by Jimmy Duffus and his orchestra.

Tickets for this event will be $1.50 per couple, and the draw for the radio will be made at this time.

MONK'S INVENTION

Local Missionary Believed Prisoner

Messages received by Mrs. Franklin Webster, Norwood, lead her to believe that her sister, Miss Greta M. Clarke is now a prisoner of war in China. Miss Clarke who is well known in Norwood, having frequently visited her sister here and has also spoken in Norwood churches, has been a missionary with the Anglican Church in China for a number of years.

A message from the International Red Cross in Peking reads; "Inform relatives of Anglican Missionaries in occupied territory that Rev. Andrew's (with whom Miss Clarke is associated) and missionaries are confined to their own court yards, communications impossible." Another message states that missionaries are well treated in their own homes.

A later message on January 24th was received by another sister, Mrs. Frank Hoffman of Peterborough as follows: Dear Sister: I wish you God's blessing for the New Year. We had a very happy Christmas here. Continue to pray that we may be free to carry on. Love to all my family. GRETA M.

Careless Driver Fined

John Moher, Douro farmer, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs in police court on his written plea of guilty to a charge of careless driving.

The case was laid over from Thursday when Magistrate Langley refused to endorse a $5 fine until Provincial Constable Price Morris, who laid the charge, had been consulted.

The officer was present to-day and intimated that he was satisfied with a $5 fine.

Presbytery Nominated Dr. Easton As President Of Conference

The Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church met in Knox Church, Thursday, February 12. The chairman, Rev. G. Kelly, presided. The worship service was led by Rev. H. L. Roberts.

J. F. Morrison introduced Rev. H. J. Mahoney, the new minister of Knox Church, and he was welcomed by the chairman. R. G. Lawlor of Norwood, and Ross Harrison of Bridgenorth were received as new members. It was announced that Donald McCrea had taken over the Apsley charge. Rev. T. M. Wesley, secretary of the Cobourg Presbytery, was welcomed.

The appointment of February 22 as Victory Loan Sunday was adopted.

Revs. Fred Horton and William McDonald were appointed to represent the Presbytery at the ordination of seven new elders in St. Andrew'r Church on next Sunday morning.

An hour was given to the discussion of Industrial Relations, during which in addition to Mr. G. A. Macdonald and Alderman James Dutton, Revs. G. A. Kelly, T. Smith, H. L. Roberts, A. W. Harding, A. McLauchlin, and A. Stewart took part.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, who has recently been elected president of the Peterborough Presbyterial of the W.M.S., was introduced by Dr. Young.

Mrs. Kearns, director of the Woman's salvage drive, appealed especially to the rural members to send in old paper, cardboard boxes, rags, rubber, old tires, gramaphone records, light bulbs, metals, fence wire, and other articles to the South Central School for war purposes.

The roll of Presbytery was called to find out if ministers' salaries had been paid for 1941, and new contributors secured for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. In most cases the answers were satisfactory. The Home Mission and Pastoral Relations Committees were asked to visit Pontypool with Presbyterial authority, and report to the executive.

Nominated For Conference

Dr. George Easton was nominated for election as president of conference and Dr. J. R. P. Sclater of Toronto as moderator for the general council.

The statistical report for 1941 was presented by the secretary. There was an increase of 7 in the members of sessions, official boards of 4. There are 4,212 families, an increase of 97, with 15,100 persons under pastoral care, an increase of 53. There is a decrease of 3 Sunday Schools and 517 scholars. The W.M.S. and the W.A. show decreases. Net decrease in value of church property is $7,530. Total liabilities decrease $4,477.

Total raised for all purposes was $129,574, a large increase over 1940. The missionary contributions by young people were up $105, other purposes up $708. Twelve public schools and religious instruction and there are seven junior congregations.

The Home Mission report by Rev. M. I. Robinson recommended a grant of $350 for Apsley, $400 for Hiawatha. The matter of Wesley church was left to the Home Mission Board.

Rev. James MacKay, new Home Mission superintendent repacing Dr. J. W. Tanner, retired, was introduced.

The missionary and maintenance fund was represented by Dr. G. Easton and showed the following contributions of the different charges for 1941:

The Property committee report granted permission for the sale of Trinity church parsonage and the purchase of a new parsonage. The cases of the sale of Knox manse and of a shed at Cavan church were referred back to the trustees for further investigation.

Evangelism and social service report was given by Rev. J. F. Everson. Ministers were asked to bring the menace of the present liquor situation before thir congregations during February. The presbytery was asked to consider the serious moral danger of the housing conditions in Peterborough as revealed by the report to the Board of Health recently and to ask the Board to find some way in which this overcrowding may be remedied.

The christian education committee report by Rev. A. L. Sisco recommended teacher training classes, education in religion in public schools, communicants' classes during the Lenten period, use of the prayer manuals as provided by the publishing house.

The minister and trustees of Knox church were thanked for their hospitality during the day, also to Mr. Wm. Potter, organist, for his services.

By Sending Of Milk To Britain Kinsmen Saving Lives

G. T. Turnpenny, advertising manager of the B.A. Oil Company, last night told members of the Kinsmen club that "we are not only saving lives but building lives in the sending of milk to Britain." His talk dealt with the great service Kinsmen's clubs over Canada are doing in the Milk for Britain campaign.

The British American Band Wagon broadcast affiliated with Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund, on 21 Canadian stations has a potential coverage of 80 per cent of the Canadian population. From one Toronto station alone, 896 letters have been received as a result of Kinsmen appeals for milk for Britain and a total of 0633 had been received for a five week period.

The manner in which the Canadian public has responded to the appeals has been magnificent, he said. Mr. Turpenny cited instances of stations in Toronto from which joint Kinsmen appeals have been made on broadcasts. In a Western Ontario city, $2,200 was raised, a nothern Ontario station $690, and so forth.

Speakers are trained to put over 'Milk to Britain' campaigns and it is now looked on as an advertising and merchandising proposition.

Assisting British Baby.

He told the club to sell Peterborough a personal interest in the campaign by pointing out the milk is going to the assistance of the 'British baby.'

There are four fundamentals in good merchandising, Mr. Turnpenny pointed out. First, one must know that he has a good product. You see it, buy it once—after that other people buy it. Secondly, the good product must be put through every outlet. We must be sure we are reaching the masses—not just the classes. The third essential, he said, is when the product is on sale. Don't forget to tell the people it is on sale. Analyze your advertising media, newspapers, speaking to meeting, theatres, sides, and broadcasting campaigns. Window displays are very effective.

And lastly, help the retailer sell your product. Your retailers are helping us in the campaign. Have speakers from your club speak at organized meetings on behalf of your campaign, use publicity releases, ask local merchants to put some plug in their advertising.

The speaker was introduced by Bob Shill.

The meeting was highlighted by the initiation of five new members who took their oaths of office. They are Bill Osborne, Canadian Sealright; Jim Elliott, Card and Paper Works; Arnold Shelborne, Canadian Shade; A. H. Lewis, Peterborough Auditing; and Borden Joynt, Imperial Tobacco Co. Jerry Bailey presented obligations of the club to the new members and Jack Primeau outlined meaning of the the Kin crest.

Adam Sands introduced to the club C. W. McBride of Peterborough Victory Loan committee who stressed the need for putting the loan over. "Every theatre of war in which we are engaged looks bad to-night," he said. "The most we can do is the least we can do."

Members were jubilant over the results they obtained from the hockey game here the other night between Toronto Marlboros and Peterborough Soldiers. Howard Shiner reported proceeds amounted to $496 and to top that Herb Payne made a straight donation of $100 after the game. Past President Lorne Bateman thanked the hockey team for taking part in the benefit show and particularly to Jim Ellis, team coach. "The Peterborough team was the better half of what we received from the game," he said.

Bert Baker, member of Toronto downtown Kinsmen club told the dinner meeting there are 87 clubs in Canada and each one of them is conducting a 'Milk for Britain' campaign to make it a 100 per cent. effort. "We have received in cash $125,000 up to the present time," he said.

President Norm Elliott told the club that John McKone of Peterborough Business College had generously offered use of the business college rooms for any euchre or similar entertainments the club wished to stage.

Adam Sands made a request for cars to pick up the Royal Air Force orchestra arriving by train in Peterborough from the east to-night for the gala dance at Peterborough Golf and Country Club to-night. Several offers were received.

Brady of Majors Awarded Cup

TORONTO, Feb. 13 — (CP). — Dillon Brady, classy forward with Hamilton Majors of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" Division, was announced today as winner of the Robert (Moose) Eclestone Memorial Trophy in that he retained point-getting leadership he won last season by amassing 44 points during the regular schedule this winter. His linemate, Clarence Shillington, was runner-up with 40 points.

The trophy was put up for competition this season by a group of sportsmen-friends of Moose Ecclestone, young and widely-known amateur hockey manager who was injured fatally in an automobile accident last Spring. It will be competed for annually with the winner each season receiving a replica of the trophy.

Walter (Whitey) Farrant, reinstated professional who came out with Toronto Marlboros in midseason and paced them to many victories, took third place by amassing 22 goals and 15 assists for 37 points during his short season of play. He also had a no-penalty record.

In winning the league scoring title, Brady scored 19 goals and made 25 assists for the Majors, who finished first in the regular schedule ending last Wednesday. Shillington shot 25 goals and assisted on 15 others. His 25 goals were the most scored by any league player.

Fourth and fifth-place in the final point standings were Eddie O'Keefe of Niagara Falls Weavers, with 32, and Paul Mundrick of St. Catharines with 31. Doug Runions of Hamilton and Mel Williamson of Kingston Combines each had 28 points, while Eddie Shamlock of Marlboros and Conick of Hamilton each had 26.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

For the second time within two days the "daily double" of McArthur and Richmond have come through with flying colors and as a result of last night's games Jimmy Richmond's quartette is now the undispute champion rink of Group D.

Right on ice No. 4 Bill Cruthers was doing his best to hold Jimmy back hoping that he (Cruthers) would win and by so doing would still have a chance for group honors but apparently Jimmy had other ideas.

On the next ice Ray Best was fighting it out with Tom McArthur with the hope that he would be favored with a win and he, too, might have a chance to win the group championship, but the defeats of Best and Cruthers removed any doubt, but both games were close and interesting. The president had to draw the shot on the extra end, to win.

It was a great day for the "Scotch."

The other extra end game was on ice no. 2 between F. Green and J. McWilliams, Mac getting a big five in the overtime period.

The remaining games were all one-sided.

YOU can help by conserving coal. Keeping Canada's war production at full speed takes fuel, and plenty of it!

Everything you do to conserve fuel is another blow for victory. Find out how you can cut down your heating bills—in your own interest, and in the national defence!

TEN/TEST Rigid Board Insulation is one way to conserve fuel, and a very economical way too! Not only does it insulate against the loss of costly heat through walls and roof, but it stands as a rigid barrier between the cold wintry weather and your home comfort.

If you plan to build or remodel, make sure to choose the insulation that gives the maximum service on all counts . . . It should be strong and brace the building against strains and stresses . . . It should seal the walls and ceiling against winds and drafts . . . It should stay "put" and not settle or seep and leave uninsulated spaces within the walls.

TEN/TEST meets all these requirements—and more. That's why it is often referred to as the "Balanced Insulation". It has all the important insulation requirements combined in one product, and in proper balance. Moreover, TEN/TEST is a lifetime insulation—not just this year—but for the life of the building. Write for the booklet: "I want Facts," Dept. 40.

Bomb Shelter Features Victory Revue

Just what an air-raid shelter in London looks like, and how the Cockneys and the titled conduct themselves while the roars of explosions upset their impromptu entertainment, is one of the stirring highlights of "Pull Together, Canada," the elaborate patrotic revue in 12 scenes, with a cast of top-ranking American and Canadian artists, which will have its premiere performance in this country at the Collegiate Auditorium on Thursday, February 26. Presented in connection with the Victory Loan campaign, "Pull Together, Canada" is under the supervision of Eric Greenwood, the Canadian producer who has returned from New York to undertake that part of his country's war effort.

In an all-star show, outstanding artists of stage and radio in both Canada and the United States comprise the large cast of "Pull Together, Canada." The calibre of the entertainment is particularly evident in the big "London Air-Raid Shelter" scene, when the motley crowd of shelter-seekers put on their own show to while away the time until the "All Clear" is sounded. Here the harmonica-player, the banjo specialist, the tap-dancer and the song-soloists present a miniature revue that depicts the bravery of the British and the typical British humor.

One of the finest songs in the Gracie Fields manner, and one which promises to become a great war-time favorite, is the comedy-number "An 'Ome Away From 'Ome", which describes how the singer "took the aspidistra, the goldfish and the cat" in an effort to make the bomb-shelter more heme-like. Comedy is the keynote throughout the scene, but the bursts of the bombs, deadened though they are, provide an ominous obligato to an audience-reaction that alternates between tears and laughter. There is the discussion on the Britain to be after the war and the stirring finale-number, "Everybody Wants To Build a New World." The theme of "Pull Together, Canada," is the patriotic sacrifices that must be made by Canadians for total victory, but the revue, while presenting a message, does this in a manner reminiscent of that other Broadway success, "Of Thee I Sing." Judging from the anticipation of theatre-goers here, the presentation of "Pull Together, Canada" is eagerly awaited.

Generous Bequests Announced At Anson House Annual Meeting

Bequests to Anson House last year included $6,683.95 from the Robert Dobie estate as reported by the Board of Directors at the annual meeting of the institution Wednesday afternoon.

Of that sum $5,000 was invested in war bonds, and the rest has been used in placing a new furnace in the residence of the farm superintendent, and an electrical refrigerator in the kitchen.

The sum of $1,000 was bequeathed to Anson House by our late president, Mrs. Robert Neill.

A bequest of $164.38 was received from Mrs. Annie McNaughton, long a resident of Anson House. This was used to restock the House with linen.

The officers elected for 1942 were as follows: President, Mrs. F. M. dela Fosse; 1st vice-pres., Mrs. D. Walker; 2nd vice-pres., Miss M. Archer; secretary, Mrs. F. M. Somerville; Members of the Board, Miss L. Davidson, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. B. Shortly, Mrs. R. R. Hall, Mrs. F. L. Robinson, Mrs. C. I. Suckling, Mayor Hamilton, W. C. Ackerman, T. A. Mackay, H. A. Morrow.

Financial Statement

The financial statement for last year indicated an operating deficit of $767.94 as compared with a surplus of $358.03 in 1940 and a surplus of $532.76 in 1939.

Total revenue last year was $11,097 and expenditure $11,865. In 1940 the income was $10,658 and the expenditure $10,300; and in 1939 the receipts totalled $10,696 and the disbursements $10,063.

The balance sheet places the value of Anson House assets at $86,164.63.

Directors Report

The eighteenth annual report of the directors was presented by the secretary, Mrs. Somerville. Quotations from it follow: "Out of what was comparatively a small task at the beginning has developed something infinitely greater, requiring foresight, fortitude and faith. To meet the demands of these troublesome times, the possibilities of further expansion might have to be considered. Many have found shelter within these walls who otherwise might have been very weary, and others are finding peace and a sense of security before slipping into the shadows.

The number of persons who have been lodged in the House from January 1, 1941 to January 1, 1942, was 68, of whom 53 were women and 15 men.

Remaining in the Home January 1, 1941 were 9 men and 25 women; total 34.

Remaining in the Home January 1, 1942, were 11 men and 24 women; total 35.

Discharged during the year: 4 men and 29 women; total 33. There was one death.

Anson House is indeed grateful for the number of very fine bequests received during the year. The Superintendent, Miss Robinson, is to be congratulated on the uniform good health of those entrusted to her care. Fine co-operation exists between her and her staff of workers as is evidenced by the well-kept appearance of all the rooms, lawn, garden, etc.

Anson House is fortunate in having a president who gives so much time and thought while within her own home to problems connected with the management of this institution. In this she is ably sustained by the excellent work of the committees.

In conclusion we would like to thank the clergy of the city, the physicians, the members of the press and all others who so freely gave their services during the year to Anson House."

Normal Team Lose To Y

The Normal School team came close to their first win of the season in a Wednesday night Ladies' League game with 'Y' Gym. The final count was 21 to 20 for the Y.W.C.A. outfit, who came from behind in the last half to earn the decision.

The Normal girls opened at a rapid clip and with R. Roblin and Y. Rowan setting the pace with three field goals each had a lead of 14 to 8 at the half and looked to be in for their initial victory. They played good basketball to take the lead and the 'Y' girls were having trouble getting their attack working.

However, the complexion of the game changed completely after the rest period. The 'Y' team finally got rolling and carried the attack to the Normalites, running in a total of 13 points in the second half while the ultimate losers were held to two field goals and a couple of successful free throws.

The spurt was just enough to allow the 'Y' to eke out a victory by the slender margin of one point.

R. Roblin of the Normal team was top scorer for the night with 10 points, while Y. Rowan tossed in four baskets. B. Flynn with 8 points and I. Young with 5, led the attack of the winning 'Y' team.

Y.W.C.A. Gym (21)—B. Flynn 8, D. Ackfor 4, I. Young 5, R. Sullivan 1, Stewart 2, N. Smith 2.

Normal School (20)—R. Roblin 10, K. McMillan, I. McGregor, Y. Rowan 8, E. Van Allen 2, R. Ainsworth, C. McKelvin.

Referee—W. Thirnbeck.

New Chaplain Is Appointed To Training Centre

Announcement of the appointment of Rev. J. W. Tyson as Protestant Chaplain of the Military Training Centre here was made Thursday evening by Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., officer commanding the Centre, when Rev. Mr. Tyson reported for duty. The new chaplain will have the honorary rank of captain.

For the past few months the duties of Protestant chaplain at the Centre have been carried on by Adjutant Norman Buckley, of the Salvation Army citadel, Peterborough. The duties were assumed by Adjutant Buckley following the appointment of Captain Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, former chaplain to the Active Service Force of Canada.

During the months in which Adjutant Buckley was connected with the Centre in the official capacity as chaplain, be became extremely popular with the troops as well as with the officers and administrative and training staff of the Centre. Adjutant Buckley was a friend to all, and no problem which affected the welfare of any member of the Centre was too small for his attention. His weekly Sunday messages were short, yet full of inspiration and Chistian advice. His long experience with the welfare and spiritual work of the Salvation Army previous to the war made him an ideal incumbent of the post of Protestant chaplain, and hundreds of men who passed through the training centre proved themselves better soldiers through the kindly advice tendered by the Adjutant.

On many occasions during his tenure of the office he had the assistance of Mrs. Buckley, who also became known to many men in the camp. Her co-operation in assisting at the Sunday services by presiding at the piano were always appreciated by the officers and men. Fitting tribute to the services rendered by Adjutant Buckley during the past months was paid by Lt.-Col. Keeler at the weekly mess dinner of the officers on Wednesday night. Col. Keeler spoke of excellence of Adjutant Buckley's Sunday messages and also of the kindly advice which had helped many a soldier through some domestic or spiritual difficulty. While Adjutant Buckley will still be connected with the Salvation Army work at the Centre he has officially relinquished his duties as Protestant chaplain. He was assured by Col. Keeler he will always be welcome at the Centre and the officer commanding wished him every success in his work in Peterborough.

In reply, Adjutant Buckley spoke of the pleasure it had given him to associate with the officers and men of the camp. He thanked the commanding officer and the other officers for the excellent co-operation extended him in the performance of his duties. Adjutant Buckley assured the officers he had offered his services to the armed forces and if they are accepted he would look forward to carrying them out with pleasure feeling sure that the experience gained at the Centre here would prove invaluable to him as a chaplain to the armed forces.

The new chaplain is a minister of the United Church of Canada, a member of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference, and for the past two years has been stationed at Manotick in the Ottawa Valley.

Aberhart Lashes Union Now Move

EDMONTON, Feb. 13.—(CP)—Premier Aberhart in the Alberta Legislature yesterday described Union Now as a "most insidious movement" and asserted a "strong resolution" should be approved at the present session "exposing the destructive nature of this movement and warning our people against its subtlety."

In the throne speech debate, the Premier said the movement is "designed to destroy even the sovereign rights which we at present are supposed to have" and said it would result in a "hideous totalitarian tyranny with all power centralized in the hands of a small group controlled by international finance."

(The organization union now, as outlined in the book of that name by Clarence K. Streit, one of its principal sponsors, advocated federal union between Great Britain and the United States. Lately it has become known as "Federal Union," and envisages some form of union of all democracies.)

The Premier said the Union Now movement proposes that after the war national loyalties, sovereign and citizen rights should be forgotten and all democratic countries should enter into a gigantic federation or union under an international authority.

"This central authority of this enormous combine is to be given complete control over three main factors: 1. The financial setup; 2. The armed forces; and 3. All Citizenship rights," he said.

Sign Blackout

TORONTO, Feb. 13. — (CP). — Dr. T. H. Hogg, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, said yesterday that shortly there would be an "advertising blackout" for Ontario. Lighted store windows and lighted signs would be out, probably for the duration of the war, he said.

"It is a matter of the demand for electric current and that demand is now reaching the point where power will have to be saved in some way." Dr. Hogg said. "Just when it will go into effect is for the Dominion Power Controller to say.

Soldiers Are Delighted With Program

An excellent entertainment featured the opening of the drill hall at the Military Training Centre here last evening when Madame Perry and members of her school of dancing and Joe Dean, a member of the Magicians Society of America staged two hours of entertainment that has not been excelled since the centre opened.

A new stage has been erected in the drill hall with the stage fixtures that once graced the stage of Peterborough's Grand Opera House, and previous to that according to the markings on the curtains was once used on the stage of the old Toronto Hippodrome.

The numbers staged by Madame Perry and her pupils included various types of dancing with military taps and patriotic vocal numbers predominating. The costuming for the numbers was of a very high quality and despite the fact the performers were playing in the drill hall and on a new stage for the first time, they carried out their part of the program in professional style. Every number on the program of 16 numbers met with the hearty approval of the more than 700 men present. The performance was also attended by Lt. Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., officer commanding the centre and the majority of his officers.

Since the centre opened Madame Perry has been extremely generous in entertaining the troops on many occasions, and on every occasion her pupils have proved favorites with the men. It would be impossible to single out any one number as the highlight of the dancing program, but three stars are due to the teacher and also to Helen Delahaye, the pianist who worked in perfect harmony for each number presented. The class was made up of intermediate and senior girls with a number of soloists. Members of the senior girls were Helen Buat, Betty Harrison, Thelma Batley, Dorothy Thompson, Joy Foster, Lillian Styles, Isobelle Detlor, Marion Redman, and Doreen Jewel; intermediates, Irene Kelly, Beryl Carter, Marjorie Raybauld, Marcelle Dugan, Alice Hobson Raymond Brown, Jean Johnston Helen Duncan, Muriel Henry. The soloists included Maureen Fletcher, Douglas Laird, Doreen Hogge, Kenneth Simmons, Audrey Doogan and Rosemarie McCall.

Joe Dean Amazed Soldiers

The second part of the program was in charge of Joe Dean, who with his demonstration of sleight-of-hand and black magic amazed the crowd. Mr. Dean is no stranger to the training centre but last evening for the first time he had ample stage room and he used it to the fullest advantage. His final act of making a young lady disappear into thin air was ably performed with the facilities at his disposal and gave the troops a subject for discussion pro and con for the next few days.

At the close of the entertainment a vote of thanks was tendered the artists by Adjutant Bamsey of the Red Shield hut and the troops, and a return visit of the entire troupe is eagerly awaited.

Preparing For Fever

Washington, Feb. 13.

ALL United States army officers and men were ordered today to be immunized against yellow fever, making them quickly available for service in the tropics, Secretary of War Henry Stimson announced.

He explained that hitherto only troops assigned to such areas as Panama and Puerto Rico were so vaccinated. Army men already are immunized against paratyphoid, small pox and tetanus.

Stimson announced also at his press conference that reserve officer training corps summer camps for college students had been discontinued for the war's duration and for six months thereafter.

Air Cadet Unit Discussed For Collegiate

Formation of an air cadet corps in this city, a project that has lain dormant for some months, was given a shot in the arm on Thursday evening, when Flying Officer G. W. Wilson, air cadet liaison officer of the R.C.A.F., interviewed the Board of Education.

He explained that already there were 3,500 air cadets in Ontario and new units were being formed almost weekly, with the youngsters showing keen interest in the venture. The organization is established across the Dominion along similar lines to the English plan, and is authorized by a Dominion order-in-council. There is a provincial committee composed of civilians and the R.C.A.F. assists in training.

"The unit must be sponsored by a civilian organization, either the Board of Education or service clubs, and the cadets receive exactly the same training as is given in the elementary training schools of the R.C.A.F. This training is of great value if they enlist in the air force," he stated.

The syllabus of training consists of 207 hours of study spread over two years, with 15 subjects. For senior pupils, there is an additional course of nine subjects covering advanced training.

The officer pointed out, the organization had no desire to interfere with existing cadet corps in the schools. Uniforms cost from $15 to $18, and there are grants of $1 for each uniform, plus $1.25, plus the Strathcona grant and possibly a grant from Signals. The expenses over a two years' period are not great.

The command in which Peterough is located extends from Sault St. Marie to Kingston, and already there are 23 units in this area embracing 3,500 boys. All training and inspection is under the R.C.A.F., with instruction by teachers, former airmen, doctors, and mechanics, all civilians.

"All you need to do here is name a commanding officer, get approval from Ottawa, and the unit is underway."

T. J. Carley: "If the Board sponsored the organization, would it be open to others?"

"Yes," replied the officer.

Mr. Carley: "On the other hand if service clubs supported the idea, it would be wide open and therefore a more desirable set-up."

"That is true."

The officer explained, too, that if the Board did adopt the plan, the training would not interfere with the daily routine, nor would it interfere with homework, as the boys could be trained between the hours of four and six. He added that the air force provides aero engines and other equipment for training.

Mr. Melton explained that there was a healthy cadet corps in existence and that a provisional committee had been named to deal with the air cadet question some time ago. He moved that the officer pay another visit to the city to sit in with this special committee and pave the way for an early start at organization. The motion was carried.

LOVING WIFE HELPS HUSBAND ON THE SLY

Long-Standing Headaches Relieved

He could not understand why the headaches he had been subject to were suddenly relieved. His wife told him, and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter:—

"I am 62 years of age, and ever since I was a boy of ten years, I was subject to very bad headaches. But two years ago the headaches eased up—for what reason I did not know. I was surprised when one day my wife told me I had been using Kruschen Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer."—J. T.

Headaches can often be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons — prevent them forming again—and you remove the cause of many aches and pains. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings pleasant relief. Kruschen helps Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter. Ask your druggist for

Party For Volunteer

A large group of friends surprised Miss Eileen Biddle when she was home on leave from Kingston, where she is on duty with the C.W.A.C. She was presented with a Church of England Prayer Book, a military pen and pencil set and a leather writing case. A gift booklet containing snapshots of all present was very much appreciated by Miss Biddle. After sefreshments and the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" a number of the guests escorted her to the bus depot. Among those present was Miss Irma Allan, who was home on leave from Brantford, where she is stationed with the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division).

Shower For Bride-To-Be

Mrs. Richard Earle and Miss Margaret English were joint hostesses at a very enjoyable personal shower at the former's home in honor of Miss Margaret Morrow, whose wedding takes place on Saturday. The evening was spent playing bingo, after which a lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. H. Trethewey and Mrs. F. Earle. Many lovely gifts were received by the bride-to-be. Among those present were Mrs. H. Trethewey, Mrs. W. Sorrie, Mrs. F. Stewart, Mrs. F. Earle, Mrs. M. Stabler, Mrs. Richard Earle, Misses Margaret Morrow, Nan McCallum, Netty Birkof, Paula Devine, Helen Hickson, Bertha Bolton, Dorothy Ellis, Irene Bolton, Lucille Morrissey, Joan Morrissey, Dorothy Bolton, Margaret English, Peggy Earle.

Among those who were unable to attend but sent gifts were Mrs. L. Morrow, Mrs. H. Bestard, Mrs. A. Burgess, Mrs. R. Bolton, Mrs. W. Rolph, Misses Vera Monaghan, H. LeGros, Z. Crowley, K. English.

More Care With Razor Blades, Plea of Salvage

Those old razor blades, which are so valuable as salvage, are pretty dangerous things to handle. And some people have been careless about the way they send them to the Salvage, enclosing them with other things of a more innocent nature and giving no warning, or tossing them loose into a box of scrap metal. Other people have put them in a separate box but have failed to label the box or to warn the collector, with the result that the box has been tossed on to the truck and has spilled its contents.

One lady in the city has solved the problem very neatly. She put her husband's old razor blades in a glass jar with a tightly screwed on lid. In this way there can be no doubt or ignorance as to what the jar contains, and the salvage workers do not have to handle the dangerous blades. Many firms supply a labelled receptacle along with the razor to hold the old blades. These also are excellent for handling purposes.

The Salvage committee would be grateful if citizens would exercise care in handing razor blades over to the Salvage collectors. A cut from an old, and possibly rusty blade can be a serious business.

Mission Circle Hears Talk On Bible Study

The February meeting of the Francis Watt Mission Circle of Knox United Church was held Wednesday at the home of Elva Darling, Stewart street, Miss Jean Hair, president, was in the chair.

The worship service was under the direction of Mrs. F. Dunford. Its theme was "The Bible, Our Guide to Christian Faith and Conduct." Bible readings were given by Misses Phyllis Kidd, Lela McGregor and Mrs. H. Murduff and Mrs. Avery. Mrs. E. Mesley suggested how we might use our Bible daily. She said, "The Bible is really a library in itself—a book for everyday. The Bible can really help us best by systematic reading and meditation and we should have a regular time each day. We are living in a time when everything our Bible stands for is being challenged and we need to study the Bible for renewed strength and courage."

The study period, Chapter 4 from "Serving with the Sons of Shuh," was supervised by Miss Elva Darling. She was assisted by Miss Irene Graham, Maxine Elliott, Jean Hair, Gertrude Lancashire, Mrs. C. Ross, Mrs. H. Bradley, Mrs. H. Darling.

During the business period reports were given by the treasurer and Christian Stewardship secretary. The March meeting will be held at the home of Ruby Milburn. Reports from the Presbyterial were given by Irene Graham and Mrs. D. Richardson. Members were reminded of the World Day of Prayer, which is February 20 in Knox Church. Services for evening auxiliaries and mission circles will be at 8 o'clock.

Audience Views World Travelogue

Mr. Douglas M. Carr spent 30 months travelling around the world, armed with a camera, and the result of his travels is a remarkable collection of colored lantern slides, made from his photographs of the far and famous places of the world, plus a wealth of experience which such a journey must inevitably bring.

He showed his lantern slides to an interested audience in George Street Church on Wednesday evening, after being introduced by the Rev. H. L. Roberts.

Much of Mr. Carr's trip, the tremendous journey from Berlin to Cape Town, via Tunis and the now famous coast road across Libya to Egypt. He passed through all the cities and villages which have since become famous and familiar names: Derna, Sidi Barrani, Bardia and Tobruk.

He sailed from Cape Town to the Philippines on a tramp steamer, and from there visited Indo-China, China and the Malay Straits.

Mr. Carr's travels must indeed have been exciting and his pictures are beautiful records of places, some of which now lie in ruins. His audience thoroughly enjoyed his travelogue.

St. James' W.A. Honors Mrs. A. H. Davis

Missionary work still goes on in spite of war, even in the fields under study, as was evidenced by the large attendance at St. James' United church Auxiliary meeting yesterday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Wesley Rose, occupied the chair and conducted the business meeting, supported at her table by the recording secretary, Mrs. A. H. Davis, and the treasurer, Mrs. R. B. English. An important item was the appointment of group leaders for the year, as follows: January, The executive; February, Mrs. R. B. English; March, Mrs. E. L. Woodley; April, Mrs. F. W. Craik; May, Mrs. E. M. Davis; June, Mrs. S. Harris; July, Mrs. F. McAddams; August, Miss Mary Deyell; September, Mrs. E. Beavis; October, Mrs. George Rowe; November, Mrs. W. K. Sloane; December, Mrs. Alex Rosborough.

A department report on Christian Stewardship was given by Miss M. Deyell; and a fine talk on temperance by Mrs. Beavis.

The World's Day of Prayer was announced for February 20, to be held in Knox United church, and members were urged to attend.

Standard of work was discussed, several points being stressed, including Bible study and prayer. "Ministers' Night" is an interesting event booked for February 18, with the program in the hands of Rev. Mr. F. W. Craik. A committee comprising Mesdames S. Harris, G. Clarke and S. L. Hanlon was appointed to complete further arrangements.

The offering was received and dedicated by Mrs. Rose.

Much interest is being taken in the study of China, as presented by Mrs. S. M. Davis, who gave a fine synopsis of the chapter for the month.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation of a life-membership certificate, accompanied by an address of appreciation to Mrs. Alvin H. Davis, for faithful service to St. James' Auxiliary as an executive member. The address was read by Mrs. A. Rosborough and the presentation was made by the president. Mrs. Davis made a gracious response to the address.

Following the prescribed program in the missionary monthly, Mrs. English and her group led the members in devotions, with Mrs. A. E. Saunders giving the call to worship as quiet music was played by the pianist, Mrs. H. F. Doig.

Psalm 19 was read responsively and a thanksgiving prayer offered by Miss M. Kidd, while the scripture lesson was chosen.

Highlights from the Peterborough Presbyterial meeting with many helpful ideas for the workers, were presented by the delegates, Mesdames E. L. Woodley, Clarke and English.

A very appropriate and pleasing duet, "Ashamed of Jesus?" by Mrs. William McLeish and Mrs. A. Rosborough, brought the meeting to a close.

Zeller Employees Aid War Victims By Holding Dance

The staff of Zeller's Store held a dance in aid of the British War Victims at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Wednesday night. The hall was decorated with red and white valentine decorations and Patsy Connell and his orchestra supplied the music. The committee responsible for the arrangements was composed of Mr. L. P. Hatton, Miss Helen Black, Miss Irene Cheimenti, Miss Dorothy Cheimenti. There were three spot dances, for which the prizes were War Savings Certificates. Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hatton received the guests.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conway, Mr. and Mrs. M. Mantell, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Whitfield, Mr. and Mrs. M. Giardino, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kokesh, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. H. WOMAN ALONE MUST SOLVE HER PROBLEM OF HAPPINESS

Man Treats her as an Enigma Because She Cannot Make Up Her Own Mind.

A FAMOUS psychologist says that if women ever make up their minds how they want to be treated they will have no difficulty in getting men to treat them that way. Maybe so, but before that miracle happens men will have to acquire a lot more mental agility than they possess at the present writing, because every woman wants to be treated in half a dozen different ways, and by the time the poor man has made good on one count he finds that he has fallen down on the others. Nothing short of a human chameleon, who could change its color at a moment's notice to match a woman's mood, could ever come up to her ideal of what she wanted in a man. Women, to begin with, want men to treat them as their superiors, but also as their equals. They want men to put them on pedestals and look up to them and worship them as being only a little less holy than the angels. They want men to believe that they are made of finer clay than they are; that they have purer thoughts and nobler aspirations, and live altogether on a higher plane. But they howl to high Heaven when men accept their own picture of themselves and try to keep them in their own sacred spheres. They demand to be treated as equals and to be permitted to go to men's schools, follow men's professions, do men's work, wear men's clothes, smoke and drink like men, and they have fought to get these rights until there is hardly a college or a bar or a business house that isn't jam-packed with women.

Why Wives Are Dissatisfied

And yet they are not happy because they still want men to pick up their handkerchiefs for them and take off their hats to them in elevators; excuse sloppy work because of their sex, pay the check when they go out together, and generally handle them with gloves. Women are always complaining about the lack of chivalry in the modern man. Perhaps the reason is because a man doesn't feel very worshipful toward the woman who has taken away his job.

Undoubtedly the reason that there are so many dissatisfied wives is not because their husbands do not treat them well, but because husbands do not treat them the way the wives want to be treated. The reason that this is the case is because wives have not made up their minds whether they wanted to be treated as Lady Loves, or business partners, or babies.

It would be easy enough for the bewildered husband to qualify as a gigolo, or the head of the firm, or Papa, but when he is called upon to combine all three roles it is no marvel that he so often fails to give satisfaction.

Want Perpetual Courtship

Every wife wants her husband to keep up the tactics of courtship even to their golden wedding anniversary. In her mind she remains a perpetual bride and wants him to never weary of telling her how beautiful and wonderful she is, but at the same time she demands that he be a go-getter who can bring home the bacon, although few men combine the talents of Henry Ford and Clark Gable and are ambidextrous enough to hold their wives' hands with one hand and make a fortune with the other.

There is nothing that wives are so generally bitter about as they are about their husbands' absorption in business, and they are just as jealous of their husbands' "old offices" as they would be over their maintaining love nests, but you never hear of a wife offering to give up her fine house and cars and other luxuries in order to enjoy more of John Henry's society.

Most wives want their husband to treat them as if they were adult human beings who had good brains, as well as good figures, and were capable of managing their own affairs. They want their husbands to trust them with handling money and to ask their advice and to chum with them.

Then They Leave Home

But, also, they want to be treated like spoiled children, and when their husbands refuse to do this they pack their trunks and go back to Mother. The "brutality" which sends so many wives to the divorce courts and on which they collect money, consists in nothing more than their husbands insisting upon them keeping a budget and living within their means, or in the inhuman cruelty of expecting them to spend as much time in their kitchens as they do at their bridge games, and learning how to make coffee that is fit for human consumption.

Nearly all wives want their husbands to baby them. They want their husbands to chuck them under the chin and pet them as if they were three-year-olds. They want their husbands to give them new cars because they cry for them, and to dress them up in pretty clothes, and to call their temper "nerves," and to let them do as they please. And when they have husbands who treat them this way they brag about them to the sisterhood, and when they don't they weep upon each other's breasts.

So, taking all these things into consideration, it is no wonder that men don't treat women the way they want to be treated. It can't be done.

No Legal Status

DEAR MISS DIX: For four years I have been living with a man as his common-law wife. Went by his name, was introduced as his wife, had credit at the stores in his name. Now he has left me. His wife, from whom he has never been divorced, is still living. What is my status now? Can I make him support me?

L. M. C.

ANSWER: In many States a common-law wife has the same rights as one who is legally married, but this would only hold in a case where the man is single. A man who is still legally married to his wife cannot contract another marriage, common or uncommon.

For Style-Conscious Teens

By PRUNELLA WOOD

ONCE a girl reaches the 'teens, she's apt to begin having very definite ideas about her clothes. With the dawn of maturity, style-consciousness comes up like thunder over the schoolgirl's horizon, and thereafter even her most casual moments must harmonize with her interpretation of the dictates of fashion.

The most exacting young lady of 'teen age, however, must approve the Cinderella dress at the Right, with its youthful, snug-fitting bodice, its short puffed sleeves and full skirt.

Of Interest to Women

SPORT ACCESSORIES

By ALICE ALDEN

A SIMPLE little frock dressed up with some good looking costume jewelry is many a woman's concession to the mode these days. So we give you a picture of some new and attractive pieces designed by clever Clifford Furst of Castlecliff. The guitar-shaped pin in the form of a fish is of gilt metal with an emerald stone for the eye of the fish. The very smart bracelet is also of gold, its links studded with emerald green stones. Both pieces subscribe to the popular vogue for green. The earrings are of gold set with vari-colored square stones, and there is a pearl in the centre.

LOUISE PLANS A PARTY
CHAPTER III

At the northern end of Union street stood Thurston St. George's red brick house. Thurston St. George was very old and very rich. He owned innumerable tracts of land and was greatly respected.

At the western extremity of Federal street, Aberdeen College lifted its pillared portico and looked straight across the town to the insane asylum whose white galleries and many-windowed facades gleamed through the trees three-quarters of a mile away.

These were social boundaries. Every step away from these clearly marked precincts took one step downward in the well-defined and perfectly understood social order of Kings Row.

The St. Georges, with the Sansomes, the Curleys, the Gordons, and the Skeffingtons, made up a strong and influential social stronghold. They were sometimes referred to irreverently by lesser people as the "Big Five".

Young Hart Sansome was the mayor. Lucius Curley was president of the Burton County Bank, and Dr. Gordon was the town's leading physician.

Col. Isaac Skeffington was a lawyer—"the best defense lawyer in the state." Everyone knew Ike Skeffington, most people liked him, and a good many were genuinely afraid of his caustic tongue. He was a tall, gaunt man with a fiery red beard that spread its splendors to his lowest vest button. He wore a frock coat the year round and, save in the hottest weather, a tall silk hat. A dark smoke-stained spot marked the location of his mouth. Miles Jackson, the editor of The Gazette, said that wasn't due to smoke but to the colonel's brimstone vocabularly, which had singed his whiskers brown.

Skeffington walked through his vegetable garden one morning, and came out on the sidewalk. He stopped and took off his tall hat with a near flourish.

"Good morning, Marie, good morning, ma'am. How are you this fine morning?"

A basket phaeton, its cream-colored fringes swaying to the jog trot of a small plump horse, came to a halt. Madame von Eln greeted the colonel cordially. He smiled at Parris.

"How are you, sonny?"

"Very well, sir, thank you, Colonel Skeffington."

"Fine boy you're raising, Marie. He's got manners. What are you going to make out of him?"

"Well, he wants to be a doctor."

"Doctor? Doctor, hey! What for, my boy?"

"I think I'd like it—sir."

"Nonsense. Working around with stinking pills and stuff. Have to get up in the middle of the night and go out to Godforsaken places because some old fool's got a bellyache."

"Stuff! Make him a lawyer. He ought to be a smart one. You're smart, his daddy was smart, and his granddaddy Mitchel was smart."

The old lawyer walked slowly up Walnut street. His great beard flashed and sparkled in the sun, and the clouds of smoke from his cigar gave him the appearance of a walking conflagration.

In the middle of the next block he squinted narrowly at a dingy house set in the midst of tangled shrubbery and swarming vines.

A girl with copper-colored curls was standing at the decrepit gate.

The colonel bowed gravely. "Good morning, sissy."

She looked at him without smiling. After a moment's hesitation she replied, "My name is Cassandra."

"Oh, ho! Is that so? You are Dr. Tower's little girl?"

"Yes. Yes—sir." She spoke with a certain reluctance, and Colonel Skeffington's small brown eyes twinkled.

"Fine crop of curly hair you've got, miss, fine color—like mine." He removed his hat and shook his long straight locks. "Redheads have got spunk and character. Don't you ever forget it."

Dr. Tower came out on the front porch as Colonel Skeffington walked away.

"Cassandra!"

"Yes, sir."

"Come in the house."

The child hurried back to the house. Her father stood waiting until she came in, then closed the door.

Dr. Alexander Q. Tower had lived in Kings Row for eight years. No one was quite sure where he had come from. Such arrivals were few in Kings Row professional ranks. Usually, if a new doctor or lawyer moved in, it was only after looking over the field and consulting with the banks and business men. Dr. Tower had settled here without any preliminaries. His wife and 5-year-old daughter arrived a few weeks later.

A few woman called. They found Mrs. Tower a quiet, well-bred lady, but singularly uncommunicative. Mrs. Tower returned none of the calls and no further advances were made by the town.

So far as anyone knew, Dr. Tower had never had a patient. After a while the office rooms remained shuttered, and Dr. Tower was seen less and less frequently. He sent a Negro boy for his mail, and he was known to order a great many books through Brighton's Bookstore. Strange books, too, some of them in French and German.

It was said on the authority of Lucius Curley, the banker, that Dr. Tower was "well fixed"—the regulation phrase describing anyone of ample means. It was also known that he drew regular drafts on a bank in Philadelphia.

Everyone heard that he had fitted up a long room at the back of the house as a sort of laboratory. Bottles and curious apparatus and hundreds of books, it was said. But there was no guessing what he might be studying or working at. "Making experiments," people said, and let it go at that.

Dr. Tower was the town mystery, and however little ground there was for speculation, there was never any lack of whispered wonder and comment.

For several years now, Mrs. Tower could be seen every day, sitting inside her living room window. Colonel Skeffington often said that Mrs. Tower looked as if she were afraid. "She's listening for something," he remarked to his friend, Miles Jackson. "If that women doesn't end up in the lunatic asylum over there, I'll be surprised. . . . I wonder what that 'Q' in his name stands for."

Several days after Cassandra had mentioned her party to Parris, some 35 children received invitations.

Louise Gordon showed her invitation to her mother. Louise was the only child of Dr. Henry Gordon. Mrs. Gordon was a social power.

"I think I would prefer you didn't go," she said.

"Oh, but Mother—all—everybody's going. She sent out lots and lots of invitations. I do want to go."

Mrs. Gordon smiled a peculiar smile. "Why don't you have a party of your own?"

"Honestly? Could I? But I want to go to Cassandra's party, too. Why can't I? Then I could invite her."

"You could have your party at the same time," Mrs. Gordon suggested.

"You mean Saturday afternoon? But everybody's going to Cassandra's."

"Oh, I dare say there will be a lot of children who won't be going. You can find out. Suppose you use your father's telephone."

All of that week there was much buzzing on the playground about the two parties. Girls whispered together in little groups and boys asked each other self-consciously, "Which party are you goin' to?" It was somehow understood that a kind of rivalry lay behind the important question.

Louise Gordon was busy with her lists. She was certain of some 15 or so of Cassandra's guests. Her mother had undertaken to extend some of the invitations in her behalf. She had suggested more than once during the courseof her chats with parents how desirable it really was to have normal, healthy children meet and enjoy themselves under cheerful and normal conditions. "Conditions we fully understand, you know."

Louise spoke to Parris the first day after her mother's decision. "I want you to come to my party, Parris. Saturday. We're going to have lots of fun."

"I can't, Louise. I told Cassandra I'd come to her house."

"I don't think that makes any difference if you really want to go somewhere."

Parris stared uncomprehendingly. It was clear that Louise hadn't heard what he had said. He began all over again.

"But, Louise, I got Cassandra's invitation first, and I cept—cept—I accepted it. Anyhow she asked me before—"

Louise interrupted him with a toss of her head that sent her two brown plaits flying. "Oh, well, if you don't want to come, it's all right, of course."

Cassandra Tower gave no sign. Seemingly she was unaware of the unwonted excitement. By Friday it was apparent that Louise had gained some valuable desertions.

Opinion and inclination had been swaying for two or three days. Boys had begun to notice Cassandra more and more, and this was the first chance they had had to see her at home. But gradually it seemed indeed that everybody was going to Louise's.

There were only five guests in the Tower parlor when Parris arrived. They did not represent "leading families," but neither Cassandra nor Parris knew that. Cassandra looked very pretty in a much-ruffled white dress, but she seemed bewildered.

"I don't know why everybody's so late," she said to Parris. "I invited ever and ever so many."

"Oh, well," he said casually, "you know how awful busy everybody is on Saturday's. Come on, let's play something. What do you want to play, Cassie?"

The party was a failure. Only one more guest came—Pearl Houston who lived up on Berry street. Parris remembered that someone said the Houstons weren't very nice — Mr. Houston worked in a dairy—but he didn't know about that.

He saw Dr. and Mrs. Tower talking quietly together. Dr. Tower was speaking very rapidly and Mrs. Tower said "sh-h" when Parris came into the hall. He repeated polite party speeches to them, and Dr. Tower bowed gravely. Mrs. Tower smiled.

"Thank you," she said gently in response to his formality. "I hope you'll come again."

"I certainly will," he said heartily. "If—if I may," he added.

Cassandra looked cross by this time. She was almost snappy when she said goodby.

Parris decided that Louise had been very mean to give this party the same day as Cassandra's. He believed she must have done it "on purpose."

At the end of the next week the school principal received a note from Dr. Tower saying that he was withdrawing Cassandra from school. "I shall henceforth undertake my daughter's education myself," it concluded.

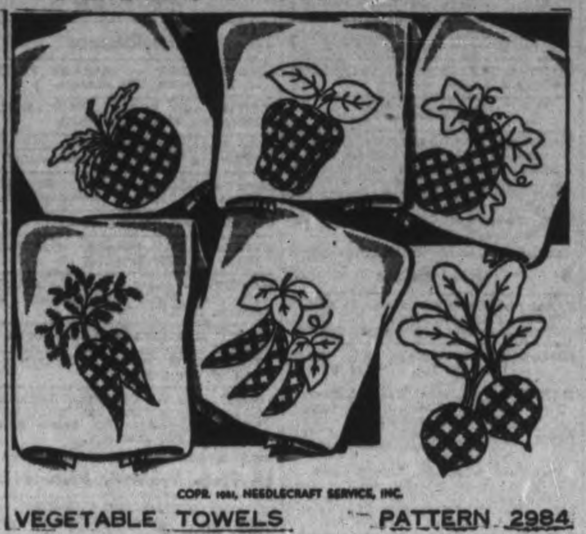
The Examiner's Needlecraft Pattern



COPR. 1941, NEEDLECRAFT SERVICE, INC.

VEGETABLE TOWELS PATTERN 2984

Vegetable motifs give you a chance for lots of gay color in your kitchen towels! And see how cleverly the cross stitch is designed to give a smart gingham effect! Pattern 2984 contains a transfer pattern of six motifs averaging 5½ x 7 inches; illustrations of stitches; color schemes; materials required.

Send twenty cents in coins or stamps for this pattern to Examiner, Needlecraft Dept., Peterborough. Write plainly PATTERN NUMBER, your NAME and ADDRESS.

FASHIONS

PATTERN 9976

This spring—look more gracious than ever! Look fashion-slim too, in a new jacket ensemble by Marion Martin, Pattern 9976, that is quickly stitched up. The frock has that subtle simplicity so becoming to larger women . . . the narrow rolled collar, the deep V neck, the bodice darts that add just the right fullness for a flattering effect. For easy sewing, the rolled collar is cut in-one with the front bodice. And don't miss that skirt panel that makes your hips so slender! The jacket comes just to the hipline and like the dress has short or three-quarter sleeves. Plan this ensemble in a lovely sheer print with a nosegay of spring flowers, or lace edging 'round the collar.

Pattern 9976 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36, dress, requires 3¼ yards 39 inch fabric.

Russia's Women Equal With Men For Equal Toil

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP)—Women of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics have played a formidable role in the Battle of Russia, said a writer who spent years in that country.

That must be assumed as under the provisions of the Union's constitution the status of men and women have been equalized to an extent probably not known in any other land. They enjoy the same privileges but accept the same responsibilities as their menfolk.

They vote. They play, dance, drink, smoke, go to the theatre at the expense of the state and when they give birth to children the state looks after mother and child. But they must work.

Russia being a socialized state has long adopted as one of its many national slogans: "He who would live must labor; he (or she) who would idle must perish." Stalin enunciated it some years ago with the advent of Russia's colossal First Five Year Industrial Plan. Hundreds of thousands of able-bodied Russian men and women were without employment when that program opened. Within a few months of the declaration of the new national employment policy only a few thousand citizens—mostly misfits—were not usefully employed.

Work Side By Side

Thus you will see anywhere and everywhere you travel in the U.S.S.R. men and women working side by side, in factories, workshops, offices and on the collective farmlands. As a rule girls receive pay equal to that of their menfolk. They belong to the same communal club as their husbands, their brothers and their sons. They enjoy some lattitude in selecting the types of labor or employment best suited to their capacities and are almost invariably assigned to lighter tasks than those shouldered by men unless they volunteer for heavier work which frequently happens. Otherwise, there is complete equality.

Women workers are prominent in the large state-controlled factories created under the terms of the first Five Year Industrial Plan, the great Tractorstroi at Stalingrad, at the foot of the Volga River, the replica of Ford's motor-car plant at Gorky, at another point on the Volga, and other factories working full-time with three shifts a day.

One sees women, young and old, perched precariously atop scaffolding, swinging steel cranes, bearing molten metal amid the roar of blazing blast furnaces. They place wheels on tractors, fit ball-bearings into mechanical devices of motor-cars, making packing cases, shoes, haberdashery.

In Agriculture

On the large collective or co-operative (state owned) farms, organized under the provisions of the first and second Five Year Plans women and girls work in the fields, tilling the soil, gathering potatoes, fruit and all the products of the farmland. Likewise in offices they are to be found in every sphere of the state's civil or clerical service.

Many women are delegates and thus members of the Supreme Soviet or National Union Parliament of New Russia. They are members because they have been elected under the universal suffrage system with the secret ballot in the same manner as their menfolk are elected. They hold high offices — high executive offices in Russia, such as deputy-commissars. They control trusts, which, paradoxically perhaps, is an oft-used word in the Soviet Union. They manage departmental (state controlled) stores, banks, factories, all sorts of branches of the Commissariats or Administrative Ministries.

They even serve as skippers of ships and assume every post known to men of the merchant marine services in other lands.

An attitude of mind of Russia's leaders that has caused the Union's vast populace of women to work is that it confers upon them the fullest measure of freedom and independence. Working women are said to be independent financially, economically and socially.

Fashions for School Days

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THERE are days when the schoolgirl wants to wear things with a casual air, and other days when she likes to look more dressed up.

Eliminate Sugar From W.A. Menus

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 13 (ENS) —Sugar rationing will begin to take its toll on the refreshments served at W.A. meetings it was revealed at the monthly meeting of the Zion church branch on Wednesday afternoon. According to the discussion of the matter an effort will be made to eliminate anything containing sugar from the monthly menu, which is something of a sacrifice for these ladies of Seymour township, many of whom travel from four to six miles after dinner in order to assist with the sewing and quilting program they have undertaken for the Red Cross.

The president, Mrs. Albert Petherick, presided, and expressed thanks on behalf of the organization to Mrs. William Miller for a completed quilt and to Mrs. Harry Petherick for a quilt top. According to the report of the secretary, Ms. E. L. Anderson, 7 large quilts, 2 crib quilts 1 child's slip, 1 pair golcshes and 2 pillow cases had been turned in since the last meeting.

As a means of augmenting the organization's funds plans were discussed for sponsoring a play in the near future. A further supply of wool was distributed during the afternoon and the ladies completed one quilt for the Red Cross. They meet next month at Mrs. Lindsay Anderson's on March 11th.

Gay Plants Will Keep on Blooming

Amaryllis Requires Little Care

How your scarlet amaryllis blazes against winter's gloom — faithful year after year!

It's a thrill to make an amaryllis bulb come to flower, and it's easy; this is the time for it! For speedy results get a bulb that's just started to sprout.

Keep in a cool, dark basement until it's three inches high. Then move it to a sunny window and water well.

After the glorious flowers are gone, keep the plant outdoors in the sun. An autumn rest lying on its side in a cool, dark place and it will bloom again next season — beautiful as ever!

You can have a lovely indoor garden all year, knowing a little about plant care. Pink flowering cineraria blooms until late if you give it a cool spot, out of direct sunlight.

Philodendron will brighten your home with glossy greenery and it will grow in bowls of water—anywhere!

Our 32-page booklet tells easy ways to raise all of these plants, —also begonia, azelea, sansivieria and many other attractive flowering and foliage indoor plants. Has directions for window-boxes and bracket plants; for growing bulbs, plants in water; summer care of plants.

For your copy of "Making Plants and Flowers Grow Indoors" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

GRASP NARROW MARGINS

IF YOU wait for decisive advantages on your side before taking action in the bidding, you are going to get your block knocked off by opponents who know how to make use of narrow advantages. In the long run it will be costly to you to pass up opportunities in which your side has just the very slightest edge in its favor. Hands that are barely worth bidding, and major suits that are just barely strong enough at the top to indicate a possible stopper, if your partner later decides to try No Trump, must be bid unless you reckon you are so good you can afford to throw away the points to be made thereby.

North: ♠ K 9 7 6 ♥ Q J 7 5 ♦ A J 4 ♣ K 4
West: ♠ A 10 ♥ K 8 6 2 ♦ Q 10 9 7 5 ♣ 6 5
East: ♠ J 8 2 ♥ A 10 9 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ Q J 8 7
South: ♠ Q 5 4 3 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 2 ♣ A 10 9 3 2

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

This hand, from a duplicate game of the Inter-Club league in New York, offers a good sermon for rubber bridge, too, as cards have just the same trick-taking power in either. The pair bidding the hand as shown got the top score. Believe it or not, John P. Mattheys made not 4-Spades, but an extra trick with a little help.

The diamond 10 was led to the J, club K and A taken, club 2 ruffed low when West discarded, heart Q led to the K, spade A laid down and the 10 led to the K, the heart 5 ruffed, the club 9 ruffed, diamond 4 led to the K, the spade Q used to drop the J, and the established club 10 and diamond A completed the hand. Of course two trump tricks can be taken by the defense and the overtricks prevented if West doesn't lead trumps, but the game is there all the time.

With 12 tables playing the deal, four of them passed it out, because the weaker players did not know how to evaluate a hand such as North's. With a sprinkling of honors of secondary size, the old 4-3-2-1 count helps. This deal totals 14, one more than enough to justify a bid. The 1-Club opening makes it easier to find a four-four major suit fit, if you have a partner who will bid a suit like South's, or if you will later bid one like North's hearts or spades. In several cases South raised clubs, North bid 2-No Trumps and it wound up at 3-No Trumps, which got made, but also got beaten in match points by the correct spade contract.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A 8 7 5 3 2 ♥ A K ♦ A J 9 3 ♣ Q
West: ♠ J 9 6 4 ♥ 10 8 5 2 ♦ Q 10 6 ♣ J 5
East: ♠ Q 10 ♥ J 9 4 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 10 9 7 4
South: ♠ K ♥ Q 7 6 ♦ K 7 5 ♣ A K 8 6 3 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

If you are using the Blackwood convention, what is the soundest bidding of this deal?

BRITISH, AUSSIES REACH BATAVIA TO SAVE JAVA

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 (AP)—Australian and other British Empire troops have landed at Batavia, N.E.I., and "are taking up positions for the defence of Java," the Australian radio said today, as recorded by CBS. (Sydney reports said today Australian forces are pouring into the Indies for a stand alongside the fighting Dutch.)

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 14—(AP).—Striking close to the heart of the Indies, Japan attacked the northeast coast of Sumatra today with air-borne troops which landed from more than 100 planes near Palembang, vital oil centre, 250 miles from Batavia, but Netherlands defenders were declared officially to be more than holding their own and killing parachutists by the dozens.

The Japanese also were reported pressing down closer to Java from the north and the Indies command said there were unofficial reports that Bandjermasin, capital of South Borneo, had been occupied by the invaders.

The Netherlanders carried out careful destruction at the town on the South Borneo coast just across the Java Sea from Batavia and the big Surabaya naval station.

1st Use of 'Chutists.

The attack on Palembang was described officially as the first confirmed Japanese use of parachutists in five weeks of operations against Netherlands Indies territory. It also was the first land operation on the 1,000-mile long island.

Although troops were dropped at three places in the Palembang area, the communique said "Palembang itself is not threatened" and "there are no indications that parachutists dropped close to or entered the town."

A stiff defence was indicated by the announcement that "our troops have done excellent work and it may be assumed that the situation is not unfavorable."

A special announcement issued at 6 p.m., indicated that the fight was still going on and said "further news is expected."

Meanwhile Japanese bombers and reconnaissance planes ranged over wide areas of the N.E.I. One civilian was wounded in a Japanese bombing at Tandjong Padan, capital of the tin-producing island of Billiton, between Sumatra and Borneo. Other scattered attacks also were reported.

Nelson Sees This Year Telling Tale

Demands U.S. Produce For Battle Of '42 Forget Long-Scale Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14 (CP)—In the opinion of Donald M. Nelson, 1942 is the critical year in the existence of the United States. "America must face the fact it can win this war only if it provides a greatly-expanded production of military goods during the rest of 1942," the chief of the war production board told a conference of business paper editors and publishers yesterday.

"Every weapon we make today is worth 10 that we might produce next year," he declared, adding that industry must press for a vastly greater war output in 1942 instead of concentrating on production schedules for 1943.

Industry, he said, "must find the way" to handle the job of sub-contracting military orders to obtain expanded and speedier production, instead of relying on the government to do it, "because we in Washington can't possibly do more than part of it."

Armament output in the United States today is much greater than in the last year of the First Great War but it is not nearly so great as it must become, he said.

"We've lost a lot of time because industry was fearful of what might happen after the war if all our productive facilities were over-expanded," the production chief declared. "Let's stop thinking about what we'll do when it is all over and start thinking about what we're going to do now to prevent it from being all over for us.

"We've wasted the golden months in which we could have got fully ready—the months in which we could have expanded our steel industry, our chemical industry, our copper industry and all the others, so that we would have plenty of everything. But we still have 10 silver months—the months which remain in 1942—and in them we can still do things that we never thought possible."

VICHY, Feb. 14—(AP).— Tearing, or scribbling comments on, government propaganda posters will be punished by two years in jail or $2,000 fine maximum penalties, under a decree published to-day.

Nazis Given A Run

CAIRO, Feb. 14—(AP).—German mobile columns have been driven back by British forces west of Ain el Gazala in Libya, it was announced today.

The scene of the battle is 40 to 50 miles west of Tobruk.

A brief communique said: "Operation over a wide front in the area west of Ain el Gazala yesterday our patrols and mobile columns, supported by our air forces, engaged and drove back a number of enemy mobile columns."

British Savings Income Tax Receipts Soar

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(CP).— Britain to-day presented a picture of financial opposites: Markets depressed by the dismal war situation in juxtaposition to record income tax receipts and saoring savings.

Experts predicted government receipts for the fiscal year (ending March 31) would top £2,000,000,000 ($8,900,000,000) and more than realize the budget estimate.

The public welcomed increased allowances for non-commissioned men and women of the army and navy but still said they were not enough although they will cost the country £55,000,000 yearly.

Political circles consider significant the production shake-up which placed Lord Beaverbrook and Ernest Bevin as the two most powerful men in Britain next to Prime Minister Churchill.

These quarters also are watching closely the plan whereby workers share control of production in state ordnance factories. This plan was a direct outgrowth of trade union pressure.

Financial: War news has effectively curtailed financial dealings. There was a general disinclination to buy securities. The depression extended to Australian dealings in view of the Commonwealth's decision to peg prices, wages and profits.

British revenues presented a healthy picture. The Treasury last week received approximately £92,800,000. Of this £54,000,000 was derived from income tax, the largest amount ever paid by British taxpayers in a single week.

Cry For Heads Follows Sea Escape

Even Churchill Hit, Nation Watches Sunday Broadcast

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(CP).— Severe editorial criticism of Prime Minister Churchill and his government because of the audacious sweep of the German fleet through British home waters flared to-day as the Bremen radio boasted that the Nazi warships had arrived safely at a German port.

Amid the storm of criticism the country awaited with unusual interest a broadcast survey of the war situation which Mr. Churchill had scheduled for 9 p.m. (4 p.m. E.D.T.) to-morrow before Thursday's channel battle suddenly chaned the whole picture. There was wide speculation on the effect this new development might have on the Prime Minister's plan to broadcast.

Until the protest over failure to halt the passage of the German warships, it had been presumed the Prime Minister would speak then. But to-day it was impossible to confirm whether the BBC had reserved the time for him.

Informed sources, however, said the outspoken criticism in newspaper editorials would likely force a government statement at the next meeting of the House of Commons and that Mr. Churchill would make it.

"The general opinion in parliamentary circles is that an inquiry must be opened at once," these sources said.

China's Veterans Pour To Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 14 — (CP)—Military trucks poured fresh Chinese veterans into Burmese bases today while British troops fought to hold the lower Salween River line against a second strong Japanese attempt to cross that strategic stream of Paan.

Thousands of other soldiers of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's legions are reported on the way—reinforcing a vanguard which hiked in recently from South Kwangsi province to man eastern frontier gorges and bolster the Allied stand against Japanese striking toward Rangoon and the Burma road.

Cheers for "Chiang, King George and Roosevelt" greeted the latest arrivals, well-equipped members of Chiang's original arma, on their motorized march from the Chinese border.

Extension of a foothold gained west of the lower Salween by the occupation of Martaban was a Japanese objective in the new drive in the jungles about Paan, 30 miles to the north.

A British communique described the fighting as fierce. The savage combat followed by 24 hours frustration of the first Japanese onslaught at Paan by a bayonet counter attack.

Siege Guns Thunder

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—(AP)—Heavy artillery duelling on the Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines and resumption of Japanese siege firing on the Corregidor fortifications were reported today by the United States War Department.

On the Bataan fighting front, a communique said the enemy was entrenching in some sections. Meanwhile Japanese war planes were active.

The siege guns, again firing after a two-day lull, inflicted no material damage it was said.

Sarnia, Sudbury Fire Losses Run $130,000

SARNIA, Ont., Feb. 14—(CP).—Revised estimates today indicated total damage resulting from a department store fire here last night would not exceed $100,000.

Principal loss, estimated at $75,000, was suffered by Walker Stores Ltd., apparent seat of the blaze. The three storey building was badly gutted and most of the stock practically ruined.

Adjoining premises which suffered from smoke and water were Liggett's drug store, Bank of Toronto, National Club, International Bowling Alleys, and F. O'Mearn and Co., brokers.

The fire was discovered about 8 p.m., and it was after midnight before it was completely controlled. Firemen left the premises at 3 a.m.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined. Two or three minor explosions were heard during its progress.

4 Buildings Razed.

SUDBURY, Ont., Feb. 14 — (CP).—A disastrous fire that necessitated calling all this city's firemen into action, early to-day destroyed four buildings on a downtown corner. Starting about 1:30 a.m. in the kitchen of a restaurant, the fire spread rapidly throughout the upper floors of the four structures, all of them of frame construction. Damage was estimated at about $30,000.

Hundreds of miners, returning from shift work and late parties watched while firemen fought the blaze from the ground, from ladders and from nearby buildings. Starting in the rear,, the flames surged to the front of the buildings, and one of the firefighters' main tasks was to keep the blaze from spreading farther east. A stout brick wall on which a constant stream of water was played, prevented a spread of

Guns Blast Invaders 400 Shells An Hour, Think City To Stand

BATAVIA, Feb. 14—(AP).—The Singapore radio said tonight that the reservoirs on Singapore Island are still in British hands. Singapore's communiques on the position of the battle lines had indicated that at least part of these central basins of fresh water were in Japanese control.

LONDON, Feb. 14 — (CP). — Defnce forces were declared officially today to be "disrupting every enemy attempt to advance further toward the heart of Singapore town" in dogged resistance against fierce Japanese attack.

A communique said the Japanese were maintaining their pressure and keeping the city under continual bombing and shelling.

"Johore causeway under the fire of our guns was rendered impassable last night."

Informed sources expressed belief that loss of the reservoirs would not affect the stand of the British garrison immediately. Advices from Batavia, in the Netherlands East Indies, said the Singapore radio still was on the air last night, thus indicating the city itself with in British hands up to that time.

The announcer said British batteries were pouring a murderous fire into the Japanese, raining 400 shells an hour on the invaders' lines in one sector alone. Japanese guns answered with a heavy bombardment of the city.

Authoritative sources in London said no official word had been received from Singapore since yesterday's communique, broadcast from the island at 6 p.m. (5 a.m. E.D.T.)

The Singapore radio last was heard in London at 3:30 p.m. yesterday (10:30 a.m., E.D.T.) at that time the announcer said the Japanese were "not having everything their own way."

Counters Regain Some Ground

The last direct cable from Singapore was a Reuters dispatch reaching London at 9 p.m. last night (4 p.m. E.D.T. Friday) describing heavy fighting west of the city and saying that counter-attacks in the Jurong area, about seven miles northwest of the city, met with some success.

The Reuters dispatch was filed in Singapore at 10:30 a.m., yesterday (11:30 p.m., Thursday, E.D.T.).

Blackout Mysteries

LONDON, Feb. 14—(CP).—The mystery of the blackout murders—in which four women have been strangled and stabbed during the last five days—swung into its first official hearing today at the inquest of Mrs. Evelyn Oatley, a former chorus girl.

Throughout the blacked-out night, police reserves patrolled the West End in search of the unknown killers.

Mrs. Oatley died from stab wounds. Mrs. Marguerite Low was found strangled in her apartment. Mrs. Doris Joanette was strangled and stabbed. Evelyn Hamilton's strangled body was found in an air-raid shelter.

60 Canvassers Start Monday On Victory Loan

A double-barrelled attack on the forces opposing democracy will be launched on Monday morning, when 60 canvassers in the City and County of Peterborough will start the drive to raise $2,750,000 in the Second Victory Loan. Aimed primarily at financing Canada's war effort, purchase of the bonds aids in another way in that it takes money out of circulation that might be used to purchase luxury commodities and diverts this money to the war effort, thus helping to keep the price ceiling down, and to curb inflation.

Last June when the First Victory Loan was launched in this city, the objective was set at $2,800,000, and it was oversubscribed in the time allotted by more than $300,000. This time the objective has been reduced by $50,000, yet there is far more money in the banks at the present time than there was when the first Loan started last June.

Unbroken Line of Defeats

Britain's unbroken line of defeats from Narvik, to Dunkirk, to Greece, to Crete, to Bengasi, to Derna, to Hong Kong, and to Singapore has convinced thousands of Canadians that the great need is for mechanized army equipment at least as good as that owned by the Axis nations, and more of it. It is an accepted fact that the Anglo-Saxon peoples rank with the best fighters in the world, and the only answer to all the defeats is insufficient mechanized equipment and lack of airplanes.

As the tempo of production in the great armament factories for funds also increases, and while the First Victory Loan, filled Canada's war chest, another $600,000,000 is required to replenish it.

Millions of the oppressed and conquered peoples of Europe are being lashed and goaded to greater effort in the factories of Der Fuehrer, and the natural resources of Germany and every conquered country are being poured in to the mammoth war machine which Hitler is building for the Spring campaign, when the wolves of war will be unleashed with a ferocity hitherto unknown in the realm of civilized peoples.

Nazi Reinforcements Badly Cut Up On Northern Front

MOSCOW, Feb. 14 —(AP)—Red Army forces driving west mile after mile on the front between Moscow and Leningrad reported today that they had stormed fortified positions which the Germans built in preparation for a stand until spring.

One unit reported that its advance was so long continued that its soldiers' felt winter boots were worn out from steady marching and had to be replaced.

With one Red Army ski-troop spearhead reported operating in White Russia, behind the Nazi lines, the Soviet information bureau said "our troops continued to advance, overcoming German resistance."

Retreating Germans were declared by the Information Bureau to have left 300 dead, two crippled tanks and two destroyed field guns under a Russian infantry assault on a western front sector.

"On another sector of the front our troops captured two machine guns, one gun, 2,000 shells, 1,670 mortars and a large quantity of hand grenades and rifles," the Bureau said. "The enemy lost 200 men and officers dead."

German reserves thrown into battle on the Kalin front northwest of Moscow "are melting rapidly," dispatches said. Red Army men killed 300 Germans in one fight and 170 in another.

A Soviet unit on the southwestern front (a phase which might refer either to the Donets Basin or the Crimea) was reported to have beaten off two counter attacks, "captured 15 blockhouses and killed 150 Germans."

(A dispatch from Helsinki broadcast from Berlin declared the Russian Arctic supply port of Archangel was cut off by ice from overseas traffic after air raiders had battered the harbor ice-breaker out of service.)

Cologne, Aachen Raided By R.A.F.

LONDON, Feb. 14.—(CP).— Cologne and Aachen were the main objectives of the Royal Air Force bomber raids over Western Germany last night, the Air Ministry saiad to-day.

Docks of German-occupied Le Havre and a Nazi airdrome in occupied France also were attacked.

"None of our aircraft is missing," the Ministry said.

The raids were carried out by a medium-sized force of bombers which were "extremely successful" in hitting the targets they sought, an informed source haid.

'Doing His Bit To Win The War' Says London's Best

(By FRANK LOWE.)

HALIFAX, Feb. 14 — (CP). — Sammy —of course, that's not his right name—was "the best burglar of London's East-end," before the war, but now he shovels coal in the bowels of a merchant ship because he feels he should "do something to pull my weight in this mess."

A lithe, wiry man of about 40, Sammy took to the sea after the regular fighting forces turned him down, and for two years now has been making his living in the war's most dangerous trade. His only regret is that his hands are losing their suppleness. "Them mitts could open any lock in London once," he said ruefully, holding out his small but flexible hands, now calloused and cut.

He is proud about his peacetime profession and becomes wrathy if anyone refers to him as a thief. "A thief takes things from people who can't afford to lose them. A burglar only takes them from people who can," he explains, adding that he was recognized as tops in his district.

2 Sugar Ration Lists In U.S.

One For Householders, 2nd Bakers, Candymen, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13—(AP)—Two separate sugar rationing registrations will be held, the United States office of price administration reported today, one for householders and another for such commercial users as bakers, confectioners and bottlers.

The commercial registration, however, may be held the same day that housewives gather at neighborhood school-houses to sign for ration stamp folders. The folders will entitle them and each member of their families to a specified amount of sugar, probably 12 ounces a week. No date has been set yet for the rationing.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson, questioned at a press conference yesterday concerning the possibility of gasoline rationing in the east — reported by authoritative sources to be an early probability—said "We do not have a plan to install the rationing of gasoline." He said, however, that the O.P.A. would be ready to act if the War Production Board called for rationing. The possibility of rationing newsprint depends considerably on whether a large proportion of the power supply, Especially in Canada, has to be diverted to war production.

Protect the Boys Overseas by Investing in Victory Bonds

Peterborough City and County is asked to lend to the Government of Canada $2,750,000 in the Second Victory Loan Drive which opens on Monday. This amount will be sufficient to enable the Government to purchase 33 Bolingbroke bombers or 27 cruiser tanks. The money is being borrowed NOT commandeered and it will be returned with interest, it will be an investment in the future, an insurance against disaster. Today Canada's earnest plea, in about the darkest hours since the war began, is that Canadians do everything within their power to increase the purchase of Victory Bonds. No individual can keep up his peace-time outlay and be able to take his fair share of the obligations inseparable from Canada's participation in the war and all must remember that our soldiers protect us with their lives, surely we can protect them with our money.

DRASTIC SHAKEUP IN HIGH COMMAND OF U. S. FORCES IS OPPOSED

CongressNips Shakeup InArmy,Navy

Clamor Is Raised To Recall MacArthur As Chief

(By JACK BELL.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Administration supporters in Congress lined up today against any drastic shakeup in the United States Army and Navy high command during the present grave days of the war.

There was sharp senatorial criticism of the country's war policies. But leading administration senators said the onward march of Japan in the Pacific and the German Atlantic threat, immeasurably greater through revitalization of the Nazi fleet, made the situation too serious for any sudden change now.

Turning aside a suggestion by Wendell L. Willkie that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be brought back from the Philippines to assume over-all leadership of the military effort, Senator Lister Hill (Dem.-Alabama), the majority whip, told reporters he thought this was no time to replace the men now directing the Army and Navy in their far-flung activities.

Hill said MacArthur's military genius was needed on Bataan peninsula as much as any place in the world.

But Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Michigan) declared it would be the best thing that could happen to the country if MacArthur could be made supreme commander of the armed forces. "MacArthur is the only symbol we have left of military efficiency," Vandenberg said.

Criticizing the administration's conduct of the war, Senator Millard Tydings (Dem.-Maryland) asserted in the Senate yesterday the struggle could not be won by remaining on the defensive; that the United States and her allies must take the initiative to carry the fight to Japan and other enemies.

Take Some Chances.

This could best be done, he said, by "taking a chance" and sending a heavily-guarded convoy of troops to reinforce MacArthur's men or British forces in Singapore.

Tydings said the United States should have military chiefs who would stand up to President Roosevelt, who is commander in chief, when they thought military or naval errors are being committed.

Million Telephones In Two Provinces

The demand for both local and long distance telephone service was greatly increased during 1941 because of the expansion of industrial operations and employment, according to the 62nd annual report of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada, issued to-day.

Million telephones in Ontario-Quebec.

At the end of the year, there were 888,348 Bell telephones in service in Ontario and Quebec, of which 308,845 were business and 579,503 residence instruments, the report states. The year's net gain was 63,651 as compared with 39,242 in 1940 and 20,600 in 1939. This is the largest gain for any year in the company's 62 years of operation.

As the 888 other telephone systems in Ontario and Quebec, with which the Bell Company interchanges service, now serve 156,916 telephones, the number of telephones in the two provinces exceeds one million.

Gross revenue from all sources amounted to $511,478,040 in 1941, an increase of $4,969,426 or 10.7 per cent over 1940, and the highest in the company's history.

Taxes, including provision for the Provincial corporation taxes, amounted to $8,001,000 in 1941, an increase of $2,626,000, or 48 per cent over the previous year. Taxes for 1941 were over two and two-thirds times those for the year prior to the outbreak of war.

In addition, taxes levied by various governments totalling $1,778,000 were collected directly from the telephone users.

Selwyn New[s]

Mr. and Mrs. Lynley Pratt and sons, Bobby and Tommy, of Peterborough visited with Mrs. Pratt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott before leaving on Thursday for Kamloops, B.C.

Lynley has been serving with the R.C.A.F. there for some time and came home on leave, returning on Thursday with his wife and family.

Friends of Mr. Jim McConkey will be pleased to learn he is progressing favorably in the hospital in Peterborough after a recent operation for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sanderson and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Payne of Warsaw on Wednesday evening.

No Costume Jewelry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—(AP).—The end of costume jewelry for duration of the war became a virtual certainty to-day when the United States War Production Board froze all supplies of tin and tin-bearing materials now held by manufacturing jewellers—an amount estimated at 1,000,000 pounds. Jewelers have been forbidden to use lead and copper.

P.C.V.S. Presents - - -

Special The Examiner By a P.C.V.S. Student

P.C.I.'ites added to their supreme record of last week with a total sale of $433 this week—$345 in Stamps and $88 in Certificates. This war sales record has received much publicity and was further augmented by the publication of Grade XII A Academic's form picture in this paper on Monday evening.

Miss Mildred Brown presented the flags to the prize-winning forms—two of which retained the flag for another month. Grade XII A Academic easily topped the first group with an average sale of $6.41 per pupil. XII B was second with a $4.98 average. In the second group XI A headed the list again with an average sale of $5.95 per student and X C followed with a $4.00 average. Grade IX B was the only new winner this month and Ruth Curtis received the flag for her form where the sale was $4.28 per pupil. IX C (first the month previous) was second with an average of $1.83.

Congratulations to the winners and to all other "War Savers"!

Mobile Kitchen Notes

Its becoming quite hot in the Assembly Hall now according to the mobile kitchen thermometer which has risen to the total of $847.25 this week. Forty three dollars and six cents was added this week through two donations.

Grade X Household Arts was represented by Margaret Squire who donated $18.06 to Bob Honour. Good work!

The P.C.V.S. Girls' Glee club came forward with one half of their allocation as Pearl Trethewey presented Bob with twenty-five dollars or so to be collected in the near future. One third of this amount will probably be forthcoming on Monday—watch for it!

Grade XIII A Academic's movie will be shown soon. It is hoped that it will be a smash hit of recent movie productions and the admittance will be but 10c. Listen for announcements concerning this event.

Grade X C Academic held a very successful do-nut and peanut sale on Thursday—if you want proof just ask the teachers—they will verify this statement. We will give you the results later.

Four students of P.C.V.S. spoke at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club yesterday on war work at the Collegiate. Mary Strickland, John Frank, Edward Geraghty, and Rod Reed were the pupils so honoured. Mary spoke on the girls' work in the school, Ed on the mobile kitchen, John on the Finance Committee, and Rod dealt with the boys' work at P.C.I. These students were enthusiastically received by the Kiwanians who learned more about the work being accomplished at the Collegiate. Congratulations

The Tournament

From all reports the girls are in fine shape for their super basketball tournament that is to be held in the gym next Friday and Saturday. Two strong teams have been formed and all the arrangements have been made. About 40 girls have been turning out to practises so there is no shortage of players. Our girls will billet 10 girls from each opposing team and they will be given a bed, breakfast, and lunch. This is a fine co-operative spirit on the part of the Collegiate girls.

Miss J. Brownlee of Forest Hill will act as referee and a Mr. King of the city as assistant. Don't forget—one game after four on Friday, three games starting at seven in the evening, games from nine on Saturday, and the remainder beginning at one thirty on Saturday afternoon. Admission is ten cents for separate games of 25c for the complete schedule. It is hoped that there will be a dance on Saturday evening so make it a date students!

Well over ten games should be played over the week-end so your money's worth is assured. Don't have to be told about these games—come and see them for yourself. See you in the gym.

Now For The Boys

There was another split decision last week in the boys' schedule as the Juniors were narrowly defeated by Cobourg 28-22 while the Seniors downed the C.G.E. 40-35. Smith and MacTavish starred for the Juniors and Taylor, Richardson, Ferguson, and Saunders sparked the Seniors to victory. From information we received Friday it seems that the Seniors won a game by default yesterday against the C.G.E. If this is true the Seniors are going up fast in the City League. The Juniors played Cobourg at 4.30 yesterday in the gym. Look elsewhere for the results. Game is in Lindsay after four next week—will you be there?

Fanny and Servant Problem

The P.C.V.S. Dramatic club is going full blast now in preparation for their feature production next March 5 and 6. Practises are being held nightly for this laugh provoking play—now but three weeks off. Admission will probably be the same as last year and the ticket campaign will start soon. New and exciting arrangements are being made for your entertainment so make your plans now.

Thursday night is going to be Students' Night at the play. An entertainment committee was elected on Thursday from the fourth and fifth forms and they are cooking up loads of fast fun for this night.

Keep these two dates open for this super attraction and start canvassing all your friends now for tickets.

Tessettes

Laura Lee and Les Harvey packed the Camera Club showcase with their pictures this week. Interesting indoor and outdoor studies were on display. Congrats!

Have you seen Jack Thompson's shots of exciting moments in last week's game yet. Stu Saunders is once more the idol and is shown in an attitude of intense concentration as he started a successful free throw.

Colin Jack gave a few faithful Camera Club members (Seniors) a fascinating demonstration of microphotography on Wednesday after four. These fortnightly discussions by club members are very educational and helpful to speaker and listener alike.

Students who hope to leave school in April for important war work were reminded of the fact that it will be necessary to work on a farm or in a factory associated directly with farm interests this year. The farmerettes are organizing once more.

Grade X A Commercial challenged X B Commercial to a War Savings Stamp duel. It is the hope of X A that they can sell more stamps than X B. Good luck to both forms. Two other challenges were issued earlier in the fall term but there the duel ended. Lets hope that this latest one is a success.

Note—C. S. Browne's form room (Grade XIII B Academic) had fluorescent lighting installed this week. However V B will open their eyes when V A's presentation is made to the mobile kitchen fund—wait and see.

Until the basketball tournament then.

Chas. B. Elliott Dies At His Home

COBOURG, Feb. 14—(ENS)—One of Cobourg's finest war veterans died here Friday in Charles Beverly Elliott, 63, of Green Street, Cobourg. The late Mr. Elliott had been in good health until death suddenly called him late Friday.

A fisherman of great renown, Mr. Elliott had spent his days on the water. He came here in 1922 and has fished out of this harbor ever since. His cabin launch was one of the most modern in equipment along the line.

Mr. Elliott took part in many lake incidents during his days here, and was responsible for many rescues on Lake Ontario. Only last summer Mr. Elliott went to the aid of a party of stranded Toronto yachtsmen when their craft broke down off Brighton Bay. The party was adrift for eleven hours when Mr. Elliott and his son Allan succeeded in getting a towing line to them after searching the lake for some hours. The stranded party were brought back to Cobourg in safety by the local fisherman.

Before coming here Mr. Elliott had spent many years on the Niagara River and was well-known there as an intrepid waterman. He witnessed many of the attempts to go over the Falls with various forms of barrels, etc. He also was present when three people were swept to their death on an ice floe while firemen and police tried unsuccessfully to save them by lowering ropes from the honeymoon bridge. The rope lacked scant feet to reach the doomed trio and the horrified onlookers were helpless to stop the tragic journey.

The late Mr Elliott leaves two sons besides his wife, the former Edith Overholt, to survive him. The sons are Harry of Cleveland, O., and Allan of Cobourg.

He was a devout member of the Anglican faith, and was liked by everyone for his extreme kindness and good advice around the waterfront.

The funeral arrangements are not complete as yet, but Mr. Elliott will rest at his home until the day of burial, when his body will be taken to Jordan, Ont., his birthplace, for interment.

MORE ABOUT— 60 Canvassers

the beauty spots of the Dutch Islands, creeping ever closer to Australia and our own west coast.

War Material Needed

Canada's first need is war materials, and to obtain and produce war materials the country must have every idle dollar that exists. These dollars invested in the Victory Loan will keep the wheels of industry turning, and will pay the owner of the bonds handsome dividends as well as providing for his future security in two ways, by destroying his enemies and by providing a nest egg for the lean period that follows the war.

Churchill, the doughty warrior and the British Generals have been attempting to hold the bastions of the empire all along the world front while the reserves were being built to a point where victory would be certain. War of this type when fought against a nation who have evolved a new method of fighting is distressing in that defeats, temporary defeats are inevitable. Every day signs reveal that strength of the British Lion and that of her cubs is returning, but it will take every bit of nourishment the entire Commonwealth can produce to feed this warrior.

Churchill has told Canadians that there is service in a thousand way, all have a part to play, all have a job to do, but many still hang back bewildered, asking themselves the question, "What can I do to help win the war?" The answer is "Buy Victory Bonds." No matter what one's station in life, one's age, or one's religion, the buying of Victory Bonds is a sure way of serving in this great struggle. Men died at Dunkirk because we had not sufficient planes. Today more gallant British soldiers are dying because we have not sufficient planes at Singapore. It is our job to see that this deficiency is made up.

170 Canvassers Pledge Utmost Support

COBOURG, Feb. 14.—(ENS).—"Northumberland's closing date for the coming War Loan drive will be when we have reached our objective," Mr. W. S. Edwards, county chairman, declared here yesterday. Should the drive go over the top before any general closing date the canvass will be continued until such time as the closing date is reached. Last summer the county went well over its objective which was then $1,000,000. This time the objective is $1,125,000.

A convention of canvassers was held yesterday here following which a luncheon was served to the bond salesmen.

Dr. A. R. Richards, Cobourg, addressed the gathering and stressed the great need of the success of the sale of the bonds. Mr. R. S. Ewing, Warkworth, was another speaker and declared that the success of the campaign depended greatly on the canvassers themselves. They were the contact points with the general public.

Mr. H. B. Philips f Brighton, also spoke and called for the greatest co-operation on the part of the canvassers among themselves and in their efforts with the public.

The signal fires or beacon fires would be set on a night not yet determined, it was stated at the meeting.

The one hundred and seventy men in the organization were advised that this was a fight to the finish by the organizers and in response the canvassers said they were all set and ready to go on Monday morning when the drive will officially open.

Mayor J. D. Burnet set a good example here yesterday to fellow business men in the matter of store decoration in honour of the coming Victory Loan drive. Mr. Burnet's store was undergoing decoration all day and by nightfall flags and bunting draped the windows and entrance. The British hotel also showed some action as their men began to erect flags and bunting.

P.C.V.S. Geared To High Pitch

A vivid word picture of Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational schools in wartime was aptly portrayed by four pupils of P.C.V.S. before the Kiwanis noonday luncheon Friday. It pictured a school, involved in social work within its own sphere in off school hours, a couple of years ago, completely changed over to aid in a magnificent manner, Canada's war effort. Students who planned activities to swell the school students' committees treasuries, are now working laboriously in war services of every description within the scope of their talents.

Kiwanians Carl Browne and J. L. Petit were instrumental in bringing before Kiwanis a splendid group from school who were to relate activities of varied groups among the student body.

Mr. Browne outlined the results of the sale of war saving stamps and certificates during 1941, details of which have been previously published in the Examiner. "For every school day of the year, we are averaging $103 in the sale of stamps and certificates," he said.

Ed. Geraghty, a student, told of the efforts being made to purchase a mobile kitchen for overseas. "We have raised $345.37 to date and we expect to reach our goal by Easter. Many of the boys mowed lawns, painted and washed cars that they might assist in this fund," he told the luncheon.

John Frank, chairman of the war work finance committee, explained it was the job of his organization to provide the funds for the purchase of yarn and cloth for the girls who are knitting, quilting and sewing. Much of the fund was raised by sale of salvage materials and other projects. At the end of 1941, the committee had $161 after spending $400 for yarns and materials, he said.

Roderick Reid told of the physical and academic training along war lines in the boys' work committee. Mary Strickland talked on girls' work in the matter of knitting, sewing and quilting, most of which is turned over to the Red Cross.

A feature of the program was the singing of Mary Hanlon who sang "Love is a Merchant" and "The Brown Bird."

Past president of the Kinsmen club, Lorne Bateman, made an appeal to the club on behalf of the war loan committee to give salesmen their utmost support in the campaign that opens Monday. "There is no point on me trying to impress such a group of men of the need for funds but, when the salesman calls at your door, treat him kindly and make your purchase without delay that he might have more time to spend on others during the drive," said Mr. Bateman.

Havelock News

The war-time community prayer meeting was well attended on Thursday night at the home of Mrs. James Freeman.

Mrs. Robert Jones has gone to spend a week with her sons, Mr. Bruce Jones, Toronto, and Mr. Borden Jones, Toronto.

A. Lachlan, a chartered accountant of Peterborough, has commenced an audit of the town books, in place of D. C. Drinkwalter and Kenneth Hamilton, who were unable to act.

T. P. Lancaster and Harold Mathieson are the canvassers for Havelock, Belmont and Methuen for the Second Victory Loan campaign, which starts on Monday.

Nutrition Talks Feature Convention Slate

PORT HOPE, Feb. 14.—(ENS)—The Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies held its forty-second convention in Toronto on February 12 at the King Edward Hotel with a huge attendance and Port Hope was represented by six delegates in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lightle, Miss Mildred Lightle, Mrs. George Halford, Mr. E. Scott and Mr. M. McHolm.

Some of the main speakers in the Women's Department were Mrs. H. M. Aikens of Toronto who gave one of the most interesting talks. She explained that 50 per cent more milk was given the children of England at this time and the majority of the lower class children are better nourished than ever before.

Miss Ethel Chapman of the Farm Magazine of Toronto urged that the use of more whole grain cereal such as bran muffins, whole wheat bread, also cakes without icing and stressed that nutrition is something all are urged to conserve in these times.

In the afternoon, Mrs. A. R. G. Smith from New Hamburg gave an interesting talk and Miss Mary A. Clarke of Toronto explained the nutriments of the new flour and never shortening which we will be forced to use in the near future and that a large percentage of this shortening would be 75 per cent. animal fat. Flour will be in a more mixed form and she went on to explain that up to now the pigs had been fed most of the vitamins and we had only been using the refined grains, therefore not getting the proper nutrition.

At this time the reports of the district representatives were given after which the lady delegates were taken in four large busses to the College street store of the T. Eaton Co. where afternoon tea was served in the private dining room adjoining the Round Room through the courtesy of the T. Eaton Co. During the afternoon an address was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Hammond of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, Que. on the conserving of food in war time.

At 6.30 the delegates were again transported by bus back to the King Edward Hotel to a banquet in the Ball Room on the 17th floor. The guest speaker was the Hon. J. G. Taggart, food administrator of Ottawa, who gave an interesting address on the ceiling of prices and inflation.

An address of welcome was given by Controller Wadsworth of Toronto who welcomed the guests for Mayor Conboy and the council and a short address was given by Hon. P. M. Dewan, minister of agriculture of Ontario. Mr. Carrol acted as master of ceremonies.

The presentation of the past presidents jewels were then made by Hon. J. S. Henry. Mr. R. Duncan, formerly of Port Hope was introduced to the delegates.

thing like a thousand quid," he reminisced, "and I have had diamond rings as big as the eyes in your head. But it's all gone now. I believe in keeping money in circulation."

Sammy started out by earning his living through honest toil as a merchant seaman. "I first went to sea when I was 17 and helped transport troops in the last war," he said. "But honesty don't pay. All I ever got out of it was that scar on my lip and those teeth knocked out."

So after a few years of seafaring he applied himself diligently to his trade, working himself to the top. Once, but only once, was he caught and served three years. "But that was just a part of the apprenticeship," he said.

He doesn't like the life of a merchant seaman any too well and plans to go back to his profession after "we put this guy Hitler in his place." And he is homesick for the pubs and alleys of his native slums, "now just a heap of sticks where stray cats live."

"I got a whole swag of stuff—bought it in Canada," he emphasized quickly, "for my daughter. She's 18 and loves lipstick and rouge and things like I'm taking to her. The old woman is too old for such foolishness."

Asked if he had anything at all left from his peace-time prowlings he said, "Only these," holding up a pair of superbly clad feet. "Got them from some titled cove on one of my visits."

Bowling Teams To Aid Minesweeper

PORT HOPE, Feb. 14—(ENS).—From the Stephenson Bowling Academy comes the information that the File League is tops this year so far. With sixteen men's teams and five ladies' teams playing from the File with real scores. The American File team boasts the high three string score held by Clarence Holdsworth first game 286, second game 336, and third game 326, with a total of 948. Others on this team are H. Trawin with a three string of 611, C. White with 773, G. Johns 566, L. Williams 547, with a total of 3,747, including handicap.

In the Town League Has Beens, a record was broken with a team score of 3,976.

Another three-string score is held by Charles Stephenson with 898, and in the Ladies' Friday Afternoon team Mrs. Smith holds the high for a single game of 341. Mrs. Stephenson's team leads this group with a high three-game total of 2,994, including handicaps.

The top ladies' team lineup is Mrs. Hozack 569, Mrs. Stephenson 486, Mrs. Tickell 478, Mrs. Goodman 339, Sub Dummy 375. These scores plus handicaps total 2,994 for three games.

The Town League bowling teams held a meeting on Thursday night to arrange their playoffs after 18 games have been played by 10 teams and it was decided to play a round-robin of the first six teams and the high two of the round-robin to play off for the Stephenson Cup and to have the low four teams play a double round-robin and the prize money to be donated to the H.M. S.C. Port Hope minesweeper.

the suggestion of some newspapers that all the facts be gathered before responsibility was placed, and Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express defended the Prime Minister by advising Britons to help him carry his "heavy load up the hill."

The News Chronicle (Liberal) said "His (Mr. Churchill's) methods of government must be recast quickly and with a single aim in view—to retrieve as dangerous and humiliating a situation as any that yet confronted us."

"Have we not been hypnotized by Mr. Churchill's personality . . ." The Daily Herald (Labor), said "we look pretty foolish," while the Mirror (Independent), asked: "Is it any longer true to say we trust the Prime Minister though we do not trust his government?"

The Daily Sketch (Independent), said:—

"Mr. Churchill must be brought by one means or another to a clearer recognition of some essential truths. Does he take too much upon himself? . . . Should he not limit the numbers of his war cabinet and improve its quality?"

Australian newsmen cabled home some of their most bitter reviews.

E. W. MacAlpine sent to his syndicate a two-column attack on all British officialdom, saying the "man in the street now is heartily sick of the answers and reasons that have been given four our failure so far."

Sees Real Upset

Trevor Smith of the Australian Newspaper Services predicted a "first-class political upheaval," with Mr. Churchill directly challenged by some of his own supporters.

Smith suggested that one of the most urgent changes needed was the inclusion in the war cabinet of Sir Stafford Cripps, "A sincere and ruthless man . . . who if he ever becomes Prime Minister will not hesitate to remove ministers and commanders who make mistakes."

The Bremen radio, meanwhile, said the German battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen "despite British vigilance."

Britons took some comfort in the broadcast report of a British motor torpedo boat commander that two torpedo hits "appeared to us to have been scored on the cruiser Prinz Eugen."

The commander declared the small motor torpedo boats fought through a line of 12 German "E-Boats" (also torpedo boats) with "all our guns firing while all around us the water spat up as E-Boat and aircraft cannon shell fell close."

The British torpedo boats emerged from the engagement with no casualties and slight damage, it was reported.

It was disclosed meanwhile that Mr. Churchill anxiously had followed the battle for hours in the Admiralty war room, standing before a big map of the English Channel.

A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, stood beside him and watched as officials plotted the course of the Nazi warships into the North Sea and at least temporary safety.

Mrs. Roy King Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Roy King, a member of the Examiner's staff of correspondents, died very suddenly in the Examiner office this morning. Mrs. King had brought in some correspondence of a meeting she covered on Friday, and was also transacting some business at the desk in the main office when she complained of a pain in her heart to the member of the office staff who was waiting on her. Before she had time to say anything more she collapsed. A. O. Phillips of the Examiner staff rendered first-aid, but when the doctor arrived life was declared extinct.

Mrs. King, who was 45 years old had been correspondent in Hastings and district for the past 15 years, and was one of this newspaper's most faithful and diligent outside workers. She was ready and willing at all times both to give service to the newspaper and to the community in which she lived.

Born in Stratford, she came to Hastings 35 years ago, and after teaching school for two years she married Roy King, a farmer of the Hastings district. A member of St. George's Anglican Church, she was deeply interested in her own church but as correspondent she took a keen interest in the progress of the various other churches in the community.

Her husband, three sisters and three brothers survive.

MORE ABOUT— British Savings

Treasury payment of £97,600,000 made the weekly deficit only £4,800,000.

Sales of national savings bonds jumped nearly £10,000,000 last week to £27,615,000, the best for nearly three months.

Wages: The Labor Ministry estimated the wage level rose by nine per cent. during 1941 and was between 26 and 27 per cent. higher than at the outbreak of war.

Some 8,036,000 workers received increases aggregating about £2,080,000 weekly, mostly in the principal war industries, including agriculture.

Labor: January unemployment among men showed an increase of more than 7,000 compared with December. This first rise in many weeks was attributed to the extreme cold snap.

Last week's registration of 300,000 women of the 1908 class brought the total to about 4,000,000. Experts estimated that one in four have been drafted for war work and the remainder exempted by dependents or marriage. The Labor Ministry hopes to use this pool as a reserve of part-time workers for filling short shifts in factories.

M.P.Urges Army Keep Uniform Till Jobs Found

(By C. R. BLACKBURN.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 14 (CP) — Harry Leader (Lib.-Prog. Portage La Prairie) has expressed opinion in the House of Commons that men in the Canadian armed forces should not surrender their uniforms after the war until they are "secure in some permanent job with a chance to build a home and raise a family."

Speaking yesterday at the close of the third week of the throne speech debate, Mr. Leader said he would give that advice to Canadian service men.

He said he would support the plebiscite by which the government proposes to seek release from past anti-conscription pledges but at the same time said he believes conscription would be the final, essential step to a total war effort.

There were four other speakers in the debate yesterday, three Liberals and one representative of the New Democracy, and none of them advocated defeat of the proposed plebiscite which, with conscription, has been a main theme of speeches since the session began Jan. 22.

Lapointe Opposes Conscription

Hugues Lapointe (Lib. Lotbiniere) son of the late Justice Minister Lapointe who came home from overseas when his father died last November, spoke in the uniform of a Lieutenant of the Regiment De La Chaudiere.

He expressed support for the plebiscite but said he was against conscription. There was a sharp division of thought among the soldiers overseas on the conscription question, he said, with "probably the majority" in favor of compulsory overseas service.

Rotarians Hear Toronto Cleric

COBOURG, Feb. 14.—(ENS) — One of the finest addresses yet heard by the Cobourg Rotary Club was delivered here Friday by the guest speaker, Rev. W. J. Johnston, B.D., minister of Eglinton United Church, Toronto. The speaker took as his subject the three attitudes of life. He said the first of these attitudes was that of looking back reviewing past good time or regretting the past itself.

The second was that pursued by some people called introspection. These people looked into themselves, they were locked up in themselves as it were. The third attitude was that of prospective. Looking ahead visualizing a roseate future which never turned up.

These three were all out of joint the speaker declared. The time to enjoy oneself was right now. Now the present was the only time to have a good time, the minister added.

There were, however, certain things that must be done, he declared. We must obey the laws at all times, Mr. Johnston told the members. The laws of the land, the laws of God and the moral laws must all be obeyed.

There were three teachers in life, the speaker declared. They were Experience, Sorrow and Adversity and they were the main guiding lines of our existence. If we took the learnings of these teachers to heart we would have a better and fuller life, he concluded.

The address, while along serious thoughtful lines was enlivened by several humorous anecdotes and the Rotarians expressed the appreciation of the speaker's talk.

Mr. R. N. McKenzie, C.C.I, principal and vice-president of the Cobourg Rotary Club introduced the speaker and Rotarian R. Freeman thanked him on behalf of the service unit at its conclusion.

In the absence of F. J. Slade, the seller of War Savings Stamps for the club the draw for the stamps was not held.

No school boy guests were present at the dinner but guests from out-of-town were Messrs. J. McIlveen and R. James of Bowmanville and Ken Hodget of Port Hope.

People are Bruised Reeds Twisted By Own Desires

REV. E. R. JAMES

The bruised reed shall He not break, and the smoking flax shall He not quench. St. Matthew 12:20.

The Lord is speaking to an oriental people who are quite familiar with the illustration. We all understand the reed. But the lamp of those days was a bowl with a little oil in it and a wick of flax, which everyone knows does not always burn brightly; sometimes it smokes.

This is the age of the efficiency expert. Men bruised by the war or industry are cast aside. They are mere broken earthenware. The prophet Isaiah contrasts his age with that of the coming Messiah, the Christ. Men will marvel at His tenderness and patience with the bruised and unfit.

In the fulness of time He came and men marvelled that He was the friend of publicans and sinners, the companion of reeds bruised through the hardships of life; of smoking, ill smelling lamps—men and women whose flame of life was low because their oil of energy had been used up in the horrible struggle for a mere existence.

The Lord Jesus is God who took upon Him our human nature that He might undergo all the experiences of men and therefore be able to comfort and strengthen and sympathize. He throws light upon the mysteries of sin, sorrow and death.

Sin. We are all bruised reeds twisted by our desires and passions. We have all gone out of the way to follow that which we think of value. Later we find there is no value in them. Jesus Christ has faced the stress and strain of temptation and has overcome. He is able to give us strength to resist and to stand upright. He will straighten the bruised reed—the man who has been bruised and defiled by his sins. He is tender hearted towards him; He is full of patience and hope. He looks with compassion upon the bruised reed and will straighten it if the man will help and desires to stand.

In a voice full of compassion and love He says:—"Son, daughter, thy sins be forgiven thee; take up thy bed and walk. You must obey in the new found confidence and discover that He speaks the power word. "Lord, speak the word only and Thy servant shall be healed." Perhaps there is no truth so inspiring as to say to oneself when the wave of temptation sweeps down:—"I can conquer in Christ's power. I know I can stand." Fill your mind and imagination with the thought of conquest and victory and, lo, the desire to sin passes away.

Sorrow. The smoking flax also means the light that is growing dim through fears, sorrows and heart breaks. The Lord Jesus is the Man of sorrows and acquainted with grief. His human body was wrung with anguish. He draws near to you and whispers:—"Cast your burden upon Me for I care for you."

In the Garden He offered His pain, sorrow and anguish to God the Father Who gave Him the strength to drink the cup. Consciously and deliberately offer your sorrow to God. He knows the terrible age we are living in. He knows your heart break and loneliness. Slowly the light will become clearer and the flame of hope and courage will grow brighter because the Lord Christ, Who is God, breathes upon you with His life giving breath and you are quickened in the inner man. Lo, the Comforter is with you.

Death. We are born to die; our death must come sooner or later. It is the great mystery. Here also God draws near in Christ Jesus and says:—"I am He that liveth and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for ever more." God the Christ passed through the great mystery of death and understands.

A Christian thinker remarks:—"On the other shore we shall have more of God."

The Lord Jesus in His glorified Humanity will be with you as you enter into that dread valley and you will hear His words; your ears will be opened to hear Him; His voice will be full of tenderness. You are one of His sheep and He is the Good Shepherd. "Lo, I am with you all the days; I will take thee by the right hand and hold thee up; fear not." Through death you will pass into the nearer presence of God, with the holy angels and all the Company of Heaven.

THY GENTLENESS HATH MADE ME GREAT.

Healing Ministry of Jesus Built Upon His Compassion

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for February 15 is Mark 1:35-3:12; Luke 4:42-44; 5:12-39, the Golden Text being Matthew 14:14, "He had compassion on them, and healed their sick.")

Our entire lesson tells of the ministry of Christ while He was on earth, and after He had chosen some of His apostles, immediately following His baptism by John. We saw how He freed a man from an evil spirit which possessed him; following this by healing Simon's wife's mother.

Early next morning, before it was light, He arose and went to a solitary place that He might commune with His Father. Here His apostles followed Him, and with them He went into several towns, preaching. To Him came a man afflicted with leprosy, that dreadful and loathsome disease. Kneeling before the Lord this man said, "If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." Reaching His hand to the man, in pity, Jesus answered, "I will; be thou clean," and the man was cleansed. Jesus cautioned him to say nothing to anyone of the miracle, but to go to the temple and receive the priest's instructions for cleansing himself, according to the law of Moses. Instead of doing as he was told, however, the man went out and blazed the matter abroad, probably out of gratitude, but who knows how much harm he did by not obeying the Master?

Came Again to Capernaum

Once more Jesus and His companions came to Capernaum, and by this time, so great was His fame that great multitudes crowded around Him, following Him into a house so that no more could get in. Now there was a man who was very ill with palsy. His friends brought him to the house and tried to get in to see Jesus, and when they could not by the door, they went on the flimsy roof, took part of it off and let the sick man down through the hole by a quilt knotted at the corners. Seeing their faith in Him, Jesus said to the man, "Son, thy sins be forgiven thee."

Immediately some scribes began saying in their hearts, "Why does this man thus speak blasphemies? Who can forgive since but God only?"

Jesus knew what they were thinking and asked them: "Is it easier to say to the sick of the palsy, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed and walk?

"But that you may know that the Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (he saith to the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy bed, and go thy way into thine house."

The man immediately arose and went out, and all were amazed and glorified God.

Going to the seaside Jesus passed by Levi, son of Alphaeus, who was sitting at the receipt of customs, collecting tolls for his Roman masters. He was one of the hated publicans. Jesus said to him, "Follow me," and Levi, or Matthew, as he is believed to be, arose and followed Him.

A feast followed to which came many "publicans and sinners, and when scribes and Pharisees saw this they asked why Jesus, a Jew, ate with such people. The Jewish law forbade sitting down to meat with them. Jesus' answer was: "They that are whole have no need of the physician, but they that are sick: I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Walking in the Corn Field

One Sabbath day Jesus and His disciples walked through a field of grain, and as they walked they picked some of the kernels, and rubbing them between their hands to separate the wheat from the chaff, they ate the kernels. The spying Pharisees said: "Behold, why do they on the Sabbath day that which is unlawful."

Jesus reminded them that King David once went into the temple, and being hungry was given the shewbread which only the priests were supposed to eat, and he said to them, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath."

Once more, in the last incident of today's lesson, this same question of the observance of the Sabbath came up. Jesus was in the synagogue when a man who had a withered hand came to Him to be healed. The Pharisees were watching and waiting to see what He would do. He told the man to stand forth, and to the watchers He said, "Is it lawful to do good on the Sabbath days, or to do evil?" They did not dare answer Him, and Jesus, looking around, and grieving at their hardness of heart, told the man to stretch forth his hand, and when he did the hand was restored to normal.

Straightway, the Pharisees went out and consulted with the Herodians how they could destroy Him. These Pharisees considered themselves righteous, godly men, but how far away they were from practising a real religion.

Jesus and His disciples went on to the sea; and great multitudes followed Him, and He healed many.

Many Novels an Expressions Of Life of Modern World

Christian people find the character of many modern novels extremely distasteful having little or nothing that is admirable about them and exhibiting often frightful perversions in their natures. They condemn such literature as godless and corrupt which is perhaps as just sentence upon it. But they fail to grasp the significance of the literature as an expression of the life of this modern world. Most of the novelists condemned are conscientious artists endeavoring to present a truthful picture of human life as they have seen it. Surely it is significant then that what they seem to have seen is like nothing other than a procession of lost souls. In their own way they tell of the misery, darkness and disorder of life into which modern cultured man has fallen because with all his culture he has failed to find his soul. This in a sense in such recent literature is a commentary upon Jesus' words "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

Gets Year Instead

HALIFAX, Feb. 14—(CP).—Gordon Sampson, convicted yesterday of stealing watches from a local jeweller, said, "I'll take two years in penitentiary."

"You will take what I give you," replied Magistrate R. J. Flynn, as he sentenced Sampson to one year in the city prison.

Questions On Temperance

There are some reactions which some thoughtful young people have about the liquor situation. These represent different classes:

(1) It does not concern us in any way, as we never drink.

(2) If we go out to a party in a home, it is not polite to refuse a drink if others are taking it.

(3) Moderate use of alcohol is the sane and reasonable course.

(4) The government sanctions the beverage rooms so there is nothing we can do about it.

(5) Why do not the churches set up counter attractions to the beverage rooms?

(6) Strong drink will not help us to win the war so we should fight it.

These questions will be the subject of the address in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night.

Less Exercises

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(AP)—Hey Kids! It's here! All public school principals were asked by Superintendent of Schools Harold G. Campbell yesterday to reduce considerably the number of daily written tests and exercises. It took the war to do it, by causing a growing paper shortage, but, anyway, it's pretty good news, huh?

The Healing Ministry of Jesus — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 1:35—3:12; Luke 4:42-44; 5:12-39.

To Jesus and His disciples came a leper, kneeling and saying to Him, "If Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean." Jesus put forth His hand in compassion, saying, "I will; be thou clean."

Jesus went forth again by the seaside and as He passed Levi, the son of Alphaeus, sitting at the receipt gate of custom, He said unto him, "Follow Me," and he arose and followed Him.

Among those who sat at table with Jesus were Publicans and sinners, when the Pharisees asked why He sat with such, Jesus answered, "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

"The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath," was Jesus' answer to those who told Him He was breaking the law to pluck corn on that day. (GOLDEN TEXT—Matt. 14:14)

Conditions Today Are Grave. Dollars Will Be Fighters

Beginning Monday the people of Canada are starting to raise $600,000,000 to be spent for the prosecution of the war. The Government is the official body which is formally asking for this sum because it is the head of the nation, but actually what takes place is that citizens from coast to coast are lending, for interest, their own money to themselves. Government is not more than what the men and women of the land set up to manage their political, business and social affairs.

This is said because too often there is a disposition to regard the government, of whatever period or complexion it may be, as a separate entity from which it is a smart thing to withhold all you can, or, if the opportunity comes along, to take all you can. The plain, cold fact is that government is an integral part of the population which is governed. The private individual has a direct and definite responsibility. Particularly in a time when the security of the nation is gravely endangered is that responsibility facing every one of us. It cannot be side-stepped without a weakening influence on the moral character of the person who ignores it.

Peterborough city and county together are asked to get the inhabitants of these municipalities to make a loan of $2,750,000. In other words that is our share of the total amount needed, and urgently needed by the Government from all the people of the Dominion. It is not a sum beyond our local capacity because more than this amount was raised here during the last Victory Loan. The point then is why it should be done and will it be done. The Examiner, keenly eager as it is to see the undertaking go well over the top, has confidence that the good reputation which this area has built up will be maintained. That achievement, though, will depend on how you and I and the other person look at this job, for it is a job. The money doesn't put on its coat and hat and walk right in to see the Victory Loan Treasurer. Instead of that, busy men are going out all over to urge us all to invest—that is the word, invest—some of our earnings to help save ourselves from being robbed and enslaved by the Nazis. If anybody questions the use of those words let him read what the Huns have done to the peoples of Europe whom they have killed and looted.

Is there the remotest likelihood of such a misfortune happening here? many may ask. The answer is that if there weren't that danger the $600,000,000 wouldn't be needed. It is because the situation is critical and the outlook perplexing that big armed forces must be kept up, equipment and munitions supplied—in fact every conceivable effort be made to support Britain, Australia, Russia, New Zealand, the United States—all the United Nations against a formidable foe.

On Friday the world was surprised over the escape from Brest of the bulk of Germany's remaining heavy warships, despite a fierce battle in the English Channel. That is depressing news. It has shocked London, Ottawa and Washington.

Without being pessimistic, one may as well look grim truth in the eye. The Russians have been battling with bitter and successful energy against their attackers and have regained much lost territory but there are signs now that the Germans are digging in, concentrating and speeding up their industries. They are working to turn out more fighting mechanism and supplies than ever before in preparation for a fierce spring drive. News gets through from time to time indicating that the strategists of the Axis powers are planning a terrific campaign, starting in March, not only in Russia to gain control of the oil fields there but against Gibraltar, in North Africa and against Egypt and the Suez Canal with the hope of capturing Iraq and Iran, now held by the British.

In the Far East one important place after another has been taken by the Japanese. The Malaya Peninsula, Hong Kong, the fate of Singapore in the balance, the tragedy of the Philippines, an approach by the Japs close to Australia—what does the record say? This: That we and all who belong to the United Nations and love freedom, must fight, fight, fight with every ounce of our energy, every power of our mind, unless we want to go down to shameful defeat.

Those of us who are in Canada, no matter where we are or what our job, are too far away from the actual battle zones to meet the enemy on the battle field or in the air. We can fight him though with our dollars because they will keep the forces in uniform ready for service; they will roll guns and planes and vessels and munitions out from our plants and send them on their way to defy the millions of armed Germans and Italians and Bulgarians and Japanese. Let us be soldiers here—at home—conscious of the fact that apathy and indifference are fatal in this hazardous time.

There will be a feeling of pride in every one of us who is able to say, as the Victory Loan gets on in this city and district: "I took every dollar in bonds that I can possible subscribe and am able to be able to do it. I've enough red blood in my veins for that, particularly when I'll get interest on my money."

It is much wiser, isn't it? to lend money to our own country on this business basis than to have the Germans and their ruthless legions win and then seize it from us. We have only the two alternatives!

The Whims Of Fate

From points, four thousand miles apart, came the news on Wednesday last of the death of two persons, the creations of whose minds entertained countless millions of people. The one was Felix Powell, composer of the marching song which popularized itself with the troops in the Great War of 1914-18, namely, "Pack Up Your Troubles In Your Old Kit Bag"; the other was Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice, author of the internationally famed novel, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Singular, the whim of fame; singular, also, how the world will create an enduring reputation for one person and leave countless masses of other people in obscurity, except for any local distinction they may have. And yet, perhaps, that is the way life has of doing its duty toward genius. Napoleon once said that people who had great wealth couldn't have great honor as well and so while millionaires and the socially prominent complete their span and pass into the eternity of the forgotten, a comparatively humble person will write a book, a song, a piece of music, paint a picture or invent something and his or her name will become known in almost every household throughout several countries.

During the last war an English music firm offered a prize for a marching song. Two brothers entered a composition which they had written some time before and had put away in a drawer, forgotten. George Powell was the author of the words but Felix of the music. They dug out their manuscript sent it in and won. That was over a quarter of a century ago. The song has been on the lips of English-speaking people ever since.

Mrs. Rice, who passed away in Louisville, Kentucky, produced forty years ago a story—simple, homey and delightfully humorous, which is read today with the same zest as it had for the public when it first appeared. It will be enjoyed for years to come. Though other work came from her pen, "Mrs. Wiggs" was what struck the fancy of humanity and took her name from Louisville to many foreign readers through translations.

Men and women who have the rare gifts to produce works that give emotional enjoyment to the human race are amongst its worthiest benefactors. They are entitled to honor for they very seldom ever have wealth.

Striking Racial Contrasts

Two "yellow races," as they are known, are in sharp contrast today in the eyes of the peoples of other countries. They are the races of China and Japan. The physical differences between them is not sufficiently marked that we in Canada can easily tell which is which—and it is hoped this is no libel on the Chinese—but the differences in moral character is striking.

Leaving aside the centuries of Chinese civilization with all it embodies of literature, art, philosophy and ethics, and merely taking the facts as one looks at them now, here are things that impress one:

The Japanese deliberately made war upon the Chinese and have been carrying on that war for nearly five years. It was not the Chinese who made war upon Japan.

The Chinese as a race are known to be honorable. Their principles in business, professional and social life are sound. Their word is to be relied upon with few exceptions. The acts of the Japanese since the early part of December brand them as utterly unprincipled, ruthless and treacherous. They have resorted to baseness quite equal to that of Hitler and his crowd.

Visiting India at the present time is Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Chinese forces, and rapidly becoming a world figure. His wife is one of the most brilliant women of the Orient. Both have progressive ideas for their country and a desire for harmonious relations among the peoples of the Far East. The Generalissimo is seeking to get India to co-operate in resistance to Japanese aggression, knowing that Japan is an enemy which would put upon all places it conquers the brutal heel such as the Germans have placed upon the subjugated European nations. In contrast to Chiang Kai-shek is Premier Togo, of Japan, who is directing the forces that are causing death and sorrow to scores of thousands of human beings.

At the present time Japan is ahead of China because of its powerful fleet, air force and vast well-equipped army, and, too, because the Chinese are a slower, less aggressive people, but the day will come when the four hundred millions, or thereabouts, in China will be raised to a higher, better economic and social position than they have today. Then it will be one of the greatest powers in the world. That day may be a long way off, but it will come, and Chiang Kai-shek is the modern Moses of the Chinese race.

A "Sugar-Coated" Fine

If it is intended that penalties are to be imposed to stop people from hoarding sugar, under Government rationing regulations, the fines imposed by Magistrate Prentice Thursday in Toronto on four violators who were brought into Police Court will have about as much effect as a gentle smack on the hand.

According to press reports four convictions were registered against those who wanted to get fat bags of the granular commodity whether other folks went without or not. Three offenders had gobbled up a hundreds pounds each, during the recent panic, and another, fifty pounds. The Magistrate asked them to leave five dollars each with the Crown for their violations. It certainly was a paltry fine and it will take a lot of imagination to figure out how such leniency will have any other effect than to make people wink their eyes and go after all the sugar they can get anywhere.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"How are they going to hold up their morale without girdles?" enquiries the Brandon Sun. Why, with safety pins, of course.

Has Mussolini gone into retreat to look up something more about Caesar? We haven't heard a peep out of him lately.

Many things are to be learned from Old World countries. In Switzerland they clean used tin cans with steam, then spray them with lacquer burned into the metal and use the cans over again. In Canada we have been tossing them away—millions of them annually.

That new comet, reported to be speeding earthward, and which will be only 60,000,000 miles away by March, is not likely to be attracted very close to our world. Things are hot enough here already so it'll probably sense the truth about us and shy off in some other direction.

AT EVENING HOUR

The world lies still tonight
As though in silent wonderment
That 'neath the ever-changing sunset sky
There does not move one thing of life;
And, while the leaves hang heavy on the trees,
The grass is crouched for comfort to the earth.
'Tis now the spirit of man must mount until the sea
Of vast and rolling clouds breaks at his feet
And all else drops away and lies below.
Then, as he stands where winds are strong and pure,
His head is raised again to meet the light
Which drops from skies that seem so near and deep.
And when at dusk the star of evening creeps
Into the liquid hush of twilight sky,
His heart is soothed to dreams and he turns
Once more into the world, ennobled and refreshed.

Propaganda For Our Side Good and Bad

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

FROM time to time moans are heard from various parts of Canada, criticising the steps which have been taken to make us enthusiastic supporters of our war effort. No one suggests that we do not support the war effort, and no one who has not some sort of axe to grind pretends that our war effort is not a fine one. But, as a nation, we certainly are not enthusiastic about it. We pay our taxes and we buy our war savings stamps and we subscribe to the war loan, but we get remarkably little thrill out of these things. Canada, a land which is characteristically glum, has become positively morose during the past two years.

Why? Why are we not 'grim and gay' like the British? Why are we not wise-cracking and energetically determined to beat the head off the enemy, like the Americans? Why is it that, in spite of an etxremely creditable enlistment of first-rate men, and a splendid production of armaments we are so heavy-spirited about the war and our part in it? Attempts have been made to lay the blame upon everything from the personality of Mr. Mackenzie King down, but my own belief is that the fault lies in our lack of adequate propaganda. It is not an easy task to make Canada enthusiastic about anything, but we must have enthusiasm if we are going to win this war.

It is not that we have no propaganda. We have some, but it is almost worse than none at all. Visiting the movies the other night I had an opportunity to contrast our propaganda with an example of British propaganda. The film was called "Ships With Wings," and it was about the Fleet Air Arm. Preceding it was a 'short' which was supposed to encourage Canadians to buy heavily in the next War Loan. Let us consider this 'short' carefully."

It began, for no perceptible reason, with some pictures of troops running about on a battlefield. It then changed suddenly to a man in bed, sleeping in the uneasy attitude of an actor who does not know how to look as though he were asleep. A voice informed us that this was Mat Hubbard, a typical Canadian, and that he was lucky to be able to sleep when there was a war on. Mat then leaped up and hastened to his window, where breathed deeply, but unhealthily, stretching the top of his chest and making a faint whistling noise. He was wearing a crumpled pair of flannel pyjamas. Lucky Mat! explained the voice; look at him! all the air he can breathe, and he isn't even afraid to stick his head out of the window! If he lived in Europe, we were told, he would have to keep his windows down and gum them over with sticky paper. We then saw Mat crouching beside a window so gummed. Next Mat went to the bathroom to shave. As he looked in the mirror, a horrible Nazi face appeared there, and spoke very harshly to Mat, saying what it would do to him when it caught him. Mat looked appropriately frightened. The moral of this nonsense was that we should buy as much as we could of the next War Loan.

If the foregoing account of what I saw seems confused and meaningless it is because the film which it describe was confused and meaningless. Or rather, almost meaningless, for its intention could be faintly described. It was meant to terrify us into supporting the War Loan. As though we needed that sort of pressure! As though we were not fully conscious of our good fortune in this land where we have never had to dread enemy planes or enemy troops! As though terror were really an effective aid in selling anything! Terror is paralyzing in its effect; it does not spur to action. Not, mind you, that the film succeeded in being terrifying. Its bugaboo Nazi, speaking in a comic German accent, was completely ineffective. The whole short was a flop, and it was viewed by the audience with patient boredom. It would have passed entirely without comment if I had not started a round of clapping myself. I was ashamed to clap such a weak piece of propaganda, but it would not have done to let a War appeal go entirely unnoticed.

Can't we do any better than this? Can't we have a few good movie 'shorts,' well filmed and well written, which will stir us to enthusiasm and make us glad and eager to subscribe our money to the War Loan? We will do it, of course, but could we not be encouraged to do it with a smile? Why must we always make such a mess of our propaganda on the films and on the air? Propaganda, if it is intended to help our morale, should be bright and cheery. The Americans have the right idea; they have Donald Duck to encourage their citizens to pay their increased taxes cheerfully. Of course, we have no Donald Duck, but there is no need to put a Dismal Desmond in his place.

The contrast between the Canadian propaganda film and the British one was strong. Of course, the comparison must necessarily be an unfair one, as "Ships With Wings" was a full length film with a cast of distinguished actors, and the Royal Navy had co-operated in its making. Obviously it had cost a lot of money and it was extremely effective. But the most effective thing about it, which cost no money at all, was its spirit, its prevailing tone. This was one of vigor and hope, of certainty and achievement. It was a film made by people who were determined to win the war, and who never crouched beside windows. It was a film made by people who, if they saw a Nazi staring at them out of the bathroom mirror, would immediately smash the mirror. Having seen it, one left the theatre with a feeling of buoyancy and elation. Canada needs that sort of thing, and it should not be imported from Britain or from the States; we should be able to produce our own buoyancy and elation, and the sooner we set about it, the better. We cannot afford to waste time in gloom, and we certainly cannot waste money on propaganda films which encourage gloom and fear.

ALL OUT!

• Dover Coup a Blow

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—(AP)—Escape from Brest of a trio of fast and powerful German warcraft under the noses of the Royal Navy and Royal Air Force and the very muzzles of British shore batteries is a stunning new blow to anti-Axis war leaders.

It changes vital war factors in both oceans. It represents, aside from any other construction placed upon it, closely integrated German-Japanese strategy.

With such big and dangerous vessels as the light battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau and the heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen loose in the Atlantic, that ocean becomes again the greatest danger zone for Britain, Russia and the United States. Those sea routes must be kept open if the Axis war design is to be frustrated.

And to the extent that the daring German sea success forces increased Anglo-American naval concentrations in the Atlantic at the expense of the Pacific defenses it will certainly help Japan enlarge her victories. It could seal the fate of the Netherlands Indies, next in line for Japanese assault.

London commentators make no bones about the seriousness for the Allied cause of the failure to destroy those German warcraft. Hitler gambled mightily—and unquestionably won—in ordering the bold dash through Dover Strait. The skill and daring with which that coup was executed must command admiration; yet it speaks also of desperation. What the purpose was is not yet fully revealed, but the risk was so great, the chance of success so small that some critical aspect of Nazi or Axis strategy must be involved.

It is true that the three ships were useless to Germany holed up at Brest and subject to repeated air bombing. The nothing-ventured-nothing-gained axiom alone dictated a run for it. Nevertheless, had the ships been destroyed, it would have bolstered British and Allied morale immeasurably at an otherwise dark moment. It would also have influenced both Atlantic and Pacific war factors almost as favorably for the United Nations as their escape has imponderably altered them in German-Japanese favor.

The stark fact that confronts London and Washington is that Hitler at this moment may have the most powerful surface fleet now in the Atlantic.

He has certainly one and probably three German battleships of the powerful Bismarck type. The two 26,000-tonners which escaped from Brest are not their equal in armor or gunpower or cruising range, but they are formidable antagonists. At least two of Germany's original trio of 10,000-ton pocket battleships must be counted in. There are in addition an unknown number of German cruisers, heavy ships like the Prinz Eugen or lighter and even swifter craft.

What Anglo-American naval strength in the Atlantic is has not been disclosed. Most of it certainly is widley dispersed on convoy and patrol duty. The British Mediterranean Fleet and the United States Pacific Fleet both have their hands full. Both may have been lately reinforced from the Atlantic.

Lacking those factors, accurate assessment of the effect of the Dover Strait episode is impossible. It is beyond question, however, that its success has thrust new and grave military problem on the United Nations leadership at a critical time to say nothing of possible political repercussions upon neutrals or on Britain's home front.

• Rural Teachers' Salaries

THE cost of education, from a rural standpoint, is largely concerned with the salary paid to the rural school teacher. This is the largest item on the secretary-treasurer's financial set-up and one about which much argument and controversy continually exists. The idea persists in many communities that as living costs are lower in the country than the urban areas, teachers' salaries should be considered proportionately lower, but, the teacher has had years of training for the arduous duties of imparting knowledge to young Canada. These years of study also cost money and at graduation, some fitting recompense should be paid to teachers commensurate with their high calling, if Canada wishes to attract the best brains in our country to teach Canadian children to be good citizens.

In Ontario, according to statistics, published in 1940, there are 13 teachers receiving less than $474. The largest number of teachers—1,640—receive salaries between $675 and $724. After this peak, they gradually decrease to 70 who receive salaries from $925 to $974. Only 16 receive salaries from $1,025 to $1,074. There are 5,299 teachers in rural one-roomed schools.

In the cities out of 8,764 teachers, there are 1,447 teachers receiving less than $1,000. The rest range from $1,000 to $4,025. There is no doubt that the rural schools are the training ground for teachers who graduate to the larger urban centres where larger salaries are paid. In one large city in Ontario, the Board of Education will not accept a teacher unless they have had some experience in a rural school.

This is manifestly most unfair to rural children and unfair to the teachers themselves. One year at the Home and School Federation meeting during Easter week, a resolution was drafted asking that all teachers must have training in a graded school after graduating from normal school before being placed in any school, rural or urban. For some reason the resolution was withdrawn. But that was an excellent idea and one that should be considered by educational authorities. To continually use the rural schools as a training ground for teachers who stay one or two years and then move into a city, leaving the rural school board and children to contend with another student teacher, is one of the tragedies of the rural school.

Rural children should be given an equal opportunity with urban children and the cost of education more equitably distributed. Larger grants from the province would go a long way to helping rural boards keep their teachers by paying larger salaries. Here again, is where the Larger Unit of Administration is better able to handle the salary question than the smaller trustee board. The Larger Board also capably handles the placing of teachers in schools where their abilities adapt them to the community in which they are most suitable.

One of the policies advocated by the Ontario Educational Association is that the province should bear at least 50 per cent of the cost of education. This past year, the Province of Ontario has increased the grants, but a great deal more needs to be done, before the rural school boards will be able to meet the competition from urban boards in regard to teacher's salaries. This question is a serious problem at the present time, because of the shortage of teachers. Educationists throughout the province will be compelled to consider this year some method to supply the various school boards with a competent staff and the rural children must not be forgotten if we wish to have an intelligent citizenry after this war.

Toronto Rinks Sweep Major Prizes

(By HERB. MARTIN.)

In one of the most thrilling and hair-raising games ever witnessed in our curling club, Mrs. T. Bosworth of High Park Toronto, defeated her team mate, Mrs. M. Code in the first ladies' open bonspiel sponsored by the Peterborough club.

So close was the play that they were all tied at the end of eight ends. Going into the overtime period it was also close, with Mrs. Bosworth's rink getting the verdict by a scant two inches.

It was the ladies' first venture in this line of sport and to say that they went all out is putting it very mi'dly. They excelled themselves.

Whether it is going to be an annual affair we do not know, but if they should see their way clear along that line we predict an overflow entry for next season.

At the midday lunch, President Tom McArthur in a neat speech expressed the pleasure it was to have such a splendid turnout on this the ladies' first venture. Other speakers voiced the same sentiments.

In presenting the prizes. Wes Champ, conor of the first and second prizes, said that anything he did was done solely and purely for the good of the sport.

Winners.

By virtue of their double win over the high-stepping Hook and Ladder squad the Fighting Parsons have got into second place just one point behind the Alarmist.

While the Moose, who broke even wit hthe strong Some Eaters, has jumped out of the tie for the cellar position leaving the Old Soldiers to fight the rear guard action by themselves.

Those long winning streaks seem to take a tumble sooner or later and is probably a good thing for any team.

All games have been played to date so we are keeping up our reputation.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Peterborough Soldiers will not see any action in the group playoffs until next Wednesday night. This was settled by a 6 to 3 victory scored by Whitby over the Belleville Reliance squad in the second game of the semi-final series at Oshawa last night, evening up the round at one game each. That means, of course, that everything is now up to the result of the third game which will be played Monday night at Belleville. The result is more or less of a tossup, although local sentiment still seems to favor Whitby's chances to come through with a win and take it all. No matter which team wins, of course, there will be a battle at Brock St. Rink on Wednesday night, Monday night's winner being tossed in against the Petes in the first game of a best three-of-five series for the group title and the right to continue on for the Senior B championship. The second game will be played at either Belleville or Whitby on Friday night of next week and the third back in Peterborough a week from Monday. If a fourth game is necessary it will be played in Belleville or Whitby and if the argument is not settled by that time the fifth and final game will be played in Peterborough.

While the O.H.A. has sanctioned Guy Roach as eligible to play for the Peterborough Soldiers the former St. Michael's College player who has been starring for the Kingston Combines has not yet arrived at the local Military Training Centre and it is possible that his services will not be available for the Petes until the military tournament in Toronto, staged for February 24, is over. The Kingston garrison team is planning to build a team around Roach to compete for army honors in the Toronto show and in view of that fact the former Combine may not be transferred to Peterborough until after the competition is over. If that should prove to be the case the Petes will have to play at least three of the playoff games without the Combines' star.

Rates Packed House

Basketball fans should pack the gallery in the Y.M.C.A. tonight when Outboard Marines battle with Tony Golab and his American star-spangled Eglington R.C.A.F. cage team. Half a dozen states in the Union are represented in the galaxy of basketball experts that Canada's outstanding athlete of 1941 will lead into action against the Outboards. The visitors rate as the most colorful team to play here this season and if Outboards have any hope of winning they will have to cut loose with their fastest ball of the year to hold the flying Flyers. The appearance of Golab on this lineup should be a decided attraction. The game starts at 8 o'clock and it will be prefaced by a fast Ladies' League game between Westclox and St. John's.

Dominions were knocked off the top perch in the City League race last night when Quakers outplayed and outscored them 62 to 38, after leading at the half 28 to 20. The win puts Quakers at the top of the heap. Dominions could not keep Thorburn and Jakafby off the score sheet last night, the former clicking for 30 points and the latter bagging 26. Quakers lost the services of McIntyre half way through the second half but outplayed the losers, even although the latter had a man advantage.

The game between Normal School and Y Gym in the Ladies' Basketball League the other night, won by the Y 21 to 20, was so close that the Normal had a chance to tie it up at the end of the normal time when they were awarded a free throw. Had they cashed in on that the teams would have ended up in a 21-21 tie. They don't make games much closer than that. This Normal School team are a greatly improved outfit. They are playing better ball every time out and some of the teams who were up near the top during the first half of the race had better watch their step or the budding school teachers will be pulling off an upset at their expense, probably at a time, too, when a loss will hurt the worst.

Combines Play Sunday

Kingston Combines are going to have a new experience tomorrow when they will journey to Ottawa to take part in a game to boost the new Victory Loan. Bill Walshe tells about it thusly in the Kingston Whig-Standard: "Kingston Combines may be squeezed out of the O.H.A. senior A playoffs but they have established a reputation as a top attraction in Canadian amateur hockey, although playing their first season as a major league club. The fame of the Kingston collection is well known in Ontario and the class of the club is also known in Quebec and across the border, with other cities wanting to see them play and also secure players. Several calls have been received from distant teams trying to get the services of some of the Kingston stars for the remainder of the season. Clubs in the U.S. Eastern Amateur League have been trying to sign Kingston players and even teams in the Quebec Senior League have made enquiries, although how players are permitted to join other clubs after being on an eliminated team is not shown in the hockey constitution, if such a thing is considered today. The Combines have accepted one invitation with pleasure, to play an exhibition game next Sunday afternoon in Ottawa as a feature attraction of a monster meeting when it is expected the Ottawa Auditorium will be packed to its 8,000 capacity. Played on Sunday there cannot be any admission charge although it is expected to pay-off double in supporting the campaign to raise needed ready cash for Canada. The Kingston team is making the trip to Ottawa for its expenses to help support the war emergency."

And the scouting trip of Manager Fred Scates and Coach Jim Ellis of the Petes to Belleville the other night draws this comment from Ken Colling in the Belleville sheet: "Apparently the Petes are pretty much afraid of their lofty standing in the local senior "B" loop. Manager Fred Scates and Coach Jim Ellis were in town last night to take a gander at the Belleville-Whitby saw-off. Them thar "north woods guys" want Mike Rodden's crowd to win. The answer is simple. Bellville will draw a much larger crowd into the Brock Street Arena in Peterborough. Skipper Ellis was amazed at the lapse of the locals in the middle session last night, but then who wasn't? Incidentally the Peterborough seniors put on a war benefit on Tuesday and raised $500.00 for the Kinsmen's "Milk for Britain Fund." Coach Ellis added to the picture when he donned his skates, as the Petes played the Toronto Marlboros. One lone Peterborough donor walked in and laid down ten, ten dollar bills; and that ain't hay. Advertisement—If Doc Dafoe's hockey equipment is in Belleville, please let's in on the know. After all 'Doc" is a swell kid and a working fellow just like the rest of us. He can't afford to lose his skates, fellows. Just check it in."

Whitby Sew It Up

Whitby Palm Billiards staged a strong finish last night to defeat Belleville 6 to 3 and sew up the playoff series. Going into the final period down 3 to 1, by reason of a two-goal Belleville uprising in the second session Whitby rattled the puck past Archie Major five times in the last 20 minutes without a comeback from the Reliance crowd. Jerry Cooper who was not with Whitby in the first game was the big scoring threat last night whipping in four goals, three of them in that last session rally that pulled the game out of the fire for Whitby. It was Belleville who were short-handed last night. Their Kingston farm hands, Pepper Martin, White and Grisdale failed to make the trip to Oshawa. Under the circumstances Reliance made quite a battle of it against a packed Whitby crew with all their reserves in action.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: It was thought that Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart were signing up to win the war but right now it looks as if they might first win a championship for the Ottawa R.C.A.F. hockey team....That basketball game at the Y.W.C.A. supplied one for the book. Exactly 100 points were scored and three players were responsible for a little more than 75 per cent of that score. Thorburn had 30 and Jakafby 26 points for Quakers and Craig 20 for Dominions....Fine prizes were provided for the Ladies' bonspiel here yesterday and along came two Toronto High Park rinks and carried off watches and blankets....And Peterborough men curlers hadn't much luck at Oshawa, no more than the local ladies did here....Lindsay Rotarians won the Frost and Frost shield from the Kiwanis Club in the annual curling match between the two service clubs yesterday....As expected Billy Conn hadn't much trouble in winning a decision over Tony Zale last night at Madison Square Garden.

Well skiers, we have heard so much about the wonderful snow in Quebec, the long thrill packed runs of powder snow—but boy, oh, boy we don't have to wonder if we will ever have that kind of snow around here—we have it and how!

Last Saturday morning when skiers woke up they had to rub their eyes twice before they could believe the long-hoped-for snow storm had really come—and what a "doozer"!

It didn't take the skiers long to get out to Bethany on Saturday. A special train load of skiers from Toronto arrives in Bethany to spend the week-end in the village. A few arrived in Peterborough and stayed at the hotels and got into all the fun the Peterborough bunch had trying to get out to Bethany on Sunday.

Well who said getting stuck wasn't fun? About 10 car loads got as far as Cavan and from there on were royally treated to a sleigh ride to Bethany and all points west. One kindly farmer gave them a faster ride behind a tractor. We understand on trips like these Owen Cauley, one of our up and coming skiers takes the cake as master of ceremonies and it takes gals like Leone Magee, Edna Morrow, Gracie White, Dorothy Dawson, Mary Waterman to help him along. Cliff Boate and his two horse power sleigh came a little short on a race with the train. Don Shiner and Rob Roy still say on a cross country stampede, facing the wind, the first 50 miles are the longest.

Due to snow conditions only a few of the hundred skiers we expected from Lindsay arrived at Bethany. However they are expecting to make the trip this week-end.

The Thursday night classes held at Victoria Park every week have been very successful and our thanks and appreciation goes to Eric Westbye who has been our instructor. Eric sure knows his stuff and this year due to his teaching, all the gals can do the turns. Come on out to these classes and join in on the the fun.

New Officers

Our organization for 1941-1942 has plans for a big year. It will be a big year for everybody provided we continue to merit the whole-hearted co-operation of the members. We hope the spirit of the membership of the new and the old will join and insure the promotion of our club. If we all get together we can achieve our dearest aim to become the happiest and the most sporting organization to which anyone would wish to belong.

Your new executive—pretty good, eh!

President, Cliff Boate; vice President, Don Shiner; Treasurer, Jack Richardson; Secretary, Leone Magee; Chairman membership committee, Robert MacKimmie; Property committee, Cliff Boate, Don Shiner, Robert MacKimmie, Spike Matthews; Telemarker editor, V. Davidson.

Maybe you have dreamed of skiing and have not as yet taken up the sport. Why not start this year! You and a couple of million other people in the world will be joining the skiing ranks. Skiing is something that just cannot be stopped—like eating, sleeping or betting on the horse races.

If you have any personal vanity, never put on a pair of skis except in the privacy of your own boudoir. For once you strap them on in public for the first time you start to feel like a mass of jellied consomme or an undernourished octopus. Nothing seems to coordinate at the right time.

Don't Be Fooled

If you take it easy for your first two attempts on skis you'll think skiing is as harmless as ping pong and twice as healthy. Insurance companies have statistics to prove that you've a better chance to fracture a collarbone fishing for elusive soap in your own bathtub than flying down a hill on a pair of barrel staves.

When you climb a hill to convince yourself that you can ski down the old thing just like Sonja Henie or our good friend Fritz Looslie don't pick a big one that as you climb, it never seems to get much smaller, you'll probably start slipping backwards and wind up at the bottom wrapped around a tree, a tangled mass of hickory and bones, artistically draped in a pink ski suit.

A good theory for the novices, when their main worry on a hill is to stay on their feet, is "when-in-doubt" sit down. Air cushions hidden in the seat of your slacks proves handy on a sit down strike. Your editor has never yet found a nice, soft spot to squat on when she gets going too fast, not fast enough to "take off" but just fast enough to wish she were at home playing a nice quiet gave of bridge or rummy.

Haste Brings Bruises

There are frequent appeals directed toward the potential skiing populous in learning to ski in a very short time. That is what everyone wants to do. We should not assume that just because we are able to go straight down a hill with infrequent falls that we are skiers. Many start that way, but soon realize that the great variance in snow conditions will sooner or later upset their ego—and themselves.

Hunt up an instructor, one who knows not only how to do the turns, but who can teach you how to turn. Every skier should learn something about check and control.

Two season ago, Fritz Looslie, head instructor at the Ski Hawk School, Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, stated he had eliminated the snow-plow and stemm manoeuvres in teaching people to ski by means of the much admired "Parrallel Christiania." Loosli developed his technique at Lac Beauport, and there proved its excellence. His theory is based upon his belief that most of the skiing in the eastern portion of this continent is done on open, and packed slopes. Once a skier learns to master his boards on such surfaces, Loosli has stated, he may easily adapt it to other conditions.

As a class, skiers should be proud that their sport—almost more than any other organized sport—will enable them to contribute magnificently to the cause of defense.

From Near and Far

Club championships — Oshawa Ski Club's championship will be held on Feb. 22; the downhill and slalom events to be run off on their new hills at Kirby, while cross-country and jumping events will take place at the club's grounds at Raglan the following week-end.

Open House at Laurentian Club—The North Bay Club played host to other Northern Ski Club in Ontario on January 31 and February 1. The affair was a howling success and the clubs were well represented throughout. For those who went for recreational skiing, there were organized tours along the club's trails and the competitive minded were given an opportunity of participating in a practice slalom for senior men and ladies.

War Whoops from the Iroquois—One of the classiest chalets in the northern section is being developed by the Iroquois Ski Club—they have already applied insul-brick siding, a new roof, and many more adornments inside.

They will have to go some to keep up to our log chalet at Bethany with our red roof, red floor and in the very near future the Peterborough Ski Club hope to build another large log chalet with a fireplace and everything.

Porcupine Ski Club, Timmins, Ont. is having a whale of a time—what with ski excursions to Iroquois Falls and the Laurentian Club, a survey and demonstration of the complete junior tests, held Jan. 25th, and all the excellent skiing they are getting in the "Gulch" both in the day-time and by night with floodlights.

Sudbury Ski Club devoted two thirds of its latest club bulletin to a description of the snow and skiing in its vicinity. By the time this correspondent finished reading it, I was as green as the hills around Peterborough in January. They finally found two inches of powder snow in Levack where a number of new trails have recently been cleared.

The Toronto Ski Club is organizing their annual Laurentian excursion. It's to be a week-end trip to Mount Tremblant, Quebec. Leaving Toronto, 8.30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 27. Anyone can go.

Well folks that just about takes it all in for this week. Now come on out to Bethany this week-end and join the crowd and get [illegible] on some of the fun. The bus [illegible] be sure to be at the Empress Hotel this week at 10.30 Sunday morning as no heavy snow storms seems to be slated for this week-end. All roads are well ploughed to Bethany and there's lots of your friends coming down from Toronto. Don't miss all this grand snow to ski on. Snow long folks, see you on Dizzie Dip hill at Bethany. Quakers Take Lead In City League

Quakers jumped into first place in the Senior City Basketball League by soundly trouncing the former pace-setters, Dominions, 62 to 38 in the Y.W.C.A. gym., Friday night. Dominions have led the league since the start of the campaign, but Quakers have been crowding them all the way, and their victory pulled them out in front by a half a game. Quakers, in running up their lop-sided win smashed completely the strong zone defence that so far has been highly responsible for keeping Dominions out in front. A past passing, accurate shooting attack gave Quakers the lead in the opening seconds, and they kept building up their lead as the game went on. Dominions stayed with them fairly well and a short rally brought them within eight points at the half. It was 28-20 for Quakers at that point but from there in, even after the winners lost one of their fine players with four fouls, they kept pulling away from the disorganized losers. Dominions missed a flock of chances with poor shooting and sloppy passing, whereas Quakers made most of their openings go for baskets. Thorburn and Jackafby were the scoring stars for Quakers, the former tossing in 15 baskets for 30 points, and Jackafby right behind with 26. Craig led the losers with 20, while Grose and Rogow were prominent going both ways. The teams:

Dominions (38).—Rogow 5, Grose 2, Craig 20, Johnston 4, Burns 7.

Referees — V. Coleman and H. Smith.

P.C.I. Juniors Beat Cobourg 23-19

Collegiate Juniors made a bid for play-off berth after four in the school gym. Friday. P.C.I. came from behind in the last quarter to beat Cobourg 23 to 19. The sharp-shooting of Barge and Craig for the losers was a constant threat, but the scoring team of Smith, MacTavish and Dinsdale, tipped the scales in favor of the Collegiate.

Jack Dinsdale started the Collegians off with a basket in the opening minute and the Peterborough team held the lead 8-4 in the first quarter. However, Cobourg rallied in the second and outscored P.C.I. 12 to 5. Both teams ran rather ragged in the third quarter and scoring was limited to three points each. Passing was more or less haphazard, but in the final period the P.C.I.'ites bore down to hold the visitors scoreless, while the Petes ran up seven points.

Next week sees a crucial game with Lindsay, at Lindsay. The Collegiate squad have now won two games and dropped one.

C.C.I. (19).—Maize 4, Anderson, Rowlings 2, Carey, Erskin, Gummer, Harris, Barge 7, Wilson, Throop, Craig 6.

P.C.I. (23).—Smith 6, Grey, Kidd, Carley, Frank 4, Matthews 2, Richardson, MacTavish 8, Dinsdale 3, Dewart.

Tweed Juveniles Wipe Out Lead

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 14 — (ENS)—Overcoming a 3-0 lead held by Campbellford at the end of the second frame Tweed Juveniles defeated Campbellford by a 4-3 count after 10 minutes of overtime in a scheduled O.M.H.A. bout last night. The win dropped the local back to third place in the Trent Valley group and left Stirling on top with Tweed one point above the local contingent. It was a clean and fairly fast contest with most of the action being reserved for the final episode and coming after Osborne eased one into his own bailiwick after successfully clearing a shot by Merraw who was duly given credit for the tally. This break for the visitors fired their attacking force with new energy and their all out offensive was rewarded as Rivers knotted the count with two well directed shots while Pollock was serving time. Despite a desperate effort to stem the tide of victory which the Tweed stalwarts now appeared to hold the locals did little more than stem the scoring efforts of the visitors till the end of the regular playing period when Merraw sent the rubber once more across the Campbellford goal line. Storie with two in the first and Mechetuk's second semester sortie accounted for the local's scoring.

Referee—Owen Hendy.

Centre Hastings' League Starts

TWEED, Feb. 14 (ENS)—In the first game of the Centre Hastings Rural League doubleheader, at the local arena on Thursday night, Farnsworth trounced the Steelites 4-1, but the latter won the game, through an ineligible player being on the Farnsworth team. As a result of the awarding of the game to the Steelites, Roslin, by trouncing the Sulphide lads 5-3 jumped into the lead.

First Period

No Score.

Penalties—L. Meraw.

Second Period

1—Farnsworth—R. Palmateer
2—Farnsworth—F. Stewart, R. Palmateer.
3—Farnsworth—L. Meraw, Marsh
4—Farnsworth—D. Palmateer, L. Meraw.

Penalties—D. Palmateer, E. Woodcook.

Third Period

5—Steelites—H. Leal, Atton.

Lineups:

Farnsworth—goal, G. Mouck; defence, R. Palmateer, D. Bateman; r. wing, N. Thompson; centre, L. Meraw; l. wing, D. Palmateer; subs, F. Stewart, W. Bateman, J. Marsh.

Steelites—goal, K. Rodgers; defence, E. Woodcock, O. Woodcock; r. wing, H. Leal; centre, J. Orr; l. wing, C. Atton; subs, D. Barnett, C. Lavallee.

Roslin Wins

In the second game Roslin gained the upper hand in the second period of the game, and were able to hold on, although Sulphide held on to the last and kept their opponents on edge for most of the game. It was only the smart work of Gifford in the nets that saved Roslin from defeat on several occasions, as Sulphide, which is improving as the series continues, stepped into the more experienced lads and kept up a hot pace throughout the game.

First Period

1—Sulphide—Langevin, Cordy.
2—Roslin—Chisholm, Hart, Empson.

Penalties—Cordy, Parks, Langevin

Second Period

3—Roslin—Gray
4—Roslin—Empson
5—Roslin—Empson, Hart.

Third Period

CAMPBELLFORD

Brighton Midgets Are Beaten 6 to 1

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 14 (ENS) —Campbelford puck-chasers had little trouble in holding their dominating position in the Midget O.M.H.A., series when they met Brighton for one of their scheduled performances here Friday night. They eased through the visiting hockeyists who were suffering noticeably from a lack of subs, by a 6 to 1 score in a game that was rather too one-sided but nevertheless contained plenty of action. Doug Free paced his team-mates once again and rang up three more goals to an already creditable showing, with Bud Ploquin, speedy forward, cashed in twice and Ferrill rammed home the final. D. Craig got the visitors lone tally in the middle stanza. Referee Wib Blake insisted on clean hockey, and his whistle-tooting kept the boys in good order throughout with few penalties.

Campbellford—Goal, Maxwell; defence, Bebee and Osborne; centre, D. Free; wings, Dunk and Peloquin; alternates: Shillinglaw, Ferrill, O'Rourke, Hay, Sutton, Oliver.

Billie Mosienko Outstanding Rookie-of-Week

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Chicago Black Hawks may have missed holding the reins on the National Hockey League's rookie-of-the-year by leaving Billie Mosienko with Kansas City in the American Association for most of this season.

Without becoming lyrical, here are the facts: Mosienko is 19. Two years ago he played with Winnipeg Monarchs in the Manitoba Junior South Division, after another Manitoba Junior Club—St. James Canadians—turned him down because of his age and lack of experience. Mosienko was a hit, playing on a line centred by Bill Benson, now with Brooklyn Americans.

Last year Mosienko turned professional with Providence Reds. Then Hawks moved him to Kansas City. Hawks may have made the same mistake St. James Canadians did. Mosienko is such a little guy, and so quiet, the first inclination is to provide travelling expenses for his mother so nothing will happen to him while he's away from home.

Mosienko went back to Kansas City this season. About two weeks ago he was called up to Hawks, after performing yeoman duty at Kansas City. For the first week he appeared on the tail end of the lineup. The doormen probably thought he was a youngster trying to muscle in to the games when he presented his player-passes at various rinks around the circuit.

Put on a Line

Then Paul Thompson put Bob Carse, Red Hamill and Mosienko on one line. Last Sunday Chicago met New York Rangers in Chicago. Rangers won 4-3. Mosienko scored two of Hawks' goals, passed for the third. Tuesday night Hawks beat Rangers 5-2, and Mosienko went point-less. Thursday night Hawks beat Detroit 4-2. Mosienko scored two goals, had assists on the other two.

In the few games he played with Hawks before he definitely got into the lineup, he picked up a couple of assists despite the limited time he was on the ice. He may be one of the coming stars.

Hawks play only once this week-end, meeting Boston Bruins before one of those fabulous Sunday night crowds in Chicago. The same night, Brooklyn Americans and New York Rangers tangle in New York and Canadiens travel to Detroit. Rangers play Canucks at Montreal Saturday night, with Detroit at Toronto.

Brooklyn has been picking up some fair players lately. Latest deal gives them Murph Chamberlain, former Toronto player more recently property of Montreal Canadiens, in exchange for Red Heron. Heron was one of the players Leafs traded to Americans for Lorne Carr. He has been a scoring wonder with Pittsburg in the American Hockey League, his latest exploit a six-goal evening against New Haven. Brocks sent him to Pittsburg a few weeks after the season began.

WHITBY BEATS BELLEVILLE TO TIE UP GROUP SEMI-FINAL SERIES

Cooper Scores Four Goals Whitby Sextet

OSHAWA, Feb. 14.—Whitby Palm Billiards kept their senior "B" title hopes alive here last night when they registered a 6-to-3 victory over Mike Rodden's Belleville Reliance Aircraft in the second game of their two-out-of-three semi-final series for group honors.

Belleville scored the first goal of the game, Chipman from Hastie and Jerry Cooper matched this one on a three-way play to keep the first period all even, but the visitors rattled the rigging twice more in the middle canto to establish what looked like a comfortable lead. Chipman and C. White, their two stars of the night, were the scorers. The visitors were minus the services of three players who were unable to make the trip.

Cooper, with four goals, was the most effective man on the ice, while Heard, Durling, Gamble and Ab Barnes were the other standouts for the winners, with Peg Hurst turning in another brilliant display in the Whitby nets.

Belleville—Goal, Mayer; defense, Williamson and Hamilton; centre, Chipman; wings, C. White and Hastie; alternates, Williams, B. White, Bowen, Gerow, Jennett, Boyer, Redmond.

Referee—Bert McCaffrey, Toronto.

Conn Is Given Decision Over Tony Zale

By AL COLLETTI
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(CP).—For six round last night Billy Conn was in the doldrums — and if the fans didn't know better they would have sworn they were watching a $25 carnival fight instead of the second best heavyweight in the world trying to defeat the middleweight division's top man.

But in the seventh round Billy the Kid found the range and form that almost lifted the heavyweight crown from the lofty head of Joe Louis last June, and ripped into Tony Zale, the former steel worker from Gary, Indiana. He rocked Zale with a hook flush on the jaw and a subsequent two-handed flurry. From there on the Pittsburg master boxer coasted to an easy 12-round victory in a match made at catch weights. Conn scaled 175¾; Zale 164¼.

Zale, who became undisputed middleweight champion last November by giving Sailor Georgia Abrams an artistic going-over, kept up a withering attack to Conn's body almost all the way. Whenever Zale's famous pile-driving rights to the kidneys landed, it only made Conn angry and he would tear into the 160-pound ruler with both hands swinging.

Still a Pretty Fair Clouter.

Conn showed that he had not been weakened permanently by the punishment handed out by Louis last June. He still was a pretty fair clouter but the only trouble was that he didn't open up often enough. Zale hurt him in the seventh, ninth and 11th rounds — and each time Billy got his "Irish" up, tore in and hurt the strong silent "man of steel." Otherwise he appeared content to pile up points.

The 15,000 fans who contributed to a gross gate of 48,000 showed how they felt about it by mingled boos and cheers at the end—cheers for the bit of action they received and boos for the lack of it in several rounds.

It was figured that the Zale tussle would be the last one for Conn before tossing him in with Louis again in June—a scheduled return go. But Manager Johnny Ray has decided that Billy should have another "tune-up" before taking on the champion.

He will talk it over today with Promoter Mike Jacobs. Lou Nova or Gus Lesnevich, the light-heavyweight champion, are prospective opponents.

Running Shots

Never in the history of the Peterborough Curling Club has there been a bonspiel that was so successful as the one sponsored by our ladies' section, yesterday.

That game between Mrs. G. Bosworth and Mrs. W. Code, both from High Park, Toronto, was one of the finest exhibitions ever staged on our ice.

So close was the score that at the end of the regulation eight ends it stood 5 all.

Those ladies certainly know how to play the game and every one of them—winners and losers—are real curlers, perfect ladies, and true sports.

To Miss M. Patterson goes the honor and glory of putting over the first Ladies' Open Bonspiel ever staged by our club. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Metcalfe.

The ladies are greatly indebted to Outram and Co., The Peterborough Floral Co., Comstock Co. and George Sorenson for their generous donations.

The ladies certainly appreciate the generosity of Mr. Wes Champ. They all agree that he is a swell fellow.

And if you don't think that midday lunch was not something to sit down at, ask Charlie Westbrooke of Jimmy Harkness. We'd hate to have their appetites on our income.

Major League Baseball Teams Plan To Curtail Farm Operations

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—(AP). — Farm operations in baseball are going to have to be curtailed this season, says that Master Granger, George Weiss, vice president of New York Yankees, but the pruning will be kept to a minimum.

Last year the Yankees controlled a dozen clubs and approximately 300 players in the minor leagues, while this season they probably will work with 10 clubs and about 250 players.

The reason, of course, is the war. Already the Yankee system has turned over about 50 or 55 players to the military services, Weiss said, and some of the leagues in which it had franchises last year will not open the 1942 season.

"Right now we're in the dark and many of the leagues are just feeling their way along," he said today. "Until we know which ones are going to operate and which ones aren't, we can't be very definite about our plans.

"We are going to try to keep as many leagues intact as possible and especially to preserve the strong ones and make them stable."

This was a policy agreed upon by representatives of major league clubs with extensive farm systems at a recent meeting with William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Aid Better Circuits

At that time it was decided some "dead branches" would necessarily have to be trimmed from the minor league tree, and that the big league clubs should concentrate their support in the sturdier circuits to make certain they didn't all collapse as so nearly happened in the last war.

Up till now, Weiss said, the Yankees have formally withdrawn from only two cities—Akron, O., in the Class "C" Middle Atlantic League, and Norfolk, Neb., in the Class "B" Western League, which has folded.

"We would have pulled out of Akron, war or no war," he said. "We had operated the club for several years and taken some heavy losses and we made up our minds last Fall to end what had proved to be an unsatisfactory arrangement.

"We have two other Class "C" farms—Amsterdam, N.Y., in the Canadian-American League, and Joplin, Mo., in the Western Association."

Weiss said he believed St. Louis Cardinals, who operate more than a score of minor league clubs, also would have to curtail their minor league affiliations, although some of the other big league clubs which have not built up such large organizations have announced they will be affected only slightly.

Saints Dropped Decision To Niagara Falls

(By The Canadian Press)

The decline that made St. Catharines Saints a reasonably soft touch in the last few games of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" schedule seems to have followed them into the playoffs. Unless they shake the lassitude within the next few days they may watch the remainder of the title skirmishing from the Bleachers.

Last night Saints dropped a 3-1 decision to Niagara Falls Weavers before a disappointed St. Catharines crowd, scoring only in the second period while Weavers got two then and one in the third. It was the first game of one of the O.H.A.'s four-of-seven semi-final series. In opening the other, Toronto Marlboros dropped a 4-3 overtime decision to Hamilton on a fluke goal with two seconds of play left.

Saints' defeat probably was not all due to their decline. The rise of Niagara Falls in recent games was at least half the cause for victory. After a scoreless first, Hal Cooper and Roy Heximer scored for Weavers before Paul Mundrick bagged St. Catharines' first and only goal. In the third Mason counted for Weavers in a session featured by the outstanding work of Doug Webb in the Niagara Falls nets.

Saints, who finished second in the league after leading for most of the season, were favored heavily before the game. Weavers squeezed into the playoffs via fourth place.

Smack Allan's fluke shot from the blue line, bounching into the Marlboros nets past Baz Bastien off a Toronto player, eclipsed what otherwise would have been a one-man show by Johnny Conick. Conick scored Hamilton's first three goals, including the one that forced overtime. Eddie Shamlock, Ace Tisdale and Obs O'Brien scored for Marlboros.

Toronto's cause was weakened further by the loss of Johnny Acheson, who has been transferred to Ottawa by the R.C.A.F.

George Lee, 96 Passes In Huntingdon

MARMORA, Feb. 14.—(ENS.) — Many of the older generation learned with regret on Tuesday of the passing in Huntingdon township of one who came to Deloro about fifty-five years ago from his native county of Staffordshire, England, and who had attained to the ripe old age of 96. This grand old veteran, George Lee, senior, passed away with words on his lips of realization that he was going to meet his God.

In coming to Deloro, he was employed by the Deloro Mining and Reduction Company and erected the first arsence refiner there. A few years later his wife and four children came from England to rejoin him. The late Mr. Lee next resided in Madoc township and about thirty years ago took up residence in Huntingdon

Interested in mining, he went to Cobalt, where he became a successful prospector. He also owned a fluor spar mine in Madoc township and did some foundry wrk besides. Until reaching advanced age he was most active in every way and was highly respected by all who knew him.

Besides his widow, the late Mr. Lee is survived by nine children, namely: Fred, Marmora; Mrs. W. Davidson (Martha), Marmora township; George and Joseph, Madoc township; Benjamin, Huntingdon township; Mrs. Percy Bronson (Elmira) Rawson township; Mrs. Fred Ethier (Forence), Belleville; Mrs. Kenneth Barriage (Maud), Belleville, and Mrs. Albert Bronson (Mabel) Rawdon township.

Following a short service at his late residence on Thursday afternoon, service was held in St. John's Anglican church, Madoc, by Rev. W. J. Robinson, rector.

Interment took place in O'Hara's cemetery near Madoc, it being the first burial in the new extension to the cemetery.

Close neighbors acted as pall-bearers, Thomas O'Reilly, Albert Read, John Willman, John Hoover, Charles Hoover and William Herrington.

Three Auxiliaries Aid In Day Of Prayer

MILLBROOK Feb. 14—(ENS).— The president, Mrs. A. L. Siscoe, had charge of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Church held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Mrs F. J. Smith, convener of Christian Stewardship, and Mrs. John Rowland, convener of peace and temperance, assisting with the opening worship service. Announcement was made that the World Day of Prayer on Friday, Februuary 20, is to have the three auxiliaries of the village participating, with St. Andrew's as the hostess society — 3:00 p.m. is the hour of service.

Mrs. M. McDowell leader of Group B, took charge for the program, Mrs. Edmunds reading the lesson and Miss E.L. Hetherington offering prayer, after which Mrs. J. H. George ably presented the third chapter from the study book.

Canuck Troopers Get Shift Home

OTTAWA, Feb. 14 — (CP). — A cross-section of Canada's fighting forces overseas is now back in the Dominion, many being soldiers invalided home ater several years' service and others pointed for new duty posts in training camps here.

With them came hundreds of English, Australian, and New Zealand recruits for the Commonwealth Air Training Plan and merchant seamen ready to take over ships on this side of the Atlantic.

Several women also made the hazardous trip to the Dominion — some bringing their children — to join their husbands stationed at the air training posts in Canada.

Happiest of those invalided home was Sergt. G. Watkinson of Toronto. "It was swell over there, but it's even sweller to get back," he said.

Another Permanent Force man returning to his home was C.S.M. D. Shepherd of Kingston, Ont., whose army record in this war "adds up to a trio of deuces." He was overseas exactly two years, two months and two days.

However, he is leaving a substitute to hold the bastion of Britain, he said, telling that his son Ronald was serving there as a gunner. "Canada can have a war without a Shepherd in it, but they can't have a good fight," he said, suiting on old saying to his personal needs.

Offer To India

London, Feb. 14 (CP).

A Government spokesman disclosed today that the Government of India has been offered representation at Britain's war cabinet and on the Pacific War Council.

Although India does not have dominion status, he declared that the British Government is anxious that it "should be afforded the same opportunities as the dominions, being represented at the war cabinet and on the Pacific War Council for purposes of formulation and direction of policy for prosecution of the war."

HEALTH CHATS

By D. B. AVISON, M.D., D.P.H., Medical Officer of Health

DIPHTHERIA.

This week I heard over the radio a report and a warning to Toronto citizens that they had recently had five deaths in the city due to diphtheria, and urging that all children be immunized against diphtheria.

You will recall that in one of our earlier chats I described to you the horror of diphtheria and how important it was for you to call your doctor in early to see any case of sore throat, since the chances of recovery depend on early diagnosis and early treatment. You will also recall that I urged that every child should be given protection against diphtheria with toxoid, which consists of three small injections given three weeks apart.

Toronto is not far from Peterborough and it is reasonable to expect that under modern travel conditions communicable diseases should travel between these cities and we are, therefore, forewarned by the reports of diphtheria in Toronto. Fortunately, I believe most of our children have received Toxoid. For those who haven't, I address this appeal to their parents that they have it done by their family physicians immediately. School children should have already been done, but if you have any doubt about it you had better check with your school nurse who will have their records. Many pre-school children have been done, but there may be many not yet immunized. These pre-school children can be done at either of our Child Welfare Clinics held at 3:00 p.m. on Wednesdays at All Saints' Church and on Fridays at the Central School. If you can afford it I would urge that you go to your own physician, because he can give you an appointment that will fit into your time better and also not cause you the delay that may be necessary where a large number are being done at the same time.

In any case see that your child is toxoided immediately. You owe this protection not only to your own child but to other people's children, for one case of diphtheria endangers others.

SCARLET FEVER.

At the risk of making this chat too long, I want to add to the above warning about diphtheria, a further warning about Scarlet Fever which is also epidemic in Toronto. We have five cases under isolation in Peterborough now. Fortunately, the type of cases we are getting this year are light, but the loss of time entailed is serious—26 days for the patient and 7 days for the contacts, provided the patient has been removed to hospital, or 28 days if the patient hasn't been so removed. Scarlet Fever immunization takes five injections a week apart, and though we are not ready to guarantee that it will protect, we have sufficient evidence to believe that it will do so in a large percentage of cases.

Havelock News

Mrs. Herb Hoard returned Wednesday from spending a week with her friend, Mrs. Fennell, Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fennell spent Sunday in Peterborough with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kemp.

Mr. Leslie Chiles, Kingston, visited Sunday here, and took his wife and two children back to Kingston, who have been visiting here for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McKee, Campbellford visited Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Puffer.

GORE'S LANDING

Lynn MacDonald Heads Club

GORE'S LANDING, Feb. 14.—(ENS)—The Men's Club of the United Church, of Plainville, Gore's Landing and Bethesda North, met in the basement of Gore's Landing United Church on Tuesday evening.

Glen Hogg, Harwood, was chairman. Mr. Fisher took charge for the election of officers. A discussion on disbanding the club on account of gas rationing and the problem of getting speakers was held and finally it was decided to continue the meetings for the present, and double up on cars.

The new president of the Men's Club is Lynn MacDonald, Gore's Landing; vice-president, Allan Dines, Plainville; secretary, Kenneth Symons, Harwood; treasurer, Miles MacDonald, Gore's Landing. Two new directors were also appointed, Glen Hogg, Harwood, and Edgar Buttar, Plainville.

Community singing followed the election of officers with Mrs. Meggs as accompanist. A reading entitled "Criticism" by Arthur Lawton and a solo, "In A Little Corner of England" by Genneth Symons concluded this portion of the program.

Rev. M. C. Fisher introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Rev. Allan Johnson of St. George's-on-the-Hill. Mr. Johnson's address was on "How we got our Bible" and was thoroughly enjoyed by the men present. Starting with the Old Testament, Mr. Johnson spoke of the ancient manuscripts which were copied by hand and down through the years many mistakes had been made. In the hundreds of years during which the changes were made in the Bible by various persons copying the different books, it was a difficult matter for later scholars to get the actual wording and the meaning of the original manuscripts.

When Mr. Johnson concluded his address, Mr. McCulloch moved a vote of thanks. The meeting concluded by singing God Save the King.

Principal and interest payable in lawful money of Canada; the principal at any agency of the Bank of Canada and the interest semi-annually, without charge, at any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Bonds may be registered as to principal or as to principal and interest, as provided in the Official Prospectus, through any agency of the Bank of Canada.

CASH SUBSCRIPTIONS

Cash subscriptions will be received only for the 3% and/or the 2¼% bonds and may be paid in full at the time of application at the issue price in each case without accrued interest. Bearer bonds with coupons will be available for prompt delivery. Cash subscriptions may also be made payable by instalments, plus accrued interest, as follows—

10% on application; 15% on 15th April 1942; 15% on 15th May 1942;
20.82% on the 3% bonds OR 20.62% on the 2¼% bonds, on 15th August 1942.

The last payment on 15th August 1942, covers the final payment of principal, plus .82 of 1% in the case of the 3% bonds and .62 of 1% in the case of the 2¼% bonds representing accrued interest from 1st March 1942, to the due dates of the respective instalments.

CONVERSION SUBSCRIPTIONS

Holders of Dominion of Canada 1½% Bonds due 15th May 1942, and Dominion of Canada 2% Bonds due 1st June 1942, may, for the period during which the subscription lists are open, tender their bonds with final coupon attached, in lieu of cash, on subscriptions for a like or greater par value of bonds of one or more maturities of this loan at the issue price in each case without accrued interest. The surrender value of the 1½% Bonds will be 100.59% of their par value, and of the 2% Bonds will be 100.80% of their par value, inclusive of accrued interest in each case; the resulting adjustment to be paid in cash.

The Minister of Finance reserves the right to accept or to allot the whole or any part of the amount of this loan subscribed for cash for either or both of the available maturities if total subscriptions are in excess of $600,000,000.

The cash proceeds of this loan will be used by the Government to finance expenditures for war purposes.

Subscriptions may be made through any Victory Loan Salesman, the National War Finance Committee or any representative thereof, any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank, or any authorized Savings Bank, Trust or Loan Company, from whom may be obtained application forms and copies of Official Prospectus containing complete details of the loan.

The lists will open on 16th February 1942, and will close on or about 7th March 1942, with or without notice, at the discretion of the Minister of Finance.

Department of Finance,
Ottawa, 14th February 1942.

This Week In Radio

All Peterborough and district listened with a great deal of interest to the broadcasts at midnight on Monday and Tuesday when recording of the Highlanders now in Britain were broadcast from Ottawa. This is a feature of the CBC service which is highly appreciated by the relatives and friends of the soldiers overseas and perhaps the only marring note to the whole broadcast was the lapse of time between the time the recordings were made and the broadcast. Apparently the boys figured that their messages would be put on the air during the Christmas season and their greetings carried that tone.

Famous Stars of the Silver Screen, radio personalities known throughout Canada, and amateurs of musical comedy and the drama will contribute their talents throughout the period of the forthcoming Victory Loan Campaign. Never before in the history of this country has a campaign in the interests of an urgent national cause been organized upon such an impressive scale from the point of view of entertainment. It must be emphasized that all this Canadian and American talent is purely voluntary. The purpose, of course, in arranging these entertainments and presenting these personalities to Canadian audiences is to bring the maximum number of citizens into public assembly so that they may be effectively informed concerning the merits of the Canadian Victory Bond for Victory.

Times of the broadcasts on behalf of the Victory Loan Campaign are 7.30 Sunday, 10 p.m. Monday, 10 p.m. Wednesday a special rally at 8.30 p.m. Friday and later the same evening at 10.00 an all star variety show. All programs over CBL and CFRB.

Raymond Massey, Canadian actor will star in "Memo to Berchtesgaden" a satirical comedy which will be heard Sunday at 4.30 p.m. over WEAF.

Efren Zimbalist, famous violinist who appeared in recital in Peterborough with the Canadian Concert Series will be guest on the Sunday evening hour over WABC at 9.00 p.m.

Singapore! Batavia! Manila! These and other exotic ports of call, background for history today will be the background for adventure, mystery, intrigue and comedy in "Three Sheets to the Wind", a new radio drama which will unfold before listeners Sunday night at 11.30 over WEAF.

The Music Appreciation Hour under Dr. Walter Damrosch, will demonstrate the trombone and tuba—Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. over WJZ.

John Charles Thomas, famed baritone will head the East of Verdi's perennially popular "Aida" to be broadcast Saturday, Feb. 21 at 2.00 p.m. C.B.L.

Air Marshal Bishop will speak before the Boy Scouts Association when they hold their annual meeting on Saturday in Montreal. This will be heard over CBL at 8.05 p.m.

New Beauty - - - -

To the person who must wear glasses, there is the constant question—how will I look? But new styles in glasses have taken care of that question neatly. Designed to flatter the face, they make the wearing of glasses a pleasure rather than a disfigurement.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

NORWOOD MAN ON AIR

Tr. A. J. Pellech of Norwood, Ont., will be heard over CBL, Toronto, in a broadcast from the Beaver Club in Britain on Sunday (tomorrow) between 12,30 and 1 p.m.

FRACTURES COLLARBONE.

WOMAN CHARGED.

Charged with vagrancy, a local woman who was arrested early this morning by city police, was remanded until Thursday at the request of the Crown when she appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K. C., to-day. A Camp Borden soldier who was with the woman was turned over to the military police.

DEPUTY MINISTER COMING

The annual farmers' day luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club will be held on Monday when the members of the Agricultural War Committee of Peterborough county, 60 strong, will be the guests of the club. The speaker will be W. B. Reek, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario.

FORMER BATTERY MAN

Lieut. G. D. Cook, formerly of Lakefield, the only Canadian thus far to twice win the George Cross, is a former gunner of the 4th Field Battery here. He enlisted August 14, 1940, but was struck off strength early the following month when he joined the Royal Navy with a commission. When with the reserve artillery unit, he gave his occupation as manager of the Lakefield Canoe Co.

DOBBIN GOES TO WORK

Farmers on the Norwood Road have agreed to have sleighs waiting at the High Bridge, north of the Lift Lock at noon on Sunday to transport skiers to the ski tow at the Rifle Ranges. The Norwood Road is so heavy with snow that cars can get throughly only with difficulty. The sleighs will operate until two o'clock, and will bring the skiers back about six in the evening. The first group of skiers plan to leave the Empress Hotel at 10 Sunday morning in a truck.

PRESIDENTIAL JEWEL

Among the past presidents of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitors, 1906-40, who received jewels of their office at the association's convention in Toronto this week was Will J. Hill, secretary of the Madoc Fair.

A UNIQUE SERVICE

On Friday evening, February 20, a special service is being held in George Street United Church in connection with the Second Victory Loan and as the church service nears its completion, a huge beacon fire will be lighted on top of Armour Hill, a warning to everyone that the foe is at our door, and all must unite to repel him. Military and civic officials will assist in the service, and a complete program will be published early next week.

SKID CAUSES ACCIDENT.

Automobiles owned by Thomas Jackson, 173 Adaline Street, and Walter Thompson 280 McDonnel Street, were damaged on Friday evening in a traffic accident on Patterson Street. Thompson's car was pushing a stalled car owned by Ira Althouse, 579 Patterson Street, west on Patterson Street when Jackson drove south on Adaline Street and turned on to Patterson Street. He passed the car that was being pushed, but Thompson's car skidded and there was a collision. The rear fender and the panel of the door on Jackson's machine and the front left fender and front let hub cap of Thompson's automobile were damaged.

SERGEANTS COMPLETE COURSE

Sergt. L. A. Sage of the Prince of Wales Rangers has been struck off the strength of the unit upon his enlistment with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. He will leave Peterborough in about two weeks. Pte. F. Stevens has also been struck off strength upon his enlistment with the Royal Canadian Engineers in Vancouver, B.C. Pte. Donald Lloyd Johns has been taken on strength of the unit as bandsman. The following cadets have returned from Brockville Officers' Training Centre where they completed a practical course to obtain second lieutenant (R) qualifications: Sergeants R. J. Chandler, S. E. Deyell, N. H. Hewitt and C. E. G. Whatley. Privates C. H. Harvey and J. H. Hewitt have been appointed lance corporals.

From this definition, John A. Colby, of Madison, Wis., explained the ideals and the practice of credit unions to an audience of several hundred men and women from the city and county in Co-op hall Friday night. Only incidentally did he indicate the extent of the development of credit unions in the United States by a reference to his association with six hundred unions in his own State and some twelve hundred altogether. Another example of establishment was his mention of organization of five credit unions totalling 20,000 employees of the Carnegie steel works of Gary, Ind., with total assets of $2,500,000.

Help People Help Themselves

Mr. Colby placed first among the objects of credit unions the practical ideal of helping people to help themselves, and other aims are through earnings to pay a reasonable dividend to members, and on par with the other two, the teaching of people thrift, the habit of saving.

Credit unions have a limited membership with a common bond outside the precise purposes of the union. Mr. Colby cited the local example of the Workers' Educational Association in the formation of a credit union, and he also recommended the members of the radio forum league, under whose auspices last night's meeting was held, to consider seriously the organization of a credit union in connection with their own activities. his element of collateral interest introduces a strong community spirit, Mr. Colby said.

Credit unions are operated on the basis of co-operative control. "Each member has as much to say as the next one. Policies are determined by the members at their annual meetings, and the directors are responsible to the members, and cannot obtain control of a credit union to their own ends."

Mr. Colby explained the methods by which money is pooled as a common resource, and from that fund loans are made to members. The rate of interest to borrowing members is one per cent a month on the unpaid balance of the loans.

He compared this plan with the borrowing of money from financial institutions. A man who obtains $100 at 6% gets $94, and immediately the rate of interest increases by reason of the fact that the 6% in charged on $94. Monthly payments are usually required, Mr. Colby said, and the average interest would probably amount to 16.9%. Persons buying on the Instalment plan pay interest rates varying from 12 to 48%.

The membership of a credit union elects a board of directors, generally of seven persons, with two committees, a credit committee of three persons and a supervising committee.

The directors have the duty of carrying out the principles and practices of the credit union; the credit committee has the responsibility of deciding who shall get loans; and the supervising committee should see that the union is carrying on honestly and efficiently, and fulfilling the true credit union principle of helping people to help themselves.

Throughout his expository talk, Mr. Colby stressed this feature of service, of helping people by means of loans, and also said that credit unions carry a unique loan protective insurance scheme. He was introduced by Charles E. Moore.

Employees Seek To Buy Bonds On Payroll Plan

The first bright spot in the Victory Loan campaign which opens Monday in this county is an announcement from the management of the Centre Theatre that every cent of money taken in at the box office next week will be converted into Victory Bonds in the local drive. That does not mean after expenses are deducted, it means the gross take for the entire week.

This move while it highlights the first act of the local setting, is paralleled by a demand throughout industry by employees seeking to buy Victory Bonds by the payroll deduction plan, and many of the smaller factories which failed to incorporate such a plan before are receiving pleas from their employees to put the plan in operation. Workers who are buying more War Savings stamps than they ever thought they could afford, are planning to make an additional sacrifice by squeezing a victory bond out of their pay envelopes in the form of weekly payments.

The term instalment saving is coming into its own, conveying to everyone that purchase of a bond on the instalment plan, is not instalment buying but instalment saving, as the purchaser is creating an estate by the purchase of the bond and is getting something that increases in value as time goes on, instead of wearing out. There is no depreciation on a Victory Bond, it becomes more valuable as the time of maturity rolls around, and its value to the owner is often multiplied by unforeseen circumstances that haunt every hard working Canadian.

Banks will assist in every way, persons who seek to purchase bonds, on the instalment plan. Employers too are going "all out" in co-operating with the workers, who wish to pack their dollars into the war chest, and scupper the Japs and Nazis.

On Monday afternoon at Confederation Square, more than 500 soldiers from the Training Centre along with about 1,000 students from the Collegiate will be on hand when the official flag raising will take place behind the War Memorial. Mayor James Hamilton, Col. J. A. Dewart, Col. D. J. Lawrie, and Col. E. O. Keeler with members of the City Council and the Victory Loan Committee will be on hand to take part in the significant event.

Victory Loan dollars, will protect Canada, will shorten the war, will save the lives of soldiers, will keep the ammunition belts filled and the skies over our fighting men protected by a screen of aeroplanes. "Brave men shall not die because I faltered," and your dollars can do the job that age and circumstances prevent you from doing yourself.

Young Officer Graduates Trained With Peterboro Rangers

LT. DONALD WEESE

LT. HARRY MARSH

LT. EVERETT GIBBS

Three Peterborough boys graduated as Second Lieutenants at Brockville recently and pictures of two of them appear ABOVE. They are 2 Lt. Don Weese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryden Weese of this city, and former Examiner advertising man, and 2 Lt. Everett Gibbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Gibbs, 599 Bolivar Street, a former ledgerkeeper at the Dominion Bank in this city for six years. The other graduate is 2 Lt. Bob Juby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Juby, Boswell Avenue, who is not pictured in the group. Weese and Gibbs are reinforcing officers to the Glengarrians. Lt. Harry Marsh, shown ABOVE, is the son of Mrs. Jennie Marsh, 507 Homewood Avenue. He was formerly employed at the Nashua Paper Company and well-known as an outstanding rugby player. Marsh obtained his commission in this city and is now stationed at Brockville. He is wearing the uniform of the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa.

Fixed Assessment Terms Expire On Three Industries

The terms of fixed assessment on three of Peterborough's manufacturing companies expire at the end of this year. They are the Quaker Oats Company, De Laval Comany and Canadian Raybestos Company. Their total assessments as shown in the annual statement presented by W. J. Henry, Assessor, to the council, amount to $2,577,120, but their aggregate assessments are fixed at $188,700, except for schools, relief and local improvements.

The assessment department's valuation of the Raybestos plant is $109,500 plus $65,700 business; total $175,200; and their fixed assessment is $25,000.

De Laval Company's plant and land is assessed at $139,000 plus $83,820 business; total $222,280. The company's assessment is at present fixed at $60,000.

The Quaker Oats Company's mill and lands are valued at $1,667,150; business $750,450; total $2,179,100; and their present exemption level is $103,700.

The significance of these facts is simply that these three companies are paying school, relief and local improvements on all their assessment, $2,577,120; but the general tax rate is charged to only $188,700 by the concessions of fixed assessments.

Absentee Owners

There are 712 individual non-resident owners of Peterborough property.

Seventeen appeals were made to the Court of Revision on the basis of tenement vacancies—amounting to a reduction in the 1941 taxes of $1,212,57.

Other tax remissions were: business $60.57; granted on grounds of poverty $152.01.

The number of persons on the provincial voters list was 4,574.

Number of children between the ages of 5 and 7 inclusive, 1,110; between 8 and 13, 2,346; between 14 and 15, 776; between 16 and 17 (inclusive in all cases), 730. Total number of children between 5 and 17 was 4,962.

Twenty-one assessment appeals were made to the Court of Revision last year, and 11 were allowed, one reduced, and in 9 cases the assessment was confirmed.

The totals of assessment reductions were $5,515 on buildings; $1,180 on business and $16,127 on income. Total $22,822.

Exemption of churches which are liable only for local improvements totals $879,500 of which $86,835 is assessment of land and $792,665 of buildings. The total number of churches listed by Mr. Henry is twenty-four.

School exemptions, except for local improvements, amount to $954,725 of which $94,625 is on land and $860,100 on school buildings.

Total exemption of property $4,661,680. Of that amount, and this applies only to the properties exempted by statute apart from those exempted by city bylaws, exemption of land is $935,925, and buildings $3,725,755.

Total population of the city as compiled last year 26,703.

Pontypool Cemetery Board Refuses Burial Of Man

Burial of the body of a man of foreign extraction was refused by members of the Pontypool Cemetery Board a short time ago, according to a letter which W. H. D. Ariss, registered chiropractor in the Greene Building has written the Examiner

"This should not happen anywhere" is the caption of the letter which Mr. Ariss forwarded as a member of the Ethical Society of Canada.

"It seems that a Serbian, John Wozner, a respectable citizen who had lived with his wife and family west of Pontypool, died at Gravenhurst on January 22. Arrangements were made for his burial at Pontypool, but when the funeral party arrived at the cemetery they found that a grave had not been dug. One can imagine the distress of the widow when inquiries disclosed that two members of the board had arbitrarily vetoed the opening of a grave, because, forstooth, the dead man was a "foreigner" and they were not going to have a foreigner interred among their dead. That was that.

So the body was taken to McCrea's Cemetery, two miles south, toward Orono where the members of the funeral party turned to and immediately dug a grave, assisted by a passing truck driver, and "so at last the body of the 'despised foreigner' was committed to the earth by the Rev. Mr. Smith of Pontypool."

Mr. Ariss expressed the opinion that members of the Cemetery Board "are deserving of censure of al right thinking people for this un-Christian act."

The Examiner has made some inquiries into this incident, and found that available facts verify it. One of the members of the Board said, "I don't think you should stir that up. It has settled down out here, and I think you ought to let it pass now."

It was also learned from Pontypool that the Cemetery Board consists of five members, but only three were consulted about the opening of this grave, and one of them was quite in favor of the burial taking place in Pontypool Cemetery.

The motive for the closing of the cemetery gates against John Wozner's body was more or less confirmed by the remark, "You're not far astray there," when a reporter quoted the reason as being nothing more than the foreign birth of the dead man. It was said that the man was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church.

Heavy Fighting Renewed At Paan, Salween River

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 14. — (CP)—Heavy fighting has broken out in the area of Paan, 30 miles from the mouth of the Salween River, where the Japanese are attempting to force a subsidiary crossing in their drive toward Rangoon.

Today's army communique stated: "On the Salween front heavy fighting has broken out again in the area of Paan. The situation on this front is obscure. Further south the situation is quiet at the moment."

Martaban is on the west bank and Paan on the east.

Rangoon, across the Gulf of Martaban, goal of the Japanese, is the port of entry for shipments to the Burma roadhead at Lashio and the Burma Road is the principal lifeline to China.

Aided constanty by R.A.F. and American volunteer air fighters, the land forces had succeeded in at least temporarily warding off savage Japanese attempt to cross the Salween River from the Paan jungles, the British command announced.

In Japanese-occupied Martaban, British infiltration forced the Japanese into defensive action. Japanese planes bombed the city's outskirts in an attempt to lessen the pressure.

Liquor Charges Feature Bancroft Court

BANCROFT, Feb. 14.— (ENS).— Following an investigation in town Saturday evening, William Switzer and Edgar Hogan were arrested by Provincial Constable S. W. Palmateer and Village Constables R. F. Delyea ahd charged with a breach of the L.C.A.

Following an investigation in the premises of a local business man Saturday evening Constables S. W. Palmateer and R. F. Delyea seized a quantity of liquor. Two charges were laid against the defendant, that of keeping liquor for sale and having liquor in a place other than his residence.

Mr. Adolph Kune, general merchant of New Carlow, was arrested by Provincial Constable S. W. Palmateer in the Grand Cafe in Bancroft Tuesday evening following a fracas. Mr. Kuno was arrested and charged with a breach of the L.C.A. He was lodged in the local jail over night and the following day was remanded on a two hundred dollar cash bail to appear in Bancroft police court February 17th.

An accident occurred Tuesday afternoon on Highway No. 62 about ten miles north of Bancroft when a car driven by Mr. Wilfred Maxwell of Bancroft was proceeding towards town and just as he attempted to pass a horse and cutter travelling in the same direction, it is said, the cutter slewed into the path of the car and was struck. Alhough the collision was slight, it was enough to upset the cutter, throwing out the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson of Maynooth. Mrs. Davidson was brought to Bancroft Red Cross hospital and attended by Dr. O. W. Anderson, who revealed the lady suffered a broken shoulder. S. W. Palmateer investigated the accident.

War—25 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press)

FEB. 14, 1917—German Ambassador Count von Bernstorff and staff sailed from New York on Danish steamer Frederick VIII. Government assumed control of British coal mines. British penetrated to third line of German defences in raid on Courcelette-Miramont road.

FEB. 15, 1917—British in Mesopotamia cleared Dahra Bend on the River Tigris of Turkish forces. Germans broke through French lines between Tahure and Massagnes, taking 800 prisoners.

Draw On Quilt Nets $59 For War Victims

One of the best efforts of its kind to be turned in on behalf of the city and district fund for British war victims came in on Friday as a result of neighborly co-operation between Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. Townsley who live at 58 and 60 Ware street, this city. Between them they made a quilt, and then jointly sponsored the sale of tickets on it for a draw, and this together with the proceeds of a euchre party which they held for the purpose of making the draw at a public function has netted the handsome amount of 59.00 for the fund. The draw was made by little Dorothy Kitchen who is only four years old, and resulted in ticket No. 885 held by Lawrence O'Toole of 554 Reid street being the winner. So successful was this euchre party, that others are planned for the future all with the object of helping this fund, and when people set their hands to work for the benefit of others, success and happiness usually follows, not only to those benefitting but also to themselves.

Today is credited the balance for the final sale of Kaleidescopes donated to the fund by the Kaleidescope gang.

Two rooms in Central School in observing the feast of St. Valentine were not unmindful of the needs of others, for both of them made it the occasion to bring in a donation to the fund, from money which would have been spent on themselves to commemorate the day. Room 10 handed in their donation under the heading of Pennies Saved because we made our Valentine this year, and room 12 sent their in under the heading of a "Valentine from Grade I Room 12, Central School," and one cannot help but feel that this is a real Valentine in the true sense that underlies the day itself.

Draw for Afghan Tuesday

Next Tuesday is the day when the draw will be made for the afghan made and donated to the fund by the girls of the Examiner office staff. Tickets for a draw on this have been on sale at 10c each or three for 25c for some time, sponsored by members of the staff of the Examiner, and 100 per cent. of the cash received through will come to the fund. Tickets may also be procured at the Examiner Office, and will be on sale up to Tuesday at 5 p.m. with the winner being announced in Wednesday's issue of the Examiner.

Committee Accepts Withers' Tender

Herbert J. Withers' tender of $16,700 for the collection and removal of garbage was recommended to the city council by the proprety committee Thursday night.

The bid was in two parts, $15,800 for the collection of garbage and $900 for the removal of tins from the incinerator. A second tender from W. T. Hughie and F. J. Hughie was for $17,000.

The property committe's estimates were fixed at $23,200 as compared with $17,412.23 last year. The committee spent $17,159.30 last year with $46.25 credit, leaving the net expense at $46.25.

Cavan Farmer Is Winner Of Ferdinand

OMEMEE, Feb. 14. — (ENS) — Friday the 13th was not an unlucky day for the men of Omemee when it was announced at the Omemee Arena last night that 2,819 tickets had been sold on "Ferdinand" the registered bull, the receipts from sale of tickets were $644.50.

Large crowds gathered at the arena to see Ferdinand make his debut. Early in the evening, while waiting for the hockey team from Peterborough to arrive Mr. Bloomfield, Winnifred Fee, Lorraine Muir of Lindsay and Victor Huffman of Huntsville entertained the spectators with figure skating. Rev. R. M. Patterson, at the microphone, acted as master of ceremonies. Reeve Bent of Omemee was called on to say a few words and spoke of the wonderful work which had been done by the men of Omemee since organizing the drive. The men, he said, have worked like a hive of bees. The queen bees are considered the hard workers but in this case it has been the drones who have worked.

The Peterborough junior hockey team were late in coming, but they were soon on the ice competing with the Omemee Junior team. Both teams played a good brand of hockey, the final score being 11-4 in favor of the visiting team.

The crowd cheered as the ice was cleared and "Ferdinand" was ushered in, in a truck driven by Russel Brooks of Omemee. The barel containing the tickets was taken onto the ice and Mr. Easton of Peterborough drew the lucky ticket. Sidney Todd of Cavanville was announced the winner. The door receipts at the arena were $83.40.

David Deyell, president of the organization in addressing the gathering said. "About a month ago we organized to raise money for war purposes. Our objective was $500. I am quite sure we have reached it. The night we organized this campaign it looked like a big undertaking for Omemee. Speaking for myself, I have enjoyed the work because of the co-operation and generous way the public responded to this very worthy cause. We all realize that our efforts were not in vain, every one was so willing to help.

Fred Parker very kindly opened up his recreation room for us to hold our meetings in. Bert Chester took care of the finance work. My neighbour "Mac" McKenzie tops the list for most tickets sold by any one person, with Charles Shaw of the North American Leather Co. standing second. I would also like to mention Rev. Patterson and S. J. Mackey who were responsible for the advertising of Ferdinand.

Again I want to thank everyone who helped in any way to make this compaign such a huge success."

Immediately following the draw and Mr. Deyell's speech, those who wanted to dance went to Coronation Hall where Galloway's orchestra furnished the music. The door receipts at the hall were $100.00.

All proceeds to be given to the British War Victims' Fund, Red Cross Society and Soldier's Aid Society.

Normal School Students Present Musical Pageant

Pupils and teachers of the Peterborough Normal School were At Home to their friends on Friday night, when they presented a display of work and an evening of entertainment.

The entertainment took the form of a patriotic musical pageant, produced under the direction of the staff and directed by the music instructor of the Normal School, Q. S. McKinney. The pageant, "Calvacade of Canada" was prepared by C. R. Fenwick, director of music for the schools of Ontario, and the script was re-written and enlarged upon by Dr. Bannister. The entire production was immeasurably aided by the co-operation of Miss Helen Williamson, A.T.C.M., and accomplished pianist. Those taking part in the pageant were as follows: Mistress of ceremonies, Miss Marion Fraleigh; page, Ida Fitzpatrick; France, Nama Sine; England, June Walker; Scotland, Frances Macmillan; Wales, Helen Worsley; Ireland, Helen Evans; Scandinavia, Fay Fleming; Poland, Eleanor Jarvis; Belgium, Isabel Rutledge; Russia, Barbara Argue; Columbia, Verna Benns. All these people performed their parts capably and the pageant was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Decorations everywhere were patriotic in theme. In the library, where refreshments were served, red, white and blue streamers were draped across the windows, and the table was adorned with dolls representing the various services. Miss Greta Huffman, assisted by Miss M. McInnes and Miss Monica Cannon, Miss Phyllis David, and Mirs Isabel McGregor, were responsible for the decorations. The refreshments committee was composed of Miss Joan Richardson, Miss Eleanor and Miss Marian Fraleigh.

Games were provided for those who did not care to dance, and fortune telling and a fish-pond added to the entertainment. Dancing was to the music of Marshall's orchestra. Miss Gwen Varcoe, Mr. Jack Chard, Miss Eleanor Jarvis were in charge of games and dancing.

Receiving the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Bannister, Miss O. Johnston, Miss Dorothy Clarke, Miss Eleanor Foster, Miss Joan Richardson and Mr. John Wraye. The entire At Home was under the direction of the executive of the Literary Society, headed by Miss Dorothy Clarke, president, and Mr. John Wraye, vice-president.

Among those present were:

Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fraleigh;

Misses Maud Ellis, Dorothy Clark, Monica Cravah, Helen Gilson, Eleanor Foster, Pearl Scilly, Dot Gray, Fran MacMillan, Helen Evans, Doreen Goodfellow, Margaret Davey, Ruth Roblin, Lela Varty, Lillian Matthews, Myrtle DeMille, Jean DeMille, Norma Potter, Verna W. Among the guests were Miss Nora Bovinger and Mr. Peter Martin, who brought greetings from the Toronto Normal School to the Peterborough School.

Remember These Pictures when you go to buy Aspirin to stop a headache

What happens above, happens in your stomach

Here is the really quick way to stop pain that often brings relief from even a severe headache or neuritis in a few minutes. It is said to be among the fastest, safest reliefs ever known for pain.

The illustration above tells the story. Note that an Aspirin Tablet starts disintegrating in the amazing space of 2 seconds after touching moisture. And what happens in that glass happens in your stomach. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you take it, and thus starts to work bringing relief almost instantly.

So for quick relief from pain, ask for Aspirin when you buy. It's made in Canada, and "Aspirin" is the trade-mark of The Bayer Company, Limited.

W.C.T.U. Tea Pretty Affair

The gracious home of Mrs. A. H. Campbell, Elias avenue, was the scene of a pretty tea held by the W.C.T.U. on Friday afternoon. The living room, bright with afternoon sunlight, was made gayer by the presence of a bouquet of daffodils and iris. Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. H. T. Rehill received the guests and Mrs. H. Connolly and Mrs. S. Wildman greeted them in the living room.

In the dining-room, where Mrs. J. Fanning, Miss E. Might, and Mrs. E. E. Lord poured tea, the table was set in front of the bright bay window, and gaily decorated with valentine decorations and red candles in silver holders. Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, Mrs. W. K. Sloan, Mrs. R. Parnall and Mrs. V. Whittington served the guests in the dining room. Mrs. J. Spencer, assisted by Mrs. J. Tinney, was responsible for the tea table. Mrs. A. B. Cunningham acted as treasurer.

Funds raised at this tea will be contributed to a fund for establishing a Home Centre for soldiers at Petawawa.

Auxiliary Honors Officers

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion, two valued members, Mrs. E. Houghton, who has been president for four years, and Mrs. W. Hughes, who has been treasurer for two years, were presented with umbrellas for their faithful work during their terms of office. Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. J. Mills made the presentations. Both ladies thanked the members for their kindness.

Lady Curlers' Bonspiel Huge Success

One of the most successful bonspiels on record, as even the gentlemen admitted, was held on Friday by the Ladies' Curling Club. Two rinks from Toronto, two from Bobcaygeon and one from Lakefield accepted the invitation to the first Bonspiel ever held by the ladies. Mr. Camp, associate member of the Men's Curling Club, donated the prizes, four beautiful Gruen watches, and four Kenwood blankets.

Luncheon was served to the guests in the Club Rooms, with Mrs. G. Green and Mrs. E. Metcalfe responsible for the arrangements. Guests at the luncheon included Mr. G. F. McArthur, president of the men's club, and Mrs. McArthur; Mrs. J. Harkness, secretary, and Mrs. Harkness; Mr. C. Westbrook, whose wife won her first game yesterday at the Seigniory Club, playing for the Sewell Trophy, and Mr. Champ.

Afternoon tea was served the second game by Mrs. J. A. Gibbs and Mrs. Ray Best.

After the last game the prizes were presented hurriedly, as the guests—and prize winners—from Toronto had to catch the train for home First prize was won by the High Park, Toronto rink skipped by Mrs. Bosworth, who thanked the Peterborough club for its hospitality and hoped that they would one day have as good a bonspiel in Toronto. Mrs. Code's rink, also of High Park, Toronto, won the hecond prize. Mrs. Northey's rink from Bobcaygeon, won the consolation prize, $12 worth of War Savings Stamps.

Mr. Herb Martin was presented with a small gift by Mr. Harkness, in appreciation of the help he had given the ladies.

Knox Church W.A. Holds Meeting

Mrs. K. Fairbairn presided over a well-attended meeting of the Women's Association of Knox United Church in the Junior Room on Thursday afternoon.

An impressive worship service conducted by Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt, preceded the business session. In it the Christian life was compared to a light which can be made to shine brightly through service for the Master. Mrs. Zufelt was assisted by Mrs. R. Hanscom. Mrs. C. Weldon sang very sweetly, "Lead, Kindly Light."

The treasurer's statement given by Mrs. Londerville showed returns from the holiday card, brought in at a social gathering at the home of Mrs. Sparks a few nights previously, to be very satisfactory. Proceeds from a chain tea were also satisfactory.

Letters of appreciation for cards, flowers and fruit were read by the conveners of those departments.

Varied and interesting suggestions for wartime economy were given in answer to the roll call. The number of visits during the month amounted to forty.

With reference to the play to be given in the Lecture Hall by the Bethany Young People, the president requested the full co-operation of all members.

The constitution for Women's Associations, as contained in the church manual was read by Mrs. H. Clegg. Mrs. Hanscom closed the meeting with prayer for those of the congregation who are ill.

Charity Ball at Kawartha Aids Kinsmen Clubs' Milk for Britain Fund

Almost one hundred couples attended the Charity Ball held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club on Friday evening under the auspices of the Kinsmen Club to aid the "Milk for Britain' fund, and the affair was an outstanding success.

Highlight of this colorful dance was the music provided by a band composed of 11 Royal Air Force ground crew men from Kingston, and the sweet rhythm played by these musicians, topped any band heard locally for some years. The orchestra had several novelty numbers, and most of the members doubled on other instruments, one adding an accordeon to the line-up for variety. The orchestra leader was Squadron-Leader Sloan. L.A.C. Samson, one member of the band, played several numbers in the George Formby style, mimicking the English comedian cleverly. The musicians added several typical air force decorations to the orchestra stand, including their crest, and the red, white and blue bull-eye markings of the British planes. Another interesting feature to the visit of the airmen is that the majority of them come from Peterborough, England. At present they are based at the Norman Rogers airport, Kingston.

Conveners for the dance were the president, Norman Elliott and Alderman Adam Sands.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Maurice Holt, Mrs. Bob Shill, Mrs. Fred Cripps, Mrs. R. E. MacDonald and Mrs. Adam Sands.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. M. Holt received the guests.

Among those present were:

Mary C. Boyle Wed To Joseph McDonnell

A quiet wedding took place on Monday morning in St. Peter's Cathedral, when Mary Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Doyle, was united in marriage with Joseph Anthony McDonnell, R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McDonnell. Rev. Father J. T. Finn performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Miss Marion Best, A.T.C.M., and Mrs. D. Campanaro sang Rosewig's "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of rose color, with matching accessories, and a corsage of dream roses. She was attended by Miss Hazel Dalton, who was frocked in beige with black accessories and a corsage of roses. The groom was supported by Mr. Harold Pringle of Toronto.

PATTERN 9902

Quick! Before spring cleaning finds you unprepared—have a gay home frock ready! Pattern 9902 by Marian Martin is pretty, practical, and easy to sew. The basque waist and "wedgie" pockets are young. The sash begins from the darts above the waist or at the sides . . . the front seam may be slide-fastened instead. You'll have fun making more than one version with the Sew Chart's aid; a gingham frock is smart and neat-looking . . . a colorful cotton print is too! Ric-rac may be added as a bright accent on the sleeves, pockets and yokes. For variety, one frock may have long sleeves and omit the pockets.

Pattern 9902 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 35 inch fabric.

Social Evening For Blind Is Big Success

Musical numbers, games and dancing, in which blind persons of Peterborough and district played a leading part, provided a most interesting evening's entertainment, held under the auspices of the Peterborough Advisory Board to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The party was held last night, at the Legion Hall. Through the co-operation of Board members and their friends automobiles were furnished for transporting the blind to and from their homes.

Mr. Chris. Hughes, chairman of the Board presided. Several blind artists took part in the musical part of the program, including Victor Cremasco, Edward Wheeler and Walter Wilson. Then followed a game of Progressive Beetle, a game in which all blind took part, both old and young. First prize for ladies went to Mrs. A. Cremasco, and first prize for the men was won by Walter Wilson. Other prize winners were Miss G. Sedgwick, Miss Norma Hughes, Albert Valois, Patrick Howren and Thomas Castle. Consolation prizes were awarded to: Mrs. H. O'Riley, Mrs. P. Howran, Mr. Renwick and Mr. MacDougall.

After an intermission for refreshments blind people and their escorts enjoyed a few dances for which the music was provided by Mrs. A. Cremasco.

Mr. W. H. Henry, Field Supervisor of the Institute for the Blind, who is himself blind, was introduced and spoke briefly. The entire program was arranged by the following committee: Mrs. R. Whalon, general convener; Mr. C. Hughes; transportation convener; Miss Norma Hughes, musical program convener; Mrs. C. B. Hughes, refreshment committee; Mr. R. L. Dobbin, games and prizes committee, assisted by Mr. T. T. Rodger, co-convener.

Refreshments were donated by the local Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, February 15

Sunday's horoscope hold augury of difficulty and disappointing conditions with unforeseen disturbances and upheavals, which may vitally affect all relations and activities, and result in distressing reactions on the health and that of the household. The mind also may be morbid and have eccentric or irregular disturbances, best restrained by sound philosophy or sabbatical occupations.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of sharp and unwelcome upheaval or devastating experience, which is not promising for great success or happiness. Its reactions may be felt most on the physical health.

A child born on this day will probably be erratic, unsettled and difficult to understand or direct. It should be helped with an optimistic and rational attitude toward life.

For Monday, February 16

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather indifferent one in various ways. There may be indifference in needful business application, with a similar indifference in social or personal affiliations. There is danger in seeking solace for the lack of keen interest or thrilling adventure by paying too high a price for compensation.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of routine matters in both business and personal affairs, in which there may be a disposition to while away the time or seek diversions of a rather extravagant or unjustifiable manner, probably through gambling, speculation, or other hazardous conduct or excesses.

A child born on this day will probably have mediocre talents and social aims but may be inclined to find its pleasures in games of chance or speculation.

THE GIRL HE LEFT BEHIND HAS 'ARMY PROBLEMS' ALSO

Soldier Sweethearts Wonder If Absence Really Does Make the Heart Grow Fonder

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a bunch of girls whose boy friends have been drafted into the Army and we have a problem we would like for you to help us solve. We have been reading in the papers about how the soldier boys are being entertained in the various camps, about the dances that are being given them and the pretty local girls who dance with them, date them, drive them around in their cars and show them the sights; and it naturally makes us sad and uneasy for fear they will forget us. We were engaged to these boys before they left for the Army and we love them very much. Now, Miss Dix, do you think it is fair to the home town girls for these boys to let strange girls take them away from us? We have been told that in the last World War there were many broken engagements and even divorces because the boys fell out of love with their old girls and in love with new ones. Miss Dix, we are just as pretty as other girls and just as attractive and we would not be afraid of losing our boy friends if they were with us, but we feel that when they are away from us and lonely, any girl looks good to them and they are likely to forget us. The old saying is "absence makes the heart grow fonder," but it often grows fonder of someone else. If these girls want to really help the soldiers, why don't they give all their time and money to the Red Cross instead of trying to fascinate our boy friends and take them away from us? —A GROUP OF HOME TOWN GIRLS.

A Problem of Morale

Answer: This is one of the problems of war that I fear our military strategists have not taken into consideration. For here are the boys in camp clamoring for feminine society, for pretty girls to dance with and something in ruffled skirts to step out with instead of another kakai uniform. And here are the girls in every community near a war recreation center being importuned to keep up the morale of the soldier boys by being nice to them and putting on their best bibs and tuckers and going to the balls and treading a measure with them.

But nobody has given a thought to the sad plight of girls back home who have been left to suck their thumbs and grow green-eyed while their boy friends are being exposed to the attractions of the feminine city slickers of the east, the pretty, snappy, up-and-coming girls of the west and the dark-eyed man-killers of the south.

That the danger that the home town girls run of losing out is a very real one, cannot be denied. For strange women have ever had a peculiar fascination for men, as is proven even in peace times when the visiting girl is always given a rush by the local swains. Doubtless this is because men ever crave something new and different. They know all the poses and mannerisms and line of chatter of the girls they have grown up with, but the strange girl has a new bag of tricks to pique their interest and a fresh line of jolly.

Strangers Always Fascinating

And this attraction of the stranger is raised to the 'nth power when she has a different back ground and when there are many men and few girls, and practically anything in skirts looks good to them. Moreover, when men are homesick and lonesome, they are easy picking for any girl with a soulful look and who is a good listener.

It is easy to see why the home girls everywhere are sitting on the anxious seat, but it would take more than a Solomon to suggest a remedy for the situation. For it would be cruelty to deny the boys in camp what solace they can get out of feminine society, and it would show that our young women are sadly lacking in patriotism if they refused to cheer the soldiers, who are going out to defend them, with a few dates.

The only consolation I can offer to the girls at home is to remind them that not all men are fickle and that often the more a man sees of other women the more beautiful and wonderful his own girl looks to him, and the more sure he is that she is the ONLY one. So if your fiances really loves you they will be proof against temptation, no matter how adroitly the charmer charms. What your boy friends are going through is the ordeal by fire, and if they come through unscathed and still true to you, you will know that they are temptation proof and that if you marry them you will never have to worry over the "Other Woman."

Make Him Produce Goods

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am in an excellent college for women and get good marks, and I am preparing myself to become a stenographer. I am in love with a very brilliant and handsome boy who lives with his parents and has never had a job, but he says that if I will leave college at once and marry him he will go to work and support me. What shall I do? I don't want to be an old maid.—TROUBLED.

Answer: Keep on with your course and finish your training to be a stenographer. You will need to know how to support yourself if you marry a boy who sponges on his parents and who hasn't even tried to stand on his own feet and make his own living.

You are very young and ignorant of the world, but you must be dumb, indeed, if you do not know enough about life to be aware that no boy who has no trade or profession can get any job that will pay him enough to enable him to set up a home and support a wife.

If you were foolish enough to marry him, he would have to take you and dump you down on his parents, and they would naturally resent you and your position would be most unpleasant. It would be so galling to your pride to be dependent on people who would feel that you had foisted yourself on them as an unwelcome guest, that you would get out and hunt a job yourself. You could probably find one if you were a competent stenographer, but if you were ignorant of anything to do by which you could earn a dollar you would still have to live with your in-laws and take handouts.

Don't be silly enough to marry this boy now. Tell him if he loves you to go to work and show that he can support you, and that then you will mary him, not now.

Problems of a Divorce

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a woman 27 years of age. Have been married and divorced and have a child seven years old. My child and I are living with my parents. They have always been very strict and tyrannical and demanded that we do exactly as they want us to do. I work and pay board for myself and the boy, but they make things very unpleasant for me by forbidding me to go out even to the movies with a man and by interfering in the way I rear my boy. Now a very fine man wants to marry me, but they object because they say they know nothing about him, yet they make no effort to verify his statements about himself. They also say I should not marry again because my first marriage was a failure. I am thinking of renting a room or two and taking my boy and going to live by myself when I can have peace and liberty. What do you think? As things are I am being made a nervous wreck.—X.

ANSWER: It is, of course, absurd for your parents to treat you as if you were an unsophisticated school girl, and I have no doubt you would be far happier if you set up a little home for yourself. Somehow going back to Mother rarely works out well, and when the unhappy married woman gets a divorce and does it she generally finds that she has jumped out of the frying pan into the fire.

She discovers that her parents are far bossier than her husband was and harder to get along with, and that she cannot talk back to them as she did to him. Also she is made to feel that Papa and Mamma felt that they had done their full duty by her in marrying her off and shunting her support on her husband, that they do not relish her being dumped back on their hands, so her last estate is worse that her first.

But there are practical things for you to consider in leaving even the unpleasant parental nest, and one is: Who will take care of your boy when you are out at work? And also you need to be very sure that any man you marry is good stepfather material. No woman in the world is in such a sad spot as the one who is torn between her husband and her child and sees a cruel stepfather take all the joy out of life for the little one she loves, and whom she cannot protect.

Home-Mixed Syrup Relieves Coughs Quickly

Saves Big Dollars. So Easy. No Cooking.

A pleasing surprise is waiting for you, in your own kitchen, when it comes to the relief of coughs due to colds. In just a moment, you can mix a cough syrup that gives you about four times as much for your money, and is splendid for quick results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle. Add your syrup, and you have 16 ounces of really effective cough medicine. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and children love it.

This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing. You'll say it's very satisfying in its action.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

First Picture Of Russia's Winter Bomber

One reason for the sensational Russian push against the Nazis is the Red army's ability to "Keep 'Em Flying" at 20 below zero and lower, a temperature that solidifies ordinary lubricating grease into an ice-like block. This is the PE-2, twin-engined super-speed bomber in its natural winter terrain, as it prepares to take off for a raid. The reputation the PE-2 has won for itself is an enviable one, but details of its winter performances remain a closely guarded secret.

Canadian-Trained Fliers Now On Every Front

NEW YORK, Feb. 14 — (AP). — Canadian-trained fliers are serving in every theatre of war where the British air forces are engaged, Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister to the United States, told a luncheon gathering here yesterday, and "fresh groups are pouring overseas now at a rate that guarantees the efficient manning of fighting aircraft as fast as those aircraft can be obtained."

Present at the luncheon were 200 trim Royal Canadian Air Force fliers who arrived in Manhattan last night for a one-day visit marked this morning by an impressive demonstration before hundreds of New Yorkers of their famous precision drill.

The luncheon folowed a round of ceremonies featured by a call at city hall on Mayor F. H. La Guardia, himself a former flier of the First Great War. Here Air Marshal William A. (Billy) Bishop, V.C., accompanying the men, presented to the Mayor the ensign flag of the R.C.A.F.

Among the airmen were "Duce" Vitarelli, 20, of Peterborough, Ont., and Ray Anderson, 18, of Preston, Ont. Anderson, trumpeter with the Central band, who said he thought New York was "swell."

McCarthy sketched the development of the Commonwealth Air Training plan at the luncheon. The plan, he said, was in its preliminary stages when the fall of France occurred.

"With characteristic decision our minister of air, Hon. Charles Gavin Power, stripped his new-born organization to the bone, turned back ships in mid-Atlantic that were bringing basic equipment, offered Britain every trained man that could help to hold the Nazis at bay —and left himself wondering what there remained to carry on with— how he was going to reorganize and bring to completion this project that had suddnly become doubly vital, doubly urgent.

"One night that week Clarence Decatur Howe, our American-born minister of munitions and supply, slipped out of Ottawa by plane and was lost to sight for a couple of days. Now it can be told—he came back with the entire output of an American engine plant sewed up; and that was the first step toward getting the training scheme back on its feet again."

Omemee News

Guests over the week-end were: Miss Helen Moyer of Harwood with her mother; Miss Irene Clemett with Rev. G. H. and Mrs. Johnson of Newmarket; Mrs. A. L. Williamson, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. T. Osborne of Lindsay, spent Saturday in Peterborough visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. Carnochan, prior to their departure for their new home in Oshawa, where Mr. Carnochan has been employed.

Mr. Richard Vaughan, who has been employed in the bank at Lyndhurst, visited his parents last week, before being transferred to Creighton Mills.

The Y.P.U. at Trinity church held a very successful St. Valentine's Social on Monday night under the capable leadership of Hazel Wilson, Charles Huffman. When all had assembled each person was given a paper heart with his or her name printed on it. This was worn for the evening. Musical games and contests were enjoyed. Groups were formed and ecah group dramatized a nursery rhyme, which afforded a great deal of fun.

Young's Point News

Mrs. R. Nicholson entertained the Women's Auxiliary of St. Aidan's Anglican Church on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. E. C. Moore, president, took charge of the devotional period. Meetings during the Lenten season were arranged and plans were made for a pot luck dinner and quilting bee to be held in the Parish Hall on February 24. The hostess, Mrs. Nicholson, served a delightful afternoon tea and a social hour concluded a most pleasant afternoon.

Rev. E. C. Moore spent Friday in Toronto.

Miss Marian Young of Peterborough spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Young.

Mrs. W. Brooks is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Young, in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex. Wilson and d ughter June were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wilson.

Your Life Insurance Dollars

ARE ON "ACTIVE SERVICE" AS WELL AS ON "HOME DEFENSE"

At the Annual Meeting of The Dominion Life Assurance Company held at the Head Office of the Company in Waterloo, on Friday, February 13th, it was pointed out that $1,150,000 were invested in War Loans during 1940 and an additional $3,160,050 in 1941.

Thus Millions of Dominion Life Insurance Dollars, the savings of sound citizens, are on "Active Service" against tyranny.

The Asset Dollars of the Company are "Working Dollars". They are invested in Canada and the United States in bonds, debentures, mortgages and stocks. These dollars further the interests of Democracy by helping in the development of industry and commerce and by making home ownership possible for thousands.

These fighting dollars are on "HOME" DEFENSE—for, in war or peace the home is the foundation of our way of life—and life insurance is the corner-stone of the home. Life insurance savings provide a hedge against future financial urgency in the home, while, at the same time, these millions of dollars are invested in Victory.

A LAZY SUNDAY

CHAPTER IV

After what seemed an interminable spring season, vacation came at last. Parris and Renee ran nearly all the way home. This afternoon was different, somehow, from other afternoons—it was larger, brighter, gayer. And tomorrow there would be no school.

The great sweeps of orchard back of the house were in full bloom.

"Let's go look at the apple trees, Renee. Come on, hurry up."

"All right," she answered meekly, matching her step to his as best she could.

He dashed about the orchards like something mad, gathering the low branches into his arms and making loud inhalations as if he tried to breathe them into himself.

"Aren't they bee-eautiful, Renee? Prettier'n last year."

The months of May and June were rapturously happy. The days were all blue and gold and none of them failed of novelty or excitement. July came in hot and dry.

They walked one afternoon through the groves of young evergreens that stood on the farthest outskirts of the place. Beyond, there was only woods.

They came presently upon a small green pond with spruces and cedars planted in a wide circle about it. The sharp points of the young trees were perfectly mirrored on the still surface.

"Ooh, looky—our pond! We ain't been here since last summer, have we?" Renee ran ahead.

Parris walked slowly forward, watching her bright hair as she flung the braids back over her shoulders and sat on the grassy bank with hands clasped about her knees. He decided she was a very pretty girl—prettier than anybody—prettier, even than Cassandra Tower.

"You're my best friend, Renee," he said impulsively.

"Am I? Honestly?"

"Yes, you are. I like you better'n anybody."

"I like you best of anybody—exceptin', of course, Papa and Mama," she said contentedly.

"Renee—" Parris stumbled on the name. "This will always be our secret place, won't it?"

"Mmm."

He wished she had said more.

Parris watched his grandmother rather anxiously on Sunday mornings. If she planned to go to church she always gave orders at breakfast for the surrey.

Madame von Eln put down her coffee cup and folded her napkin. "Anna, tell Uncle Henry to have the carriage ready at half-past 10."

"Yes, Madame."

He sighed. It would be fun to call Renee and build a dam in the little creek. Much more fun certainly than putting on a clean white waist and a starched collar and going to church.

The surrey stood shining in the sun. Uncle Henry, his chocolate face wrinkled into Sunday decorum, sat on the front seat. He wore a blue-and-white-striped seersucker coat and a wide-brimmed straw hat.

Madame came down, crackling in her black taffeta dress. She was wearing her onyx-and-diamond earrings and a large brooch at her throat. She looked very fine, he thought, with her tight shiny black kid gloves, and the little spray of jet trimming that twinkled on her bonnet. He particularly liked that Sunday bonnet. He thought it looked like a crown, and that it made his grandmother look like a queen.

The second church bell was ringing from the Presbyterian tower when they turned into Federal street.

A number of men stood on the little lawn before the church. Several of them lifted their hats and spoke. Parris could see that they liked his grandmother from the respectful tone of the greetings. That was because she was an awfully important person, of course, the owner of the Burton County Nurseries, and a woman of affairs.

The inside of the Presbyterian church was most pleasant. It was very high, and tall slender windows of colored glass reached far up to the curved ceiling behind the graceful sweep of gallery. The windows were open today, and puffs of warm air came in.

Mrs. Curley turned and smiled a subdued greeting to Madame von Eln, and the old banker turned also and bowed gravely sidewise.

Parris caught sight of Drake McHugh across the aisle with his aunt and uncle, Mrs. Livingstone and the Major. Drake leaned forward and made eager, unintelligible signs, but his aunt tapped on his knee with her gloved fingers and he subsided.

On the far side of the church, in the little-used north section of seats, Parris saw a gleam of copper curls. It was Cassandra and her mother. He couldn't remember ever having seen them at church before.

The service seemed interminable. Parris knew that Dr. Mackay preached exactly an hour, and he felt at the beginning of the sermon that he could not possibly bear it. Maybe he would get sick. That would be terrible. Everyone would look at him. He swallowed hard at the thought and wriggled desperately. Then he dozed.

He was startled by a stir and rustle. It sounded as loud as thunder. He opened his eyes. Then he flushed very red and sat looking into the depths of Mr. Curley's silk hat. He hoped no one had seen him asleep.

The whole congregation bowed and the lovely words of the benediction faded into a whispering cadence across their heads . . . "In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, Amen."

Drake McHugh was squeezing through the outgoing crowd. "Parris!" The sibilant sound carried sharply. "Hist! Wait a minute outside, will you? I want to see you. Oh, good morn—good day, Madame. Uncle Rhodes and Aunt Mamie said could Parris stay in town and eat dinner with us and stay this afternoon?"

"Why certainly, if you want him to."

The group walked slowly out of church. "Now send him home if he bothers you," Madame smiled at the Livingstones.

The Livingstones lived near the Presbyterian church. Parris thought this must be very convenient and pleasant, but Drake did not regard it as an advantage.

Drake McHugh was an orphan, too, and lived with his aunt and uncle, both of whom were as old as Madame von Eln. Drake said that when he was 21 he would inherit his money. Parris had heard people say it was too bad that Drake had to grow up without parents. He could not imagine why they said this. He had no parents either and he was very happy. He often thought that it would be very strange to have a father and mother. He was sure he could never have loved either of them as much as he loved his grandmother. It would have been too bad, he decided, for her not to have had him all to herself.

After dinner Mrs. Livingstone retired for a nap, and the Major sat on the front porch smoking.

"C'mon, Parris, let's go down in the back where it's shady."

They sat on the grass, somewhat stunned with food, but making the effort at conversation which seemed always somewhat difficult on Sunday visits.

"I hat Sundays, don't you?" Drake threw a stick at a tall mullein stalk.

"Why?"

"Gee, they won't let me do nothing on Sunday." Drake seemed surprised that Parris shouldn't know this.

"Why not?"

"'Cause it's Sunday. Does your grandma let you play on Sunday?"

"Of course she does."

"Gee! They won't let me do one thing. Of course I slip off, but they don't know it. It's a sin—they say it is, anyhow. I don't see how it can hurt anything just to play."

"Me, neither. I'm glad my grandmother lets me play."

"Well, Aunt Mamie's gone to sleep. Uncle Rhodes'll be asleep pretty soon. Then we can slip off."

"Won't they get after you?"

"They won't know anything about it."

"Well, I guess it isn't any harm just going somewhere."

"'Course 'taint. Gee, Parris, you're funny."

"How?"

"You always talk so proper."

Parris blushed. "It's the only way I can talk, Drake. You know I have to think when I speak English, and I guess it just goes kind of slow."

"Gosh, that's so. You do talk some other language, don't you?"

"German and French."

"It's funny for an American boy to be talking any other kind of talk but American."

Parris scraped at the ground with his heel. "Does—does it sound sissy, Drake, the way I talk?"

"N-no—it don't sound sissy exactly. It just sounds like you're trying to be awful proper—kinder like you're puttin' on."

"Well, I ain't."

"Now, that's more like it—when you say 'ain't.'"

"But 'ain't' ain't — isn't really right."

"I don't care. Sounds better."

Parris laughed, but it was a half-hearted laugh. He wanted Drake to like him.

Drake jumped up. "Let's go."

"All right. Where?"

"Let's go down to the depot. I guess we'll find some of those lower-end-of-town kids and we can do something. They're tough, too," Drake added admiringly.

They walked on the shady side of the street and hurried from time to time through occasional stretches of sun where trees were missing.

"I guess this is the hottest day I ever saw." Drake stopped and wiped his face on his sleeve. A deep flush made his freckles stand out larger and darker than ever.

"So'd I, but the closest swimmin' hole is way down the creek. Too far, I guess. I tell you—let's go down to the Elroy's icehouse. We can play in there an' it's cool as everything. Gus Elroy's got a trapeze, and flyn' rings an' par'llel bars fixed up like a regular gymnasium."

There was no one at the depot, or near it. Kings Row had no Sunday trains. The boxcars stood huge and solid-looking, as though nothing could ever move them. Everything lay baking in the pitiless sun.

Drake seemed more at home in these surroundings. He made knowing remarks, mentioning easily and carelessly the names of engineers and firemen, brakemen and flagmen. Parris was impressed. He felt very young and inexperienced.

Building Highway To Protect Panama Canal

Concrete crews are shown at work on a section of the new trans-isthmian highway that Uncle Sam is building at top speed across the Isthmus of Panama to link the ocean terminals of the vital canal. The new highway will enable defence forces to move from one end to the other in two hours. Big rush of the moment is to beat the coming of the rainy season. When it rains here, it rains, but hard, sometimes rolling up a total fall of 500 inches in a year.

Huge German Tank Captured In Desert

Four South African troops of the British Imperial forces make a close examination of a huge German mark 4 tank captured on the desert. Of special interest is the huge short-barrelled cannon mounted in the side of the tank which bears the "Afrika Korps" insignia.

Raid On Tobruk Smashed By Royal Air Force

CAIRO, Feb. 14.—(AP)—An attempted raid on Tobruk harbor Thursday by large formation of Axis bombers and fighters was prevented by fighter planes, a Royal Air Force communique declared today.

"Our aircraft engaged the enemy before they reached their target," the R.A.F. said. "In the ensuing combat three JU 88's and one Macchi C200 were shot down and several other enemy bombers and fighters severely damaged.

"Two of our fighters were lost but the pilot of one is safe."

On the land front there were no patrol actions, a communique said, and no details were given on these.

Ontario's Shipyards Build 37 Types of Ships To Help Win the War!

● Down the ways in busy Ontario shipyards comes a long line of corvettes and cargo ships, mine-sweepers and patrol boats—37 types of ships—swiftly adding to the Royal Canadian Navy and our Merchant Marine. In Canada's victory program, sea strength is of paramount importance.

And from keel-laying to launching, Hydro-Electric energy is indispensable. Day and night, thousands of workers in "the yards" use their full share of 500,000 electrical horsepower supplied by Hydro to Ontario's wartime industries. In other plants scattered all over the Province other thousands of workers on machines powered by Hydro are producing steel, engines and equipment to feed these shipyards.

Today, every Ontario citizen desires to do his utmost and can therefore take pride in the fact that Hydro is providing well over 2,000,000 h.p. to assure the victory program and to maintain all essential services.

Because Hydro is vital to victory we must all be economical in its use in shop and home—not only to conserve electricity but, also, to save many metals and materials which are essential to the production of weapons of war. Let Victory come first!

TO SAVE ELECTRIC CURRENT

Operate your electric range with the automatic switches according to directions. Cook several dishes at one time in the range oven, using only the bottom element. Never leave heating elements on 'high' a moment longer than necessary. Have your electrical dealer or local 'Hydro' keep your appliances in good repair.

Canada's pressing need of Today is the success of the NEW VICTORY LOAN. Canada asks YOU to subscribe to the utmost of your ability.

Dining Rules for Hostess and Guest

Seating Guests at Dinner

How delightfully some women fill the role of hostess — while others are baffled by such a simple etiquette problem as seating guests at a small dinner party!

Simple to remember that a woman guest of honor sits at the host's right, that a man guest of honor sits at the right of the hostess.

To direct guests to their places, you need only say, "Will you sit here, Mr. Jones?" indicating the place with a slight gesture. Of course, you avoid seating husbands and wives together—or two women or two men.

Another moment that can be awkward is the start of the dinner. Should guests or hosts delay eating until everyone is served? No, correct to start in a leisurely way so that no one finishes much before the others.

You'll want to be sure of using knives, forks and spoons correctly too, One rule to remember—take only one sip with your tea or coffee spoon. Drink from the cup.

Brush up on fine points of table etiquette! Our 32-page booklet gives rules for formal dinners, teas, buffet parties, clubs restaurants. Tells correct silver for different courses, when fingers are correct, how to eat unusual foods.

For your copy of "Good Table Manners" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

THE WORST DANGER

THERE IS a good deal more to making grand slams than the mere being able to take the first couple of tricks in each suit. Slam conventions which enable you to find out whether your partner has certain top cards are fine as far as they go, but you must not lean too heavily on them. Their greatest danger, in the hands of most players, is that they lure you into slams which cannot be made because you have to lose some of the lower tricks, to queens, jacks and still smaller cards. Seldom is there a deal on which you can make a grand slam unless it contains some suit in which you can run more than three immediate tricks.

	♠A 8 7 5 3 2 ♥A K ♦A J 9 3 ♣Q
♠J 9 6 4 ♥10 8 5 2 ♦Q 10 6 ♣J 5	W. N. E. S.	♠Q 10 ♥J 9 4 3 ♦8 4 2 ♣10 9 7 4
	♠K ♥Q 7 6 ♦K 7 5 ♣A K 8 6 3 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	2♠	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♣	Pass	4♦	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5♠	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6♦	Pass
7 NT

As soon as he knew from North's Blackwood responses that his partner had the three missing aces and the one missing king, South reckoned that this was Vanentine's Day, indeed; so away he jumped into grand slam. And look what befell him?

West led his heart 2, and South counted up. Two sure tricks in spades, three in hearts, two in diamonds and three in clubs made only ten, and he had to get three more. Even if the diamond finesse would work and the suit also would divide three-three in the defenders' hands, those two breaks would still leave him one short of his goal. There was not even any sense in trying for the diamond breaks.

So South tried his only possible chance—to find the missing clubs divided evenly. So he scored the heart A and K, the club Q, the spade K, the club A and K. When West discarded on that, he knew he was beaten. He gave up a club, took his medicine and, we hope, learned a lesson from the hand.

Your Week-End Lesson

Why is it that some of the country's leading players prefer not to use any artificial conventions for helping them in the bidding of slams? What is the greatest advantage they consider that gives them, to offset the lack of specific information about aces and kings which could be furnished by the artificial methods?

Turning An Army Jeep Into Four-Man Amphibian Is Ticklish Job

This method of transporting an army "jeep" downriver was developed by men of the United States army serving in the Pacific northwest, when they were faced with a problem that army manuals failed to cover. At LEFT, the driver is gingerly pushing his "jeep" onto a tarpaulin held atop the water, so that the tarpaulin can be folded around the machine. Trick is to get the vehicle wrapped up without letting in any water. At RIGHT, the outfit, now virtually a four-man amphibian, is being propelled downstream by means of tent poles. It's a delicate operation but might save lives and vehicles in an emergency.

War Workers Sponsor Radio Concert

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 14—(ENS).—On Friday evening a concert sponsored by Bailieboro War Workers was held in the Anglican church basement. The entire proceeds of almost forty dollars will be turned over to the Milk for Britain Fund.

The evening took the form of a broadcast from Station BWW. The various quarter hours were sponsored by the business firms in the village. The main feature was an old time orchestra, "The Village Sod Busters," under the direction of Toothless Joe (Melville Wood). Guitars: Texas Pete (Mac Bradshaw); Shorty Bradley (Bill Bateman); Happy Todd (Eldridge White).

Mouth organs.—Two Gun Hogan (Stan. Fry); Stubby, the Sheriff (Billy Gainer); Harmonica Joe (Lloyd Jewison); Slim Foster (Gerald Anderson); Curly (Henry Jewison).

The Southernaires, a quartet from Millbrook, composed of Messrs. W. H. Coombe, M. McDowell, H. Ouellette and G. Might, gave several appreciated numbers.

A group of six girls known as "The Sweet Sixteens," composed of Y. Lee, J. Rutherford, R. Elgar, D. Anderson, D. Jackson, F. Gaynor. They gave a charming milkmaid drill, and later a comic number.

A feature somewhat different was an old time quadrille, beautifully done by the Gingham Girls of the Gay Nineties and the Cowboys, and received repeated applause. Those taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Melville Wood, Iva Campbell, Winifred Gaynor, Mary Staples, and Gerald Anderson, Arthur Brackenridge, and Henry Jewison.

Coupled Honored

A highlight was the presentation of a dinner wagon to Mr. and Mrs. William Lang, who are leaving shortly to take up residence in Peterborough. Mrs. D. Rutherford read the address and Norman Earle made the presentation. Mr. James Roddy was the capable chairman and the accompanists were Miss Hetherington of Millbrook, Miss Dawson and Ferne Gaynor of Bailieboro.

Later, the young folk retired to Fletcher's Hall, where several happy hours were spent tripping the light fantastic to the Village Sod Busters.

Members Of Anglo-American Joint Staff

AN ADVANCED BRITISH AIR BASE IN BURMA, Feb. 11 (delayed) (AP) — Young bomber crews and fighter pilots from the British Empire and the United States have been sent into action together as aerial artillery and cavalry with wings to help hold the jungle front where the spectacular battle for Burma is under way.

I rode with them today and witnessed from a Blenheim bomber a typical daylight attack. We were escorted by Hurricanes and Tomahawk fighters.

In the morning this squadron attacked the Japanese headquarters at Paan on the east bank of the Salween river north of Moulmein and Martaban, starting three fires.

This afternoon it was expected that Paan would be raided again, but just before the squadron took off from the simmering heat and dust of a converted Burmese Paddy field instructions came to relieve Japanese pressure farther down the river.

We were not informed of the reason but I could guess. Eleven days ago I had squatted near Dogra Indian machine gunners who were staving off persistent Japanese attempts to ferry troops from Moulmein across the broad lower reaches of the Salween to Martaban.

However, back in the thatched mess hut, over a snack of crackers, cheese, canned salmon and lukewarm beer, the youthful airmen of the squadron—men from every Dominion of the British Empire—had talked not of the battle for Burma but of the fight for Singapore.

They talked dispassionately of its chances, as if they were discussing a tennis match. They regard most of life dispassionately, these young men who have gone up on offensive fights daily, week after week.

Holds Navigator on Knee

Now at take-off time I squash back into the navigator's seat and hold a New Zealand navigator-observer-bombardier on my lap in the crowded cockpit as we start up the runway.

The Blenheim, paint peeling from its radial engine cowling and propeller shaft dark with rust, bumps thrice and then shoots upward.

The rice fields of the Rangoon Delta spread below our wings as Sgt. "Brooky" of Auckland, N.Z., goes forward to his desk and bombsight in the nose. Sgt. "Jack" of Melbourne, Australia, sits alone in his rear gun turret.

"We are in shirtsleeves and khaki shorts, and the sweat trickles down our necks.

A few score feet behind our starboard wingtip follows another Blenheim with tall taffy-haired Canadian "Jim" of Halifax at the controls Londoner Dickey as observer, and Wal of Cattesloe, Australia, as air gunner.

The young South African pilot-captain of our bomber looks like a young edition of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe—and inspires as much confidence in me, a nervous civilian groundling.

Six Tomahawks Escorting.

Now our flying escort appears—six Tomahawks of the American Volunteers with the white-spiked sun of the Chinese Air Force on their wings.

Soon we are over Moulmein proper, with public buildings, squares, churches and temples about a quarter-mile below. We can pick out the broken windows and the empty carts at the curbs. There is not a sign of life.

The enemy is known to have plenty of machine-guns here and our Blenheim isn't too difficult a target from the warehouse roofs.

Suddenly there is a thudding noise like someone kicking the bottom of the fuselage.

We commence to strafe. The pilot saw them all the time but I had been too busy peering at the town to notice four broad-beamed boats in an estuary inlet.

We are diving head-on. Faint red flashes hit the water and then rise up the side of one of the boats. Our bullets are scoring as the pilot lifts the Blenheim's nose. Then he banks and the rear gunner unlooses his turret guns.

Hits on a Schooner.

There is another roller coaster drop. Tiny balls of fire strike a motionless schooner. We are hardly aware now that the enemy is firing back from the ground. Even tracer bullets are hard to see in the daylight.

But the Blenheim behind us, we learn later, had its wing flap punctured.

We are homeward bound, flying into the sun with another chapter of death in the afternoon completed. The observer turns his head toward the pilot and grins. Thumbs up is the pilot's answer.

MILLBROOK

East Durham LOL Petitions 'No Plebiscite'

MILLBROOK, Feb. 14—(CP).—A special feature of the annual meeting of the East Durham L.O.L., held at Millbrook on Tuesday at 8 p.m., and presided over by P.C.M. Brother L. T. Osland, was the passing of two resolutions to be sent on to Prime Minister, Right Honorable Mackenzie King, and to Frank L. Richard, M.P. for Durham, and Ross Gray, M.P. for Lambton; the wording being as follows:

"Resolved that this Loyal Orange Lodge for the County of Durham in session at Millbrook on Tuesday, February 10, unanimously go on record protesting against the proposed conscription plebiscite, as being an unnecessary waste of public funds, a danger to Canadian unity, and a delay of precious time, which should be used every minute, every hour and every day, to prepare for total war:

And be it further resolved that in this most dangerous hour in the history of our country, that we request our member of Parliament, Frank L. Rickard, to follow the galland stand taken by that brave soldier of the last war, Ross Gray, M.P. for Lambton, and to rise in his place on the floor of the House and let his voice be heard against the holding of the plebiscite, and to request the Government to put in force without delay compulsory selective service of all manpower and resources."

The fourteen primary Lodges of the county were well represented at the meeting, considering the unfavorable state of the roads, and the following is the slate of officers for 1942: W.C.M. Brother E. P. Sanders; D.C.M. Bro Eric Flood; chaplain, Brother Noel Beardsley; RS. Brother Nathaniel Belch; treasurer, Brother Stuart Fallis; Marshal, Brother J. H. Paul; Lecturers: Brothers William Blair and William Darling. Two veterans of the county L.O.L. who have been absent from the last two annual meetings, owing to illness, and both of whom are Past County Masters, Brothers J. H. Paul and Samuel Archer, were warmly welcomed at Tuesday's meeting; also the newly-elected County Master, Brother E. P. Sanders, who has but recently recovered from an illness extending over eighteen months.

Brother Sanders' address was of particular interest, dealing especially with Canada's war effort and the need of greater preparation on the part of the Government in view of present conditions in the world situation. A number of Great War veterans took part in the discussion, urging conscription of both wealth and manpower in order to help the Mother Country in its great effort to preserve civilization for this, and succeeding generations.

The next annual meeting will be held at Millbrook. A social hour brought an inspirational gathering to a fitting close.

When Senator Scott Lucas (Dem-Illinois) asked if Tydings meant that the President should withdraw from the war councils, the Senator from Maryland replied that the President ought to take the advice of the army and navy chiefs on military matters. That was not to say, he added, that the President was not doing this.

Later, in a radio address described as the first of a series by congressional leaders, Lucas warned that if the Axis reached the point where it need fear no reprisal, poison gas attacks on American cities might be expected. He also issued a cheerless forecast of Nazi planes for the coming months:

"When warm days come again and the tanks and airplanes can operate efficiently, you will see a gigantic spring offensive against Russia, the Allies in Egypt, and perhaps a thrust at Gibraltar, through Spain.

"I predict that nothing in this war to date in horror, death and destruction will compare with Hitler's all-out desperate effort next spring."

M.P. Urges Army

Victor Quelch (N.D. Acadia) criticized the government's administration, particularly in the field of economic action, and said it should be condemned not for calling the plebiscite but for having made commitments against conscription for political purposes.

Allies Mainly Conscripts.

W. C. Macdonald (Lib., Halifax), a veteran of the first Great War, objected to certain members belittling conscripts because, he said, the bulk of the British and United States armies were conscripts.

Aurel D. Leger (Lib., Kent) said the Government should be supported in the plebiscite but he was against conscription and declared French-Canadians would do their duty without it. One-third of the population in New Brunswick was French-Canadian yet 45 per cent. of the enlistments in that province were French-Canadian which satisfied him his race was prepared to do its duty. But, he said, it would object to any compulsion.

Of 24 French-Canadian members who have taken part in the debate so far, 20 have expressed opposition to any conscription measure and the other four made no definite statement of their position. No French-Canadian supported compulsory overseas service. As for the plebiscite, 12 supported it, 11 opposed it and the other did not place himself definitely on either side.

All the French Canadians are Liberals except Liguori Lacombe, elected Independent-Liberal member for Laval-Two Mountains and now head of the newly-formed Canadian party, who opposed both plebiscite and conscription.

Of the 83 other speakers 39 have been Liberals. Thirty-four of these supported the plebiscite, four opposed it and one made no definite statement. Five have expressed belief conscription should be imposed, four have opposed it, and the other 30 have made no definite statement.

There have been 26 Conservative speakers, of whom 24 opposed the plebiscite and the other two did not go definitely on record either way. Twenty-three Conservatives have called for conscription while the other three did not state their position defintely.

Of seven C.C.F. speakers one favored the plebiscite, one opposed it and the other five were non-committal; one called for conscription while the other six followed the party policy by qualifying their support for conscription with calls for simultaneous conscription of wealth and industry. The New Democracy's eight speakers divided two against the plebiscite and six not definite; one for plebiscite and seven not definite.

The other three speakers were A. W. Neill (Ind. Comox-Elberni), against the plebiscite and for conscription; Mrs. Dorise Neilsen (Unity North Battleford), supporting the plebiscite and not definite on conscription; and Mr. Leader.

Mr. Quelch said that no matter what had been accomplished so far, the effort would have to be better in future because the British cause was suffering "reverse after reverse." He urged total mobilization of all resources, human and material.

It was a little confusing, he said, that while government spokesmen were declaring conscription unnecessary, a plebiscite was being held to open the way for conscription.

Hints of Pressure

The present "voluntary system" of enlisting men was "one of the most undesirable forms of compulsion you can possibly have," Mr. Welch said. Recruiting officers and those in charge of men called up for compulsory military training were adopting "most despicable" methods of getting volunteers for active service.

Mr. Macdonald said he could see nothing wrong in the principle of conscription. He could not agree with those who said conscripts were not as good soldiers as volunteers.

Conscription would come in Canada if it became necessary in order to obtain men for the forces and it was only natural the government should seek from the people release from pledges which restricted its action.

Mr. Leader said he believed conscription is "the only fair way to conduct a total war." It would put every Canadian in the position where he or she could best serve. There were many who were in the wrong place to make the best contribution.

"There are many good farmers leaving Canada who could serve their country better if they remained on the farm," he said.

Fears the Results.

The Government should have left it to Parliament to relieve it from no-conscription pledges but instead of that the plebiscite was adopted and it had become a "political football."

"I had hoped the question of conscription would have escaped the turmoil of party politics," he said. "Now the initiative has been taken by politicians with results, I fear, detrimental to Canada."

Mr. Leader warned against any neglect of planning which might result in veterans after this war becoming homeless and needy.

"I would take the responsibility of advising every soldier who is wearing a uniform that when this war is over he should not surrender that uniform until he is secure in some permanent job with a chance to build a home and raise a family," he said.

Canada's war effort had been described as "magnificent" by Prime Minister Churchill, but "there remains one step to convince our enemies that we mean business and to assure the closest co-operation with our Allies," Mr. Leader continued.

"That final step is total conscription for service overseas or wherever Canada's interests are threatened."

UNITED WE STAND!

THIS is a time of controversy and political indecision in Canada. If conflicts of opinion have arisen, these must not be allowed to distract attention from the one thing which should be paramount in our minds—namely, our part in the desperate struggle with enemies who seek to destroy us.

Let us argue, if we must, about the right or wrong way of doing things—as we who live in a democracy are free to do—but let us remember that the woods are bigger than the trees and that to win—or even to keep from losing—we must make our utmost contributions in effort and in money now.

We have volunteered to support Britain by giving her a billion dollars' worth of war needs and food within the year, as well as to produce all the armed strength we can muster for her aid and for our own defence.

Canadians of all races, creeds and political beliefs! Remember that, above all differences, our common aim is to carry on this war without delay or interruption—to maintain, unhindered by internal strife, our maximum effort to stop Hitler and his gang!

Now—more than ever—we must strive to put Canada and the Empire first, above considerations of race or party! We must put our dollars to work to defend our Canadian heritage. The need is urgent—our duty is plain.

Sub Attacks Island In West Indies

Three Tankers Sunk Off Island Of Aruba 4th Badly Damaged

WILLEMSTAD, CURACAO, Netherlands East Indies, Feb. 16.—(CP).—In the first land attack of the war on the western hemisphere, an enemy subamrine shelled oil installations to-day on the United States-garrisoned Netherlands West Indies island of Aruba, about 700 miles from the Panama canal, and torpedoed three tankers off its coast.

A fourth tanker was badly damaged near the harbor of Willemstad, Curacao, 75 miles east, but did not sink, Aneta news agency reported.

Both islands, sites of the largest and second largest oil refineries in the world, are guarded by United States troops co-operating with the Netherlands in their defence.

Damage Not Heavy.

Aneta said only slight damage was done to the refinery of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, target of the submarine's shells on Aruba, and there were no casualties on the island.

Both Aruba and Curacao refine high octane (aviation) gasoline taken from the big wells in Venezuela and Colombia in vast quantities for the Allied war machine.

Canadian Pilot Bag 2 Planes

LONDON, Feb. 16 —(CP Cable)—Sgt.-Pilot R. H. Christie of Halifax was top scorer in the Royal Air Force's smashing victory over the Axis Libyan air force Saturday, shooting down two of the 20 planes destroyed and damaging another.

Fought in the Acroma area 10 miles west of Tobruk, 16 Kittyhawk fighters shot down the 20 Italian and German planes and damaged the remainder of an Axis force of 30 planes.

Christie, whose squadron is credited with 11½ victories, got two Macchi 200s and damaged a Messerschmitt in the five-minute battle.

Members of the Royal Australian Air Force knocked off the others—"like flies," the returning airmen said.

A British victory at sea also was announced by the Admiralty, it said submarines of the Mediterranean fleet had sunk one large and one medium-size supply ships, and that another medium supply ship probably had been sunk by a torpedo.

The Admiralty also said a submarine fought a spirited action with an enemy armed trawler, hitting the ship with at least 15 shells before being forced to dive by the fire of enemy shore batteries. The trawler crew were abandoning ship when the submarine dived, the Admiralty announced.

Battleship Launched

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Feb. 16 — (AP). — The United States battleship Alabama plunged today from the Norfolk navy yard building ways into the waters of the Elizabeth River.

The dreadnought was completed nine months ahead of schedule

The Alamaba, sixth battleship to be launched under the United States building program, and the last of a class of four which includes the Massachusetts, the Indiana, and the South Dakota, has improvements over her sister ships, some of which have already joined the fleet, it was revealed.

Two Corvettes Rescue 49 On East Coast

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Survivors of two recently-torpedoed freighters believe the two Canadian corvettes which rescued them from the Northwestern Atlantic may have evened the score by sinking a pair of Nazi U-boats. The men, 49 of them, were recovering in hospitals and hostels here today while planes continued a search for 37 of their shipmates still missing.

Thirty-five of those rescued were from a British craft and 14 from a Greek vessel—nine of her crew and five German-Jewish refugees who had taken passage on her. Twelve from the British craft and 25 from the Greek have not yet been located.

Corvettes Go Into Action

Members of the Britisher's crew said the corvette which saved them ran across the other corvette several days later while it was picking up survivors from the Greek ship, torpedoed only a short time before. They said their corvette detected the presence of submarines and went into action, "dropping depth charges all over the place."

"You can pretty well count on it getting one," one man declared. "Possibly it was the submarine which sank the Greek ship—and most likely it sank a couple of others."

The other corvette also went into action with depth charges during the rescue operations.

Only Canadian in the group saved is Fred Turnoway of Smokey Lake, Alta. He was aboard the British freighter, which went down three minutes after a single Nazi torpedo pierced her side.

Only one lifeboat got away and most of the men were forced to jump into the icy water—some without lifebelts. Those saved believed three men were trapped below decks and possibly five others were pulled to their deaths by the suction of the freighter's final plunge.

Blown to Surface.

They said six others, including the captain—a hero of Narvik— were also sucked below but were blown to the surface again by boiler explosions.

Nazi Reserve Troops Counter-Attacking Suffer Heavy Losses

MOSCOW, Feb. 16—(AP).—Russian soldiers striving to crush Germany's Spring offensive even before it starts have smashed into Hitler's basic winter defences, meeting Nazi reserve troops in furious battle and throwing back counter-attacks with heavy losses to the Germans.

Dispatches from the front today said the Russians had advanced 30 miles during the last few days in one sector. It was not identified.

(The Red army driving through White Russia is within 72 miles of the old Polish frontier and the Vilna district on the southeast frontier of Lituania, a Stockholm dispatch broadcast by the BBC said.)

Fortified Lines

Red Star, the army newspaper, jubilantly said that "our troops have come into contact in many sectors with the basic German fortified lines which have been built in the rear in the last few months.

"Hitler's Generals realize the jumping-off place for the Spring offensive is slipping through their fingers."

The midnight communique said the Russians continued their offensive yesterday, but gave no indication where the main fighting was in progress.

The Russians in recent days have told of continued advances but concealed the towns and cities involved. There was no clear outline of the front.

Roughly speaking, however, reports indicated the line ran south-

NUMBERS of refugees from fallen Singapore are arriving in this port, and the Bombay government has established a special relief committee to attend to their needs.

Two thousand Indian refugees already have been billeted with friends and relatives in the interior and European arrivals are being quartered in the homes of resident Europeans here.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 16 (AAP)—Prime Minister John Curtin declared today that with the fall of Singapore the battle of Australia had opened and that "everything we have, everything which belongs to us must now be mobilized."

"No longer is there a time factor in which we can place reliance," he said. The full cabinet meets tomorrow. Parliament assembles this week. Big movements of troops and aircraft are reported in progress.

The feeling is that a Japanese attack on Australia has become inevitable, that a large-scale onslaught from air and sea may break at any moment.

"The fall of Singapore is only describable as Australia's Dunkerque," said the Prime Minister. "Dunkerque initiated the battle of Britain and th fall of Singapore opens the battle of Australia.

"On this issue depends not merely the fate of this Commonwealth, but the fate of the United States and all the Americas and therefore in large measure the fate of the English-speaking world.

"Our utmost must be mobilized. No longer may we allow any stultification of our efforts by depending on external forces and external support. They are assured to us, but the problem of their coming and its relation to the calendar of the enemy are factors Australia must disregard in its composition of a nation completely at war for purposes of its own defence.

Jap Columns Out To Cut Burma Road

By DANIEL DE LUCE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 16 — (AP). — Two Japanese columns, suported by dive bombers and machine-gunning fighter planes, drove perilously close to Thaton to-day in a drive to choke off supplies to China over the winding Burma Road.

Thaton is 50 miles south-west of Pegu, important rail centre on the Rangoon-Mandalay and Rangoon-Martaban lines, and it appeared that the invaders were aimihg at the junction city. The fall of Pegu would cut the railway feeding the Burma Road.

(A London military commentator said the fighting was "obscure" and that Thaton might now be in Japanese hands.)

Japanese spearhead converged on Thaton from Paan, 12 miles to the east, and from Martaban at the mouth of the Salween River, the now shattered first line of defence.

85 Miles From Rangoon.

British and United States planes made exhaustive efforts to punish the enemy wherever his supply lines

The chief Japanese threat ap- was 85 bomber miles from Rangoon, and 125 miles by land and rail around the tide-swept Gulf of Martaban.

Rangoon newspapers complained of the "lack of objective information and constantly changing descriptions of the fighting" given by British Army communiques. They said one day the position was called quiet and the next day evacuation of an important locality was disclosed.

Landing Parties.

The chietf Japanese threat appeared to be developing in the vicinity of Duyinzeik, six miles east of Thaton, toward which one column is striking from a bridgehead on the west bank of the Salween River near Paan about six miles farther east.

The other Japanese column is attempting to fight its way up the coast from Martaban, aided by the landing parties put ashore from small boats in Martaban Gulf.

It was believed here the Japanese soon would be reinforced by the troops released from Malaya by the fall of Singapore and it appeared that the campaign in Burma was about to enter a critical phase.

For the time being, however, the defenders of Burma seemed to have

Victory Loan Reports Encouraging

Salesmen Are Given Ready Response By Canadian Public

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 — (CP). — While figures of the amount subscribed to-day in Canada's Second Victory Loan are not yet available, reports received at National Headquarters from all parts of tne Dominion are described as "encouraging."

"Thousands of Victory Loan salesmen met a ready first-day response in the drive to provide at least $600,000,000 to support Canada's war effort," said the Loan Committee.

At 9 a.m. EDT, employees of Mercury Mills Ltd., Hamilton, claimed the honor of being the first industrial organization in Canada with 800 or more employees to exceed the quota given them by the local Victory Loan Committee by 25 per cent with returns still coming in.

One of the early subscriptions announced from Calgary, was that of Robin Hood Mills, Ltd., whose $500,000 is derived from the company's oragnization in all provinces. In addition a $1,000,000 subscription of Alberta Government trust funds was recorded.

Other early subscriptions were those of Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., and International Harvester Company of Canada, Ltd., for $1,500,000 each, and $1,000,000 from Lever Brothers, Ltd.

In Montreal where a loan parade was held yesterday there will be an international military tatoo tonight epitomizing the activities of the Navy Army and Air Force.

One of the most ambitious and extensive projects of the "field activities" for the Victory Loan will be the "If Day" scheme in Manitoba on February 19. Throughout the province, plans have been made to create on a demonstration basis the actual conditions that Manitobans would experience if the province were occupied by an invading enemy force.

Special broadcasts will be given over the radio, restaurants will serve "occupation" meals, stores will advertise goods priced in reichmarks, and give "If Day" reichsmarks to customers with every article bought."

American troops will participate in demonstrations in Ontario.

Rich Oil Centre In Sumatra Taken By Japs

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 16—(AP) Savagely-battered Japanese troops captured Palembang, rich oil centre of Southern Sumatra, today, but Allied planes inflicted "great devastation" on the thousands of invaders who swept aside strong Netherlands resistance.

Two Japanese cruisers and five crowded transports were blasted with direct bomb hits by British, Netherlands and American planes striking in the Bangka Straits. One of the cruisers was set afire.

Bombers and fighters of the United Nations took strong actions against Japanese ships on the Musi River, where a beachhead was established yesterday.

Anticipating invasion of the 1,000-mile-long island, the Indies applied the torch yesterday to the vast oil fields and installations which supply half the East Indies oil.

Decades of Building Destroyed

A black pall of smoke from flaming tanks of petroleum, refineries, docks and other buildings hung over the battle areas. The damage, said to be the greatest ever deliberately inflicted by man on his own property, probably exceeded $100,000,000 and represented the overnight destruction of decades of patient building by the colonists.

The main force of the sea-borne Japanese invasion seemed directed from the huge squat Island of Borneo which lies to the northeast. Borneo's rim has been occupied almost completely by the Japanese. It appeared possible that some troops might also have been released from the Battle of Singapore, which fell to the Japanese yesterday.

Japanese planes far to the east bombed a small plice in New Guinea for an hour, killing four civilians and wounding five others. Government buildings and houses suffered great damage. Other enemy planes fanned out on reconnaissance and light bombardments or other sections of the equatorial islands.

Britons Still Await Information On Fort's Surrender

LONDON, Feb. 16—(CP). — Britain still had heard from her own leaders today only the bald fact so sombrely told them yesterday by Prime Minister Churchill, that "Singapore has fallen," but unofficial information indicated its defenders surrendered only after they had suffered heavy losses and extreme shortages, of water, gasoline and food. The last official message from Singapore's commander, Lt.-Gen. A. E. Percival, received here last night, was said to have contain information of the defenders' dire plight and his decision, therefore, to surrender.

No Forces Evacuated.

One military commentator said the battle of Singapore did not have the consolation of being another Dunkerque. There was no indication to give hope that any large British forces were evacuated, he said.

The policy was to fight it out, he added, and the only known evacuees were women, children and wounded, of whom a considerable number were brought out.

Units known to be defending Singapore at the end—presumably no more than 55,000 men plus auxiliaries at full strength—were the 18th British Division, two-thirds of the Australian 8th Division, the 9th and 11th Indian Divisions, and fortress troops.

British Bombers Hit Mannheim

LONDON, Feb. 16 (CP Cable) — Crews from a Canadian bomber squadron which took part in the search for German warships in the Channel last Thursday returned to action Saturday night, dropping bombs on the industrial German city of Mannheim.

Heavy clouds blanketed the Wellingtons of the squadron commanded by Wing-Cmdr. Royd Fenwick-Wilson of Rock Creek, B.C., but "we got to Mannheim all right," said PO. W. H. Swetman of Kapuskasing, Ont., captain of one of the big bombers.

"There were groups of searchlights over the targets and through a break in the clouds we could see bomb flashes going off all over the place. So we added to them and after the bombing saw red glare reflected in the clouds."

Sgt. R. A. Gardiner of Hanover, Ont., said the clouds were dense but they were able to identify the target by the heavy concentration of searchlights and flak.

British bombers blasted docks at the German-occupied French port of St. Nazaire last night following Sunday daylight forays during which a German supply ship was bombed off the Norwegian coast, the Air Ministry announced.

All planes returned safely to their bases, the announcement said.

Jap Treatment of Prisoners Probed

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 (CP)—Action to check the truth of a Chungking report that 5,000 troops of the surrendered Hong Kong garrison—including Canadians—are living in a Kowloon internment camp under primitive conditions and without proper food is being taken by the external affairs department.

Last night in a prepared statementment a departmental official said inquiries were being made immediately through the British embassy at Chungking and the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva to check the report.

The department was in touch with United Kingdom authorities, he said, and was urgently requesting the Argentine Government, protecting power for Canadian interest in Japan, "to draw the report to the attention of the Japanese government and to press again for permission for an independent representative to visit the prisoners of war."

Among the Hong Kong defenders were 1,885 Canadians, mainly members of the Quebec Royal Rifles and Winnipeg Grenadiers. How many of these troops are prisoners is not known.

Last Feb. 3 Defence Minister Ralston read the House of Commons this message from the British Embassy at Chungking: "Guess but only guess one-third of fighting strength killed, wounded or taken prisoners during fighting, remainder presumably taken prisoners on capitulation."

Hong Kong fell to the Japanese Dec. 25.

Last night, a dispatch from Chungking quoted Arnold Vaught of the International Friends' Mission as saying that as the prisoners of war marched past the Kowloon Y.M.C.A. they "begged for water" and that people who ran to give them some were driven away by the Japanese who threatened them with bayonets.

Mr. Vaught said that in camp the prisoners had no food for two days and that there were no latrines.

The external affairs department spokesman said later that:—

"The reported treatment, if confirmed, would be in flagrant violation of assurances given by the Japanese government of adherence to the International Red Cross convention of 1929 in regard to treatment of prisoners of war."

Article 2 of the convention says that prisoners of war "shall at all times be humanely treated and protected...." and are "entitled to respect for their persons and honor."

Other clauses say that prisoners "shall be lodged in buildings or huts which afford all possible safeguards as regards hygiene and salubrity"; the food ration must be equivalent "in quantity and quality" to that of depot troops of the detaining country; sufficient drinking water is to be provided and "all necessary hygienic measures to ensure the cleanliness and salubrity of the camps and to prevent epidemics," is to be arranged.

Demand Renewed For Fleet

Uniting Of Axis Naval Forces Threat To Allies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — A determined new Nazi attempt to get immediate control of the French fleet was forecast today as members of Congress familiar with naval matters said Germany's success in uniting its surface fleet in home waters portended a realignment of sea forces all over the world

Chairman David Walsh (Dem-Massachusetts) of the United States Senate Naval Affairs Committee told reporters that Germany might be able to muster a battle fleet capable of challenging the divided units of the United Nations, if Hitler could add French sea power to the Nazi strength.

Some legislators seemed to believe the Germans would serve an ultimatum on Vichy—if they have not already done so—to deliver a major part of the French fleet still afloat.

At the beginning of the year France was reported to have available for immediate service one battleship, one aircraft carrier, 14 cruisers, 52 destroyers and 60 submarines.

9,000,000 Americans Enroll

42,000,000 Additional Men To Register In Spring

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP) — The bulk of 9,000,000 men between the ages of 20 and 45 filed through registration places throughout the country today to enroll for possible duty with the constantly-growing United States armed forces.

The next registration, to be held in late Spring, will be for those between 18 and 20 and 45 and 65, age brackets. These men will be classified for civilian protection and war production jobs and will bring to more than 42,000,000 the total registered manpower for all purposes.

Registrants are given cards to keep on their person at all times. Local boards later shuffle these registrations and allot each one a serial number. When this has been done, a National lottery will be held here—probably next month—to assign the order in which registrants are to be called.

The new order numbers will be placed at the bottom of the list or order numbers of previous registrants.

ROOSEVELT JOINS WITH KING IN OPENING VICTORY LOAN DRIVE

F.D.R. Speaks As Partner Of Dominion

Second Victory Loan Campaign Opened $600,000,000 Wanted

OTTAWA, Feb. 16 — (CP). — A campaign for $600,00,000 to transform materials and manpower into actual fighting strength — a need which Prime Minister Mackenzie King says is "greater than at any time since the outbreak of war"— opened to-day.

An army of 15,000 salesmen began their three-week job of getting orders for the bonds of the Dominion's Second Victory Loan.

The campaign was given an official send-off last night when Mr. King and President Roosevelt, in a recorded broadcast, spoke of the perils and responsibilities which, they said, would demand the best from every citizen.

"At this very hour," Mr. King said, "the fate of mankind hangs in the balance."

"Reverses of the recent past give cause for the gravest concern. The issue of the world-wide conflict is in no place certain."

Peril Ahead.

Mr. Roosevelt, who said he spoke "as a partner in a great enterprise which concerns us equally and in which we are equally pledged to the uttermost sacrifice and effort," declared: "There is peril ahead for us and sorrow for many. Let us, remembering the price some have paid for our survival, make our own contribution worthy to lie beside theirs upon the altar of man's faith."

Last night, too, G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee which is directing the $600,000,000 drive, called for a "sweeping over-subscription" of the new loan—"one of the finest ways to demonstrate that Canadians—all Canadians—are united in the job of supplying arms and supplies of our fighting services."

The First Victory Loan campaign was last June with the same objective as the new one which opened today. It was subscribed to an extent of $837,000,000 in bonds sold, including $710,956,080 cash and the rest in conversions of maturing issues.

Canada's other two loans of the war also were oversubscribed. The first, in January, 1940, raised $321,-276,850 cash—$121,276,850 over the objective—and the second in September, 1940, raised $324,246,300 and had an objective of $300,000,000.

Three Maturities

Bonds of three maturities are being issued for the Second Victory Loan. The first is a 2½-year, 1½ per cent issue maturing Sept. 1, 1944 which is available for conversion only. The other two issues are available for cash or conversion—a British observers, conjecturing on the next phase of Japan's campaign in the Far Pacific, leaned to Sumatra—already invaded—as the likeliest focus of attack because from it could be gained undisputed control of the gateway into the Indian Ocean and a prime source of fuel.

Assault On Burma.

A second possibility mentioned was that the Japanese, taking a leaf from the German book, might try to send warships and transports through the Malacca Strait under an umbrella of land-based aircraft for a combined air-and-sea assault on Burma.

Singapore was near the end of her water supply when Gen. Percival surrendered, a Colonial official disclosed.

Sir Shenton Thomas, Governor of Singapore, in a message Saturday said the city's supply was "very badly damaged and unlikely to last for more than 24 hours." The same message said that 1,000,000 persons were concentrated there within a radius of three miles.

A Colonial official said that this last telegram "probably was sent about the time of the surrender." It stated that the civilian population was "quiet but bewildered" and that the passive defence and fire services were carrying on. Telephone girls were still at their posts.

A Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatch from Singapore gave this account of the surrender:

"Lt.-Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, commander in chief of the Japanese expeditionary forces, dictating Japanese terms for the surrender of Singapore at the historic 49-minute meeting last night with Lt.-Gen. A. E. Percival, commander in chief of British forces in Singapore peremptorily accepted full responsibility for the lives of British and Australian troops as well as British women and children remaining in Singapore.

"Declaring, 'Rely upon Japanese bushido (the way of the warrior—chivalry),' Yamashita demanded swift compliance with the Japanese terms for surrender.

"The following conversation took place between the Japanese and British commanders:

"Yamashita: 'I wish replies to be brief and to the point. I will only listen to unconditional surrender.'

"Percival: 'Yes.'

"Yamashita: 'Have any Japanese soldiers been captured by the British'

"Percival: 'No, not a single one.'

"Yamashita: 'What about Japanese residents?'

"Percival: 'All Japanese residents interned by the British have been sent to India. However, their lives are fully protected by the Indian government.'

"Yamashita: 'I shan't hear (I am not asking) whether you wish to surrender or not, and if you wish I insist it be unconditionally. What is your answer, yet or no?'

"Percival: 'Will you give until tomorrow?'

"Yamashita: 'Tomorrow? I cannot wait, and it is understood then, that the Japanese will have to attack tonight.'

"Percival: 'How about waiting until 11:30 p.m. Tokyo time (9:30 p.m. Singapore time or 10:30 a.m. E.D.T.?)'

"Yamashita: 'If that is to be the case, Japanese forces will have to resum the atack until then. Will you say yes or no?'

"Percival was silent.

"Yamashita: 'I want to hear a decisive answer, and I insist upon unconditional surrender. What do you say?'

"Percival: 'Yes.'

"Yamashita: 'All right, then. Cease firing must be ordered at exactly 10 p.m. I will immediately send 1,000 Japanese troops into the city area for maintaining peace and order. Do you agree to that?'

"Percival: 'Ys.'

Yamashita: If you violate these terms Japanese troops will lose no time launching a general offensive against Singapore city.'

"The British made the first move for surrender at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 15 when three British officers including Maj. C. T. D. Wilde, carrying a white flag, approached the vanguard of the main Japanese forces at a sports ground four kilometres north of the Bukit Timah Road, and proposed to discuss terms and conditions.

"At the instruction of Gen. Yamashita, Unit Commander Sugita intreviewed the British officers whereupon he rejected the British truce proposals and advised unconditional surrender, adding that if the British Commander was willing to surrender, the Commander in Chief of Japanese forces would discuss terms and conditions the same day.

"The British officers retired at 4:15 p.m. Meanwhile guns continued to road from Japanese and enemy positions. At 6:40 p.m. the same day Gen. Percival, accompanied by Chief of Staff K. S. Torrance and Maj. Wilde, motored to the Ford Motor Company plant carrying a large Union Jack and a white flag. They were escorted by Unit Commanded Sugita.

"No sooner had the British officers taken seats in one of the rooms at the plant at 7 p.m. than Gen. Yamashita appeared, accompanied by several staff officers, whereupon the British and Japanese officers shook hand and the meeting commenced."

"I had to swim like a fish to keep from being sucked down," he said. "The ship sank like a rock."

George Owens watched the death in the lifeboat of his older brother Thomas, the last man picked up. He said sadly:

"Mother wanted me to take him to sea with me. He was getting too jittery around land. Now I don't know what to tell her."

Almost the entire crew of the British freighter were men from South Shields, Wales.

Survivors of the Greek ship said they were struck at night by a single torpedo. There was no explosion, they said, but the missile passed right through the No. 3 hold piercing both sides of the craft.

The German-Jewish refugees were all members of one family—originally from Hamburg—father, mother, two sons 17 and 15 and a daughter 14. They said three British members of the crew went down with the ship rather than endanger the lives of the 14 who were saved.

They said they could have got away if they had been willing to crowd into a small lifeboat which was last to leave.

After living in London for three years, they were en route to Cincinnati, Ohio, where they had hoped to establish a home.

Aruba is the site of the world's largest oil refinery, and Curacao has the second largest. For that reason British marines landed there in May, 1940, to aid authorities in providing protection.

serting they were taken while sleeping.

American officers believe the nine Japanese got more than enough of fighting and, even though they had been told they would be killed if captured, preferred the possibility of life as prisoners to certain death in the Bataan Jungle where their unit had been surrounded by American-Filipino forces. Most of their officers had committed suicide.

Told to Swim Out

Japanese planes had dropped orders to this group to try to swim back to their own lines, then cancelled the orders and told them to assemble at the shore of the China Sea, apparently to await boats which would attempt to evacuate them after their failure to crack the American-Filipino flank. Copies of both orders, however, fell behind Gen. MacArthur's lines, and shore watchers thus put on the alert, killed many of the swimmers.

I saw the nine Japanese when they were first brought to the American Field Command Post. Only one was in uniform. The others wore only G-srings. Either they had been swimming or had stripped off their clothes before surrendering.

They requested—and were given—"wata" and food. They did not object to being photographed, in contrast to most Japanese prisoners who fear their families thus might learn of their capture.

Officers are drawing no conclusions regarding Japanese morale in general from this incident, but at least it shows there are some Japanese who would rather be live prisoners than dead Shinto heroes.

Naval Bases Occupied By Japanese

Submarines Operating In Indian Ocean Navy Minister Says

TOKYO, Feb. 16—Japanese naval authorities announced that they immediately occupied all British naval and coastal defence bases on Singapore, after an agreement for their transfer reached by British and Japanese officers at Fort Canning.

Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, navy minister, told parliament that Japanese submarines already were operating in the Indian Ocean and that Japanese naval operations there would be extended now that Singapore has fallen.

Although the news of Singapore's fall touched off a spontaneous celebration, formal festivities are scheduled for Wednesday when, it was announced here, Japanese troops will make their triumphal entry into the captured city.

Japanese Broadcast

The strategic importance of Singapore and the effect of its fall upon the future course of the war in the Pacific was emphasized by Col. Hideo Ohira, chief of the army press section, in a broadcast to the country.

"The passing of the British stronghold into Japanese hands not only is a striking blow to the Allies but seriously impedes communications between their territories in the Indian and Pacific oceans. Japan is in position to control the fate of India and Australia."

Premier Gen. Dideki Tojo told the diet the fall of Singapore marked the occupation by Japanese forces of all important bases of the United States and Britain. He said that Japan's war objetcive was a greater East Asia with the Japanese Empire as the nucleus.

Japanese headquarters claimed that before surrendering, British troops made a desperate effort to evacuate part of the Singapore garrison, but that the attempt had been smashed by Japanese naval units and planes which sank, damaged or forced aground 32 transports and warships.

A communique claimed that the 5,200-ton British cruiser Arethusa was believed among the vessels sunk. These were listed as a light cruiser, an auxiliary cruiser, a submarine, two gunboats, a special vessel and eight transports, including one of 30,000 tons.

Listed as damaged were one light cruiser, a destroyer, two special vessels, 10 transports and one torpedo boat. In addition, the Japanese claimed, a Netherlands cruis-

Many Chuckles In Show At The Capitol

Unanimous approval was given the show, "One Foot in Heaven," a preview of which was shown to the members of the Peterborough Ministerial Association at the Capitol Theatre on Saturday morning and the ministers got quite a few deep-throated chuckles out of this truly human presentation. It is playing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"One Foot in Heaven" is the story of a crusading Methodist minister who mellows with the passing of the years under the skilful guidance of his wife, as played by Martha Scott. It is a picture that touches people deep down inside, with its humanness, tinged with the pathos of real life, and the natural comedies which arise in the lives of a growing family. Frederic March plays the part of William Spence, the minister in a top-ranking effort.

Rev. H. L. Roberts, of George Street United Church, said: "I was greatly impressed with the show. It is one of the finest, truest portrayals of the difficulties facing the preachers in some areas. There is no cheapening of the place the minister holds in the community, and actually it is an exultation of the minister's sphere of life. There is humor and realism in it and altogether I thought it was one of the finest of its kind. When the people see this picture it will be conducive to a better appreciation of the job the church has to do."

Rev. Dr. J. D. Smart, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, said: "This picture is a great credit to the producers, and well worth anyone's seeing it. It is an admirable portrayal of the work and difficulties facing a minister and a picture that every church man and woman will enjoy."

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, of Murray Street Baptist Church, said: "I enjoyed it, it was human, very humorous, and very heartening. It depicts the lights and shadows in a minister's life, and how his training guides him in his relations with the world. I commend the seeing of this picture particularly to the adults."

The story "One Foot in eHaven," is a best-seller and the book was written by Hartzell Spence, based on the life of his father and mother, who were born, courted and married in the city of Stratford, Ontario, then moved to Iowa.

Seven Elders Ordained At St. Andrew's

A service for the ordination of seven new elders was held in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning. Rev. Dr. E. W. Young conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Fred Horton and Rev. William McDonald, who represented the Peterborough Presbytery.

Dr. Young took as his text Acts XIV:23. We should try, he said, to imagine the conditions of the scattered churches of Asia Minor. Their numbers were few and their knowledge limited. It was imperative that Paul should appoint leaders to have oversight and control. We believe that the idea came from Judaism, as each synagogue had its elders. The presbyter was a well known title and office. It was brought into Christianity because of the actual needs of the churches. At the first Christian Council the apostles and elders made far reaching decisions. Paul met the Ephesian elders at Militus and told them to shepherd the Church of God.

There came a period when the bishop and presbyter were difficult to distinguish from one another. Some were set apart for teaching and preaching others for oversight of the local affairs. There is no New Testament sanction for the office of priest. It was borrowed from the pagan world, and had no place in the early church of these times.

We find that as the church became more numerous that there was a tendency to elect men with central authority over the churches. There was a certain justification for this, but it was carried too far. The love of power and prestige exists unfortunately within the church as well as outside of it. Gradually the priest assisted the presbyter and for centuries the church was afflicted with a certain barrenness and lack of spiritual power.

The recall of the elder took place in the 16th centry. Luther's watchword was "the universal priesthood of believers." His background, however, did not prompt him to incorporate the office in the organized church. John Calvin of Geneva had a different background arising out of his association with the Gallicon Church in France, which had a tradition of independent spirit. He stretched his hands down the centuries and brought back the presbyter to his place of authority in the church. Knox of Scotland worked out Calvin's ideas in the same direction.

The history of the Christian Church has been one of alternate lapse and revival. Events in the English Church led to what we commonly call the Puritan period. Foremost amongst them were the Congregationalists with their cultured deaconate. In the early 18th century the brothers John and Charles Wesley were the instruments under God of a mighty revival. John Wesley originated at Bristol, in 1737, the system of teachers and classes. The eldership came back again, but this time with oversight of a group rather than of an area. The lay preachers of Methodism sprang up, and have exerted a powerful influence over the Labor party in Britain, and upon English life in general.

Three streams of tradition enter into the United Church of Canada. The deacons of Congregationalism, the elders of Presbyterianism and leaders and lay preachers of Methodism. Thus we have the Session and the elder with his spiritual functions. The business of the session is prescribed by the manual, it has supervision over the spiritual affairs of the church. It is the minister's cabinet. Christian character and service are the two essentials of a true elder.

The service to set apart the newly elected elders was then conducted by Dr. Young, the appointed questions were asked and answered. F. E. Kerr, B.A., and E. F. Reid welcomed the new members on behalf of the Session. Rev. Fred Horton and Rev. William McDonald welcomed them representing the Peterborough Presbytery.

The names of the newly elected elders are Kenneth Darling, Grant Gillespie, Gordon A. Ham, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, Clarence Laing, Angus Munro, and Mrs. Charles M. Scott.

Fall Of Singapore

"Protection of this country is no longer a contribution to a world at war but resistance to an enemy threatening to invade our shores. What the Battle of Britain required, so the battle of Australia demands...Our honeymoon is finished. It is now work or fight as we have never done before.

Put Playtime Aside

"Naturally I will say nothing of our defence plans. I feel the stature of our race is such that we can put playtime aside. Hours previously devoted to sport and leisure must now be given to war. I tell this nation that brains and brawn are better than bets and beer. We have to pep up all essehtial production."

The Canberra correspondent of the Melbourne Herald stated that every member of the Full Commonwealth cabinet is convinced that Australia may at any time have to face a large-scale attack by sea and air.

The Herald Corespondent said:

"Swift secret moves decided on weeks ago in anticipation of Singapore's fall now are being carried out, including large-scale movements of troops and aircraft. The results of months of work on the problem of defending Australia at short range will be examined...So far as its resources permit, the Government has been making war decisions on the basis that Australia might have to stand alone for a time.

"The Commonwealth Government expects it will be the early primary objective of Japan to attempt to cripple Australia's war effort by bombing, blockade and, possibly, even probably, attempted invasion."

The war cabinet is expected to direct an immediate callup of large numbers of married men. A time limit for the regimentation of manpower and wealth under the new economic policy now is to be severly reduced and the war cabinet is understood to be prepared to give Mr. Curtin even dictatorial powers in a dire emergency.

The Melbourne Herald said there is nothing too grave to be written on Singapore's surrender, "but nothing that should not steel our hearts to draw from defeat the vital compulsions for victory."

"It is not to minimize the gravity of the loss to say that at no stage in the Malayan campaign was there much chance of successful resistance," the Herald said. "British forces alone had to be depended on. Prime Minister Churchill has given the reasons for the inadequacy of those forces. It is not accepted everywhere that, despite the reasons given, British forces might not have been better disposed for better protection of the Far East.

"But there were strategic decisions that had to be taken at the time, and right or wrong could not be remedied.. Malaya was lost and Singapore had to surrender because there was not enough tanks, guns and men to defend them.

Loyalty Unshaken.

It may be true that the dangers were realized earlier and more clearly in Australia than in Britain, but now they have come they are faced in the same spirit as Britain. Loyalty to British leadership is unshaken in Australia. Mr. Churchill's greatness and powers of inspiration are recognized and count for as much as in England."

Army Minister Francis Forde described the fall of Singapore as a heavy and bitter blow, "but there is no need and no time for dismay and question in the perilously short time available."

"It is not who was responsible, but what is to be done," Mr. Forde declared. "The government considers the Pacific situation capable of control and is doing its utmost. It is possible to save Australia and vital areas of the Netherlands East Indies as bases for attack."

The funeral service will be held on Tuesday from Bert Duffus' Funeral Home, proceeding to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Mass of Requiem at nine o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Peter's Cemetery.

MRS. BRUCE CURTIS

HAVELOCK, Feb. 16—(ENS). — This community was shocked to hear of the sudden passing in Toronto Hospital, Weston, on Saturday evening of Linda Fry, beloved wife of Mr. Bruce Curtis, following an illness of five years and nine months. She was born at Norwood, April 4, 1903, daughter of the late Mr. Fry and his wife, Mrs. Fry, now residing at Wellington. She was married on September 14, 1933, to Mr. Bruce Curtis of town.

Left to mourn are her sorrowing husband and only daughter, Nancy Rose Ann; her mother, and three brothers: Earl with the R.C.A.F., Toronto; Gordon, a gunner serving in the Artillery at Hamilton, and Ray in active service overseas. She was a faithful member of St. John's Anglican Church, a kind and loving neighbor, and a friend to all who knew her. The remains are resting at the Speer's Funeral Home, Toronto, where services will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. Mr. Worrall, former pastor of Havelock. Then to Havelock, where service will be held here at the home Wednesday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Mr. Lemon conducting the service. Interment at Maple Grove Cemetery.

Adverse Days Ahead Britons Told

But United Nations Will Be Capable Of Squaring Accounts

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, at one of the blackest hours of history, has assured the British peoples that the United Nations "will be found fully capable of squaring all accounts" and the question before Britain today is how strong remains her faith in his leadership.

Although he bore a message of disaster, the Prime Minister declared that ultimately the overwhelming fact of the war would be that "the power of the United States and its vast resources...are in it with us."

It fell to the Prime Minister yesterday to broadcast to the Empire the most dismal news for its people since Dunkirk:

"Singapore has fallen. All the Malay Peninsula has been overrun."

No More Information

That bare statement was all that Britain was told of the loss of the great fortress and the fate of its valiant defenders except for Japan's announcement that Singapore had surrendered unconditionally.

But Mr. Churchill frankly said it was a "heavy and far-reaching defeat." He told Britain in unvarnished words:

"Other dangers gather about us out there and none of the dangers which we have hitherto faced successfully at home and in the East are in any way diminished."

Loss of the island citadel, guardian of the gateway to the Indian Ocean and a rampart for defence of the Netherlands East Indies and Australia, came after a week of dismaying news for Britain.

The Prime Minister did not mention the feat of a German naval squadron in slipping home through the English Channel in defiance of Britain's home defenders; he did not mention Japan's growing threat to Burma; he touched but briefly on the dark picture in Libya.

Security Measure

Some Britons regarded the Government's silence on details of Singapore's downfall as a wise security measure for the present. Expecting Mr. Churchill to give parliament a fuller account, possibly later in the week, they reserved judgment.

Boy Fractures Collar-Bone

Cecil Hunter, 18, of 272 Euclid avenue, sustained a fractured collar bone Saturday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car.

The boy was riding his bicycle north on Aylmer street and when he turned out to go around a car parked in front of 260 Aylmer street, his bicycle skidded and to prevent a fall, the rider put one foot on the ground. As he did so a car driven north by J. Cranley, 717 George street, also travelling north, came along. Cranley tried to swerve to miss hitting the boy, but his car also skidden on the slippery surface and struck the rear wheel on the bicycle, throwing the rider against the car.

The handle was broken off the door of the automobile and the rear right fender damaged, while the rear wheel of the bicycle was broken.

Bathing Suit Costumes Worn At Carnival

ROSENEATH, Feb. 16.—(ENS).— A successful carnival was staged by the hockey club on Saturday night. The attendance was large, the weather ideal and the ice first-class.

There were costumes, fancy and comic, but probably the most daring were those of Murray Clark and Ed Sagar. Tese gentlemen braved the weather dressed in nothing more than brief bathing suits, straw hats and boots and skates of course.

The most exciting event was the men's race, ten laps around the rink. Many skated but few finished. Am Atkinson of Roseneath, slid over the line first and right behind him was Albert Coleman of Peterborough.

Fancy dressed girl under 14— 1 Merla Braithwaite, 2 Elgin Marsden

Fancy dressed boy under 14—No entry.

Fancy dressed couple — 1 Mrs. Clarence Parker and Phyllis Parker as Churchill and Victory; 2 Douglas Coyle and Adelaine Mouncey.

Comic couple —Ms. D. Brisbin and Mrs. George Mouncey as Jiggs and Maggie; 2 Ruby Bodgett and Lorne Thackeray as Raggedy Ann and Andy.

Best clown—Oral George.

Youngest skater on ice (masked)—1 Ronna Braithwaite, 7 years; 2 Doris Robin, 9 years.

Races.

Boys under 12—1 Donn Adams, 2 Blair Thackeray.

Girls under 12—1 Merla Kelly, 2 Eleanor Brown.

A prize offered for the largest family on the rink drew three entries, tied with five members each. In a draw Harry Mouncey drew the prize.

The proceeds were $46.05.

Hospital Report Shows More Revenue

PORT HOPE, Feb. 16—(ENS).— The Hospital Board annual meeting was held in the Town Hall on Friday, February 13, with the president, J. A. Hume, in the chair.

In the president's report in 1940 there were 8,870 patients days compared with 10,485 in 1941 with an average of 24c to 28c per day increase in earnings, with corresponding increase in expenditures. An average daily cost per capita in 1940 was $3.35 and in 1941 $3.05.

During the past pear the resignation of Miss Elliott as superintendent was accepted after 28 years of faithful service. Much of the success and growth of the hospital is due to Miss Elliott. Miss Gibb, who was Miss Elliott's assistant, is now carrying on in a most efficient way as superintendent.

Mr. Hume in his report mentioned the appreciation of the Board to the staff, the Medical Association, and to all the good friends of the hospital in the past year.

IODE Members Make New Plans

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16 (ENS) —Future activities that would assist in augmenting their funds thereby enabling an extension of their wartime activities formed the principal discussion of the regular meeting of the Trent Valley Chapter of the I.O.D.E. which met for the regular meeting on Friday evening. One plan emanating from the discussion was to hold a separate meeting for each of the three groups once every month (these would be held in addition to the two regular meetings) and it was thought that in this way a considerable amount could be accomplished by each. The Regent, Miss Clara Lucy, expressed her appreciation for the work done since the last meeting. Items turned in by the members included 4 sleeveless sweaters, 1 babys pillow, 1 pillow case, a crib quilt, 1 shirt and sweater set (three years). Some of these items will form a part of the layette quota being worked on by the group. They accepted an invitation to assist the (Senior) Bemersyde Chapter in entertaining a group of Air Force personnel whom it is planned to have as guests here next week-end. One layette was packed for headquarters during the meeting and the remainder of the time was spent in knitting on sweaters, helmets and sox.

Lady With Team Aids Colleagues

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16 — (ENS).— Blocked roads and cold weather did not prevent the members of the Beaver Club from holding their regular meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. Clarke Garbutt. Ten ladies were present, most of them through the kindness of one of the members who, herself, drove a team of horses on the sleighs.

Two quilts were finished besides other work, and a short business period held. The Peace Prayer read by Mrs. Thornton of Calgary, a guest of the hostess, opened the business discussion. As a means of raising funds it was decided to sell tickets on a woollen blanket.

Work completed during December and January was: 14 quilts, 3 pair mitts, 1 pair stockings, 2 girls' slips, 2 sweaters, 3 jumpers, 1 wool scarf, 2 windbreakers and 4 pair boys' pants. For the layettes, 4 mothers' nighties, 6 knitted jackets, 7 bonnets and 7 pair booties. This list does not include articles of clothing made over, all mentioned is new material.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Fairburn, on Wednesday, February 25.

Icicles Endanger Downtown Shoppers

COBOURG, Feb. 16.— (ENS). — Cobourg police officers Saturd[ay] afternoon were forced to steer citizens down the north side of King street here. The mild spell had caused the icicles on the roof edges overlooking the main street to become dangerous to the public. The ice had in the most cases formed long swordlike objects that weighed over fifty pounds in many cases.

The store fronts are all three storeys high and it was regarded as dangerus for town workmen to try to remove them.

Village Objective Set At $25,000

HASTINGS, Feb. 16—(ENS). — Sharp at 9 o'clock this morning Reeve L. E. Kelley and John L. Doherty, the two Victory Loan canvassers for this district, began their rounds.

Their territory comprises the village itself and that portion of Percy township as far south as Brickley.

Both men expressed confidence that the $25,000 quota would be reached and event went so far as to say the honor objective of $30,000 would be attained. "We intend to put in three weeks of good hard work," said Reeve L. E. Kelley. In the first Victory Loan, Hastings exceeded its quota of $20,000 by more than $7,000.

Largest Cheese Factory Names Officers

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16 (ENS) —Patrons of Trent Valley Cheese and Butter Company, largest producers of export cheese in the county of Northumberland, held their annual meeting here on Saturday afternoon when upwards of sixty farmers listened intently to one of the best reports they had heard from the factory. Highlights of the statement presented by their able secretary Marshall West were that 3,298 boxes of cheese had been made during the period from May 1st to December 1st, 1941, from 3,546,922 pounds of milk and that although the report merely embraced the seven month period the factory was continuing operations throughout the entire year. There were 161 patrons on the pay roll in December and in that month alone proceeds from the sale of cheese amounted to approximately $11,000.00 with over 40,500 pounds being made from 464,000 pounds of milk hauled from over a radius of fifteen square miles. With reference to quality cheese during December and January it was pointed out there had been none in the premium class, but this was accepted as one of the circumstances brought about by winter production and 1, frozen milk delivered to the factory (a condition almost impossible to overcome without specialized equipment for handling), 2, winter feed (which generally makes for poorer flavor).

Big Increase

According to Mr. West's statement their total production of 302,835 pounds represented an increase of twenty-five per cent over the preceding year. Total butterfat for the 7 month period was 113,339 and whey butter amounted to 8,922 pounds. The amount of money received came to $62,163.91 of which $40,296.97 was from the sale of cheese; $2,898.78 from whey butter; $3,847.94 premium on quality cheese ($2,200.00 more than '40); $6,054.60 Provincial bonus; and $55.52 from sale of milk. It cost them $6,056.70 to make cheese and $446.10 to make butter. The average milk per pound cheese was 11.71 pounds; average butter fat content of milk 3.19 per cent; average cheese per pound fat 2.67 pounds; average price per pound cheese 16.2 cents (with bonus 19.5 cents); average value of fat from cheese 38.15 cents; of butter fat from whey butter 2.13 cents; of butter fat from Ontario bonus 5.34 cents; from Dominion premium, 3.39 cents; making a total value for fat 49.01. Only improvement of a major character at the plant during the season was the installation of a new 10,000 pound vat.

President Gilbert G. Stephens called on auditor Owen Clark for his report but Mr. Clark explained the books had not reached him in time to make a complete audit before the meeting and as a consequence it was decided to call a directors meeting later to accept the report. Mr. West told the patrons that some 2,000 [pounds] of whey butter were being held in storage awaiting a favorable market and he suggested the meeting would have to give him the authority to borrow the necessary if they desired to have this included on the pay sheet. In this same vein he pointed to the necessity of authorization for borrowing to meet monthly pay-rolls since bonuses and premiums generally trailed the cheques by several weeks, resulting in frequent overdrafts.

Officers Named

Mr. A. G. Thompson, local bank manager, who presided during the election of officers recalled that the Trent Valley was "one of the pioneers in adopting a longer season." He congratulated them on their increased production during December which was 310.8 per cent higher than during the same period in 1940. Officers were named as follows—President, G. G. Stephens; secretary, M. C. West; auditor, Owen Clark; directors, Walter Scott, William Scott, Henry Forestell, Robert Innes, David Meiklejohn, Charles Ross. In his remarks to patrons Dairy Instructor W. H. Moore of Peterborough declared "your average of 49.01 (for butter fat) gives you every reason to be well satisfied with your year's work. He commended them particularly for their policy of giving the cheesemaker (Grant Anderson, since 1922) ten per cent of the premium on high scoring cheese, and felt it was a somewhat regrettable fact that all department certificates placed makers in the same class whether the produced all premium cheese or only 92 score. In his opinion the Department would have made a move in the right direction if they had stipulated the maker was to get a share of the premium. Mr. Moore felt the dairy business had now just reached about the limit in so far as quality was concerned. Pointing out all dairy products—butter, cheese, poultry, cattle, were being graded, he added that in none of these had quality to that produced by the cheesemaker been attained. "You have sold a lot of hogs that weren't in the premium class" he ventured, adding that no one in the county was working as hard for premiums as was the cheese maker. In his district, embracing 22 factories, 93.5 per cent of the cheese was in the premium class and the only way he knew of to make this any better was by improving flavor—a matter which must be attended to on the farm. He suggested more cleanliness is the only thing that can make any improvement at the present time." District Agricultural Representative Ian MacLeod of Brighton also addressed the gathering and drew attention to the Farm Management Course to be held in Campbellford on February 27th and 28th.

Farm Questionnaire Gives Information

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16. — (ENS).—Speaking before a group of milk producers, most of whom were patrons of the Trent Valley Cheese and Butter Company, at a meeting held in the Board room of the St. Lawrence Hotel here on Saturday afternoon, District Agricultural Representative Ian MacLeod gave a preliminary accounting of the reports brought in by the farm survey questionnaire recently sent out in this county. Designed to facilitate the work of the County Agricultural War committee, the analysis will disclose whether or not there is an acute shortage of farm labour and assist in the organization of both help and mechanized equipment. Mr. MacLeod pointed out that final tabulation of the summary might vary from this summary considerably since it merely represented answers returned by 93 farmers in five Seymour school sections. With regard to the first question as to the affect enlistments have had and would have on the farm during 1942, answers revealed 14 farmers of the group had sons who would probably be called up this year. Have you a hired man? 71 yes, 68 no, 8 undecided. Sure of adequate labor for '42? 43 no, 3 yes, 19 undecided. Could you exchange labour to better advantage in '42? 65 no, 12 yes, 16 undecided. Have you sufficient help in prospect to maintain 1941 production levels? 26 no, 58 yes, 9 uncertain. Total number of dairy cattle kept in 41, 1,206; for 1942 1,310, or an increase of 8 per cent. An increase of 9 per cent. in the number of bacon hogs raised and 19 per cent. in the number of laying hens was indicated with a 22 per cent. increase in the number of baby chicks to be purchased. A 28 per cent. increase in the amount of fall wheat sown was indicated.

Are you planning to have more land in hay and pasture? 35 said no, 39 said yes and 19 didn't know. Are you planning to produce as much of the following products required by Great Britain in 1942 as in 1941. Milk? 81 yes, 3 no, 9 uncertain. Bacon 82 yes, 4 no, 7 uncertain. Eggs? 84 yes, 39 no, 6 uncertain. Mr. MacLeod revealed that only 13 of the 93 farmers used any commercial fertilizer; 14 had tractors; 42 would require some new machinery. In replying to the question as to whether military men with mechanical training would be available to assist in operating tractors to capacity during the busy season, thirty-four qualified their affirmative answer by stating, "if they had previous farm experience." 14 trought they would be of no use whatever and 41 gave an unqualified 'yes.'

Tea Room Plan Increases Revenue

PORT HOPE, Feb. 16—(ENS).— The Red Cross tea room took on a very festive appearance on Saturday afternoon with Miss Florence Patterson and Miss Violet Scott in charge. Each table was decorated with red hearts and the centre was a white paper doily with Valentine decorations a brass holder and red candles. A large crowd dropped in for tea and the proceeds were most gratifying.

The new conveners of the room committee are happy to announce that all the days of the month are taken by one or two ladies regularly except Saturdays, which are being saved for some of the country units as soon as the roads get a little better. This means that the ladies in charge for that day arrive with sandwiches or cookies and serve whoever happens to be working at the rooms, or drop in for a cup of tea. The average afternoon nets from $2.00 to $5.00.

Hastings Honors Mrs. Roy King At Big Funeral

HASTINGS, Feb. 16.—(ENS)— Funeral services were held at St. George's Anglican Church here this afternoon for Lily Myrtle King, 45, wife of Roy King of Percy Township.

Mrs. King died suddenly in Peterborough Saturday morning while transacting some business at the Examiner office.

Born in Stratford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Freeman, both deceased, the late Mrs. King came to this district 23 years ago.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. King taught school for two years.

Mrs. King had been Examiner correspondent in Hastings' district for the past 12 years, and was one of the newspaper's most faithful and diligent outside workers.

A faithful member of St. George's Anglican Church, she was not only deeply interested in her own church but as a correspondent covered other church and social news as well.

In addition to her position as secretary of the Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Church, Mrs. King was not only secretary of the Cobourg Road Red Cross Society, but one of its most active workers.

Surviving besides her sorrowing husband are three sisters, Mrs. H. Morrison, Oakland, California; Mrs. Roy Smith, Waterloo, and Mrs. E. Cascadden Toledo, Ohio; and three brothers Frank of Spring Water, Sask., Harry of Waterloo and Cpl. Gilbert stationed at London, Ont.

Following a service at the family residence this afternoon a largely-attended public service was conducted at 2:30 by Rev. A. C. Herbert at St. George's Anglican Church. The pall-bearers, all Percy neighbors of the deceased, were: Cecil Oliver, Virgil Oliver, Donald Beamish, Earl Gillespie, Ezra Peters and Gordon Dickey.

Among the many floral tributes were those sent by the Hastings Red Cross Society, the Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Anglican Church and Hastings L.O.L. No. 558.

Interment was made in Trent Valley Cemetery.

Sleighing Party Entertains 68

PORT HOPE, Feb. 16 (ENS) — Sixty-eight members of the Safety Club gathered at the town hall on Saturday afternoon for a sleigh drive. When the sleighs arrived the boys piled on one and the girls on the other and proceeded out the Lakeshore road where the drifts are very high. Games were played in a woods some distance from town after which the children returned to the town hall, where doughnuts and hot chocolate were served.

Mr. A. Baldock and Mr. C. Eastman were in charge of this very successful sleigh party.

COBOURG, Feb. 16. — (ENS.)— 127 people went into action here to-day as the Victory Loan drive got under way. The loan objective for Northumberland county is $1,136,000, an increase of $125,000 over last year's oversubscribed issue. The county charman, W. S. Edwards, Cobourg manufacturer, said in his opinion the loan would again pass the objective set for this county.

There Are Modern Lincolns

The anniversary of the birth of Lincoln has just been observed all over the United States. The event leads one to reflection. He proclaimed that no nation could be half slave, half free, and in 1865 paid the price with his life for conducting a war to liberate the enslaved population of the Southern States. The fact is that one element of humanity always wants to keep another element as mere hewers of wood and drawers of water. It was so in the first ages of which we have any record. It is so today when the Nazis, Fascists and Nipponese are blasting humanity, wherever they can, in order to become masters and dictators.

This characteristic is therefore not coming up in 1939-42 as a new trait. It seems, in fact, to be born in many people—the determination to control others by brute force. The bully at school is an example. The only language he understands is that of a swift, clenched fist. The person who is in a position of supreme authority over many others is another. On a higher plane he or she—and the same strain is in some women as in men, though in a more subtle form—is given to "riding," or dominating, in an overbearing way those under them. Such a person arouses the hatred and resentment of others but they go on, respecting only the authority which is above them again. That they fear. They will cringe before it, because they haven't the good, clean courage of real men or women.

Humanity, therefore, appears always to have divided itself into two classes—one which by every means tries to enslave and control everybody else within the circumference of its reach; the second, which has an inherent feeling that men were made to be reasonably free to live their lives with a fair amount of individual independence.

War between the two went on in Biblical times. It is going on now again, but the tyranny and despotism with which the Huns would destroy, torture or humiliate all except those whom they regard as belonging to their own blood strain is the grossest example of this over-lordship yet known to history.

Fortunately for the welfare and happiness of the human family, there are always modern Lincolns under other names and in all places who will fight and die, if necessary, to uphold the principle that as with a family, or a community or a nation, one half cannot be slave, the other free, so with the world. Lincoln and his kind represent one type of beings; Hitler, Mussolini and Togo are the representatives of the other.

Importance Of Transportation

One of the most important factors in war is transportation. In fact, without it armed forces could do very little. Well operated railways are a big part of that necessary transportation. The service they have been able to render in the activities of the Dominion, since hostilities broke out nearly two and a half years ago, is an interesting story. They have been of incalculable value in the movement of troops, munitions, raw materials for war industries, equipment, food supplies and innumerable commodities, in addition to the heavy passenger traffic which has grown up with all these phases.

It is illuminating, in this connection, to note some of the facts brought out recently by R. C. Vaughan, president of the Canadian National Railways, during an address he delivered before the Canadian Club in Montreal. He pointed out that at the beginning of the war, this country had nearly forty-three thousand miles of steam railway. They had gone through nearly ten years of seriously reduced earnings due to Canada's diminished production and business but the operators of the lines, namely, the C.N.R., the C.P.R., and other roads, had maintained the rails and the equipment in good working order.

This was to prove sound policy because had these features been neglected and had some of the lines been dismantled, the sudden demands made by the nation for service beginning in September, 1939, could not have been met. As a result, however, of their preparedness for the unexpected, the roads were in a position to meet the strain which came from the creation of great new industries, training camps, the Commonwealth Air Training Plan and so on. The use of metals is vital to war and the opening of rich mines in the north with railways serving them also made it possible to handle a big volume of that freight.

Inasmuch as the Canadian National Lines are owned by the people of the Dominion and were taken over some years ago with a heavy annual deficit, it is of concern to citizens generally to learn of greatly increased traffic earnings and of steady betterment (so far as it is possible to get orders for equipment filled today) of the the entire system. The facts as given by President Vaughan are extremely gratifying. A quotation from his address is impressive:

> "Today, Canada has in the Canadian National a modern transport system that faces squarely its responsibilities as a public carrier in peace and war, and in recent weeks we have made known to the shareholders—the people of Canada, each one of you being a shareholder—the broad results of our operations in 1941. We hauled in that year a physical volume of traffic higher than any previously transported by the system. Railway traffic in this country is now sixty per cent. greater than in the peak year of the last war. The Canadian National in mileage is the largest railway in Canada and the largest in North America. Its gross revenues last year were in excess of three hundred million dollars, and after meeting all operating expenses and equipment depreciation, it has a net revenue of upwards of sixty-six millions. Taxes and fixed charges, including interest, amounted to sixty-two millions, so that there was a surplus, over and above all these, of four millions."

Many other facts regarding the management, improvements and so forth, were given to the public by Mr. Vaughan but what has been mentioned is enough to place the entire system in quite a different public light from that of some years ago when the annual statement, because of adverse economic conditions, made people feel that they had a tremendous liability on their shoulders. Directors, officers and employees generally of the lines have done a big job the past two and a half years and have done it with commendable financial results.

Some Relief In Sight

The announcement made by Hon. T. B. McQueston, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs, that he proposes to introduce measures to lift some of the heavy tax load on real estate off the shoulders of those who think they are substantial citizens when they buy realty will be received with both general interest and approval. The burden real property has had to bear for years has been too great.

With this legislative effect goes, also, an effort to equalize assessment throughout the province. Again that is a long-awaited move. "I think," he said before the Ontario Association of Real Estate Boards, "that all real estate can stand is a 25-mill rate based on a reasonable assessment."

No doubt prolonged, careful study has been given by himself and his department to this whole matter for it has been discussed by laymen who follow municipal matters — discussed by them off and on for years. Whatever he introduces in the Legislature may, therefore, be expected to have the weight of a good deal of sound opinion behind it for certainly the penalty—that is really what it has amounted to—imposed upon a person who builds or buys a house or a store or other business property, has been discouraging in countless instances. Particularly in the case of homes, a too high assessment, on top of that a high tax rate and on top of that again an unequitable municipal charge as against other sources of tax, these have rightly been the cause of no little complaint. The terms of the bill which Mr. McQuesten brings down will be looked forward to with earnestness.

Majesty Of Undying Valor

Every once in a while something appears from the pen of an unknown person who makes no pretence of being a professional writer which is really literature in miniature form. It is literature because it comes not alone from the mind but from the spiritual depths of the person who puts ideas and feelings down on paper. He or she wants to give expression to what is a part of one's very being and does it nobly.

An example of this is seen in a letter which Hon. Leighton McCarthy, Canadian Ministry to Washington, read from 26-year-old Fuller Patterson of Richmond, Va., a Harvard student who enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force. Being a Harvard man he would undoubtedly have a knowledge of good English and its use, but it is the feeling in the lines that lifts them to almost epic dignity and power. Patterson wrote to his family a short time before he took off on a flight over Germany from which he did not return and what he said is a beautiful thing which should live. It was this:

"If this is where I get mine up there where it is cold and clear, on a battlefield where the dead don't lie about and rot, where there is no mud and no stench, where there is moonlight by night and stars, and in the day the wizardry of intriguing cloud formations, and a blue sky above where a man is free and on his own and the devil and jerry take the hindmost; if I get mine up there, there must be no regrets.

"I would have it that way. It is unfortunate that those of us who love life most, the very ones who so keenly seek to live the fullest life possible, must take the long chances that in so many cases cut it short. We are not blind to the odds against us; true, we laugh at them, or think lightly of them, but that is because we would have it no other way.

"I pity those who, living, live in fear of death."

That is patriotism but it is also religion. It is a sermon on the magnificence of the human soul. Few poems have thus far come out of the war that are more poignantly great than those few simple words. They haunt the memory with their sadness—sadness elevated to the majesty of undying valor!

NOTE AND COMMENT

Are you beginning to feel any desire to prepare for your spring garden? The urge starts about now though it generally ends with two or three ten-cent seed packets that repose until mid-summer on the kitchen window-sill.

More than 700 army pigeons, trained for dispatch carrying, have been shot in England in mistake for the common wood pigeon, cousin to the crow, which is the enemy of every English farmer. Well, that's what it means to be found in bad company.

When the Highlanders in Malaya ran out of munitions they showed real Scottish grit by knocking the Japs on the head with the butt end of their rifles. But why didn't they try the skirl of the bagpipes? That would have been much easier and probably more effective.

One of the disadvantages of being a Prime Minister is that there are always Solomons in every doorway who know infinitely more than any First Minister of the land could possibly hope even to learn.

Hope is held out that in the course of time all the speeches will be made in Parliament on the Speech from the Throne, all the editorial mills will have put the millions of words into the printed pages of Hansard and in due course cheques will be issued to members for their sessional pay.

Suspicion keeps growing that the powers at Vichy are playing a double game —one in which they are trying to appear to Britain and the United States as neutral; the other, winking an eye in favor of Hitler and Mussolini. Perhaps the real truth is that the Axis have the French far enough under their heels to virtually demand concessions. It will be interesting to see what comes out in history after the war is over.

The sudden death of Mrs. Roy King on Saturday from heart atttack removes from Hastings and vicinity one who was widely known and alert in that district. She was for many years correspondent there for the Examiner and fulfilled an important public service in recording from week to week the innumerable activities that go to make up life. Her loss will be deplored not alone by her family connections and friends, but also by those who benefitted from her news column, bringing its interest regularly to readers over a wide area.

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16 (AP)—The struggle unfolds an ever bleaker picture to Allied eyes everywhere except along the blood-drenched snows of the Nazi-Russian front. Disaster after disaster has stalked Allied arms from North Africa to the Southwest Pacific.

Yet there are some Allied highlights to relieve the gloomy scene, aside from developments in Russia.

Fighting Hollanders stand pledged anew, despite toppling of British Singapore, to fight to the end for their spice islands, and to destroy what they cannot protect. MacArthur's gallant band of American-Filipino warriors battles on, still a galling thorn in the path of the Japanese victory march. A belated official disclosure of damage wrought by the United States Pacific Fleet to Japanese sea outposts in the Marshall and Gilbert Islands shows that operation was the most serious counter-blow yet struck at Japan except in Macassar Strait.

There is one other less sinister fact to the war picture. In Libya the counter-attack of Rommel's reinforced legions has been halted short of Tobruk.

The latest of the Allied disasters cannot yet be assessed. Full significance of the daring Nazi stroke which slipped three powerful and dangerous warships away from Brest through Britain's watch-on-the-Channel at Dover Strait depends on the use Hitler has planned for them.

Their successful dash for hundreds of miles along England's own heavily manned coast has sent new waves of invasion apprehension over British minds. They must weigh that equation anew.

If a veritable German battle fleet screened by the Nazi air force can run the Channel for 750 miles from Brest to Heligoland, the crossing of its twenty-two-miles narrows by a Nazi invading host certainly is not impossible.

"PASSES UNDERSTANDING"

It might be for such an eventual purpose that Hitler ordered the surprise dash. More likely, however, his first purpose in massing naval surface craft at German home bases is two-fold. Its success tends to effect an Atlantic diversion distracting Anglo-American attention and effort from the Pacific just as Japan, his Axis mate, prepares for the drive into the Netherlands Indies. It also vastly increases the danger to British Atlantic life lines and to Anglo-American lines of communication to aid Russia in staving off another German offensive when weather permits.

How the passage of Dover Strait against British sea, air and coastal battery power could have been achieved passes understanding.

Britain has been at war more than two years with her first concern always centred on her Channel defenses. That the British bulldog could be caught dozing on his own front stoop in such circumstances is difficult to explain on any thesis.

ARK ROYAL'S 9 LIVES

AS Captain L. E. H. Maund, R.N., is about to face official inquiry because of loss of his ship, the aircraft carrier Ark Royal—known as "Old Unsinkable"—members of the crew are to be decorated for saving all the ship's cats. The one proceeding is at the instance of the Lords of the Admiralty, the other Our Dumb Friends' League.

The Ark Royal, which was sent to the bottom many times by German and Italian propaganda agencies, had a long and eventful career. She travelled more than 250 000 miles since war began and engaged in thirty-two war operations. The last of major consequences was her help in sinking the German battleship Bismarck, in which action planes released from her deck took an important part. Pursuit before the kill covered 1,750 miles. Ark Royal, which sank east of Gibraltar, after almost making port in tow, finally became waterlogged and went down. Casualties were very small. Captain Maund, was the last man to leave his ship, going over the side hand-to-hand down a rope, to the cheers of his crew. The carrier's disappearance, when it seemed as if she might survive to still harry the Axis, was described by a gifted correspondent as follows: "She toppled over like a tired child; the stern reared up a moment and then slid gently beneath the waves."

A tired child of 22,000 tons, upended in the manner described, would certainly be an even more remarkable sight than any the war has so far produced. We hope Captain Maund will command more aircraft carriers and have as many lives as the cats whose survival has just been commemorated. — New York Herald-Tribune.

• Takes Ships to Move Armies

PEOPLE ask: "Why aren't more reinforcements—and supplies—being sent ot Singapore? Where are the Allied navies?

One answer is that it takes ships, a terrible lot of ships, to move armies across oceans. And the Allies haven't the ships.

Japan used 100 ships for her assault on East Borneo. If Britain had attempted to send enough men to Malaya to stop the Japs before they reached Singapore she would have had a need for perhaps 200 ships. A vast fleet of vessels travelling in slow convoy. As this fleet could not complete its voyage in less than six or seven weeks and take the same time to make its return voyage, this volume of tonnage would be out of service for more than three months. That, at this time, when British and Allied tonnage is depleted, would be great risk, might well bring disaster to Africa.

This is the explanation of time being so precious to the United Nations in the Pacific. Until such time as they can get ships, or more ships, the problem of getting reinforcements in large numbers to Singapore or to any other point in the Pacific must remain a desperately hard one.

People who talk glibly about the Battle of the Atlantic having been won think only of the Atlantic. But the Battle of the Atlantic, while it may have been lost by Hitler, has not been won by us; not won in the sense that it hasn't destroyed shipping that would be valuable, if not vital, to us now.

That is the way with this war. A loss on one field is a loss on another; the ship that goes down in the Atlantic is added strain on Britain's shipping problem in the Mediterranean and her shipping problem in the Pacific. In other words, just as the fall of France made it possible for Japan to seize French Indo-China and thus launch upon the conquest of Malaya, so the sinkings of Hitler's submarines in the Atlantic have made it harder to defend Singapore.—Ottawa Journal.

• India's Men on Main Fronts

SUBSTANTIAL land reinforcements (in Burma) come from India, which now has her sons fighting on all the main fronts in the war, with the exception of Russia. One of the most remarkable effects of the struggle to date has been the manner in which it has served to solidify the deep feeling of the masses of India. That feeling is not represented by Congress resolutions, or by arguments over the price Congress demands shall be paid by Britain in exchange for Indian help in the war.

While Congress wastes times arguing and passing futile resolutions, the people of India have been flocking to enlist throughout the country, are working day and night in the great munitions factories that have sprung up throughout the Empire, and have set a magnificent example of generosity in their contributions to help the sufferers from the war, because the people of India realize that they are face to face with the most terrible threat to their freedom that their history has ever known, and that unless they do their part in dispelling that threat there will be no happiness in living.

The issue in life or death for the Indian people, just as much as it is life or death for the British peoples, and the natives of India are responding with splendid enthusiasm to the call to arms. In Abyssinia, in Northern Africa and on the Malay Peninsula they have already proved themselves worthy inheritors of the splendid traditions established by their fighting ancestors, and we may be very sure that in Burma they will prove equally worthy of a place alongside the finest troops from any other part of the Empire.—Montreal Star.

WAR AND INDIAN POLITICS

THE whole difficulty (in India) at present arises from the inability or the unwillingness of party leaders to segregate the interim solution from the long-term solution. The Congress demand for independence and an Executive Council commanding the confidence of the Central Legislature goes far beyond the confines of the existing constitution. The Moslem League is solely concerned in safeguarding its constitutional future, and no interim solution which vitiates its policy will meantime secure its support. Even the Bombay proposals, in urging what is virtually the immediate establishment of Dominion status, raise constitutional questions difficult of settlement during the war. Thus a solution which precludes long-term constitutional issues from immediate consideration can only be found on the lines indicated by the British offer of 1940, which might, however, be so liberalized that it will appeal to patriotic Indians to come forward to serve their country at this time of international crisis.—The Round Table, London.

POLITICAL FICTION

Why do public men persist in propagating the fiction that the people of Canada voted against conscription in March, 1940? They did nothing of the kind, for the simple reason that conscription was not an issue in that general election. The leaders of both major parties had removed it entirely from the list of issues to be voted upon.—Halifax Herald.

IRISH ENLISTMENTS

TWO statements made by The New York Times correspondent as to Eire's attitude toward the war command interest. One is that 90 per cent of the people of Ireland are unquestionably pro-British in this war. The other is that Southern Ireland has contributed on a voluntary basis between two and three times as many men as Northern Ireland to the British armies. Here are the figures cited: Northern Ireland, 23,000 enlistments, these including the whole territory covered by the six Northern counties. This figure may be taken as the maximum, as it was given in the Parliament of Northern Ireland by Prime Minister Andrews last week. Eire on the other hand claims to have provided over 100,000 men for service in the British armies. A more accurate count, however, is said to place the total at about 90.000 for all Ireland.—Sydney Post-Record.

Miss H. LaPlante Marries Pte. J. L. Allarde

The marriage took place in Sacred Heart church on Saturday, of Elizabeth Hermine, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. O'Dinno de LaPlante, and Joseph Lucien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allarde, L'Originale, Quebec. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father A. Allarde, Aylmer, Quebec, brother of the groom, and the nuptial mass was served by two of the bride's nephews, Leo and Armande de LaPlante. Wedding music was played and sung by Mr. J. Armstrong and Mr. Ed. Bartley.

Given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Edward de LaPlante, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white crepe with a halo and shoulder length veil. She carried a streamer bouquet of red Talisman roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Philomene Feeley, wore a floor-length frock of aqua blue with a halo hat and carried a bouquet of pink Talisman roses. The best man was Mr. Herman de LaPlante, brother of the bride, and the ushers were Mr. Henry de LaPlante and Mr. Fred Buller.

After the ceremony the immediate family and a few intimate friends were received at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Edward de LaPlante, by Mrs. de LaPlante, who wore turquoise blue with a black hat, and a bouquet of pink roses. Out of town guests at the wedding included Rev. Father A. Allarde and Miss Michelle, cousin of the groom, from Aylmer, Quebec, Mrs. S. Richea, sister of the bride, from Toronto, and Miss Rita de LaPlante, Reg.N., from Windsor.

After the reception Pte. and Mrs. Allarde left on a honeymoon trip to Quebec. On their return they will live in Kingston, where the groom is stationed with the Corps of Military Staff Clerks.

Helene Elizabeth Meyers Wed In Detroit To G. Frederick Bush

The wedding took place on Saturday in Gesu Church, Detroit, Michigan, of Helene Elizabeth Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Meyers, Detroit, and grand-daughter of Mrs. Charles B. Routley of 416 Stewart street and the late Mr. C. B. Routley, and George Frederick Bush of Windsor, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bush, of Guelph, Ontario. The Rev. Joseph Foley of the Faculty of the University of Detroit, performed the ceremony. A full boys' choir of 50 voices supplied the wedding music, with Mrs. Harry J. Longeway, sister of the groom, at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of wedding ring satin in candle-light shade, with long leg of mutton sleeves, a square neckline and a very full hoped skirt with a four yard train. A panel of rose-point lace began at the waist and continued down the skirt and around the hem of the gown. The same lace formed the tiara of the five-yard veil of French ilusion. She wore the groom's gift, a pearl necklace, and carried a shower bouquet of white orchids, lily of the valley and white stephanotis.

The bride was attended by Miss Jane Elizabeth Goerner, of Detroit, as maid of honor. She wore a period gown of American beauty silk faille with a tight-fitting basque and a bouffant skirt extending into a slight train, and a matching tricorne hat, trimmed with small plumes in harmonizing shades. She carried pale blue carnations and white stephanotis.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Meyers of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, Miss Phyllis Neff of Long Island, Miss Elizabeth, Lavell of Detroit, and Miss Mary Ellen Ferris, Detroit. They wore romance blue faille in the same style as the maid o honor and similar headdress. They carried American Beauty roses and white stephanotis. Mr. William Bush, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride's mother wore a fuchsia crepe gown, trimmed with golde kid and a small hat of heaven blue feathers and heaven blue accessories and a corsage of pink orchids. Mrs. Wesley Neff, Miss Frances Routley, Mrs. W. L. Shields, and Mrs. Harold Christian assisted in the dining room.

After the reception the bride and groom left for a trip to Canadian winter resorts. For travelling the bride wore a venetial wool suit with matching hat, a sable collar and a large sable muff, with Bermuda tan accessories. On their return the coupe will reside in Windsor.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Miss Frances Routley of Peterborough; Mrs. Wesley Neff, Forest Hills, Long Island; Mr. and Mrs. Archibald J. Meyers, Campbellford, Ontario; Mr and Mrs. Homer Meyers, Grimsby, Ontario, and Mrs. Wilmot Botsford, Toronto. Mrs. Charles B. Routley had planned to attend her granddaughter's wedding but thought that the trip might be too strenuous.

Marjorie Gilbert Married To Patrick Griffin

The nuptials were solemnized in Sacred Heart Church on Thursday of Miss Marjorie Loretta, daughter of Mr. Charles H. Gilbert and the late Mrs. Gilbert, to Patrick Vincent, son of James Griffin and the late Mrs. Griffin, with the Rev. Father J. J. O'Brien officiating. Wedding music was played by Mr. J. Armstrong and Mrs. W. Prindible sang during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street length of melody blue wool crepe with three quarter length sleeves, a blue hat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses and carried a mother of pearl prayer book and rosary. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Jack Kennedy, who wore a dress of prairie rose crepe with a black hat and accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses and violets and carried a white prayer book and rosary. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Arthur Griffin.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Mayfair restaurant, after which the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Toronto and points west. For travelling the bride wore a teal blue coat trimmed with brown squirrel fur, and brown accessories. On their return they will live at 168 Fradette avenue.

The groom's gift to the bride was a travelling bag, to the bridesmaid, a white rosary, and to the best man, a cigarette lighter.

DOROTHY DIX

FIVE MAGIC WORDS REPEATED DAILY WILL BRING HAPPINESS

Sincere Flattery is the Formula That Will Make for Successful Marriage.

Once upon a time, according to an old legend, a youth who was tall and slim and dark, with tender eyes and a laughing mouth, married a girl who was as fair and beautiful as a white lily. The young couple desired greatly to make their marriage a little bit of Heaven on earth, but they were saddened and discouraged by seeing about them so many disgruntled husbands, so many peevish and fretful wives who quarreled continually with each other.

"This must not happen to us," said the bridegroom and bride to each other. "We must keep our marriage the shining and beautiful thing it is now. We must not let it become the sordid and hideous bondage it is to these others. We must keep our joy in being together and not feel that we are slaves bound by a chain that we cannot break. But who can tell us how to accomplish this miracle?"

"I know a seeress," said the bride, "an old woman, very wise, who knows all the secrets of the human heart. Let us seek her counsel."

So they went to the old woman and said to her: "Mother, we perceive that there are many strange things about marriage which, in our ignorance and inexperience, we had never suspected. We had thought that the love of husbands and wives was steadfast thing that never changed, but we see that it easily turns to indifference and often to hate. We believed that marriage was a guarantee of happiness, but we observe how often it brings misery instead. Can you not give us some conjure that will enable us to keep our own love alive in our hearts and make our marriage a benediction to us instead of a curse upon us?"

Five Magic Words

"That I can," replied the wise woman. "I know five magic words that will make any marriage a success. Three of these are for the husband's ear alone, and teach him how to keep his wife happy and contented and seeking ways to please him. The other two words impart to the wife the secret formula for preventing her husband from ever seeing that she grows old or fat or homely, or dull and tiresome.

"But," added the seeress, "the power of this incantation lies in its repetition. It must always be wet upon your lips, or else the charm fails."

"Tell us, O Mother! What are these mystic words that can keep the misfortune of an unhappy marriage away from us?'

"Bend down your heads and listen," said the old woman, and she whispered in the husband's ear: "Say to your wife every day, 'I LOVE YOU.'" And to the wife she said: "Never weary of crying out, 'HOW WONDERFUL!' at everything your husband says and does." ... .

And the bride and bridegroom went their way, greatly comforted, and they lived happily ever afterwards.

The Charm Never Fails

This is a true story. And the charm never fails, because what every woman wants most in marriage is the assurance that her husband still loves her, and what every man most desires is the admiration and appreciation of his wife. As long as a wife has a hubsand who stays a lover nothing else matters much to her. She will endure poverty without a complaint. She will wear shabby clothes without an envious glance at the little numbers in the specialty shops. She will work her fingers to the bone for him and consider it a privilege to do so.

It is only when her husband takes her for granted and shows no more personal interest in her than he does in the vacuum cleaner; it is only when her husband never gives her a kiss that isn't so cold that it feels as if it had just come out of the frigidaire, that a woman feels that her marriage is a failure.

And as long as a wife burns incense before her husband; as long as she makes him feel that he is the center of the universe to her and that she considers him an oracle on every subject under the sun; as long as she tells him how handsome he is; as long as she laughs at his jokes and encores his stories; he is happy and satisfied and nailed to his own fireside.

For home-brewed flattery is the most potent drink on earth, and the man who has a wife who serves that to him never goes abroad in search of some other woman to stimulate his ego. It is the wives who use the hammer instead of the salve-spreader who lose their husbands.

Strange, but true, that in five little words are comprised the whole of the law and the prophets about how to make marriage a success. "I LOVE YOU!" . . . "HOW WONDERFUL." Try them out on your piano.

PARRIS GROWING UP

CHAPTER V

They came to the end of the line of cars. Drake walked backward and squinted along the rails.

"Hello, Drake Hello, Parris!"

It was Randy Monaghan hanging over the tall fence at the top of the embankment.

Drake answered gaily. "Hello, there. What you doin' up there?"

"This is where I live. What you all doin'?"

Drake spoke quickly. "We're goin' down to Elroy's icehouse."

"What for?"

"Nothin' much. Swing on the rings maybe."

"It's cool down there."

"Why don't you come, too?"

Randy was evidently waiting for the invitation. She looked back over her shoulder.

"All right," she said. "You go on. I'll catch up with you."

Drake and Parris walked slowly. "Why didn't she come right along with us?" Parris asked.

Drake looked at him and grinned. "'Fraid of her old man, I guess."

"Why?"

"Say, you don't know much, do you? I guess her old man knows better'n to let Randy go round with these tough kids down here. She's kinder tough, too. I bet she can give as good as they can send. You ought to hear her cuss."

They opened a heavy door and jumped down on a great pile of sawdust. The air was damp and cool. It was dark, too, after the glare.

"Gee, most of the ice is gone. See how low it's gettin'?" Drake seized the two rings and swung far out from the tall heap. He let go and landed on his feet, half burying himself in the loose dry sawdust.

Someone banged on the door.

"Let me in! Drake!"

"It's Randy. Push on the door." Randy climbed over the high sill and dropped down. She rolled over and over.

She struggled up to the rings which swung from the rafters. "Can you skin the cat?"

"Sure!" Drake scoffed. "But I bet you can't."

"Pretty good."

"I can do the double roll on the par'lel bars, too."

"Doggone," Drake exclaimed. "Where'd you learn to do it?"

"Jake Elroy showed me. He can do a lot of things. Come on, Parris, you try."

"I don't think I could do that right away. I guess I'd have to practice. I can skin the cat, though."

"Let's see you. Take off your shoes and stockings and your coat. What you so dressed up for?"

Parris' first effort was not successful. He fell on his back with a thump. It knocked the breath out of him. Randy laughed. "You got to bring yourself up better, then shoot your legs down quick."

With her encouragement and advice Parris made rapid progress, but the double roll was beyond him.

"Try again." She considered his effort seriously. "You could do it pretty soon. I'm tired now. Let's set down and rest."

Soon Randy arose. "I better be goin.' I'll get Hail Columbia if they catch me out here with you all."

They retraced their way along the railroad track. Randy walked along the rail, balancing herself from time to time by a touch on Parris' shoulder. He felt quite happy when she did this and stayed carefully in easy reach.

Randy ran up the embankment. "'By, you all."

"I'm comin' down this way again sometimes," Drake said.

"All right," she answered carelessly. "It's a free country, I guess."

Parris trudged toward home. He was tired and his feet felt heavy. It had been a very long day—like a whole week. The sunlight was beginning to slant now. He hastened his pace a little.

He felt strangely happy. He felt that he was a closer friend of Drake's than he had ever been before. It would be exciting to see him often. And Randy, too. He had never imagined she would be so amusing. He thought of Renee with a sudden stab of contrition. He hadn't thought of her all day, and she was certainly his best friend.

The whole of Kings Row lay on a gentle slope that lifted gradually from the creek on the south to the straggle of Negro quarters that edged the northern boundary of the town with a disreputable fringe of shacks and haphazard lanes. On the northwest the land dropped suddenly down a steep incline. There, at the foot of the hill, was a stretch of level ground perhaps a quarter of a mile square which was the site of Jinktown. Long ago a few foreigners bought tiny lots there and built neat little brick-and-stone houses. It was a village in minature.

Benny was a big, gangling boy of 16, good-natured and, in his awkward fashion, kind. Benny was a halfwit, but his mother was thankful that he was obedient and affectionate.

Mrs. Singer took off her quilted gingham sunbonnet and fanned her flushed face. She hoped Benny would get along all right this year in school. He was having to stay in the same grade again. This was the fourth year he had failed to be promoted. If he were only a little bit quicker with figures he might get a job clerking in a grocery store or something like that. In time—when she was old—he could support her. There might come a day when she would no longer take in washing. Washing was downright hard work.

Benny walked with a slight roll as though his head were too heavy for his body. He was not exactly comfortable in his mind. He was trying to remember something. It was very hard to do. Whenever he tried to think about something or to remember, the whole thing seemed to shiver and dissolve.

Of all the boys in school he believed he liked Drake McHugh best. Drake was very friendly.

All at once he slowed his walk. He remembered now what it was he was trying to think about. He stopped and looked back toward home. Almost he wished he didn't have to go to school. He hadn't been promoted last year and he'd have to stay in the same class with the very young kids. Most of the boys would go on to another room this year and he'd have to stay with Miss Venable again.

When he came in sight of the playground he forgot all about it. Lots and lots of the kids were there already. He hurried. He paused on top of the stile and looked at the boys running about.

They caught sight of him. Fulmer Green shouted, "Looky! There's Benny. C'mon. Ol' crazy Ben!" He winked, screwing his mouth to one side so that his teeth showed all the way back. "C'mon."

A crowd gathered around the stile. Their grins were derisive, but Benny did not know that. Their eyes were eager for some chance to make fun of him—waiting for him to say something silly, but he did not know it. They pushed closer—it was the pack gathering — sensing a victim, but he knew nothing of packs or their ways. Benny was glad to be back at school where there were so many friendly faces.

He stepped down from the stile. "Hello, everybody," he said happily.

The next two years were not exactly pleasant ones for Parris. School itself was less interesting. He had a new teacher, Miss Martha Colt. None of the children liked her.

Parris was not unaware of the changes in himself or unobservant of the changes in others. But almost without noticing it he and his friends began to think of themselves as an older crowd. The children in Miss Venable's room seemed very young. Drake, who was nearly 16, kept his friendship with Parris, who found the association flattering.

Only his friendship for Renee remained unchanged. She still waited for him after school and walked home with him, but she talked more now than she used to—mostly about the other girls and what they said. She was less of a tomboy now in her walk and behavior—more girlish. He realized that she was really very pretty. Other people spoke of it.

On his 14th birthday Parris had his usual birthday supper with a cake and candles. Renee was his only guest. Renee gave him three handkerchiefs with crooked initials worked in the corners. She had made them herself.

After supper Anna, the stout German maid, gave him 14 playful spanks—one for each year—and another to grow on.

"It's after eight, Parris," Madame reminded him. "You'd better walk down to Renee's house with her. It's moonlight. You're not afraid to come back by ourself, are you?"

He flushed. His grandmother didn't seem to realize he was 14 and would have to shave next year. "Of course not," he answered impatiently.

As they went down the terrace steps Renee took his hand.

"I guess I ought to give you 14 licks, too, like Anna did."

He laughed, but the laugh died quickly and his throat tightened. He swallowed. "I'd rather you'd kiss me," he said.

"All right," she said readily. I'll kiss you 14 times." She placed her hands on his shoulders and kissed him on the mouth, counting each time. . . . "12 . . . 13 . . . 14 . . . and a big one to grow on." He returned the embrace awkwardly and they stood for a moment a little breathless. The moon shone full on her face.

"That's the best birthday present I ever had," he said. The gallantry of his speech surprised him, but he was pleased to have said it "I—I love you, Renee."

"I'd like to be your girl. I guess you're my sweetheart, too."

"Let's be sweethearts forever, Renee, you and me."

"All right."

"Cross your heart?" he demanded.

". . . And hope to die," she replied.

"Good night, Renee."

"Well, see you tomorrow, Parris."

"Good night, then."

"G'night." Her voice trailed the words softly. He watched her go up the short walk to her door, her bright hair looking more silver than gold in the moonlight.

Free Throwing Of Visitors Captures Game

In one of the best basketball contests staged here in a long time, No. 1 Initial Training School, R. C.A.F. Toronto, won an action-packed 53-52 decision over Outboard Marines at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night.

While Tony Golab, the golden boy of Ottawa football fame, was posted to Windsor at the last minute, and couldn't make the trip, the Toronto team with a line-up studded with Americal college stars soon made the crowd forget his absence with a dazzling, high-speed attack. Marines took an early lead, lost in the early part of the second half, and then battled valiantly to win out in the thrill-dripped final seconds, but couldn't make it.

After a scoreless opening three minutes, Marines shot a field goal and then steadily built up their lead till near the end of the first half. The R.C.A.F. quintette rallied nicely in the dying minutes of the first period and reduced the Marines' 10-point margin to a 22-19 lead at the half.

The winners pressed to open the last half and took the lead, forging ahead into an elhgt-point advantage midway in the period. Marines came roaring back to within one point fell behind and almost caught up again. With a minute and a half to go they trailed 53-50, but scored one basket to come within a point, and did everything but score the winning counter in the last 60 seconds. with Jimmy Thorburn's sensational attempt from centre just rolling off the edge almost as the game ended. The Toronto team actually won the game on their exceptionally good free throw record, as they tossed in nine of a possible 12 tries while Marines lost it by missing all of their tries. Moulesong, a former Indiana University star, and Hyde, freshly arrived from Sacramento College, were outstanding for the All-Americans, and Joe Stewart and Jimmy Thorburn were the spearheads for the Marines, with each sparking the attack in one half, Stewart getting 16 of his 20 points in the first period and Thorburn throwing in 18in the last half.

The teams:

No. 1 I.T.S. 53—Moulesong 11, Johnson 4. Hyde 9, McLaughlin 10, Harris 5, Cavanaugh 7, McLelland 7.

Outboard Marines 52— Thorburn 18, McArthur 4, McIntyre, Stewart 20 Jakafby 2, McPherson, Craig 8, Rogow, Johnston.

Referee—Nels Stanger.

Conclusion of the Olympic Winter Games at Germany's Garmisch-Partenkirchen, six years ago tonight found Norway in front with 121 points. Canada with ninth with nine points, four of which were gained in hockey.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Peterborough Soldiers will have to wait until tonight to learn whether their opponents in the final series will be Belleville Reliance or Whitby Palm Billiards, but in any case they know they have to go into action here on Wednesday night in the first game of the last round for the group championship. The largest crowd of the season will undoubtedly be on hand at Brock St. Rink for the opening tussle. No matter how interesting the group games prove to be here is always an extra tingle or two to a playoff series that gets the fans excited and that is the case right now with the acid test for the Petes looming up. The Soldier team has been practicing steadily to ready themselves for the final encounter and while they have had a week's layoff, it has apparently done them no harm for they have been stepping along at a lively rate in the workouts and are all ready for the whistle. Right now the whole squad is in good shape. Joe Blewett is back in harness again after a battle with old John B. Flu that kept him in bed most of last week and by Wednesday night, the fast-stepping left-winger should be hitting on all eight.

Belleville and Whitby settle the argument over the right to meet the Petes tonight in Belleville and the game should be a hummer. Each has won a game and in the matter of goals they broke even in the two fixtures played. And both had the handicap of playing one game shy several of their stars, so on that basis too there is little to choose between the two teams. The chief danger to Whitby is the very real risk that some of their players are stale from too much hockey. Last week a bunch of the Whitby stars took part in four games, playing Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights, so that tonight's game will be their fifth in seven days and their third in the last four days. That is too much hockey for any man's team, especially for a squad of amateur players who have to work as well as play hockey. If Whitby overcome that handicap and emerge a winner over the reinforced Reliance tonight they will have earned brackets all around. It is a tough test.

Several times lately The Canadian Press stories have referred to Bill Calladine as the "veteran Norman Calladine." Down this way there is a little natural wonderment as to why a player who is only 26 years old and playing his second year in professional company should be dubbed a veteran. It is true that the Peterborough lad has played a lot of hockey but that is explained by the fact that he made an early start. He broke into O.H.A. hockey with the St. John's juniors when he was only 15 years old and thus he had five seasons in the 'teen age ranks. He was born here in 1916 and there must be dozens of older players in the American League than he is and certainly droves of them with far more professional experience. It is one for the book to refer to a player in his sophmore year in the cash-and-carry circuit as a veteran. However, Bill won't care much so long as he gets his share of goals and he has apparently been doing all right by himself so far as that is concerned.

Although Tony Golab was moved out of No. 1 Initial Training School of the R.C.A.F. at the end of last week and was unable to accompany the Flyers to Peterborough the Eglington outfit combined with the Outboard Marines to stage by long odds the fastest and most exciting cage tilt of the year at the Y.M.C.A. gym Saturday night. The R.C.A.F. squad, made up entirely of American players, won the battle by one point, 53 to 52 and they don't make basketball games much closer than that. Outboards had a slight scoring edge all through the first half and led at half time by 22 to 19, but the American stars turned on the heat in the second half to outscore the home talent 34 to 30 in a hectic, high-scoring period that had the fans hanging out of the gallery before the final whistle. The ball-handling of the visiting squad, led by Moulesong, the big Indiana boy, and their bullet passing was a revelation to the crowd and it was only the fact that the Marines were a little better on the trigger than the Yank airmen that enabled the Peterborough team to make it a ding-dong battle. Joe Stewart in the first half and Jimmy Thorburn after the rest period had their sights on the target and their sniping matched the clever play of the visitors.

* * * * * *

The Flyers sold themselves to the crowd and to the home team as a fine bunch of sportsmen. The whole eight players on the visiting squad hail from south of the border, representing as many different states. In fact the only Canadian with the outfit was Flying Officer Light, manager of the team, and they laughingly referred to him as an alien. Hyde, a lanky Californian, whose home is in Sacramento only arrived in Toronto Saturday but he fitted in with the team as if he had been with them all season, taking the place of Tony Golab in effective fashion. In fact he was one of the stars of the engagement. Incidentally the big Californian was not greatly smitten with his first night of Canadian winter weather. While Peterborough folk were commenting on the mildness of the night, he took a look at a thermometer hanging outside a George street store, shivered and remarked: "If I were running the Chamber of Commerce here I'd never allow anyone to hang a thermometer outside. It shows the weather up too much."

Slump of the New York Rangers over the week-end was the big feature of the N.H.L. program. Lester Patrick's crew kept their consecutive scoring record intact but that was all they saved out of games with Canadiens and Amerks. The Canadiens walloped them 5 to 3 in Montreal on Saturday night and on Sunday the Brooklyn Amerks, winning their second game of the season from the Rangers, hung up a 5 to 1 win at the expense of the Young Men of Manhattan. Thus two games that the Rangers had some reason to believe were in the bag exploded in their faces and as a result the New Yorkers are only two points ahead of Boston and the Leafs who are tied for second slot and the Leafs have a game in hand over the leaders. Last night's defeat was the third in a row for Rangers. However the sad fate of his team did not prevent Bryan Hextall from doing quite well by himself. Hextall picked up two goals and an assist to tighten his hold as scoring leader.

* * * * * *

Leafs and Canadiens improved their position Saturday night by victories over the Detroit Red Wings and the Rangers respectively, Leafs beat Detroit 4 to 2 despite the fact that the Red Wings scored the first goal and kept the Leafs big line off the score sheet. Billy Taylor was the Toronto hero, figuring in three goals. At Montreal the Canadiens played one of their best games of the season to wallop New York 5 to 3 but they slipped back again Sunday night when they invaded Detroit and were walloped 5 to 0. At that they probably regarded the feat as a moral victory because the previous appearance of the Canadiens in Detroit saw them beaten 10 to 0. Boston Bruins playing powerful hockey despite the loss of the Kraut line, Bill Cowley and Dit Clapper gave Chicago a terrific battle before succumbing 2 to 0, the second Black Hawk goal being scored on a breakaway near the end of the game after the Bruins had done everything but score on repeated attacks.

Westclox Girls Defeat St. John's 19-15

Westclox strengthened their play-off chances in the Ladies' Basketball League by downing St. John's 19-15 in a well-played game at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday night. The Westclockers set up a 12-4 lead in the early half and St. John's found the eight points too much to make up in the final period despite a desperate rally.

The winners had a decided edge in the opening period both on the attack and defensively, while St. John's threw away a lot of good chances with faulty shooting. The losers had a good share of the play in this half, but passed up their scoring opportunities. However, after the rest period they began to peck away at the Westclox lead and were closing the gap at the finish, but Westclox had enough left to hold on to the final whistle. St. John's passed up an excellent chance to win out by scoring, but three free throws in the nine chances given them by Westclox' six fouls. St. John's were guilty of but two fouls, and Westclox scored one free throw. St. John's stopped Westclox' passing attack in the last half with a strong defence and held the edge both ways at the finish. A. Flynn and F. Bestard were outstanding for Westclox, scoring nine and eight points, respectively, and A. Bowler and T. Laws were best for St. John's.

The teams:

Westclox 19 — A. Flynn 9, F. Bestard 8 M. Hawthorne 2, T. Bullock. M. McFayden, Patterson, J. Crowe.

St. John's 15 — D. Groombridge, A. Bowler 9, E. Hewitt 1, M. Mason, E. Foster, F. Gynane, M. Ellis, E. Clark 1 T. Laws 4.

Referees—L. Grose and H. Macdonald.

CURLING NEWS

By HERB MARTIN

There will be a double header tonight—7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

It is expected that seven rinks will motor up from Oshawa, either Tuesday or Wednesday evening and will play a friendly game with seven Peterborough rinks.

If the plans of the committee go through as expected, it is more than likely that the Neill Trophy competition will commence at 6.45 p.m. Thursday evening. Skips are asked to contact Jim Harkness, secretary, at once. Make sure your entry is in.

Late yesterday afternoon, Miss M. Patterson received a wire from the ladies, playing in the bonspiel down at the Seignority Club, stating that Mrs. C. Westbrook's rink was successful runners up in the consolation event. They also wired congratulations to the ladies' club here on the success of their Friday bonspiel. Mrs. C. W. Westbrooke was assisted by Miss G. Patterson, Mrs H. Dulmage and Mrs. L. Leach. We, along with hosts of local curlers, men and women, extend to Mrs. Westbrooke and her rink heartiest congratulations on their success. The ladies arrived home early this morning, having came up on the C.P.R. train from Ottawa.

And while we are writing about bonspiels, we think we would be considered a little lax if we did not pay tribute to our own club on the success of the two open bonspiels held here during the past week.

Already full reports have appeared in the daily Examiner. The results of the games have been made known, but to-day we want to pass along a word of praise to the 'hidden workers'; those who are so important to any organization in order that their undertakings will be successful.

At the men's 'spiel on Wednesday it must have been gratifying to the members of the executive committee to know that their efforts in putting across the competition for the Canada Packers Trophy was so successful that many late entries had to be refused. To bat 100 p.c. is always a mark to shoot at, but when the percentage is much higher than that then it speaks well for our club, our officers, our system and our conditions under which we play this grand winter sport. We honestly believe the success of it all lies in the fact that we have a live wire organization, headed by men who are on the job on the hour and every hour.

With regards to the ladies' 'spiel held on Friday last it can be truthfully said that in this their first effort of its kind, they acquitted themselves nobly. We believe the event went over bigger and better than anyone ever hoped for. This was accomplished in no small way through the generosity of Wes Champ, who certainly went all out in donating to the ladies the first and second sets of prizes.

And then along with that the co-operation accorded the committee was real and genuine, each trying to do so much for the other, the friendly spirit that prevailed all through the games. Tre sportsmanship of the players was noticed by the spectators and many nice compliments were passed around.

We congratulate the chairman of their different committees, the individual committee members and to all others who in one way or another stepped in and helped put over this big undertaking.

We are of the opinion that when better bonspiels will be offered it will fall to the lot of the ladies and men of the Peterborough cub to do so.

NEW YORK DROPS TWO GAMES TO CANADIENS AND AMERICANS

Toronto Leafs Are In Tie With The Bruins

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

New York Rangers have suffered the ultimate disgrace—decisive defeats on consecutive nights by Montreal Canadiens and Brooklyn Americans.

Although it seems almost impossible to imagine a worse psychological jolt, the immediate results were not outwardly important. Rangers maintained their position at the top of the National Hockey League despite the double-dishonor of losing 5-3 to Canadiens Saturday night and 5-1 to Americans Sunday night. Chicago Black Hawks blanked Boston 2-0 in Chicago Sunday night to choke off the one club which could have pulled into a tie for leadership.

In other weekend games, Toronto Maple Leafs stopped Detroit Red Wings 4-2 in Toronto Saturday night and Wings blanked Canadiens 5-0 in Detroit Sunday night.

Three Losses For Leaders

The defeat ran Rangers into three straight losses, worst string since the first weeks of the season, and emphasized the extent to which the New York defence can blow on occasion. A defensive lapse in the second period at Montreal cost that game, and the same condition in the second against Americans in New York gave Brooks their edge. Rangers still may be the team of the year, but their constituents will not be advised to lay the family flintlock on any one game.

Star of Weekend

Don Grosso was the star of the week-end. The stalwart (5 feet, 11 inches; 170 pounds) Sault Ste. Marie product had two goals and three assists in Detroit's two games. He scored Wings' second goal against Toronto, and had a goal and three assists against Canadiens.

Billy Taylor scored once and had two assists for Leafs against Detroit. Lorne Carr, Hank Goldup and Bucko McDonald scored Toronto's other goals, with Mud Bruneteau counting Detroit's first. Syd Abel, Ed Wares, Ed Bush and Bruneteau counting Detroit's first. Syd Abel, Ed Wares, Ed Bush and Bruneteau scored after Grosso to put Canadiens away Sunday night. It was Johnny Mowers' fourth shutout.

Canucks' victory over Rangers showed the razzle-dazzle line of Peter Morin, Buddy O'Connor and Gerry Heffernan to the best advantage since they turned professional. O'Connor scored twice and Heffernan once, with Morin getting three assists. Charlie Sands and Joe Benoit were other Montreal scorers, with Bryan Hextall, Alex Shibicky and Phil Watson sniping the New York goals.

A crowd of 15,017 persons watched Brooklyn do a businesslike chore of waltzing all over Rangers Sunday night. It looked like a parade for Rangers in the first with Hexall scoring, but it turned into a marching and chowder party for Red Dutton's fellows (can't call them bums after that) in the second. Bill Summerhill, Murray Armstrong and Murph Chamberlain scored in the second for Amerks, Harry Watson and Norm Larson in the third.

Chamberlain Looked Good

It was Chamberlain's first appearance for Americans after the trade that sent Red Heron to Canadiens. He centred Mel Hill and Bill Benson, and looked good.

Red Hamill and Bob Carse were Chicago scorers as the Bruins performed for the first time without the Kitchener line. The second goal was scored late in the third while Earl Seibert, Chicago's veteran defenceman, was serving a five-minute penalty for throwing his stick. Chicago's colorful rookie winger, Bill Mosienko, suffered a wrenched ankle in the second period and did not play thereafter.

Toronto and Boston are tied in second place, two points behind Rangers. Chicago is four points out of second place, with Brooklyn and Detroit still tied in fifth and Canadiens last.

Not Always The Swift

Jeffries Talks Of Rigid Rules

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—(CP)—The principal criticism James J. Jeffries makes to modern day fighters is that few of them pay much heed to rigid training rules—and rigid is the word.

The big boilermaker, who held the world's heavyweight championship against all comers from 1899 until he retired undefeated in 1905, knew and practiced all the rules of hard conditioning.

Miles of roadwork, hours of ringwork and bag punching—and years of training before he began his real career as a prizefighter, were part and parcel of the Jeffries success formula. He won and held his laurels in the hardest kind of way.

That is why Big Jim today holds a certain scorn for some of the fancy-dans. Present day fistic spectacles draw an interested eye from Big Jim, but he takes them more or less in stride. After all, he dominated one of the greatest periods in the sport, and whipped the best those days had to offer. Twice he whipped the great Fitzsimmons, twice he knocked out the boxing master, Corbett, and his victories over the runners-up of that day, Sailor Tom Sharkey, Joe Choynski, Gus Ruhlin and those big bruisers are epics of ring history.

The one knockout against his record, when Jack Johnston stopped him in 15 rounds in 1910, came five years after he had officially retired from ring action. He was 35 years old then and weighed 285 pounds. It stands today as no disgrace against Jim Jeffries. Far from it.

Jeffries, born in 1875, lolls the most of his time fishing, keeping an administrative hand over his little farm and fight club in suburban Burbank.

Pole Vaulter Sets New Mark

BOSTON. Feb. 16 — (AP). — World record-smasher Corny Warmerdam, who pole vaults mostly with his head, having made a science of his specialty, feared that the length of his arms would prevent him from gaining his 16-foot goal as he prepared to-day to resume his school teaching tasks in Piedmont, Calif.

Ten days ago, Warmerdam, the only vaulter to clear 15 feet, which he has done 15 times, took a vacation with the hopes of achieving his ogal during New York's Millrose and the Boston A.A. Games.

Last week he added the world indoor record to his outdoor mark of 15 feet 5¾ inches by vaulting 15 feet ⅛ inches at New York. Then with high hopes, he came here. for he regarded the Boston Garden's vaulters' runway and pit as the best in the world.

He had 10 tried here, and, before he used them up, he had raised his new indoor record to 15 feet 7¼ inches, highest vault made in history and had three failures at 15 feet 10 inches, just 2 inches short of his supposedly unattainable goal.

"According to the charts I have made about vaulting, my height of six feet indicates that my arms are a bit too short to clear 16 feet," he explained after barely missing one goal. On his final 15-10 try, he appeared to be over by at least four inches but an elbow jolted the bar off its pins as he descended.

"I don't know whether I ever will come east again." Corny mourned, as an amazed crowd of 14,281 track fans roared a wall-shaking ovation. "I think I now am at my physical peak; at 28, and, since outdoor weather and wind conditions are erratic, I regard an indoor meet, especially one held in the Boston Garden, as an ideal site for my 16-foot vaulting attempts."

Winnipeg Cager Sets Hot Pace

VANCOUVER, Feb. 16.—(CP)—George McConnell, curly-haired sharp-shooter of Tookes' entry in the men's senior Intercity Basketball League here, is setting a hot pace in the individual scoring race and has been one of the mainstays of their quest for the league title.

McConnell, who came here from Winnipeg about three years ago, is rolling up points faster than ever before witnessed in these parts. He has swished the basket for 220 points in 14 games this season for an exceptional average of 15 a game. He has a field goal percentage of .338, which means he sinks about in every three shots.

Tookes have set the pace lately but now share first place in league standings with Shores with 22 points each and a sudden death game will be necessary to determine who will win the bye into the finals for the league championship.

In his first year of senior ball here McConnell topped the league in individual scoring. Last year he transferred from Tookes to Maple Leafs and his average fell off. But, once again teamed with Tookes, he is firing with deadly accuracy.

Manager Ian McLeod of Tookes says McConnell's scoring success is attributed chiefly to the fact that he never lets fly at the basket until he is "set" or has a 50-50 chance of converting.

Alsab Finishes Fourth In Field Of Six

HIALEAH, Fla., Feb. 15. — Alsab handed the turf a second straight shock Sunday afternoon at Hialeah when, attempting to atone for his poor debut last Saturday, he ran just as poorly and finished fourth in a field of six horses. Still looking poorly, and showing no improvement whatever under Eddie Arcaro's riding, Mrs. Albert Sabath's juvenile champion of 1941 was defeated seven lengths by Mrs. Ralph McIlvain's Bright Willie, which stepped into the Derby picture with a new record for the mile course.

Leading all the way while most in the crowd of 15,845 were watching Alsab in wonderment, Bright Willie turned the mile in 1:36 3-5. Private timers clocked him in 1:36 1-5.

Another Whirly?

Although Mrs. Vera S. Bragg's Transient on the Evening Handicap for fillies and mares and Arnold Hanger's Dit made a good showing in the St. Valentine purse at six furlongs, Alsab once again was the talk of Hialeah. People asked: Has he eliminated himself as a potentially great thoroughbred? Or, is he going to be another Whirlaway, which seemed hopeless here last winter and then went North to win the triple crown? In the stable where Alsab is quartered they were a little discouraged. Certainly the Alsab that has now been defeated twice at Hieleah is not the same colt that swept all before him last year.

Some people attempted to make excuses for Alsab. They said he might not like the track. That he looks as though he has developed contracted hooves, which could cause him pain in running on the Hialeah racing strip. But one and all they were agree that he does not look well. A great many wished that such a splendid colt had been left to winter in Kentucky or at a course in New York where you will always find the best 3-year-old prospects that Jim Fitzsimmons has in his barn. They feared that Alsab might now be a victim of overtraining, months before the Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

He Looks Good

Just as Alsab came out of this race with his reputation frayed at the edges, Bright Willie, by the same token, came out a genuine prospect for all that lies ahead of the 3-year-olds. The son of Brilliant broke alertly under Alfred Robertson, and ran as though the 116 pounds he had up was a mere feather. He quickly opened a lead on the others and coasted home three lengths in front of Circle M. Ranch's Sir War. Mrs. S. S. Zell's Incoming was third, two lengths behind the second horse, and two lengths in front of Alsab.

Bright Willie made the trip in 0:23 2-5, 0:46 3-5, 1:10 4-5, and 1.36 3-5, which was flying all the way.

Dukes Upset Oshawa Juniors

OSHAWA. Feb. 16 (Special) — Marlboros' juniors celebrated Valentine's Day with a 3-2 upset victory over the Oshawa Generals here on Saturday night and by so doing bettered their chances of finishing in third place in the final Big Seven group standing.

Showing a complete reversal of form in comparison with their other league appearance here, Jack Sinclair's Dukes started right in from the opening faceoff to extend the Generals, and by dint of steady pressure and sound defensive play they more than held their own.

All the goals were scored in the same net. Elliott did the trick first on a nifty solo rush at the twelve-minute mark of the initial period and it proved the only one. During a ganging act while a Duke served a penalty the Generals tied it up when Mortimer's shot found its way through the melee in front of the net early in the second period. Jim Galbraith's good rush put Oshawa out in front as the waiting McNaught got his stick to his pass and scored.

Oshawa Goalie Hurt

Goalie Waddell was struck over the right eye and badly cut by the puck, shot by one of his own men in the warm-up session just before the third period opened. Waddell had to leave the game to receive medical attention and Dick Schad took over in the nets. This factor did not detract from the Marlboro victory, however, for Schad had no chance on the two that beat him. However, the absence of Ronnie Nelson was apparent in the complete lack of scoring punch displayed by that line.

Ellis scored the tying goal early in the third period after getting a clear path to the goal by virtue of Mara's tricky shift that completely hoodwinked the Oshawa rearguard. Mara scored the winning tally himself with a repeat performance shortly after the midway mark had been passed.

For the remainder of the game Marlboros, backed by Thompson's brilliant netminding and great defense work by Garrett and Gair, kept the desperate Generals at bay. Guidolin's penalty near the finish also helped the Marlies and the bell found them still hanging grimy to their slim lead.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP).—Unanswerable questions: How high can Cornelius Warmerdam pole vault?....Well, after coming as close as he did to 15-10 Saturday night we don't see what will stop him short of his 16-foot goal....Who is going to beat Greg Rice?....Best answer seems to be "nobody."

How are they going to build up a Joe Louis-Billy Conn championship fight for next June?....Latest report is that Billy will fight either Lou Nova or Gus Lesnevich in an attempt to show that he's better than he looked against Tony Zale Friday.

Who is the No. 1 man in the fight business?....If you don't know that one, you should have been at the Garden Friday....The fans forgot all about a rip-snorting scrap between Jimmy Webb and Johnny Colan to stand up and stare when Private Joe Louis Barrow, looking every inch a soldier, came down the aisle.

Today's Guest Star.

Jim Wray, St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "If Coach Burt Shotton, as reported by Burt himself, is drawing $15,000 a year salary from Cleveland, what will the Indians' new manager, Lou Boudreau, draw Probably a long breath."

Boston hockey writers didn't wait until the end of the season to award the Du Fresne trophy to the most valuable Bruin this year. They unanimously voted for the three 'Kraut' kids....Mrs. Don Faurot, wife of the Missouri coach, wears a bracelet with 11 gold footballs earned by her husband attached to it—and has a couple of spares.

Postman's Paragraph.

V. L. Szczygiel of Leavenworth, Kans., pens a report on a group of bowlers there who have been carrying on a two-team rivalry for 21 years with only three changes in the lineups. Two of the the founders died and one retired....Can any of the old-timers beat that?....Bernard Kahn of the Daytona Beach (Fla) News-Journal thinks time surely must have flown since Leo Durocher trained there with the Cardinals and won the local golf club championship.

Week-End Stars

Norman Dutton Scores Three To Beat Grove

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16.—Norman Dutton, 15-year-old son of Red Dutton, manager of the Brooklyn Americans of the N.H.L., scored three goals to pace Pickering College Seniors to an 8-1 victory over Grove School, in a Prep. School game at Lakefield Saturday. It was the first triumph of the season for the Pickering team and was made more surprising in view of the fact that Grove had scored a 10-3 victory in a previous clash between the two teams. Perry and Sherry each counted twice and Partridge once for the winners. The lone Grove counter was scored by Pope.

Grove got an even break on the day by winning the midget game, 3-2.

War Workers Complete Eighty Quilts

SELWYN, Feb. 16—(ENS).—The regular meeting of the Selwyn war workers was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting on Wednesday with fifteen ladies present. At this meeting a report of the year's work of 1941 was read by the secretary, Mrs. Reg. Bell, which proved to be very gratifying.

Throughout the year, different social affairs were held, moving pictures presented and quilts made and tickets sold on them, these being the only way the ladies had of raising funds with which to carry on their noble work, and in all $180 was realized.

Salvage Wanted

A salvage drive was organized which netted the fund $76.72 with another load of salvage ready for collection in the early spring. Of their meagre and hard-earned money, the ladies kindly donated $25 to the British War Victims Fund in the past year and at Christmas time they remembered three of the local boys with boxes, who are now serving in our active forces overseas.

The finished articles that have been turned in to the Salvation Army in the past year include: 70 quilts, 44 pair socks, 35 scarfs, 3 sweaters, 2 pair mitts, and 1 baby jacket.

Besides this, there is a large amount of articles on hand, not included in this list.

Eight More Quilts

The president, Mrs. C. Whitmore, presented the ladies with an account of the year's purchases. This included money spent for yarn, quilt material and etc.

Eight quilts were completed on Wednesday and knitting turned in included eight pair socks, and two scarfs. In the account of the last meeting a slight error was made in the report of the knitting turned in, instead of one scarf, there were eighteen scarfs completed.

A letter of thanks was read from Russell Elliott for the Christmas box sent to him. At the noon-hour the usual sumptuous pot-luck dinner was served.

Mrs. Lou McIlmoyle kindly invited the ladies to meet at her home on February 25 for their next meeting.

Valentine Social Held In Hastings

HASTINGS, Feb. 16 — (ENS). — Between 75 and 100 people attended the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Valentine Party on Wednesday evening. The basement was attractively decorated in keeping for the occasion with hearts and valentines. Rev. D. K. Perrie was chairman. Donald Beamish led in community singing before the program.

Farm Stock Is Sold

Mr. Wilfred Cook of Percy disposed of his farm stock and implements by public auction on Thursday afternoon with Golden Andrews as auctioneer. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are giving up farming and with their three boys intend moving to the village. Their many friends in Percy wish them good luck and regret to hear of their departure.

Progressive Euchre

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beamish were host and hostess for a progressive euchre on Tuesday evening, in aid of Funds for the Cobourg Road Red Cross. $6.50 was realized for this purpose. Six tables of euchre were played, and winners were Miss Clara Williamson and Mr. Rae McCracken, with Mr. Learl Humphries taking the lucky chair prize.

Fife Settlement Ladies Meet

Mrs. W. S. Fife was hostess to the ladies of the Fife neighborhood for their regular meeting for the Red Cross. Two quilts were quilted during the afternoon and 14 blouses made since the last meeting. A progressive euchre on Friday, February 20th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Elmhirst, was planned.

Euchre Party Is Held In Aid Of War Fund

WARSAW, Feb. 16—(ENS).—The euchre party and dance for the war fund held in the Town Hall last week, was a decided success in spite of the extreme cold.

Thirteen tables were played and the net proceeds amounted to well over $8.

Prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Payne, Miss Janet McIntosh, Messrs. Wilbert and George Cooper. Wright's orchestra supplied the music for dancing. Another party will be held in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening February 18 for the War Fund.

W.M.S. Meets

The February meeting of the United Church W.M.S. was held at the home of Mr. George Taylor on Thursday afternoon.

After the opening exercises a committee of Mrs. G. Taylor, Mrs. Arthur Edward and Mrs. E. D. Snelgrove, was appointed to meet with committee from the other churches to make arrangements for program for world's Day of Prayer, to be held in United Church on February 20.

The idea of donations in birthday cake will be carried on again this year. The meetings will be at 2.30 D.S.T. in accord with new time law.

Roll call to be answered by Bible verse or name of missionary working in China.

It was left with the executive to make whatever plans necessary for tea or social to be held later in the month.

A very full report of the Presbyterial meeting in Peterborough was given by Mrs. Harold Payne.

An associate helpers' group has been formed in this auxiliary and will take the same responsibility as an organized group.

Mrs. Snelgrove led the devotional period with Bible readings by Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Ray, and Mrs. Darlin, with prayer by Mrs. G. Payne, Mrs. Darling and Mrs. Edwards.

Flag Raising Opens Victory Loan

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CHIMNEY FIRE

Firemen responded to an alarm Saturday at 560 Chamberlain street where a chimney took fire. No damage was caused.

HAD TO BE POSTPONED.

Owing to the absence of Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., a non-support charge against a local man had to be enlarged until Wednesday when called in police court this morning. Mr. Gordon is representing the wife in the case. Bail was fixed at $200.

FRACTURES ANKLE.

ILLEGAL CONSUMPTION.

Pleading guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a place other than a residence a local factory worker, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning. The charge was laid by Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan.

WANT TO GET FINES.

Charged with drunkenness a local man and an Otonabee resident both succeeded in securing adjournments when they appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court to-day. Both wanted time to secure money to pay their fines and the Otonabee man, who is charged as a second offender will have to dig up $50.

HAS HEAD CUT.

Gerald Snelgrove, 39 Hunter street east, sustained a cut on the side of his head, requiring two stitches Saturday night when a truck driven by Leo Herr backing out from the east side of Aylmer street collided with the automobile Snelgrove was driving north on Aylmer street. Windows in Snelgrove's car were shattered and he was cut by broken glass.

TWO MORE DONATIONS

A group of women at Bailieboro who have formed a "Milk for Britain" club sent along a $25.00 donation to the local Kinsmen Club this morning, and today another donation of $10.00 came in, this being from the Peterborough Chapter Hadassah. These two donations, make the third substantial gifts that have come to the Fund since the hockey game last week.

HUNGRY, PERHAPS

Somebody wanted a feed of salmon and apparently didn't have the money to pay for it. During the heavy snowstorm a week ago, a passerby lifted a large salmon from the stand outside the north store of F. and G. chain, and the manager figured he was out one fish. However when he arrived at the store on Monday morning, he found the fish, all except two pounds of it, neatly wrapped in a parcel lying alongside the store door. Either the fish lifter is very honest, or else he didn't just fancy the flavor.

THE WRONG FIGURE

Many people in this city have the idea that Wartime Houses built here cost upwards of $3,000 each because of total figures published last week, and in which most people just divided the number of houses into the total cost. In places like Hamilton the correct figure per house could be obtained by doing this, because in these places houses were built on city property which had sidewalks, sewers, etc., whereas here roads, sewers, sidewalks, filling and all other improvements are lumped in with the cost of the houses.

JOINS ORDNANCE

K. E. Godfrey of Lindsay was the only active service recruit to leave here Saturday. He joined the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps.

KEN ROBERTS IN R.C.A.F.

A former employee of the Westclox plant here, Kenneth Roberts has joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and is now stationed at Manning Depot in Toronto.

THIS GIRL NEEDS HELP

A young woman living in this city, who is unemployed, had the misfortune to lose all of her money, $25, while downtown shopping on Saturday. She believes the money dropped out of her purse near the corner of George and Simcoe streets. If the finder will leave the money at The Examiner office, it will help this young woman out of a most distressing situation.

Many Farmers Ignore Rural Survey

"I'm going to sit on the fence and let the world go by."

That was one of the comments quoted this morning to the members of the Agricultural War Council from the hundreds of replies to the list of questions recently submitted to Peterborough farmers in the survey of rural Ontario, directed by the Provincial Department of Agriculture for the purpose of obtaining information reflecting actual farm conditions as the 1942 season of planting and production approaches.

It was accepted as an exceptional note of humor rather than as an index of a spirit of futility and frustration in contrast with the concensus of practical suggestions mixed with others which might fall within the category of wishful thinking.

The members of the committee are Reeve M. H. Johnston of North Monaghan, chairman; Stanley Wood, Gordon Hancock Reeve P. J. Mather Otonabee, Lt.-Col. F. E. Birdsall, Reeve Jas. Gifford of Ennismore and George Elliott of Norwood Mr. Elliott had not arrived at 11 o'clock this morning as the other members began a discussion of method of dealing with the 950 replies piled up before them.

The first reaction of the committee was some sense of disappointment that the number for co-operating farmers had fallen below one thousand. Hopes had been held out for something like 1,500 replied to the questionnaire, of which more than 2,000 had been distributed throughout the county.

An Examiner reporter left the meeting while the members were considering whether they should make another effort to induce some more hundreds of farmers to comply with the request to supply the facts which this survey seeks. The information is confidential, and will be reviewed in the spirit of sincerity which runs through the sheafs of answers. The Agricultural War Council is continuing its day's sessions this afternoon.

Quite a number of farmers said that production could be promoted this year if tractors and some other farm machinery were made available to them on a rental basis.

One man wrote that the production of his farm could be increased three times that of last year if he had the help and machinery he needed.

Exchange of farm help on the basis of neighborhood co-operation was another idea. Some man could hardly have been taking a long view of the war in his comment that farmers did not want to be left stranded by a sudden drop in prices.

"I haven't much idea of what could be done regarding methods of meeting the 1942 labor problem"; "Leave capable farm youths on the farm"; "Too much grain is going into alcoholic beverages"; "put the prisoners of war to work"; "release the pupils of secondary schools as was done last year"; "send power machinery and help to the farms'; "why place a ceiling on farm products where the floor should be."

"Conscript man power, industry and capital"; "give us experienced help and better weather"; "we need more electric power and equipment"; "why not give women more opportunities to work in the factories?"; "we need better prices to buy machinery that is required in farm work."

Three Hundred Soldiers At Ceremony

The Second Victory Loan campaign started in high gear this morning when 41 canvassers in the city and 25 in the county started off bright and early to push the objective of $2,750,000 over the top and keep Peterborough county in the vanguard of districts with a reputation for getting things done.

In the first Victory Loan, the objective for this county was set at $2,800,000 and the amount was over-subscribed in the time allotted by more than $300,000. Organisers here today were confident that with an objective $50,000 below the first campaign total, the drive should be over-subscribed without trouble if every person pulls his weight.

The Special Names Committee headed by Gordon S. Matthews, has been given the task of raising $1,000,000, while the balance of $1,750,000 is divided between the city and county. Besides the organization mentioned above, every industry in the city which has more than 50 employees has a special internal organization to canvass the employees for cash purchases or for purchases through a payroll deduction plan.

Receives Pledge

Highlight of the opening of the drive took place this afternoon when soldiers from the Military Training Centre, Collegiate cadets and students, and high ranking local militia officers, teamed up with members of the City Council, and the Victory Loan Committee to take part in an impressive flag raising ceremony at the Confederation Square.

More than 300 soldiers, a representative group from the Training Centre at the Exhibition Park under command of Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., E.D., officer commanding the local Centre paraded up George street headed by the band of the Peterborough Rangers to the War Memorial in Confederation Square.

Prior to the soldiers arriving, the bugle and drum corps of the Peterborough Collegiate cadets played several numbers, and the entire high school was dismissed at three o'clock to take part in the program.

Mr. Vincent Eastwood, chairman of the Peterborough County organization handed the pledge flag, a huge ensign on a white field with a large maple leaf on the white field as well, to Mayor James Hamilton. The flag and its hand over is symbolic, in that the Mayor accepts the challenge on behalf of the citizens to subscribe for more than $2,750,000 worth of Victory Bonds. Two salutes were fired from rifles, and while the flag was being raised the Cadet Band played the General Salute. Then when the flag reached the mast head and billowed out in the breeze, the band of the Prince of Wales Rangers, played the National Anthem.

Four flag shells, which when detonated hurled projectiles high in the air were set off, and when the projectiles burst, four tiny flags suspended in parachutes floated slowly to the ground.

In handing the pledge flag over to the Mayor, Mr. Eastwood addressed the gathering of soldiers, students and citizens as follows:

This ceremony is planned to impress to the utmost all citizens with the great responsibility resting upon them to ensure that the Second Victory Loan 1942 shall be tremendously oversubscribed. It's foreword is that out of our abundant resources we shall "Lend for Victory."

The history yet to be written which this part of the British Empire beyond the seas is playing in the present world upheaval must be worthy of our shining opportunity, and overwhelming proof of the proud faith we have in our British Commonwealth and her allies. Today from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from that invisible boundary in the South, to far north of the Arctic Circle, our representatives have pledged themselves to enter every home, shop, factory, farm and institution, enlisting our dollars and our credit so that through no lack of these absolutely necessary funds shall we fail to provide our forces in the air, on the sea, and on land, with weapons essential to ensure certain Victory for that freedom which is the heritage of our Empire and the many nations whom we are privileged to call our Allies.

This shining opportunity is ours. This Canada of ours is dedicated to nothing less. In the Immortal words written by our own Lt.-Col. John McRae "In Flander's Fields"—"If ye break faith with those who die—we shall not sleep though Poppies grow in Flander's Fields."

By direction of the Government of this Dominion of Canada we hand this Emblem of Justice, Right and Truth, to His Worship Mayor Hamilton, for the further completion of this ceremony."

The opening of the Loan was heralded this morning by the sounding of the big whistle down at the plant of the Canadian General Electric Company at nine o'clock with three long blasts. At noon the People's Chimes in St. John's Anglican church were played for more than 15 minutes, a further reminder to the industrial workers hurrying home to lunch, that they were living in a free country, but one in which freedom was threatened.

JOHN CLARK

Former Warden John Clark Dies Age Of 70

A former warden of Peterborough county and reeve of Galway and Cavendish for many years, John Clark, 70, of Kinmount, died Sunday after an illness of about ten days.

He was the last surviving member of veterans of early part of century, John McIntosh of North Monaghan, Bob Shaw of Harvey and C. J. Darling of Dummer, and served as reeve as long as any other reeve ever headed a township in this county.

Mr. Clark was born in Galway township and was a life-long resident of the Kinmount area. In 1918, he came to the county council as reeve of Galway and Cavendish and for 12 consecutive years represented his township. In 1923 after he served five years on the county council, he was elected to the wardenship for a year.

Mr. Clark was a member of the first pension board of the county council in 1929 when the act came into being. In 1930, he left the council for five years, returning again in 1935 for three years until 1938, when he retired. Upon his retirement he was appointed road superintendent of his township, a position he held until his death on Sunday.

Mr. Clark's passing occurred at Lindsay at the home of his sister. His wife, the former Margaret O'Connor, died a little over a month ago. He was a member of St. Patrick's Parish, Kinmount.

Surviving are six sisters: Mrs. Lewis Doherty, Mrs. John Pearson, Mrs. John Hurst, all of Kinmount; Mrs. Wilfred O'Brien of Lindsay, Mrs. Sam Pearson of Long Branch, and Mrs. John Byrne of Edmonton; two nieces, Mrs. E. Ferren and Mrs. L. Hickson of Peterborough; one nephew, Tom Pearson of this city.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday morning from the family residence, Galway township, proceeding to St. Patrick's Church for Mass of Requiem at 10 a.m. Interment will be made in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

F. N. Northcott In Second Crash

Friday the 13th was true to its hazardous implications as far as L.A.C. F. N. Northcott, of the R.C.A.F. is concerned, and to-day he is recovering from a severe shaking up which followed his second crash within a month

Northcott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Northcott, 344 Mark street, Peterborough, and a month ago his place washed out when it smacked a high tension wire, and the flier spent several days in the hospital. On Friday while on routine flight in about the same spot, he had trouble again and the plane crashed, and was extensively damaged, but Northcott escaped almost without injury. He is serving at the elementary flying school at Oshawa, and has been in two or three accidents which have occurred at the school since it started a year ago.

Minor Injuries Suffered By Skiers

Hundreds of skiers journeyed to Rifle Ranges on Sunday for some excellent skiing, and the ski-tow was kept busy during the afternoon, as young and old gamboled on the snowy slopes of the big hill.

One young chap streaking down from the top of the Rifle Range Hill obviously out of control at a speed well beyond his skiing ability hurt his wrist when he had a bad spill, and another youngster had his sweater caught in the ski-rope and was pulled up to the safety gate, where his impact shut off the tow. He suffered a shaking up but no injuries. The only damage was a bad tear in his trousers, from coming in contact with the gate. He was offered a ride home by the officials after he had skiied downhill again, and accepted the favor.

Children's Work To Help Local War Fund

Since the Christmas season of 1941 passed, the splendid work done by children to help the victims of enemy air raids over Britain, through the local and district fund operating for that purpose, had somewhat subsided. A new start is being made.

On Friday, the tiny tots of Confederation School gave up entirely the giving and receiving of Valentines, and brought money instead. Their contribution was the largest given in the school, and they made a little ceremony out of the act of presentation by having Trevor Hoy of Grade 1 state the amount, and Alice Pilling of Grade 11 present the gaily decorated box of coins. The children were much impressed, for three of them brought their little contribution after the fund was closed.

The usual treat given by the teachers, though small, were dispensed with, and to that extent all the children in the school shared. This school has helped the fund along several times before, and in forwarding the amount of $7.15 to the fund, Mrs. H. B. Jackson, the principal, wished that the amount was larger, but hoped to again support the fund at a later date.

Two other schools are listed, both from the surrounding district, with Miss Annie Cameron of Birdsall School bringing in $3 from the pupils, and S.S. No. 5 Monaghan, Miss M. Smith, teacher, bringing in $4 as the result of a draw held by the pupils on a cushion donated by Mrs. Sandbach of Fraserville, which was won by Mrs. Arnold Bonner of Centreville.

For the first time in several weeks we are able to record the fruits of a Saturday use of the market still so kindly made available by the city fathers to help this fund along, and to the Honour Bound Sunday School Class of George Street United Church, taught by Mrs. E. S. Kingdon, goes the honor of reviving this sphere of activity on its behalf when they held a sale of home made cooking for that purpose, to net the fund the sum of $5.60. Those who assisted in this effort were Evelyn Roberts, Marjorie Kirn, Helen Proud, Helen Lyon, Eleanor Tucker, Margaret Duncan, June Killingbeck, Nancy Moore and Eleanor Whittaker.

One of the fund's most steady supporters, "E. M. F." is again heard from, with a personal donation, and it would seem that many more could do likewise and get much satisfaction from helping others so much less favorably situated than themselves.

Draw For Tablecloth

The members of the Business and Professional Women's Club are sponsoring the sale of tickets at 25c each on a beautiful hand-made cloth, made and donated by Mrs. J. P. Halcrow of Rutherword Ave. The draw is to be made on Tuesday, March 3, and tickets may be procured from any of the members. Miss S. Eastwood is the president of this club, and this is their second effort of a similar nature on behalf of the fund.

R.C.N.V.R. Dance Set For Tuesday

There are more than 125 men from this city and district now serving in the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, and every week more men are joining this senior branch of the Empire's fighting forces.

Mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of these men have been seeking to form an organization to supply socks, sweaters, scarves helmets and the hundred and one other essentials which a sailor should have to keep him fit and warm. As a prelude to the formation of a Peterborough Auxiliary R.C.N.V.R., a Mardi-Gras dance is being held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening, February 17, and patrons will be Lt. and Mrs. Hubert Elsdell, and Mr. and Mrs. Ian McRae.

There will be a floor show starting at 10:30 and music for dancing will be supplied by T. Duffus and his Band. Refreshments will be served at 11 o'clock.

It is understood that a meeting has been tentatively arranged for February 23 in the Y.M.C.A. Lecture Hall to form a Peterborough Branch of the Women's Auxiliary, R.C.N.V.R.

Brothers Carry On In World War 2

GNR. MILTON NELSON

L.A.C. LESLIE NELSON

Two sons of Mrs. A. Nelson, 348 Stewart Street, are serving in this war and another son was killed in World War 1 serving as a stretcher-bearer when just 16 years of age. Two of Mrs. Nelson's brothers served in the Boer War and in World War 1. In this conflict, Gnr. Milton Nelson is serving with the R.C.A. in England and his brother, L.A.C. Leslie Nelson, is at Daulphin, Manitoba. Two other brothers have been rejected for active service, and the fifth brother is in the Rangers.

C.G.E. Whistle Announces Opening Of Victory Loan In Peterborough

For nearly an hour this morning a mild perturbance rustled through the Alparka neighborhood, and rang into the telephone at the corner.

"What's the whistle blowing for? Is the C.G.E. on fire?"

Some of the calls came from the farther fringes of the city. As chief of staff beginning another week from the low level of a Monday morning, Mr. LeBarr briefly explained the blasts from the McRae plant whistle across the way.

But what he might have said if you could imagine Mr. LeBarr handing out a little lecture to anybody, might have been something like this:

"Madam," or it could have been in some instances "Mister" — believe it or not, that call came to YOU from all the corners of the British Empire; from every land of free peoples....That was the voice of Singapore, and until yesterday the inviolate waters of the English Channel. What you heard at nine o'clock this morning, and re-echoed afterwards for ten or fifteen minutes was the freedom of Abyssinia, the agony of starving Greek children, the inexpressible pain of the Poles."

If John LeBarr had given that kind of answer to telephonic inquirers the word would soon have been abroad that one of the Alparka young men had gone goofy.

Supposing he had said to another questioner: "That was the maniac voice of Adolf Hitler, screeching into your very home, demanding your last dollar....'Get it up here to the Market Square by the noon hour....or else.....And don't leave any diamonds or gold stuff at home; bring the whole works.' You didn't know that Adolf Hitler had got around to the Alparka corner. Madam, think again; he reached right over your shoulder at breakfast this morning and grabbed a tablespoonful of sugar from your muffets and your coffee....Or did he?....If he didn't, there should be a Gestapo for people like you."

The courteous young man at the Alparka counter could have changed his answers through quite a wide variety of substantive and metaphoric answers....

He could also have said: "You know that young chap down Park Street that joined the Canadian Navy a year ago. That was the siren of his boat....calling for help ....Calling to you and to all the people along the street, and all the people on all the streets in this city."

Those were some of the messages the old community whistle blew over the city this morning....Do you remember how it blew in the dusk of that morning of November 11, 1918. That was the happiest announcement the C.G.E. siren ever sounded over the city and the countryside of Peterborough....And like everything else....You get what you pay for....In those four years of 1914-1918, Peterborough paid a heavy price, and there is no use stopping now to ask the question why those payments in blood and money should not have brought a long age of peace....There is no escaping this summons you heard this morning; and it is probably true that not one person in this city has any wish to dodge the immediate responsibility of making the present Victor Loan a complete success.

Magistrate Asks To Investigate

For the second time in a week Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning asked the police to investigate the source of supply for youths charged with drunkenness.

An eighteen-year-old boy who looked more like sixteen was convicted of being drunk on George street early Sunday morning. He pleaded not guilty but on the evidence of Constable Leo Murphy who swore that the lad had his coat and hat off and wanted to fight and that he was using bad language and was very unsteady on his feet a conviction was registered.

Magistrate Langley imposed a fine of $10 and $1 costs or seven days in jail. The fine was paid.

"Where are these boys getting their drink?" asked the court. "Do they obtain it in the beverage rooms? I hope the police will make inquiries so that we can try the real offender in these cases."

Soldier Is Uninjured When Auto Hits Train

Pte. Maxwell Martin, Peterborough Training Centre, was driver of a car on Saturday night about 8:30 that crashed into a stopped freight train on the C.N.R. crossing about a mile and a half east of Lindsay, Constable J. M. Dixon of Omemee said to-day. Martin and a companion, whose identity was not learned, were not injured except for Martin receiving a cut lower lip not regarded as serious.

Constable Dixon explained that the car broke over the top of a hill which obscured view of the train until the car reached within a few feet of it. Martin told police he did not see the train until a moment before he hit it. The car was damaged extensively. It was pointed out the train was stopped at the crossing while a switch was being turned.

Skiers Flock To Bethany Over Week-end

The Peterborough Ski Club enjoyed one of its best week-ends of skiing this year. The roads were well ploughed to Bethany and many spectators motored out to the Ski Club to watch the skiing.

Bethany is fast becoming a ski centre as more than 500 skiers from Toronto, Collingwood, Lindsay, Whitby, Oshawa, Peterborough and other cities flocked to the snow-clad hills at Bethany. Many skiers spent the week-end in the village while others made the trip by train on Sunday.

Several Norwegian skiers have visited Bethany the last two weekends and are enjoying their favorite sport.

Burnie Hodgetts and a bus load of 36 boys from Grove School, Lakefield spent the whole day skiing at Bethany and the boys enjoyed the skiing to such an extent they are already making plans to attend the hills next Wednesday afternoon and also next week-end.

The Peterborough Ski Club boasts of having one of the finest ski tow in this district. The tow has over 3,000 feet of rope and carries the skiers up a steep hill 1,500 feet enabling them to get in 10 times the skiing they would ordinarily get by endlessly climbing the long hills under their own power.

For the next two weeks the Ski Club is going to operate the tow at half the price on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. If skiers cooperate to make this reduction these two days a success for the next two weeks the club will continue running the tow at this price on Wednesday and Saturday for the rest of the winter. Come on skiers it is up to you.

Plans are underway for the club championships which are to be run off in the near future. This year may see several new entries and so skiers get out on the hills and practice for the big event.

Thursday night classes at Victoria Park will continue as usual.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, February 17.

JUDGING by the lunar transits this should be a very lively and enterprising day, with initiative, enthusiasm for new projects probably inspired by bold and original ideas. Innovations, novelty, strange slants on current problems may engage the attention, but this out-of-the-ordinary activity may incite enmity, antagonism and lack of support from superiors, employers, public bodies or major organizations.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of surprising advantages, with new and original propositions, born of independent, revolutionary, even spectacular ideas which must be pushed by personal initiative, courage and determination, since little encouragement will come from orthodox, public or established sources. Old friends or relatives may be more sympathetic.

A child born on this day while being sound and logical may have some startling ideas out of customary grooves, which may arouse opposition from influential sources.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Although New York Rangers took a double tumble on the week-end, Bryan Hextall came through with three scoring points to maintain the lead in the National Hockey League scoring list with a total of 45 points on 21 goals and 24 assists. His linemates, Phil Watson and Lynn Patrick also remain in the second and third slots, the former two points behind the leader and Patrick four in arrears.

Detroit's Don Grosso made a five-point jump to boost his count to 36 and a tie with Gordie Drillon of Toronto for fifth place, two points behind Bill Thoms of Chicago who was held scoreless over the week-end. Bracketed in seventh position with 35 points apiece are the Boston pair of Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer.

Topheavy Scores Follow Hockey Spree

HASTINGS, Feb. 16.—(ENS)—In a freescoring battle here Friday night, Bluedevils defeated Rangers 14 to 12. Rangers did not have their regular net-minder on hand and this partially accounted for the high score.

Chief marksmen were Kenneth Wellman and Leo Petticrew with five apiece for the winners and Paul Petticrew who counted seven for the Rangers. Other goalgetters were Vincent Herrington and Ray Oliver for the Bluedevils and Jack Scriver, Les Scriver and Bill Herrington for the Rangers.

Kenneth Wellman suffered a painful cut over his left eye when he was struck by the stick of a playmate.

The line-ups were:

Rangers: Paul Petticrew, Jack Scriver, Ken Oliver, Bill Herrington, Les Scriver, Ron Lockhart.

Bluedevils: Ken Wellman, Leo Petticrew, Roy Scriver, Vincent Herrington, Stafford McKenty, Ray Oliver.

CAMPBELLFORD

W.A. Group Hold Valentine Social

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 16 (ENE). — Valentine hearts, flowers and flags formed the decorating motif of St. John's Sunday School parlors on Wednesday when members of the Evening Auxiliary held a Valentine tea and program.

Features of the afternoon were the vocal offerings of Francis DeCarrol and Miss Jean Tubbs both of whom offered two groups which were greatly appreciated. Mrs. A. G. Watson and Mr. Arnold Bates were their accompanists. Other numbers on the program included a piano solo by Miss Patricia Ironside and community singing lead by Arnold Bates. The group realized upwards of $30 from the entertainment and this will go towards the general fund. Mrs. Carl Johnston the president expressed her appreciation to the gathering for supporting the affair. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. G. N. Maxwell and Mrs. J. D. Mills. Mrs. W. F. Scott, Mrs. Ray Thompson, Mrs. George Hawthorne and Mrs. C. W. Turner poured tea while other members of the Auxiliary served.

Lovely Curtains Are Easy to Make

Spring Style Wears Corsage

What could be more charming than these fresh, flowing curtains of white organdie, crowned with artificial flowers!

You can make them easily yourself—ruffles, swag and all!—with a few professional hints.

Your swag is nothing but a straight piece of goods about one and a third times the length of your valance board, and twice as deep as the finished swag.

You snip off its ends on a slant and cut the lower edge in a broad scallop. Sew the ruffle to this lower edge and stitch tape to the top edge; then drape swag and tack tape to valance board.

Measuring the side draperies, add two inches for shrinkage and take them up in a tuck near the top. When you sew the ruffles on, allow plenty of fulness at the corners to prevent "hooping."

Simple, with our 32-page instruction booklet to guide you! Shows with diagrams and pictures how to make swags and cascades, fitted valances, French pleats, cornices and many lovely curtain and drapery styles.

For your copy of "New Ideas in Making Curtains and Draperies" send 15 cents in coin or stamps to Examiner Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

ARE THERE ENOUGH?

WHEN YOU think about bidding a slam, two basic problems must be in your mind. Can you get in the lead before the defenders have taken the setting trick? That is the first one, but the second is equally important. Once you get in the lead, can you then take the necessary number of tricks, without having to give up the fatal one? Experts who refuse to use artificial ace-showing conventions will grant you that those devices are more accurate to settle the first problem. In sticking to natural bidding, however, they gain a certain amount of greater accuracy in diagnosing whether your side has enough trick-takers.

North: ♠ A 8 4 2 ♥ 9 4 2 ♦ A 6 3 ♣ 8 6 2

West: ♠ 10 6 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ Q 9 8 5 ♣ J 10 7 4

East: ♠ J 9 ♥ 8 7 6 ♦ K J 10 4 ♣ Q 9 5 3

South: ♠ K Q 7 5 3 ♥ A K 5 3 ♦ 7 2 ♣ A K

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

	East	South	West	North
1.	Pass	1♠	Pass	2♠
	Pass	4 NT	Pass	5♥
	Pass	5 NT	Pass	6♣
	Pass	6♠
2.	Pass	1♠	Pass	2♠
	Pass	5♠

This deal, in a team match, produced a clear-cut victory for the natural bidders, as tricks lower down in the deck than the ones taken by aces and kings swung the balance. As both tables the opening lead was the heart Q, and it became immediately apparent that there was no earthly chance for the declarer to take 12 tricks unless the defenders would make a mistake in discarding. This they refused to do, so one team made its 5-Spades and the other was set at 6-Spades.

Where natural bidding was in use, South realized that, even if his partner had both missing aces, the contract might be set just as it was, if the side got into a slam. North could easily hold both those aces and still have about a minimum hand for a raise. When South bid 5-Spades, therefore, he was in effect asking North whether his raise to 2-Spades had been on a hand barely justifying that or on one richly justifying it. If it had been about a maximum, North would have gone to 6-Spades, but it was a minimum, so he passed the 5-Spades.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ J 10 9 8 ♥ K Q 2 ♦ 8 6 3 ♣ 10 8 3

West: ♠ K 5 4 ♥ J 10 7 5 ♦ J 7 ♣ J 6 5 2

East: ♠ A Q 3 2 ♥ 8 ♦ A Q 10 4 2 ♣ K 9 7

South: ♠ 7 6 ♥ A 9 6 4 3 ♦ K 9 5 ♣ A Q 4

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

If East bids both diamonds and spades, and West ultimately doubles your 3-Hearts, how would you play to limit the set to one trick after you win the second round of diamonds?

Mission Circle Sponsors Valentine Tea

MILLBROOK, Feb. 16—(ENS).—An enjoyable social event of Wednesday afternoon was the Valentine tea sponsored by the Golden Links Mission Circle, and held at the Parsonage from 4.30 to 6 p.m., the president, Mrs. Henry W. Gray, and the vice-president, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, receiving the guests.

Ten tables were in use for the tea; Miss E. L. Hetherington, honorary president, presiding at the hostess table. Individual hostesses for the smaller tea tables were Mrs. Hobbs, Mrs. Edmund Ball, Mrs. E. Paulson, Misses Jean Burnham, Marjorie, Skitch, Beatrice McDowell, and Phyllis Reid, Mrs. D. L. Lunn and Mrs. H. W. Gray. Ten dollars was realized from the tea; music while service was in progress was supplied by Miss Audrey Wood at the piano.

Following the tea, the regular meeting of the Circle was held with Mrs. Gray in the chair. It was decided to arrange if possible for a set of slides on China to be shown in the church the third week in April, with a missionary play as an added feature of the program. Further details will be worked out at the March meeting to be held at the home of Ds. D. L. Lunn on the third Thursday in the month.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Franklin Bannister, who brought a practical and inspiring message relative to "What the Mission Circle Can Do For Us, and What We Can Do for the Circle." A written questionnaire helped to open up the discussion and to bring practically all present into active participation, the organization undoubtedly meaning much more to the members after Mrs. Bannister's fine talk and leadership. The Easter thankoffering envelopes were given out, and as a concluding number Mrs. Gray and Jean Burnham covered two chapters of the study book, the W.M.S. Watchword bringing the gathering to a close.

Chickens Scarce On Farm Market

Chickens were scarce on the produce market Saturday, selling at 25 to 27 cents for last year's birds, and around 32 cents for the 1942 offerings.

Eggs were plentiful at 30 to 40 cents. The largest ones sold up to 40 cents, but those that were ungraded were generally marked at 32 and/33 cents. Butter was steady at 35 to 38 cents, most of selling at 37 cents.

Potatoes were unchanged at $1.75 a bag. James Healey of Asphodel brought in 31 bags of White Stars and sold the lot at $1.75 before the noon hour.

H. N. Gill quoted lamb at 18 and 20 cents a pounds; pork, 17 and 19 cents, and beef 16 and 18 cents.

Norman Moncrief's apple prices were: Spies, $2.75 a bushel or 75 cents a peck; Talman Sweets and Russets, 60c a peck or $2 a bushel; Starks, 50c a peck of $1.85 a bushel. J. H. Johnston's bushel prices were: Spies, $2.50; Starks and Ben Davies, $1.85.

Vegetables were at the same price level as a week ago; carrots and parsnips 35 cents for six-quart basket lots; turnips, 3 for 10 cents; cabbages, 5 and 10 cents; potatoes, 40 cents the 6-quart basket.

Adverse Days

Beaverbrook's Daily Express, however, all London newspapers which took a stand expressed misgivings.

"We must endure anything, certainly," said the Daily Mail, "but go on offering us tears, sweat and blood in monotonous gloom of stoical resignation is now to confess...that something is seriously wrong with the conduct of the war as a whole."

The Daily Mail warned the Prime Minister that "if he does not make radical changes in the general direction of our war effort now, the day may come when these changes will be forced by the impact of further disasters."

Only the Express came to his unqualified support with the exhortation that "we must stand together under the great leader this land has produced for its trial."

Essentially, this was the Prime Minister's message:

Formidable as are the factors against Britain, they are outweighed by those in her favor. Therefore, the country must preserve its unity and its confidence in itself.

Put Good and Bad Together.

He asked Britain to put "the good and the bad side by side and let us try to see exactly where we are."

"The first and greatest of events," he began, "is that the United States other factor in the whole world in the war with us....

"I cannot believe there is any other factor in the wohle world which can compare with that.

"That is what I have dreamed of, aimed at and worked for, and now it has come to pass."

Mr. Churchill also cited the might of Soviet Russia, whose example of unity amid adversity he laid before the British people.

"The Russian armies have not been defeated," he said, "they have not been torn to pieces....They are advancing victoriously, driving the foul invader from that native soil they have guarded so bravely and loved so well....

"Here, then, are two tremendous facts which will in the end dominate the world situation and make victory possible...."

The leader who rallied the British people after Dunkirk with the promise only of "blood, sweat and tears" gave them only a new promise of "a hard, adverse war for many months to come."

In a stirring conclusion he bid them "draw from the heart of misfortune the vital impulse of victory....Let us move forward steadfastly together into the storm and through the storm."

He reviewed Britain's vast and complex problems before Japan's declaration of war, just keeping "our heads above water at home," and asked whether, in view of the narrow margin of survival in the west, "could we have provided for the safety of the Far East against such an avalanche of fire and steel as has been hurled upon us by Japan?"

He announced candidly that Japan, by plunging int the war, had put "another heavy and terrible side to the account" he was rendering the empire.

"Tonight the Japanese are triumphant," he said gravely. "They shout their exaltation around the world. We suffer, we are taken aback. We are hard-pressed.

"But I am sure, even in this dark hour, that criminal madness will be the verdict which history will pronounce upon the authors of the Japanese aggression."

Wants No Under-Rating.

"We must not under-rate the power and malice of our latest foe But neither must we undervalue the gigantic, overwhelming forces which now stand in line with us in this world struggle for freedom, and which, once they have developed their full natural inherent power, whateever has happened in the meanwhile, will be found fully capable of squaring all accounts and getting all things right for a long time to come."

First reactions from Australia echoed the London newspapers' demands that Mr. Churchill share his multitudinous duties, reshape his war cabinet along more compact lines, with the ministers freed of departmental duties, and shake out deadwood.

Unfair Action

The Melbourne Argus said under the heading "No Time For a One-Man Band," that "if Mr. Churchill accepts blame for major disasters and, at the same time, demands a vote of confidence he is acting unfairly and puzzlingly."

The Melbourne Age said it would "be a grievous misjudgment to imagine that criticism of strategic direction is a symptom of defeatist spirit."

This, apparently, was in comment on Mr. Churchill's pointed observation that the Russians, in their direst peril, "did not fail to bickering among themselves" nor lose faith in their leaders and try to break up the government.

"A weakening in our purpose and, therefore, in unity—that is the mortal crime," he said. "Whosoever is guilty of that crime or of bringing it about in others, of him let it be said that it were better that a millstone were hung about his neck and that he were cast into the sea."

The Times, also touching on that point, said that "for the most part the criticism has been of a legitimate and constructive order which Mr. Churchill welcomes and, if it has been growing in volume, the cause is not to be found in any lack of essential unity."

Use The Bible For Guidance In Stress Time

HAVELOCK, Feb. 16 — (ENS). — A fine talk on how the Bible can be used as a guide to Christian faith and conduct was given by Mrs. James Cochrane at Havelock W.M.S. She gave the following suggestions for Bible study. If you have the blues, read Psalm 27. If you are losing confidence in your friends read I. Corinthians 13. If you are out of sorts read Hebrews 12. If you are discouraged about your work read Psalm 126. If people seem unkind read John 15. If your pocketbook is empty read Psalm 37. If you can't have your own way in everything keep silent and read James 3.

The February meeting was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Charles Roberts, with 20 members present. It opened with the doxology and the Lord's Prayer in unison. Devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. Annie Anderson, and the topic was "The faith by which we live." Quiet music was played by Mrs. Harry Watson during the reading of the hymn, "Lord, Thy Word abideth."

A telegram was received from the chairman of the Dominion Board of Missions rearding the sugar rationing. It asked for full co-operation. The leaders of the Mission Band expressed thanks for all asisstance received at the Valentine tea. Miss Annie Young gave a short talk on Temperance.

Mrs. Wing announced plans for the Victory autograph quilt which has been started. Mrs. Herb. Hoard, delegate, gave a report on the Presbyterial meeting held in Mark St. Church, Peterborough, on January 27.

Impossible For Churchill

Prime Minister Churchill was to have taken part in last night's broadcast with Mr. King and Mr. Roosevelt but Mr. King said he was advised Saturday that pressure of other duties made it impossible.

Mr. King said: "Whether world chaos will follow in the wake of universal destruction, or world security will be established, will depend upon the contribution of every nation still possessing freedom."

The loan would have two effects, Mr. King said: first, its proceeds would make possible a greater national war effort than could otherwise be achieved; and second, the proceeds would make possible a greater combined effort on the part of the United Nations.

"It is because our enemies have increased in numbers and in power that need for increasing our actual fighting strength, in all these directions, is greater today than at any time since the outbreak of the war."

Mr. King outlined the uses to which the money would be put—increase and maintenance of the armed forces; the provision of supplies and equipment for Canada's forces and those of other Allied powers; and to help provide the funds to make a gift of $1,000,000,000 worth of supplies and foodstuffs to the United Kingdom.

But in addition, the prime minister said, the loan proceeds will help bring about a new world order, which already was on its way.

"The forces which have combined to work such havoc throughout the world," he said, "have equally combined to bring together the forces of freedom.

"Today the British and American peoples are associated in a close union to preserve and to restore the freedom of mankind. In that union will be found the foundation of the new world order. That union has been achieved so quickly and so completely that it is difficult to realize how significant it is to our own and to the world's future."

Visitor In Canada

Mr. Roosevelt described his radio audience as "my neighbors of Canada." He spoke of his personal relationship to the Dominion which began 58 years ago when, at the age of two, his family started taking him to New Brunswick for holidays.

Four years ago, he said, he had given assurance that the people of the United States would not stand idly by if domination of Canadian soil were ever threatened by an aggressor.

Prime Minister King had responded with an intimation that Canada would man the international boundary against any attack upon the United States.

"These mutual pledges are now being implemented," Mr. Roosevelt said. "We now are joined with the other free peoples of the world against an armed conspiracy to wipe out free institutions wherever they exist.

"Freedom—our freedom and yours—is under attack on many fronts. You and we together are engaged to resist the attack on any front where our strength can best be brought to bear."

Mr. Roosevelt praised Canada's war effort as "the achievements of a great nation" and said Americans were proud to be "your neighbors."

er, a mine layer and one transport were forced ashore.

Japanese dispatches said that by the time the defenders decided to capitulate Singapore had been virtually encircled by three converging columns of Japanese troops, which seized the reservoirs on which the city depended for water, captured three of its four airfields, seized the fortfied island of Blakang Mati south of the harbor and silenced great defence batteries along the coast.

Ready To Surrender.

The first hint that the defenders were ready to surrender came at 2.30 p.m., yesterday (1.30 a.m. E.D.T.) when four British officers, headed by Major Wilde, approached the Japanese lines with a white flag, said Domei.

The officers were conducted to Lt.-Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, commander of the Japanese forces in Malaya, and advised him the garrison wished to surrender, the news agency said. Lamashita demanded unconditional surrender—and the Britons returned to the lines with the understanding they would return by 5.30 p.m. with their answer.

The articles of surrender finally were signed at 7 p.m. (6 a.m. (E.D.T.) in the Ford motor plant at the foot of Bukit Timah hill northwest of the city, where some of the bitterest fighting of the siege had taken place. It provided for cessation of hostilities three hours later. Lt.-Gen. A. E. Percival, commander of the Singapore garrison, and Lt-Gen. Yamashita signed the artices.

The surrender came just a week after the Japanese had launched their all-out assaut upon the island and wrote finis to a 10-week campaign during which they had smashed their way 400 miles down the Malay peninsula from the Thailand frontier.

Assault on Java.

Observers here believed that the Japanese, with the conquest of Malaya complete would attempt to fight their way across Southern Sumatra and establish a base on 20-mile-wide Sundra Strait for an all-out assault upon Java.

The Netherlands Command declared that the parachute attack which preceded the sea-borne invasion had been a complete failure. Only a few isolated groups of the aerial troops dropped from a fleet of 100 planes on Saturday still were alive yesterday, and these were being rapidly mopped up headquarters said.

The parachutists, armed with submachine guns and light mortars, landed at three main points, at two of which the Japanese were almost wiped out in savage hand-to-hand fighting.

Authoritative sources said that both Indies and Allied planes were taking part in the battle developing in Southern Sumatra.

Identity of the Allied planes was not specified, but it is known here that British, Australian, and American aircraft have been active in the East Indies.

At least five Japanese planes were reported shot down during the parachute assault and a bombing attack which preceded it.

Sharp fighting continued, meanwhile on several other fronts where the Japanese are attempting to widen footholds.

Yesterday's communique said the defenders were continuing to offer stubborn resistance to the enemy in Southern Celebes, particularly in the vicinity of Macassar. It said, however, that the Japanese had occupied the Anambas Islands, about midway between Singapore and Borneo, and reported light enemy activity elsewhere in outlying Indies possessions.

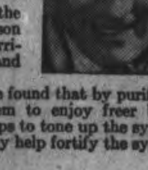
Are You a Sufferer From Rheumatic Pains?



These pains come from an inflammation in the muscles and are generally caused by a deposit of poison in the blood called uric acid which produces the irritating and painful effect that causes many days and nights heavy with pain.

During the past 60 years Canadian people have found that by purifying the blood stream, Burdock Blood Bitters aids them to enjoy freer body movement with less rheumatic pain, as B. B. Loan Totals $51,334,000 On First Day

Several Large Amounts Included In Report On Victory Loan Drive

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP) — Canadians subscribed $51,334,000 during the first day of the $600,000,000 second Victory Loan Campaign, Loan headquarters announced today.

In giving out the total of subscriptions reported overnight as at the close of business yesterday, the National War Finance Committee said the total included several amounts ranging from $1,000,000 up to $3,000,000 or more from large industrial concerns and thousands of subscriptions from employees from all over Canada.

"It includes the offerings of many small subscriptions, also," said the committee in a statement.

"The total of $51,334,000 compares very favorably with the opening day of the last Victory Loan, when $58,551,250 was announced it was said. "When winter conditions are considered, presenting added difficulties in reporting returns from local units to provincial divisions, the first day's results are regarded as decidedly encouraging."

Well Balanced Response

The Loan Committee said it was still too early to compute the actual number of subscribers in any one classification but it was evident that the campaign's first day indicated "a well-balanced response from Canadians of all ranks, men and women, workers and employers."

One feature of overnight reports was the evidence of swift response from many factories and business

U.S. Arranging Loan For Russia

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—(AP)—Official sources said today a new United States Lend-Lease credit of approximately $1,000,000,000 was being negotiated for Russia.

Last Fall, Russian received a similar $1,000,000,000 credit.

Officials said that this initial credit had been nearly all allocated, and a new credit was needed soon in order to plan further production of the weapons that Russia will need.

Although some of the materials promised under the first $1,000,000,000 credit have been delivered to the Russians, the exact status of these supplies is a military secret.

However it was learned officially that entrance of the United States into the war had created some shipping difficulties.

The new credit is in the negotiation stage, and the exact amount and details have not been settled.

It may take the form of a monetary loan of Lend-Lease money, a straight arrangement to Lend-Lease war materials to be repaid in kind or a credit to be repaid in any resources the Russian may find available after the war.

No Ontario Election

TORONTO, Feb. 17—(CP)—There will be no election in Ontario this year, it was learned today from a reliable Queen's Park source today. Liberal members of the Provincial Legislature decided in caucus last night against an election and the Government will introduce legislation prolonging its life beyond the five-year term which expires this year, it was said.

British Premier Will Retain Post Of Defence

LONDON, Feb. 17 (CP) — An official spokesman said today Prime Minister Churchill had declined to appoint a separate Minister of Defence, a post the Prime Minister holds at present.

He said Mr. Churchill would be "quite ready to test the opinion of the House of Commons" on his decision to retain this position along with his duties as Prime Minister, and that he also did not intend to form a separate Imperial War cabinet.

Crisis Talk Abated

Demands that Mr. Churchill delegate some of his heavy administrative responsibilities to others recently have increased in volume as the result of war reverses. Talk of a crisis threatening the life of his government has abated, however.

Appointment of a separate Defence Minister had been urged in various quarters to relieve the Prime Minister of some of his many war duties. The argument was strengthened during the furore over the escape of the 26,000-ton battleships Gniesenau and Scharnhorst from Brest to German waters last week and the loss of Singapore.

The spokesman also announced abolition of the post of Intendent General in the Middle East, to which Gen. Sir Robeart Haining was appointed May 19, 1941.

The Intendent General was described as a super-quartermaster in charge of military supplies. No reason was announced immediately for abolishing the position.

Germans Hurl Tanks Against Reds

Fresh Nazi Reserves Thrown Into Fight To Hold Battered Line

By EDDY GILMORE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

MOSCOW, Feb. 17 (AP)—Steadily driving Russian troops on the north-western front crushed formidable German counter attacks today and were reported endangering Novgorod, strongly held enemy city 120 miles southeast of Leningrad.

Russian war dispatches said the Germans, attempting to hold their springboard points for Hitler's spring drive, hurled tanks into counter thrusts in the Donets Basin and the Russians inflicted heavy casualties. Fresh Nazi reserves were used.

Hurricane fighters and British-made tanks were hammering against the Germans in the centre before Smolensk. The army publication Red Star said reserve troops were being accumulated not only by the Germans but by the Red Army.

Six Battalions Destroyed

(From Stockholm, reports came that the Russian cavalry had recaptured 40 positions in White Russia, and that six German battalions had been destroyed at one point on the central front.)

The Soviet information bureau said 3,650 Germans had been killed in four recent engagements on the winter front, 2,500 of them in a one-day battle which resulted in the destruction of a number of Nazi dug-outs in the Leningrad region.

The Red Army forces captured two mortars, 12 machine-guns, 620 mines and a large number of automatic rifles and hand grenades in the Leningrad zone fighting, a communique announced.

Upset Plans for Spring.

The Germans lost 650 men killed and more than 300 wounded in one zone of the Western front, 200 dead in another sector, and 300 in a southern front sector under Russian attacks intended both to shatter winter invasion lines and upset the plans of Hitler for a recouping spring offensive.

(A London report indicated that the southern jaw of the Red Army's central front pincer—almost matching gains in the north—had thrust past the German base at Smolensk with an advance of 80 miles or more from the Kirov zone which lies 150 miles south-west of Moscow.

(The BBC told of this development, saying the Russians had

Union President Is Fired By Lake Shore

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Feb. 17 (CP)—Vice-president Joseph Rankin of the Kirkland Lake Mine and Mill Workers Union said today in a telegram to Acting Labor Minister Norman McLarty that the union president, William Simpson, was "today told he was fired by the Lake Shore Mine Nov. 16, 1941, two days before the strike began, on the pretext he lost time."

Charging "direct discrimination" against an employee for union activity, Rankin's telegram said the cause of the loss of time "was his (Simpson's) attendance at a conference convened by you as minister of labor in Ottawa, just prior to the strike, to discuss the possibility of an amicable settlement of the dispute."

The telegram said "the department of labor should act immediately to compel the company to rehire Simpson."

The strike, called last Nov. 18 by the Kirkland Lake Local (240) of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers of America to enforce demands for union recognition, was terminated by the union last Wednesday.

Last night operators of the eight mines which were affected by the strike — Lake Shore, Wright-Hargreaves, Teck-Hughes, Macassa, Kirkland Lake Gold, Sylvanite, Toburn and Bidgood — issued a statement which said they had assured the Federal Department of Labor "that the principle of seniority will be adhered to as far as possible in the re-hiring of men who have been on strike."

The statement said that "in most of the mines a preference must necessarily be given to experienced drift cross-cut, raise and other special men essential to early rehabilitation of those sections of the mines unused during the strike. The length of time required to place other men will depend greatly upon the speed at which this essential work is completed."

Burma Forces Withdraw To New Line

Withdrawal Fortifies Railway Centre Connecting Burma Rd.

By DANIEL DE LUCE
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 17—(AP) The battle line of Burma was drawn today near the head of the Gulf of Martaban around which lies the Burma Road, China's invaluable gateway to the sea, and the pathway to India.

The new line was announced by British authorities, who said their forces had withdrawn 30 miles from the Thaton-Duyinzeik area to the line of the Bilin River to take advantage of it as a potential springboard for counter attacks and to extricate forces from a position where infantry units might have been overwhelmed piecemeal by the Japanese.

The withdrawal, carried out Monday, apparently forfeited the railroad centre of Thaton, setting the British right flank back about 40 miles north of Japanese-held Moulmein and about 105 miles by road from Rangoon.

Thus, in six days, the Japanese have advanced 60 miles from Martaban, after crossing the Salween River from Moulmein, and have put behind them more than one-third of the distance from there to Rangoon.

Better Position

The British communique said the new line, presumably on the west bank of the Bilin, which flows south into the gulf, gave their troops "more concentrated positions."

The low, bushy hills through which the Bilin flows are not likely to provide troops and artillery with much cover against dive-bombing attacks, and the shallow stream it-

GNEISENAU

SCHARNHORST

LONDON, Feb. 17 (CP)—Germany lost the use of her 26,000-ton battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst "for some time to come" and Britain strengthened her command of the seas in last week's battle of the English Channel, Prime Minister Churchill declared today in an accounting to the House of Commons.

Damage inflicted on the German ships during their dash for freedom will lay them up for repairs, the Prime Minister declared, and before they are seaworthy again "the Royal Navy will be reinforced by important units of the highest quality" along with big new ships joining the United States Navy to meet their challenge.

Mr. Churchill was facing his parliamentary critics for the first time since the naval episode last Thursday and the fall of Singapore which had stirred up demands for change.

But his report was confident and optimistic and he yielded nothing to their demands.

To the exhortation that he relinquish the extra burden of the Ministry of Defence, a portfolio he now holds, Mr. Churchill answered no.

He declined also to discuss the surrender of Singapore, explaining that "I have no information to give the House other than that contained in the public press nor would it be prudent to speculate in detail upon the various evil consequences which may follow from its fall.

Mr. Churchill announced that an investigation of the Scharnhorst-Gneisenau episode will seek to determine why the German battleships were not discovered sooner on their dash through the English Channel, and whether co-operation between the Admiralty and the R.A.F. was all that it should have been.

Even while Mr. Churchill was making his statement in the House there were indications that the R.A.F. had been seeking out the two German battleships at their German haven. Bombers attacked ports in northwest Germany last night, it was announced here, and a Nazi communique told of an R.A.F. attack in Heligoland Bight where the ships are believed to have been tied up.

"Whatever smart of disappointment or annoyance may remain in our breasts that the final forfeit was not exacted" of the Germans in the battle, he said "there is no doubt that the naval position in the Atlantic, so far from being worsened, is definitely eased."

He explained that at Brest the battleships were on the flank of convoy routes.

"They could make a sortie at any time onto the Atlantic trade routes or into the Mediterranean."

The Admiralty thus had been forced to keep a watch, and much of Britain's bombing effect had been diverted from Germany to Brest, he said.

"All the near misses will fall on German and not on French dwellings" henceforth as the result of the Germans "being driven to leave an advantageous position."

Mr. Churchill said that during the more than 10 months the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were at Brest they "were undoubtedly hit several times and repair work was made difficult."

Women, Kiddies Killed In Raid

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Increasing enemy air activity over Gen. Douglas MacArthur's lines in Bataan and heavy artillery bombardments were reported today by the United States war department in a communique which said 28 women and children were killed and 22 others wounded in a bombing attack on Cabcaben on the southeast tip of Bataan Peninsula.

The war department said all the killed and wounded were Filipinos and that so far as it knew no American women or children were in the refugee camps on the peninsula.

"Heavy enemy artillery fire from the Cavite shore bombarded our harbor fortifications with increasing intensity during most of the day," the communique said. "Damage to our installations and casualties were not great."

(Most of the Americans who had not left Manila before it was abandoned to the Japanese are held in a concentration camp at Santa Tomas University, officials said.

Submarine Raised

TOKYO, (From Japanese Broadcasts), Feb. 17.—(AP).—The Navy Ministry announced to-day the raising of the Japanese submarine I-61 which sank Oct. 2 off the north-western coast of Kyushu after a collision with a surface vessel during manoeuvres. It said the bodies of 70 crew men were recovered.

U.S. Bombers Bag U-Boats Off Aruba

By CHANDLER DIEHL
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

BALBOA, Panama Canal Zone, Feb. 17 (AP)—United States bombers were believed today to have inflicted swift and deadly vengeance upon some of the German submarines reported to have sunk or torpedo-damaged seven tankers and left 59 sailors dead or missing in barracuda-infested and flaming waters along the Venezuelan coast.

Lt.-Gen. Frank Andrews, chief of the United States Caribbean Defence Command, came under fire during the surprise shelling early yesterday of the huge Standard Oil Company refinery in Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, by a submarine which came to the surface less than a mile off the port.

The commander reported on his arrival last night from Aruba that American planes took to the air from both Aruba and Curacao shortly after the attacks began and oil found on the waters later indicated some submarines had paid for the raids.

It was announced that the refinery escaped damage.

Seven Ships Lost

Reports that seven ships had suffered from the submarines were made in Maracaibo, Venezuela, by executives of the Largo Petroleum Company and survivors of the ships.

The reports gave this tally:—

1—Monagas, 2,675-ton tanker, owned by the Mene Grande Oil Company, Venezuela, torpedoed and last seen on fire 25 miles north-west of Las Piedras, Aruba Island. Five men missing from a crew of 31; 26 landed at Las Piedras.

2—Oranjestad, 2,396-ton Lago Shipping Company tanker, sailing under the British flag, torpedoed off Aruba.

3—Pedernales, 3,945 tons, also of Lago Shiplpng Company torpedoed off Aruba.

4—San Nicolas, 2,391 tons, also of Lago Shipping Company, torpedoed under the British flag, torpedoed twice and engine room blown up, 25 miles south of Punta Macolla, Venezuela.

5—Tia Juana, 2,305 tons, Lago Shipping Company, under the British flag, torpedoed three times forward and set on fire immediately, attacked between Aruba and Venezuela.

7—The Texaco tanker Arkansas, sailing without load, hit but not sunk.

Oil company executives said refineries in both Aruba and Curacao were shelled by submarines but no damage or deaths ashore resulted.

Twenty-two survivors of the Tia Juana and the San Nicolas, picked up after seven hours on the water, were taken to hospital, suffering mainly from shock. Each ship had a crew of 26 men.

(What happened to crews of the Oranjestad, Pedernales, Rafaela, and the Texaco Tanker was not stated.)

The first six ships listed carried about 25,000 barrels of oil each.

R.A.F. Searches For Berths Of Two Nazi Warships

LONDON, Feb. 17 — (CP). — British bombers already are seeking out the new North Sea berths of the German warships Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, and Pring Eugen, it was believed to-day on the basis of official reports from the R.A.F. and the German High Command.

The R.A.F. announced only that bomber command aircraft last night attacked ports in North-west Germany. But the Nazi communique, as heard here by radio, located the attack more specifically in Heligoland Bight, where the German warships are believed to have taken refuge after their escape from Brest through the Straits of Dover last week.

The German communique claimed that a British plane was shot down "in a flight carried out by isolated British bombers."

An informed source said last night's raids were a "good indication" the R.A.F. was hunting the Nazi ships, but refused to say whether they had been located.

Army Recruits Total 101,488

Men Joining Army Far Outnumber Air Force, Navy

OTTAWA, Feb. 17.—(CP)—Men donning the army's battle dress last year far outnumber those stepping out in air force and navy blue.

Reports made available in the House of Commons in answer to three sets of questions by G. K. Fraser (Con. Peterborough West) show that during 1941 a total of 178,031 men joined Canada's armed forces. Of these 101,488 of them went into the army, 63,457 into the Royal Caadian Air Force and 13,086 into the Royal Canadian Navy.

Enlistments from the outbreak of war Dec. 31, 1941, were reported at 424,605 divided thus: Army, 299,056; Air Force, 99,405, and Navy, 26,141.

More than a third of Canada's army personnel "over 125,000," now is serving outside the Dominion, it was revealed; but no figures were given for personel of the Navy of Air Force now beyond Canada's boundaries.

JAP SOFTENING UP DRIVE LAUNCHED ON JAVA, HEART OF INDIES

Indies Planes Score Hit On Transport

Islands Are Bombed In Sunda Strait In Opening Attack

BATAVIA N.E.I., Feb. 17—(AP)—Japanese planes, possibly in a preliminary to the expected direct assault on Java, heart of the East Indies, to-day bombed and machine-gunned several of the small islands in the narrow Sunda Strait which separates Java from Sumatra.

The Netherlands communique, issued through the Aneta Agency, said several persons were killed and other wounded, though little material damage was done.

Transport Hit.

Indies bombers scored a direct hit on a Japanese transport and a probable hit on a second in an attack presumably staged off the Sumatra coast.

In a raid on a Japanese-held airfield at Palembang, South Sumatra, oil centre which the Netherlands destroyed before the Japanese occupation, bombers also shot down two Japanese fighter planes, the communique said.

It appeared the Japanese might attack Java without waiting to complete their investment of Sumatra.

Miracles Do Happen.

"It is true that Japan's power is enormous," H. V. Quispel, a Netherlands Indies naval spokesman declared to-day, "and perhaps it is equally true that only a miracle can save the Netherlands Indies, but miracles do sometimes happen."

"Even if we in the Netherlands Indies like the men and women of London, Leningrad, and Moscow, are forced back to the last defence lines, we shall win."

houses; numerous reports of 100 per cent subscriptions and over-quota subscriptions from workers of various firms were received.

The day's large subscriptions included $3,000,000 from the Ontario Paper Company, Ltd., Thorold, Ont.

For purposes of reporting on Quebec subscriptions the Loan Committee listed this $3,000,000 subscription as a subscription by the Quebec and North Shore Paper Co., affiliate of the Ontario Paper Co.

Large subscriptions from Quebec concerns, as reported from provincial headquarters at Montreal included $1,500,000 from the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, and $1,000,000 from Canadian Celanese Limited. The City of Westmount subscribed $120,500.

Reported earlier from Winnipeg was the subscription of $1,000,000 from the Hudson's Bay Company.

In early reports, Edmonton leads all larger municipalities in Canada with 37 per cent of its three weeks' quota subscribed on the first day of the loan.

Other centres to report substantial progress included Charlottetown, with 15 per cent of its quota; Calgary, 14 per cent; Saint John, N.B., 12 per cent; Sydney, N.S., 11 per cent, and Moncton, N.B., 10 per cent.

Moosomin, Sask., home town of Lt.-Gen. A. C. L. McNaughton, Commander of the Canadian Corps, went "over the top" in exceeding the full quota Monday afternoon.

The little town of Arntfield, Que., which was first in the province to reach its official goal in the Victory Loan drive last June, reported that it had its full $10,000 quota by 10 minutes after midnight yesterday.

Britain's Naval Position Is Bettered By German Flight

Therefore the "Germans evidently came to the decision that they could not maintain them any longer at Brest."

Once having reached that decision, he added, the Germans had the choice of two hazardous operations, sailing completely around the British Islands past Norway or through the Channel.

In the Atlantic, he explained, they would have run the risk of being picked up by extensive air reconnaissance and brought to action by overwhelming forces as was the Bismarck.

The Channel run on the other hand, he said, would take less than 24 hours, could be made partly in darkness and during weather of the Germans' choice and would have the advantage of a powerful shore-based air umbrella.

"Our slow convoys have repeatedly traversed the Straits of Dover and are repeatedly bombarded by German guns on the French shore," he said.

Mr. Churchill, who was greeted by cheers both as he entered and left the Chamber, showed a touch of testiness when Richard Stokes, Labor member of Ipswich, suggested that he give his post of Minister of Defence to somebody else, who would consult him on war strategy. Refusing with a blunt "No," Mr. Churchill told the member he was prepared to "test the opinion of the House" on whether he was properly doing the dual task of Prime Minister and Minister of Defence.

After he concluded his main statement, the Prime Minister was confronted with a series of questions. Earl Winterton, Conservative member for Worthing, said, "We have been told that over 1,000,000 men have been raised in India," and added: "A message must go out from this House to the Government of India that they must strain every nerve to preserve the vital route of the Burma Road. If we do not preserve it the injury to our morale in Asia will be at least as great as comes from the fall of Singapore."

Mr. Churchill replied: "To state the movement or disposition of troops at the present time is certainly not in the public interest."

Sir Hugh O'Neill, Conservative from Antrim, Northern Ireland, urged that the government inform the public if any blame attaches to one individual in the Gneiseau inquiry in the same manner as the United States named individuals in the Pearl Harbor probe.

Question Not Answered.

Sir William Davison, Conservative, South Kensington, asked if Mr. Churchill were "aware that the Germans daily get from the legation in Dublin information as to weather conditions in the British Isles," and asked: "Is it not time that the British government took steps to prevent this and also daily reports to Germany of all that is going on in the British Isles?"

There was no reply.

William Gallacher, Communist, West Fife, said: "The feeling among the workers is terrible and the Prime Minister must come forward with proposals for the reconstruction of the government. He should make immediate personal contact with leaders of the Soviet Union and the leaders of the Chinese."

As Mr. Churchill left the House followed by a number of Conservative members, Mr. Gallacher commented: "Is it any wonder we are losing the war and that the Empire is being lost when you have people like this?"

Mr. Churchill replied "no" to Sir Herbert Williams, Conservative member for South Croydon, who asked whether "it was on political grounds that the R.A.F. had refrained from bombing dump on enemy war materials in occupied France."

The Prime Minister said the inquiry in the Scharnhorst escape would be secret and its conclusions probably will not be made public.

He announced that Mr. Justice Bucknill, of the High Court of Justice, had begun an inquiry into the Channel escape, with the assistance of a naval and an air force officer.

The investigation began yesterday and the Prime Minister has asked that it be completed within one week.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Edgar Ludlow-Hewitt, former Chief of the Bomber Command, was picked to represent the Royal Air Force, and Vice-Admiral Sir Hugh Binney, who was on the staff of the Commander in Chief of the Grand Fleet in 1918, the Navy.

He reported that abandonment by the Germans of Brest as a base was "decidedly beneficial to us and a threat to our convoys by the ships there is now removed."

"A heavier scale of attack on Germany is now possible," he said.

Four thousand tons of bombs were reported to have been rained on Brest during the 10 months of bombing sorties—at a cost of 247 men and 43 aircraft.

While the German vessels were at Brest, he said, 3,299 individual forays were made by British planes. This was taken to mean the total number of attacks by individual aircraft which took part in 66 raids on the Brest waterfront.

He said a war debate on setbacks of the past week would be held later this week, after the Government was "more fully informed."

Touching upon the loss of Singapore, he said, "This was not unexpected," and its possibility was within the scope of a statement by the Prime Minister three weeks ago.

Reviews Naval Episode.

In his statement to House of Commons Mr. Churchill said:

I will deal first of all with the naval episode. In March last two German cruisers, the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, took refuge in Brest harbor, where they were joined in May by the Prinz Eugen after destruction of the Bismarck.

The position of these ships became a serious pre-occupation for the Admiralty. They lay on the flank of our convoy route to the East. They could make a sortie at any time on to Atlantic trade routes or into the Mediterranean. Accordingly the Admiralty have pressed for their continual attack from the air in the hope of disabling them or preventing them from being repaired.

The process continued for more than 10 months, during which time the ships were undoubtedly hit several times and repair work made ver ydifficult. No less than 4,000 tons of bombs were dropped and 3,299 bomber sorties were made upon them with the loss of 247 air force personnel and 43 aircraft.

Continual Watch.

As we were never in a position to know when some or all of these ships might put to sea the situation entailed almost continual naval precautions in the hope of being ready at all times to meet various threats which these ships constituted.

A further serious feature was the very grievous subtraction from the bombing efforts against Germany. Bombing of these ships was, however, so severe that the Germans evidently came to the decision that they could not maintain them any longer at Brest, and that they must return to Germany. We do not know whether this was for the purpose of effecting final repairs or to enable them to work to full efficiency in the sheltered waters of the Baltic.

Hazardous Operation

However this may be, the Germans resolved to try to bring the ships back to Germany. This was a very hazardous operation. It could be done either by sailing around the British Islands and returning via Norway or by a dash up the Channel. The Germans rejected the plan of returning by the north route and preferred to run the admittedly serious risk of the Channel passage.

In the Atlantic Ocean they would have to run the great risk of being picked up by our extensive air reconnaissances from the shore and from aircraft carriers, or being slowed down by torpedo attacks and brought to action against an overwhelming force as was the Bismarck.

The Channel route, on the other hand, was a run of under 24 hours. Part of it could be made in darkness and they had the opportunity of choosing the weather which would be the most favorable the whole way through the Channel and along the Dutch coast. They had the advantage of a powerful air umbrella. The dangers of passing through the Straits of Dover under suitable weather conditions were not great. Our slow convoys repeatedly have traversed the Straits of Dover and are repeatedly bombarded by German guns on the French shore. But this has not stopped our convoy traffic.

Danger of Mines

One great danger was mines, but this they might hope to avoid by energetic sweeping. There remained therefore the action of our surface ships and aircraft. Air reconnaissanc would show the Germans that there were no heavy ships or even cruisers in these waters, and therefore attacks by flotillas of destroyers and small torpedo boats were all that need be expected apart from the air. Some people seem to think that heavy forces should have been stationed so as to be able to intercept them in the Channel or North Sea. Had we done so our ships would have been open to the same scale of air attack as were the Germans at Brest, and such dispositions would have dangerously weakened the protective measures which we have to take to safeguard our convoys on the northern passages and deal with the other heavy German ships, Tirpitz, Luetzow and Scheer.

The Admiralty did not consider that an attempt to run up the Channel would be an impossible operation under the condition which prevailed, and this was certainly much less to be apprehended than that they should break out onto the trade routes or to the Mediterranean.

No one can doubt the vigor and courage with which the enemy squadron were attacked as soon as its movements were perceived.

Of course, everyone is very sorry that these ships were not sunk.

The only questions which are open are: First, why was their movement

Total Victory Total Defeat? Way War To End

MONTREAL, Feb .17 — (ENS). — Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York declared in an address here today that the war will end in total victory or total defeat for the United Nations, and warned against those who sought to "compromise with the forces of evil."

Governor Lehman said at a luncheon meeting of the Quebec Province Victory Loan organization that "the Nazis, the Fascists and the Japanese are irreconcilable enemies of all freedom."

One "very real" danger confronted the United Nations and should be rooted out "lock, stock and barrel." he said.

"In each country there still remain some who are not united with their fellow-citizens in purpose and in determination. They serve, wittingly or unwittingly, to weaken our war effort. We must not tolerate that.

"There are some who play on a spirit of narrow nationalism among the United Nations. They stimulate petty jealousies and seek to divide ally from ally. . . . . There are some who indulge in recrimination when things go badly. They carp or quibble over this or that setback, refusing to understand that sometimes a temporary defeat or sacrifice of one partner may add much to the ultimate success of a great common effort."

Others tried to invoke "racial, religious or national hatreds and suspicions," and some still sought appeasement or were willing to consider a negotiated peace.

"If they are stupid enough to believe that they can save their properties or their skins by compromise or appeasement, they are ignorant or blind to the history of totalitarian aggression. Nothing short of complete victory will save our liberties. A stalemate, would, in effect, be just an dangerous to democracy as defeat."

full-scale war debate in the House of Commons probably would be deferred. They said the Prime Minister is expected to make only a limited statement at an early sitting of the House. He is expected to discourage any attempt at a post-mortem on the fall of Singapore on the grounds that information so far available is meagre.

Overhaul Cabinet.

The belief grew that the Prime Minister was preparing to overhaul the cabinet. Commentators pointed out there is nothing concrete yet to show such intention, but they asserted Mr. Churchill is an able politician who undoubtedly realizes that is the best way to silence critics.

Critics of British policy toward India are insisting that Mr. Churchill personally take charge of a movement to compose differences with Indian political leaders and thus bring their millions of followers into active support of Britain's war effort.

The Daily Mail said that some of Mr. Churchill's closest advisers are advocating a general election which would enable him to appeal to the country on a national unity basis.

("Russian troops have occupied several more villages on the Donets front," the BBC said. "Heavy losses have been inflicted on the enemy, who is in retreat with the Russians hard on his heels."

(Also from the BBC came a report that a Soviet cruiser, aided by an icebreaker, had battered through floes to shatter fortifications in a Nazi-occupied village at the approaches to Leningrad. Presumably referring to an operation in the Gulf of Finland, it said "the Germans were taken completely by surprise.")

The Soviet Information Bureau said several German counter-attacks were repulsed on the south-western front and 300 Germans were killed.

In the north-western battle area more than 500 invaders died in fighting for two villages.

"Soviet cavalrymen on the north-western front," the Bureau announced, "liberated 40 inhabited localities from the Germans during the last few days."

Bancroft News

Mrs. W. O'Neill returned home from Elmira Tuesday evening, having spent several days visiting with her sister, Mrs. Thomas McAlpine. On her return she was accompanied by Mr. T. McAlpine, who will spend a few days visiting with relatives in Bancroft.

Miss Elva Reid underwent an operation for adenoid and tonsils in the Red Cross Hospital, Bancroft, on Tuesday.

Miss Lizzie Reid of Toronto spent over the week-end visiting with relatives in Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Reid of Toronto spent the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Reynolds in Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Flower, accompanied by Mrs. James Colling and Mrs. James Vance, attended the Presbytery at Tabernacle United Church in Belleville on Tuesday.

Mr. Allen Munro spent the week-end in Peterborough with friends.

Mrs. Clarence Marston of the village suffered a painful injury over the week-end while skiing, when she dislocated her knee in a tumble. Mrs. Marston is now resting more comfortably, having the injured member placed in a cast.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gay and family of Belleville moved into town this week, taking up residence in half of the A. H. Davy residence. Mr. Gay takes over his new duty as fireman on the I.B. & O. branch of the C.N.R.

The Barry's Bay hockey players journeyed to Bancroft Wednesday evening, engaging the Maynooth hockey team in a fast skirmish. The play throughout the game was quite speedy but confined a greater part of the time in the Maynooth section of the rink. The score at the end of the game was seven to two in favor of Barry's Bay.

Mr. John Walker, Sr., of Dungannon township passed away at his residence at L'Amble Tuesday evening in his 83rd year, following a lengthy illness. The late Mr. Walker is survived by his wife, Catherine McGhee; two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Martin of Trenton and Mrs. Mathew Mattan of Smith's Falls, and one son, John G., of Bronson; an adopted son, Mr. Donald McLellan, of L'Amble; three sisters, Mrs. Sellers and Mrs. Holden of Alberta, and Sarah of Michigan; four brothers: Robert of Alberta, David of Arkansas, George of Dakota and George of Bronson. The late Mr. Walker was born in Ireland, coming to this country with his parents many years ago. The funeral service was held at his residence on Thursday afternoon, conducted by Mr. N. R. Flower of Bancroft. Interment was made in the Presbyterian Cemetery, L'Amble. The late Mr. Walker was a long standing member of the Loyal Orange Order and was buried under the auspices of Bancroft and Deltor Lodges.

Two Italian Cruisers Hit

CAIRO, Feb. 17 —(AP)—British naval aircraft have scored torpedo hits on two Italian cruisers and a destroyer in the central Mediterranean, it was announced today.

An R.A.F. command communique said the British planes had attacked "a strong formation of the Italian fleet," and that their torpedoes had left one cruiser "well ablaze." One additional destroyer was listed as probably hit.

A later announcement said yet another Italian destroyer was believed to have been hit yesterday in an attack on Fascist naval units in the Ionian Sea, between southern Italy and Greece.

One pilot reported seeing four ships on fire, said the R.A.F.

Over the Libyan battle front, fighter planes were said to have been active yesterday. Continued Axis air attacks on Malta were acknowledged to have caused "some damage."

The R.A.F. listed four planes as missing, but said the crew of one bomber and a fighter pilot were safe.

Ottawa Calls Secret War Session

Liberal Member Asks For More Frequent Cabinet Shake-Ups

By FRANK FLAHERTY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 17—(CP).—Robert Gladstone (Lib., Wellington South) has indicated in the House of Commons that he would like to see some new faces in the Federal Cabinet.

Speaking in the debate on the Speech from the Throne last night he advocated more frequent shake-ups in the Government, and more frequent by-elections at which the people could express their views on governmental policy.

"There is opportunity now for rejuvenation of the cabinet with so many Senate vacancies inviting," he said, looking across at the ministerial benches but without suggesting any particular changes.

Close Debate Today

Indications are the debate will end today and be followed later in the week by a secret session at which home defence and other war problems will be discussed.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King agreed to the secret session earlier in the session and yesterday when Howard Green (Con., Vancouver South), and M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. House Leader, pressed for an early date he first said the Government hoped to pass the bill authorizing a plebiscite to seek release for the Government from past anti-conscription pledges.

After consulting with Defence Minister Ralston who sat beside him, however, Mr. King said the secret meeting could be held before the plebiscite bill passed and immediately after the Throne Speech debate.

Liberal Opposition

The debate is expected to end tonight in a vote which may show one of the widest defections of the Government's Liberal following in recent sessions. It would appear certain at least ten members who sit as government supporters will vote with the opposition against adoption of the address in reply to the Throne Speech, because of opposition to the plebiscite policy.

Liberal members held the floor throughout yesterday's sitting and all those who spoke were in favor of the plebiscite policy, although three Quebec members — Armand Cloutier (Lib. Drummond-Arthabasca), J. A. Blanchette (Lib. Compton)

Scorched Earth Foils Japanese

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 17 (AP)—The Netherlands defenders' application of the "scorched earth" policy to oil fields and installations on Sumatra, and Borneo in advance of the on rushing Japanese has cost about 1,000,000,000 guilders ($600,000,000), informed sources estimated tonight.

They asserted that sufficient oil stores had been accumulated in Java to meet United Nations war requirements in this area for some time, but pointed out that at some future date the Indies will have to import oil for the first time to supplement the meagre stocks produced on Java itself.

Refugees reaching here from Japanese-occupied Palembang, richest of Sumatra's oil-producing areas, said the refineries there had been turned into a blazing inferno and that from miles away they still could hear the explosion of dynamite charges.

The Palembang oil sources alone produced more than 4,000,000 tons a year—making their destruction "the largest voluntary sacrifice in the history of the world," according to the Batavia Nieuwsblad.

Utilities Buy $25,000 Victory Bonds

Subscription to $25,000 Victory Bonds was directed by the Utilities Commission yesterday afternoon to be made at once. Decision as to whether short or long term bonds be bought was left to the decision of G. S. Matthews, chairman, who was to enquire into and consider the factor of negotiability.

The Commission is taking $20,000 out of the waterworks department monies and $5,000 out of the electric.

Peterborough's power peak in January was 12,400 h.p. as compared with 10,700 in January last year, R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported. Further work was done on the distribution system for the second lot of Wartime houses at Park Hill Road and Park Street. Rural lines were put into service on Lundy's Lane and Erskine Avenue.

The pumpage for January, 1942, was 93,335,000 gallons as compared with 82,954,000 gallons in January, 1941.

There was an increase of 11 per cent. in the amount of water pumped, largely for increased industrial use. The weather this year was not as cold as last year on the average, although there were two or three colder days.

A new dry feeding machine has been installed at the filter plant. This is for use in feeding soda ash when this is necessary. All hydraulic valves in the filter plant were overhauled and new parts installed as required.

Work continued on the wartime housing job. 607 feet of 6-inch main were laid on Glengarry Street, and one new hydrant installed. On Wolsley Street 1,086 feet of 6-inch cast iron main were laid and another hydrant set. On Donegal Street 487 feet of 8-inch main were laid.

Gas Department.

Gas made at the plant for January, 1942, totalled 3,743,500 cubic feet as compared with 3,305,900 cubic feet in January, 1941.

The usual increase of 11 per cent. in the amount of gas sold will be noted.

The amount of coal and oil used in the manufacture of the gas increased by a corresponding amount, but the coal used as boiler fuel decreased by seven tons.

Attacks Beaverbrook

Calcutta, India, Feb. 17 (CP)

ARTHUR MOORE, editor of the Calcutta Statesman, called today for the resignation of Britain's Minister of War Production, Lord Beaverbrook, whom he styled "the evil genius of the inner cabinet."

He charged Lord Beaverbrook with hoarding "tens of thousands of aircraft and tanks in England behind his Maginot Line of the (English) Channel," claiming the minister was obsessed with "the invasion bogey."

Mr. Moore alleged that the minister rejected pleas last year for United States machine tools and experts to build up war industries in India and for planes to train pilots.

Red Cross Group Scraps Old War Guns

HASTINGS, Feb. 17 (ENS) — At the regular meeting of the Hastings' Red Cross Society held Monday night, the secretary was instructed to write the steel controller's office stating that the guns at the local War Memorial would be available for salvage.

Members decided to hold the next Red Cross Bingo in the town hall, Friday, March 13.

On motion of Mrs. H. Burnham and Mrs. W. E. Wilson, the secretary was instructed to thank the Hastings' Badminton Club and the Hastings' public school for their donations to the Red Cross during the month.

Mrs. W. M. Fowlds, the secretary, requested that a supply of official stationery be purchased. Mrs. Fowlds pointed out that stationery had risen in price and she thought it would be a good idea to have a supply on hand. On motions of W. H. Kumpf and Mrs. T. A. Walsh it was decided to purchase a quantity of stationery and a supply of stamps.

The salvage campaign project is still hanging fire, but members declared a concerted effort would be needed to make a local salvage drive a success.

It was tentatively decided to hold a tag day for the Home Fund as soon as finer weather arrives. This money is utilized to provide comforts for the Hastings' boys overseas.

Following is the treasurer's report as read by W. H. Kumpf.

Receipts—Balance on hand January 31, $87.43; Bingo, $47; Public school salvage, $5.39; Badminton Club Dance, $85.

The funeral, which is to be private, will take place from the family residence, 4 Bloomsgrove avenue, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m.

DurhamCounty's V.C. Holder Again Serving

Down at Fort Henry is Canada's Cincinnatus, Lt. Charles Smith Rutherford, a farmer by choice, holder of the Victoria Cross, who single-handed captured 45 German prisoners in the last war, is back in uniform for the duration.

Inasmuch as Lt. Rutherford won such distinguished trophies as the V.C., the Military Cross, and the Military Medal in the last war, it might be considered he had seen sufficient service for one lifetime. But he feels he hasn't.

Before this war and since the last one, Lieut. Rutherford operated a successful farm in Durham County. His apples, for instance, are known as far away from his orchards as Queen's Park, where they have been pronounced by such an authoritive farmer as Premier M. F. Hepburn to be among the finest ever grown.

Soon after this war started, Lieut. Rutherford yielded to the urge to serve his country and leaving his farm in other hands for the duration enlisted in the Veterans' Guard, the best unit his years permitted.

Giving up his favorite work and pastime, farming, was not the only thing this quiet man, who for some time has been stationed at Fort Frontenac gave up.

Shortly after Premier Hepburn's election in 1934, he offered the few holders of the Victoria Cross jobs in the offices of the provincial government in whatever posts their respective talents most suited them.

Lieut. Rutherford preferred the plow to the pen, and a hard seat on the tractor to a soft one in a government office, so declined with thanks Premier Hepburn's offer.

Accepted Post.

Two years later there was a vacancy right in the Legislative Chamber itself—that of Sergeant-at-Arms. Because this post would only be for at most two months in winter, Lieut. Rutherford accepted it when offered by the Ontario Premier.

The post of "Sergeant-at-Arms" is not an arduous one. It is one that is a traditional link with the past among British parliamentary institutions.

The sergeant-at-arms wears silk gaiters and carries a huge but dull sword. His job is to enter the Legislature behind the Speaker and place the equally time-hallowed mace on the table. That means one of His Majesty's governments is in solemn session. He sits and listens from then on to the endless debates but cannot take part in them. As the Speaker leaves the chair, he carries out the mace behind him.

At the dawn of parliamentary institutions in Great Britain, the sergeant-at-arms had more chores. When an honorable member became obstreperous, the sergeant would escort him out with as little or as much force as the occasion demanded.

When Lt. Rutherford became sergeant-at-arms that phase of his duties was supposed to have belonged entirely to the past. He thought so, too, but it wasn't to be.

Even today an occasional member may become over-heated when debates warm up and Government steam rollers are flattened out Opposition members.

For the first time in provincial political memories the sergeant-at-arms was recently called upon to eject a member. It happened to be Hon. Leo. Macaulay, who refused to accept the ruling of the Speaker that no debate would be allowed on a mighty contentious bill having to do with corporation taxes and Separate schools.

Lt. Rutherford was instructed by Hon. N. O. Hipel to escort Mr. Macaulay out, and did so. No force was needed but the sergeant-at-arms kept a firm grip on Mr. Macaulay's sleeve.

Interviewing Lt. Rutherford is about the last assignment any reporter could desire if the information wanted is about himself.

Lt. Rutherford is one subject that Lt. Rutherford will not talk about. That is doubly true when it concerns his Victoria Cross and how he won it.

As is well known the Victoria Cross is the most coveted award a member of British Empire services may win. It is a small Maltese cross of bronze, of little intrinsic value, but a great vista of glorious deeds is behind those entitled to wear it.

The cross is cast from cannon captured at Savastopol, has embossed on it the Royal Crown, surmounted by a lion, underneath the famous motto "for valor," and is known throughout the world as the highest possible reward for heroism.

How Lt. Charles Rutherford of Fort Frontenac won his Victoria Cross, he cannot be persuaded to say.

Modesty and reticence are two dominant things in his make-up. It is possible to find out, however, since the particular acts of each V.C. holder have been recorded in the public records for all time.

The official statement in the "Gazette" telling how Lieutenant Charles Smith Rutherford, M.C., M.M., of the Quebec Regiment won the V.C. was published on November 15, 1918. It says:

"For most conspicuous bravery, initiative, and devotion to duty. When in command of an assaulting party Lieutenant Rutherford found himself a considerable distance ahead of his men, and it the same moment observed a fully armed strong enemy party outside a 'pill-box' ahead of him.

"He beckoned to them with his revolver to come to him, in return they moved to him to come to them. This he boldly did and informed them they were prisoners. This fact an enemy officer disputed and invited Lieutenant Rutherford to enter the 'pill-box', an invitation he discreetly declined.

"By masterly bluff, however, he persuaded the enemy that they were surrounded, and the whole party of 45, including two officers, and three machine guns, surrendered to him.

"Subsequently he induced the enemy officer to stop the fire of an enemy machine gun close by, and Lieutenant Rutherford took advantage of the opportunity to hasten the advance of his men to his support.

35 More Bagged

"Lieutenant Rutherford then observed that the right assaulting party has held up by heavy machine-gun fire from another pill-box. Indicating an objective to the remainder of his party he attacked the 'pill-box' with a Lewis gun section and captured a further 35 prisoners with machine-guns, thus enabling the party to continue their advance.

"The bold and gallant action of this officer contributed very materially to the capture of the main objective and was a wonderful inspiration to all ranks in pressing home the attack on a very strong position."

All Resources Mobilized In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 17 — Prime Minister John Curtin announced to-day the War Cabinet had been directed to mobilize all human and material resources in Australia for defence of the Commonwealth against the Japanese.

The Prime Minister said the full Federal Cabinet had instructed the War Cabinet to issue the necessary regulations.

Australia was put on a full war footing in answer to Mr. Curtin's call for mobilization of the island continent's manpower and resources.

"That means clearly and specifically that every human being in this country is now at the service of the Government to work for the defence of Australia," he said in a statement.

"Only two things stand between us and the overthrow of everything we have and hope to have. These are the heroism and fighting power of our men going to battle and the industry, zeal and devotion of the men left behind.

Allied Works Council.

The Federal Cabinet, meanwhile, set up an Allied Works Council under control of E. G. Theodore, former Federal Treasurer. He will be known as the Director-General of the Allied Works Council and will have more power than any other official except the Director-General of Munitions, Essington Lewis.

Mr. Curtin announced that Senator J. M. Fraser, Minister of External Territories, had been appointed Assistant Army Minister.

W. J. Scully, Minister of Commerce, and E. J. Holloway, Minister of Social Services and Health, were appointed to the Production Executive.

New Way of Life Necessary.

In his statement on mobilization, Mr. Curtin said:

"We have reached the stage when a new way of life is impelled on us. All your leisure now—whether due to industrial regulation or your fortunate position — must be devoted to the service of your fellow-men....

"The challenge has been flung down. Adversity has never cowed you, overwhelming odds have never intimidated you, and to-day I call on you to invoke all the best qualities of your ancestry, go forth to the workshop and factory to work there as long as you can stand."

Two Small Ships In Convoy Sunk

LONDON, Feb. 17 — (CP). — British Coastal Command aircraft sank two small ships yesterday in the Bay of Biscay, it was announced today.

An Air Ministry communique said a third ship in a convoy was left down by the bow under the attack in the bay, formed by the coastlines of Spain and German-occupied France.

Northwest German ports and airfield in Holland were listed as targets of the Bomber Command in raids last night.

"At dusk," a communique said, "Hurricane bombers of the Fighter Command attacked shipping off the French coast, damaging at least one enemy patrol vessel."

From all operations yesterday and last night, two planes were reported missing.

I.O.D.E. Chapters To Entertain Trenton Fliers

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 17 (ENS) —Plans for the entertainment of a third group of airmen from the Trenton Station were completed by members of the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter at their regular meeting when it wa sannounced upwards of thirty would be brought to town as their guests on Friday. Feature of the week-end will be a dance and bridge in the Parish Hall on Saturday evening, thus providing the same program as was arranged for the initial group of airmen last November. Mrs. E. C. Roberts, the hospitality convener, is one of those principally concerned with the arrangements and Mrs. F. N. Brown, who is head of the refreshment committee, will be assisted by Mrs. J. Clark, Mrs. E. A. Stuart, Mrs. W. G. Ward, Mrs. W. F. Scott and Miss Dorothy Kingston. The decorating, which it is felt should be carried out at no additional cost, was left with Misses Grace Irwin, H Partridge, and Marian MacDonald, and to provide additional dance partners for the airmen members of the Junior Trent Valley Chapter have been invited to attend the affair.

The Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside, was in charge of the meeting and during the evening, reports were given by the heads of various committees including Relief, Quilt, War Services and Secretary, all of which are being summarized for subsequent release to the press. Two new members, Mrs. W. A. Johnston and Mrs. Perry Saunders, were welcomed by the regent. Mrs. S. Hopping and Mrs. W. F. Scott volunteered to act as war conveners and they are to be assisted by Mrs. W. A. Kingston and Miss Jean Wallace. Another change came in the personnel of the Salvage committee, with Mrs. F. N. Brown volunteering to take over Ward II. She will replace Miss Wallace who has been transferred to War Services. The chapter acknowledged a donation of $10 from the Junior Red Cross at the Public School.

The important question of salvage was discussed fully by the entire meeting and a complete overhauling was indicated by committee heads who were of the opinion that more specific information should be given to the public on the problem. Some of the questions such as how it is to be packed, what is required and the dates of collection were left for the Salvage committee headed by Mrs. J. M. Ferris and Mrs. S. A. Anderson to work out in detail. At the close a number of booklets dealing with the price ceiling and issued by the Wartime Prices and Trades Board were distributed to members.

Temperance Report Features Meeting

GORE'S LANDING, Feb. 17 (ENS) —The W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Hastings on Wednesday afternoon with 17 members present. Mrs. Fisher, the president, called the meeting with the theme of the year. During the business period, it was decided to have Miss Delight Hilliard as our special missionary for prayer through the year.

Mrs. Ames, secretary of Temperance, gave a fine report, in which she said that across Canada, the comparison of the fitness, physically, of our trainees showed up on boys in provinces where liquor is so plentiful. Miss Fowlie, secretary of stewardship and finance also gave a report reminding the members of the allocation of $84. There is to be an evening of lantern slides on China and social evening on March 16 in the church at 8 p.m. A quilt for the bale will be quilted at Mrs. Pratt's home in the near future. Blocks were collected at this meeting.

Miss Flora MacDonald took charge of the program. Mrs. Bert Cheyne gave a paper on "How I use the Bible." Mrs. McKenzie read the beatitudes. Miss MacDonald took the Study Book on China.

Mrs. Fraser brought the meeting to a close with prayer and light refreshments were served by the hostess.

Evening Auxiliary Has Fine Meeting

PORT HOPE, Feb. 17—(ENS).—The Evening Auxiliary of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Garnett on Monday evening with a good attendance.

Mrs. G. Ward, the president, was in the chair. Some of the business discussed were plans for the World's Day of Prayer to be held on Friday, February 20.

The president then welcomed several new members and turned the meeting over to Miss Evelyn Little, convener for this meeting. Mrs. Wanner led in prayer.

The meeting then took up their study book, taking the first chapter, and Mrs. Reynolds the second.

After the serving of refreshments the meeting adjourned with the repeating of the Mizpah.

Examiner Carriers In Past Week Sold $338 In War Savings Stamps

The Examiner Carrier Boys are still vigorously carrying on their campaign of selling War Savings Stamps to its customers. The public reception of this voluntary service on the part of these boys and girls is gratifying to all concerned. The splendid sum of $338.25 was turned in by the carriers during the week ending February 14. The winner of the Theatre Tickets for best weekly sales is again the small but energetic George Clark of 331 Sherbrooke street. George's route extends on George street from Brock to Hunter streets. His week's total was $40.00. This is the third week in which this lively boy has won the theatre tickets for high sales. Second place winner by a margin of 50 cents with a total sale of $26.50 is Keith Orde, a consistent weekly winner from the beginning. This is the fourth time Keith has been in the top two salesmen and the second time he has teamed up with George Clark for second or first place. Jack Harris, the popular second prize winner for the month of January, is third in the standing for last week's sales by the very small margin. Weekly winner three times, Jack's fine total sales for the whole campaign are $170.00. The youngest Examiner Carrier, Ray Douglas, whose father is serving with the Canadian Army overseas, is again in the high brackets with a weekly total of $18.75 to take fourth place. His brother Tom came in with the good sum of $5.25. Weldon Fanning, winner of the Gold Trophy for December, turned in the substantial amount of $16.00, closely followed by Alan Sage, twice a weekly winner of prizes, with $14.00. The following boys and girls have earned honorable mention for good sales; Grant Finnie, $11.00; Don Pagett, winner of the Gold Trophy for January, with $10.00; Dan McIsaac, $9.50; Victor Doughty and Don Payne with even totals of $10.00 each; Lewes Gaskill, $6.00; Bertha Bradley, the consistent girl with the smallest route, brought in another $5.50.

The War Savings Committee of Peterborough has expressed its gratitude and appreciation for the efforts of these boys and girls in a letter to the Examiner from R. E. Layfield, who mentions that the sales secured thereby are a "big factor in maintaining a steady flow of War Savings Certificates."

The Examiner Gold Trophy presented for monthly competition to the carriers of this newspapers and won last month by Donald Pagett of 614 Chamberlain street, will be on display at Mr. Cunningham's butcher shop on Chamberlain street during the week, and then in a downtown store for another period. The winner, Donald, voluntarily offered to part with this grand prize for a short time so that the public in his district and elsewhere who have so well supported the carriers' campaign may have a chance to see the handsome trophy, now won by Weldon Fanning for December and Donald Pagett for January.

Euchre Party Is Held At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 17—(ENS). —Six tables of euchre were played at the card party held by the members of the Altar Society of St. Paul's Church in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening. First prizes were won by Mrs. John Coughlin and Martin Sullivan, and consolation prizes to Mrs. M. Allen and James McCarthey.

Refreshments served by the committeeappointed, concluded a pleasant evening.

Growth Of Y.P.U. Traced For Members

PORT HOPE, Feb. 17.—(ENS). —Monday, February 20, being set national night for all Young People's Unions of the United church throughout the Dominion of Canada was under the missionary department with Mr. Stewart Ellis in charge.

The basis of the meeting was to give the young folk a picture of the growth of the young people's societies through the years. At the present time there are 2,877 Y.P. unions in Canada. These unions are responsible to the Presbytery Union, who are in turn responsible to the Conference and thus the Conference again responsible to the National Young People's Union. The whole set-up is then governed by the National Council of United Church Y.P. This National Council of Y.P.S. meets every two years and is comprised of members from the whole Dominion of Canada and will meet this year at Albert College, Belleville.

Miss Aubrey Cole assisted Mr. Ellis in this very fine description of the growth and development of Y. P. societies.

Plans were made for the yearly trip of the Y.P.S. to Alderville, where this society takes full charge of a service at this Indian reserve. Already the young people are looking forward and plans being made for the entertainment of the Baltimore Y.P.S.

Classed As An Alien

DEL MONTE, Calif., Feb. 17. — (AP).—Mrs. Rose C. Trovato, who lost one son at Pearl Harbor and who has another son in the United States' navy, has been classed as an enemy alien and was ordered yesterday to move from her home in a prohibited zone. Mrs. Trovato, a widow, has been a laundry employee for 20 years.

Wheezing in the Chest Points to Bronchitis

The principal symptom of bronchitis is a dry, harsh, hacking cough accompanied by a rapid wheezing and tightness across the chest.

There is a raising of phlegm, especially in the morning. This phlegm is at first of a light colour, but as the trouble progresses becomes yellowish or greenish.

You may find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup a remedy to help stimulate the weakened bronchial organs, relieve the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, loosen the phlegm and mucous, and aid nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulation.

Price 35c a bottle; the large family size, about 3 times as much, 60c, at all drug counters.

The Loss Of Singapore

Despite the heroic battles put up by the British forces, in far away Singapore, that great naval base, a key to the North Pacific waters just as Gibraltar is to the Mediterranean, has been forced to finally capitulate to the Japanese hordes. Its loss brings a dark, bleak picture to freedom-loving peoples everywhere. Indeed, it is the most depressing blow which has come since the tragedy at Dunkirk. The news has cast a further gloom over an already war-weary and sorrowful world.

But while all of this is true, it should only stir every loyal Canadian to even greater zeal in giving all the help we can to the cause of the United Nations. A calamity such as the fall of Singapore, whose fate has been followed with breathless eagerness day after day, would be more starkly grim were it not for the knowledged that despite this big victory for the Japanese, despite the pessimism it naturally creates in English-speaking countries, and despite other successes which may follow for the Nipponese as a result of their strategic capture, history shows that Britain has never lost a war of consequence. It will not lose this war because it now has united with it the expansive, rich and powerful United States of America. In that combination is an invincible fortress of democracy.

Let it not be forgotten that when France fell, Britain was left standing alone against the organized forces of Germany and Italy. With its back to the wall, it went on and entered the valley of, as Mr. Churchill said, "blood, sweat and tears." He then promised defeats and reverses. They have come more than once, but still with bulldog courage and tenacity the old Lion, Britain, roared on, taking blows and giving them, though it had no big ally at its side.

Today, and this should not be overlooked in this moment of gloom, three quarters of the world's population is pitted against the infamous trio—Germany, Italy and Japan. Unsuspecting, or at least hesitant to believe that Germany would strike, neither the United Kingdom and the British Commonwealth of Nations, nor the United States was prepared for the blitzkrieg action of the Axis. That, of course, is well known, but it should be constantly kept in mind because it explains a good deal of what has taken place to our grave disadvantage.

However, the scene has changed considerably. Britain has become geared up to fighting standards. The United States, taken off guard, has not been ready but by spring its armed forces will be moving to war zones in large numbers; its fleet will be a factor through Allied strategy; its industries will be turning out vast quantities of equipment and munitions. It can therefore be realized what advancements are likely to take place gradually on the part of these two powers when the summer is here.

Then, too, Russia's achievements are a serious set-back to the Axis in Europe where before they had their own way everywhere. Besides that, China is becoming a strength, and India is putting its lot in with that of China against Japan.

It is these known factors that give us faith that, terrific and stunning though the storm may be at times, we as freedom-loving nations in all parts of the world will go doggedly on in the face of reverses, knowing our principles are right and that they must, and will, eventually triumph.

Singapore has gone, but the heart and spirit of every true Briton is still staunch!

Value Of Trees

Prof. A. F. Coventry, of the University of Toronto, speaking the other day before the Kiwanis Club of that city, urged the importance of reforestation on the farms of Ontario. He sounded a wise note. Perhaps there is no better authority on this continent on subjects pertaining to soil movements, insects and other things that play a part in everyday physical phenomenon than is he. Experience also, and the long collection of facts gives weight to his remarks.

During his address Prof. Coventry pointed out that the wholesale cutting of timber that stood on the farms of Saskatchewan and the Mid-Western United States was responsible, to a great extent, for the coming out there of the "dust-bowl era." But even in Ontario old people know that in the earlier days here the forests kept moisture in the land. Countless little streams and rivulets that used to criss-cross the country everywhere have dried up. Now the soil is sometimes "burned" in the intense heat of some July and August days.

Winds, too, have vastly more freedom to sweep over the earth when there are few, if any, trees to interfere with their course and winds are often destructive to crops. Besides, trees are important for firewood and it begins to look as though they might stand the population in pretty good stead a quarter of a century from now, judging by the way that other fuels keep gradually creeping up in price.

Should Remain In Mexico

The Examiner, in view of the editorial views it expressed a short while ago on the subject, is interested to see news coming from Washington that any attempt on the part of former King Carol of Rumania to come into the United States and try to head a "free Rumania" movement would not be welcomed. Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles is quoted as saying that such a plan would not be conducive to the war effort of the United States nor to national unity.

When will there be a good-bye handshake given to this man? His conduct when he was a monarch was in every way reprehensible. If the news reports that came through in different channels are to be relied upon at all, he was a one-time collaborator with the pro-Nazi element in Rumania, and he got out of the country as best he could, and as fast as he could, because the better class people were down on him, not alone because of his political actions but because of his social improprieties.

When he made his escape it was revealed that through his roguery he had mulcted the nation for several millions of dollars. For some time he has been living in Mexico City with his paramour Elena Lupescu. That is where he should remain. It is to be hoped that he doesn't flirt with Canadian authorities and if he does that he will be given the same clear-cut opinion as Hon. Mr. Welles has given.

Because a person happens by birth to be of royal stock and is elevated to a throne is no reason why he should, in this day and generation, think he can live as he likes and do what best suits his own individual schemes. Many crowned heads have fallen during the past three or four decades because the people have refused to condone and tolerate their useless existence. Carol should do a bit of reading and afterward some thinking.

One of the reasons why all parts of the British Empire have held together so solidly in this war, and why the United States have thrown in their lot with that Empire is found in the noble, spotless and friendly character of the King and Queen. They exemplify the best in national as well as individual life. Millions of people have been inspired and unified as a result of their qualities.

Carol and his woman friend on the other hand don't merit either confidence or encouragement, and no doubt Rumanians all over this North America will agree with that statement.

Barriers In The Way

All those who know how general and how devastating are some social diseases will read with regret that the good intentions of Hon. Harold Kirby, Ontario Minister of Heath, to bring down measures at this session of the Legislature to make compulsory a pre-marital blood test, have to be postponed owing to difficulties encountered.

He is quoted as saying that there are difficulties that must be ironed out. One of these is the fact that a large percentage of marriages are performed in the church and 40 per cent. of the weddings in this category need no license because of the calling of bans. Consequently, venereal disease will go on its way until the barriers can be overcome.

While this is a perfectly tenable position to take in view of the existing conditions, church leaders, we feel sure, are quite as anxious as laymen to reduce this social scourge as much and as fast as possible. Clergymen, particularly in the larger cities, must be fully aware of the prevalence of this physical and moral taint. Medical and social service bodies have been battling against it for years but because there has been no law to test the blood of couples intending to marry, the evil has gone from one to another and is transmitted from parents to children.

Hospitals could reveal many startling cases of the suffering and sorrow that has come to families as a result of unions. Even people who lead moral, conventional lives may have the disease germs latent in their bodies and if they knew of it they would seek medical treatment before it committed havoc. A pre-marital blood test could be conducted so as to bring no stigma upon anybody but it would be possible in this way to attack a social enemy in a practical, effective manner. It is hoped that before another session of the Legislature comes around the problems of which Hon. Mr. Kirby speaks will be overcome through the co-operation of the churches.

Healthy Sign, This

Below is the kind of news which makes people in the cities feel that they have a producing power behind them all over the rural areas of this country. Just as the Ironsides were the backbone of Cromwells time, so the farmers and all associated with them in raising what millions have to live on, are the backbone of a country like Canada. When agricultures is doing well and is economically healthy, cities and towns prosper the more. When agriculture is "down" urban centres soon get the effect in business and finance. So we quote the Amherstburg Echo as revealing what a sound interest people on the farms up in that district are showing in their own business:

"Several people at the Holstein Breeders' Association banquet in Harrow last week remarked on the fact that there are more people attending farm meetings and we must corroborate this statement. Whether the farm people are beginning at last to realize the value of co-operation in the agricultural industry or whether they are getting fonder of each other's company we don't know but they certainly are coming out in large numbers. The Holstein banquet attracted over 500 people. There were a couple of hundred at the Jersey Breeders' banquet in Essex the night before and on the same night there were over 200 men from the county at the County Council Centennial dinner."

NOTE AND COMMENT

Former U.S. Minister to Bulgaria, George H. Earle, thinks that the Nazis will use poison gas against the Russians. No doubt because Propaganda Minister Goebbels has been employing it in the press and on the radio for several years.

On the first of April toll bridges under the jurisdiction of the Province of Quebec are to cease being an infernal nuisance. The Government intends to abolish them. No doubt thousands of people will use a much less extensive vocabulary now.

It looks as if the job of producing some real sweetener is up to the bees this coming summer. So get to work early, little buzzers. With the sugar bowl hid away and the beet sugar crop thinking its program over, you've got to take this war seriously. A little honey—and some milk—well, "The land that flows with milk and honey" can get along some way.

The English Channel is only about thirty miles wide in some places or about the distance from Toronto to the Niagara River. One can see across it on fair days with field glasses, but when Nature sends down its load of fog and mist, one mile out from shore becomes a hundred. That's really the explanation, apparently, of the success of the German warships in getting away from Brest and making a run to Heligoland. Nevertheless they got out and now the arm chair critics will show exactly how this all could have been prevented by wise men like themselves.

THE POET

While all around us on the waves of storm
We see confusion and a world distraught,
Someone, perchance, has caught a vagrant thought
And made it eloquent in cadenced form.
Although the thought itself seemed little worth
Till he had searched and found a pattern meet;
And so sent forth a message that was sweet,
Some word of comfort for a troubled earth.
Then as his patience lovingly applied
Brought forth the rhythm and the poetry,
So consolation came to those distressed;
Glimpsing the order they were satisfied,
Knowing that somewhere there was harmony,
Finding the message that his work had blessed.

New Directions For the Ballet?

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

During the past three or four weeks the Montreal and Toronto papers have been giving a good deal of space to reports of ballet performances, and if you will look back through their files for the past year you will find an amount of writing about ballet that will surprise you. War in Europe has made ballet—once the entertainment of the wealthy on that continent—perfectly familiar to any theatregoer in a large Canadian city. It is a pity that the smaller Canadian cities have no chance to see it, but the expense of moving a ballet company, with its orchestra and its piles of scenery, is too great to permit it to take any chances. Toronto, Montreal, and the large cities of the west are the only stops for ballet in Canada, but there is reason to believe that Canadian interest in ballet spreads beyond their bounds.

From time to time Canada makes its contribution to ballet, as it does to all the arts. The American Ballet Theatre, which has been in eastern Canada recently and which played in Toronto last week, included in its ranks a young man from Victoria, B.C.; Ian Gibson was his name, and competent critics think that, in a few years, he will be one of the best male dancers on this continent. Gibson received his early training in Victoria, where a lively interest in ballet exists. Another centre of ballet enthusiasm in Canada is Winnipeg, which has a small ballet of its own, of excellent quality. Toronto has many dancing schools, and one of these has recently embarked upon the ambitious project of forming a Canadian Ballet. However successful this venture may be, it shows enthusiasm. The large audiences which ballet companies have found in Canadian cities during the past year give more evidence of the interest in ballet which exists in this country. Why should it be so?

Perhaps the war has more to do with it than anything else. Few of us at present can escape the feeling that life is chaotic and insecure. However stoical we may try to be, we are living in a highly charged emotional atmosphere; we are cast down by the news today, and our hopes are raised tomorrow. We long for some kind of emotional stability, and yet we can scarcely justify such a longing, when we think of the misery, so great in comparison with our own small trials, which afflicts the enslaved millions of Europe. Therefore we do what civilized man has always done when life seems to be intolerable. We turn to art for solace.

Art, whether it be expressed through painting, or music, or through the ritual of a great faith, or whether it be the mixture of arts which is found in the theatre, has one common appeal to mankind. It imposes a form upon the chaos of life. Art cannot exist without some form of reason. And so, as it is reason which we are seeking in these days when life is tumultuous and seemingly unreasonable, we turn, when we have the opportunity, to ballet, which gives us form and reason in an easily digested shape.

Havelock Ellis, in one of his best books, has gone fully into the relation between dancing and life as a whole, and has made us actually conscious of the loss which we have suffered through our stupidity in allowing the great emotional experience of dancing to degenerate into the dreary banality of the modern ballroom. If you are interested, I recommend you to read "The Dance of Life," in which that great critic and thinker has set down his views. But our hankering after the joys of the dance is still evident in the enthusiasm with which we rush to see others dance. Dancing has joined the ranks of the 'spectator sports.' The formal leaps and bounds of the ballet, unfolding a story, give us, not a realistic representation of life, but a synthesis of life; in the ballet we find the very essence of life itself, making a direct appeal to our senses and relieving us from the sometimes intolerable fatigue of thought. Is it any wonder that ballet draws the crowds?

Modern ballet represents the inmost thoughts and desires of its spectators. It is significant that the ballets which are most popular in wartime are the highly romantic ones; although their story may be tragic, there is always a clearly discernible reason and form in them. And the woes which afflict the heroes and heroines are always intensely personal; of course, for although we think of the present war as a national problem which we attack as a nation, every one of us feels it as a personal matter as well, and we long for a personally satisfactory outcome. Thus ballet provides us with personal comfort and encouragement, and with a mirror of our concealed longings.

If this is so, may we not shortly look for some new directions in ballet? If it is to reflect a modern world, how can it go on telling stories of peasant girls who are loved and lost by noblemen, or of spirits encountered in an enchanted wood? Noblemen are not regarded as matrimonial catches in these days of high taxes on land, and what girl would admit to being a peasant? Who believes in spirits and enchantment? Who believes in romantic love, which survives death? Is not ballet on the wrong track entirely?

Perhaps, and then again, perhaps not. People do not express their beliefs nowadays in as naive a manner as they used to do, but the longing for fairy princes, and for a love which survives the grave is common enough if you know where to look for it. Has not Miss Dorothy Dix spent a long and useful life advising peasant girls how to conduct their love affairs? You will find plenty of evidence of a strong belief in enchantment and evil spirits in the newspapers, if you read them carefully. And as for romantic love—look at any newsstand, and wonder how you ever doubted popular belief in its existence. The men and women who direct the ballet know what they are doing, and they know that their audiences are, beneath the surface, far less sophisticated than they think themselves. The ballet gives us what we want, and perhaps that is no bad thing. Life may refuse to pamper us, but art never will.

• Easy Access to Indies

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The fall of Singapore is the bitterest British military defeat in generations. Its cost in men and battle equipment not only to Britain but to the United Nations is certainly heavy. And, the strategic consequences are not yet fully measurable in either a military or political sense.

In Japanese hands that powerful Gibraltar of the East imposes a grim veto on Allied plans for an early reconquest of the China Sea. Coastal batteries — if they still stand — on which British lavished millions to dominate the vital Indian Ocean-China Sea-Pacific communication link may now be turned against her.

The only remaining United Nations footholds in the China Sea are the Manila Bay forts, the tip of Bataan Peninsula held by General MacArthur and his men, and isolated spots garrisoned by American-Filipino detachments elsewhere in the Philippines. How long they can hold out is questionable. They already have wrought a military miracle of gallantry and endurance their countrymen can never forget.

RETREAT TO JAVA

Even before Britain's flag came down over Singapore, the Japanese foe was using his Malayan victory as a springboard for a new and dangerous stab at the Netherlands Indies. His invasion forces are already firmly planted in Sumatra, across Malacca Strait, Netherlands destruction of priceless oil wells and installations on that westernmost island of the Netherlands Indies indicates a further Allied retreat to Java is in motion.

There is no escape from the grave new complications for the anti-Axis allies flowing from the all too swift fall of Singapore. Had the island itself been able to hold out for even a few weeks longer, it would have partially screened mobilisation of Anglo-American forces to aid in the Netherlands defense of Java. Its swift fall may well force drastic revision of united war measures so recently evolved from the Churchill-Roosevelt conferences in Washington.

POLITICAL UNCERTAINTIES

Prompt Netherlands application of the scorched-earth policy to Sumatran oil wells signals grim Indies determination to hold out in Java even if all the "outer possessions" are lost. And while Java holds, opportunity still stands for ultimate rallying of American and British air and other power on a scale to turn the tables on the foe.

Grim as is the situation on the Southwestern Pacific front, it is obvious that official concern in Washington is focussed also in possible political repercussions in London from Singapore's fall and the British set-back in Dover Strait.

Possibility of British Cabinet upsets which might even shake Prime Minister Churchill's war leadership is an added problem to the United Nations. Until the issue is met in Parliament one way or another grave uncertainties must further hamper the united war effort.

Every reason exists for prompt action to affirm or revise British leadership. Until London's home front is re-established, the full effect of Singapore and Dover Strait upon the war cannot be set down, nor the loss of vitally important time to the Allied cause be computed.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

And after six days Jesus taketh Peter, James, and John his brother, and bringeth them up into a high mountain apart, and was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light. And, behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elias talking with him.

Then answered Peter, and said unto Jesus, Lord, it is good for us to be here: if thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. While he yet spake, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and behold a voice out of the cloud, which said, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye him.

And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their face, and were sore afraid. And Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid.

And when they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no man, save Jesus only. And as they came down the mountain, Jesus charged them, saying, Tell the vision to no man, until the Son of man be risen again from the dead.—Matt. xvii, 1-9.

WAR AND ROMANCE

It was announced the other day that 3,500 Canadian soldiers have found wives in this country. Quite a large number of Polish troops have married English and Scottish girls, while Englishmen find romance going hand in hand with war. Sheffield men have married Welsh and South Country girls; Sheffield girls have become the brides of men whose homes are far away from here. It is strange to think that but for the war most of these people would never have met.

And afterwards, when peace is here again, what a planning there will have to be in providing homes for these young people. Accidental meetings in time of war will lead to rare adventures and strange scenes for many of our young women in days to come.—Sheffield Telegraph.

If You have followed the trend of increasing taxation, and the newer regulations in the settlement of estates, you will have some idea of the gap in values that can happen between what you leave and what your family will actually receive. Through our knowledge of wise present day estate distribution, we can frequently help to reduce that difference.

A practical way to minimize the shrinkage of your estate may result from a talk with us. Any of our Estates Officers, or Representatives, will gladly discuss your intended distribution with you. It is a friendly service we provide—in the strictest confidence, of course.

Here in this Tower of Peace, in Canada's Parliament Buildings, a Book of Remembrance commemorates those who had in them that breath of God that is Liberty. They went on their Crusade a generation ago. For them, on a great ridge in a foreign land, a naked sword broods on the bosom of a cross. To fail them is to sully their sword and scorn their cross and break their sleep. The least we can do, in the light of the torch they threw to us, is to give our money where they gave their lives.

LEAGUE RECORDS ARE TOPPLED OVER IN FIVE-PIN SPILLING SPREE

Bruins Blocked In Raid On Canadien Nets

This hectic scramble during a Boston Bruin-Montreal Canadien game in Boston which featured a terrific barrage by the Boston line of Dumart, Schmidt and Bauer, making their last appearance in the N.H.L. before entering the R.C.A.F. Dumart fired a shot on Goalie Paul Bibeault who cleared and Bauer (17) tries to grab the loose puck. Joe Benoit (5) or Canadiens is blocking Dumart off and other Montreal players are Bouchard (ON ICE), Goupille and Toe Blake, all crowding in to help their hard-pressed netminder. Bruins won easily.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

BADEN POWELL SCOUT WEEK

Today is the commencement of a week of renewed effort in scouting to the memory of our founder and late Chief Scout, Lord Baden Powell of Gilwell. Many groups are planning various activities into which parents and friends have been invited to attend. The birthdate of our late Chief is Sunday, February 22. Nearly every unit will attend divine service as a fitting tribute to a glorious memory.

To cubs, scouts and officers we can only say one thing. Carry on. Such work as scouting is needed today more than ever. It is up to you to do your best.

1ST PETERBOROUGH

We have no reports from this group, but the annual parents' and sons' banquet will be held on Friday, February 20, in St. John's Parish Hall, at 6.30 p.m. sharp. All parents and friends are invited to attend. Guest speaker will be Dr. Douglas Avison, Medical Officer of Health.

On Sunday evening next the cubs and scouts will meet in the Parish Hall at 6.40 p.m. sharp to attend 7 p.m. Evensong. Parents, group committee and mothers' auxiliary, please attend.

The Rover crew will meet again on Thursday of this week. Any old scout wishing to join us is asked to be at Groombridge's auto trimming shop on Aylmer street, between Brock and Murray, at 8 p.m.

2ND ARMOUR

A good turnout of boys was at the last meeting; every one arriving with hammers and lots of pep. The aim of the project was for each cub to make himself a low stool to use around the Red Flower and to eliminate wear and team of pants from the cement floor. A lot of banging was heard, the enthusiasm great and the result, 15 stools complete and ready for a coat of paint. This will give to stools the color of rocks to add to the jungle atmosphere.

On Sunday next, all scouts and cubs will meet in the Sunday school at 10.30 a.m. to attend divine service. All boys are requested to be early.

Note.—There is a supply of wood at Baloo's home for use in model making. Cubs are asked to come and get started on their models for scout craft show.

THE 3RD GROUP

We understand that the cubs and scouts are steadily progressing, but owing to the change of the minister in charge there may be more opportunity for a definite meeting night, etc.

4TH, SACRED HEART

The Sacred Heart groups is holding its third annual B.P. Week.

On Tuesday the group is holding a dance in their headquarters. Souter Pete extends a hearty invitation to all. You can get tickets from him at a nominal sum.

Wednesday.—The K. of C. troop will join the Sacred Heart to present a scout meeting. All parents and friends are invited to this, and every meeting through the week.

Thursday, February 19.—The Wolf cub pack presents a special meeting at 7.30 p.m.

Friday, February 20.—Scout and cub craft show at which the boys will display their hand craft work—.

Sunday, February 22.—The cubs and scouts of the Sacred Heart together with the K. of C. troop will attend mass at 10.30 in the Sacred Heart Church.

Following high mass a "going up" ceremony will be held; three boys leaving the pack for the troops, followed by renewal of scout promise, taken by Assistant Commissioner E. Wolfe.

5TH, ALL SAINTS'

The cubs went on a sleigh ride last week, having some real fun, returning to the hall, where hot chocolate and sandwiches were served.

The troop has undergone a complete reorganization and will start this week with a parents' night on Tuesday, February 17. Bob Brightman has been promoted to Assistant Scout Master, while brother Ken Brightman is now troop leader. Good luck, All Saints'.

6TH, K. OF C.

The Knights of Columbus group is joining up with the Sacred Heart group for activities this week.

8TH, ST. ANDREW'S

No cub reports. And the scouts are in a slump with many boys out sick. Owing to this condition, no church parade has been arranged. Alex. Thorne is acting as scout master at present, with Alan Johnson, assistant scouter, giving Scouter Ingham a little freedom to move around.

We trust the sick members will soon be up and doing again.

10TH, ST. JAMES'

On Sunday next, St. James' United Church will hold a scout Sunday, the guest preacher being Dr. Stewart, Moderator of the Afro Evangelist Mission of Canada.

Dr. Stewart is reputed to have formed the first scout troop in Bermuda, and at present holds Scout Master's warrant in Halifax, N.S.

The St. James' group extends a hearty invitation to all cubs, scouts and officers to join them at the evening service; the Girl Guides have also been invited to attend.

On Monday, February 23, the group will hold its annual banquet in the basement of the church. Dr. Stewart will be guest speaker on this occasion, and will have two Toronto cubs with him.

All are invited to attend .

12TH, ST. GEORGE'S

No reports received this week. We are glad to learn that Akela's wife and son are getting along fine after the accident of some days ago. We wish Mrs. McKinney and her son a speedy recovery to health and strength.

13TH MARK STREET

The Mark Street group is trying to carry on under lack of leadership. Mr. Charles English, one of the group committee, is doing his best to carry on, but would appreciate the assistance of some old scout who knows the ropes. Come along, you volunteers.

14TH, MURRAY STREET

Our friend Grace has fallen down but I will report that the cubs are putting on a concert on Tuesday, February 17, which promises to be good. All proceeds are going to the Chins-Up Fund. Your support will be appreciated. Your money welcomed.

On February 7, seven members of the troop went on a ski hike under that expert young man, Don Shiner. They met at Jackson's Park and went over the mile-a-minute jump, Wallace Graham making the longest jump of the bunch.

Although Friday the 13th was jinx night, no accidents were reported but the way the Buffalo patrol had George Rome tied up during first aid practise it appeared he had broken every bone in his body.

A game of volley ball helped to lose some of the energy after which knotting instruction was given with a great improvement shown all round.

Don't forget the concert is Tuesday, February 17, in the Sunday

Westclox Ladies Roll 3204 High Team Score

A high scoring fever raged along the line of all ten teams bowling in the Ladies' City League at Duffus Alleys last night when both the high single game and all former high team scores for this year were beaten. The Westlox girls unloaded 3204 pins, defeating Kawarthas three straight games and at the same time whittled one point from the three-point lead of the Outboard Marines. Miss Johnston's Aces took a game from the Marine team.

Lucky Strikes took 4 points from Lawn Bowlers, Commercials and Mic-Macs tied while Five V's defeated Eaton's 3 to 1.

Grace Patterson knocked Betty Goldie's 317 former high single flying when she chalked up a beautiful 332 game for the Kawartha team. Miss Long of Commercials and Miss Selkirk of Westclox hit 706 and 700 totals while other fine efforts included Mrs. McDonald's 680, Miss Sisson's 665, Miss Patterson's 660, Miss Hawthorne's 645, Mrs. Calladine's 635, and 618 and 609 respectively by the Goldie sisters.

In addition to Miss Patterson's big single Miss Long had 277 and 259 games, Miss Selkirk a 277, Miss Hepburn 270, Mrs. Watts 261, Mrs. Calladine 256 and Miss Armstrong 255.

The standing: Outboard Marines 56, Westclox 54, Lucky Strikes 44, Kawarthas 40, Aces 32, Mic-Macs 31, Lawn Bowlers 21, Five V's 19, Commercials 14 and Eaton's 9.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

It is Whitby Palm Billiards vs. the Peterborough Soldiers for the championship of the senior B group with the first game scheduled for Brock St. Rink tomorrow, Wednesday night. The Oshawa-Whitby combines proved too strong for Mike Rodden's Belleville-Kingston combination in the third game of the semi-final series at Belleville last night, taking the rubber game 5 to 4. It was close enough but Whitby had enough punch to eke out a win and send Reliance into the discard. The winners have been trying to stall on playing here tomorrow night, for the very obvious reason that Peoples team also play on that night and Barnes, Cooper and Covert are members of that outfit, but the opening game of the final series was scheduled for Wednesday night here and will be played as arranged. Postponing important O.H.A. games to let players perform in the Toronto loop is not being done this season, so far as the O.H.A. is concerned.

* * * * * *

The playoff series which opens here tomorrow night will of course be a three-of-five struggle and it should produce a lot of colorful and exciting hockey before a winner is decided. There has been plenty of action in the regular scheduled games and with the added excitement of a playoff the series between Whitby and the local Soldiers should be brimful of action. On paper the Petes have the edge inasmuch as they finished two games up on Whitby in the regular schedule and had much the better goal average, while they beat the Palm Billiards 3 out of 4 games. But hockey history has shown that when the playoff stage is reached the early dope can be tossed out of the window. It is the team that is hot when the final series comes that cops the marbles. So far as the Petes are concerned they hope to be plenty warm for the acid test. They have had a chance to get injured and ill players back into action and should be able to present their strongest lineup when they step out at Brock St. Rink tomorrow night for the first game of the series. They have the advantage of the opening game at home and if they do not want to be forced to win the argument the hard way they will cut loose with everything they have to win the initial game and get the jump on the opposition.

* * * * * *

So far the Petes' lineup for this all-important engagement has not been officially announced. The indications are however that the two regular defence combinations and the two regular forward lines that have been together all season will be used tomorrow night, although Manager Ferd Scates and Coach Jim Ellis may have their own views on that point. At the present writing however it looks like Ray Harding in the nets with Johnny Godfrey teaming up with Les Burton as one defence pair and Don Crowe and Drake Jopling working together as the other rearguard duo. The razzle-dazzle line of Kingdon, centre and Tompkins and Heal wings, will form one attacking division and the other is likely to be Din Reilly in centre and Perce Nichols and Joe Blewett on the wings, with Eddie Starr, Bruce Bennett or Doug Mortimer as the extra forward.

A Belleville Squawk

As the hillbilly song has it, "It Makes No Difference Now," but nevertheless Ken Colling's complaint about the work of Referee Bert McCaffery in the game at Oshawa the other night makes interesting reading. Says Bre'er Colling: "Friday the 13th took its conventional toll from the Belleville squad in Oshawa last night. A patched-up Belleville team went all out and skated the Oshawa-Whitby sextette into the ice for well over 40 minutes, leading 3 to 1 at the end of the middle session. Mike Rodden's boys went all out and pushed the "Blue Shirts" all around the Oshawa rink until Referee Bert McCaffery stepped in and put a stop to the visiting team's efforts. Actually what turned the tide of battle occurred fast. Early in the last period Reg Chipman, who had played plenty of hockey for Belleville all night, was retired from the game when struck in the face with an inadvertent stick. Losing Chipman, Referee Bert McCaffery got his oar in on the tying goal by letting Durling sail in for an off-side goal that reeked to the rafters of the Motor City arena. Little satisfied with his efforts Mister McCaffery helped again when he ignored Durling's off-side on a subsequent goal by that player. Just to prove how good a "player" McCaffery was for the homesters—take a gander at the summary and see to whom the penalties went. Mister McCaffery didn't render a single misconduct effort to one of those goodie, goodie Oshawa-Whitby players, as all penalties went to Belleville."

* * * * * *

A letter from Robert "Red" Creighton conveys the information that he and Mick Magee are having a good season with the Akron, Ohio Clippers in the M.-O. League and the rather surprising intelligence that Red has been playing part of the time as a defence man on the Clippers. Magee is also a rearguard with the same club which has landed a place in the playoff circle now if they can hang up there for the next four weeks. A clipping that accompanies the letter says: "Little Red Creighton, operating from the defence, was given a great hand from the crowd for his energetic and effective patrol work in that area." Another news picture shows Mick Magee being separated from an opposing player with whom he had tangled. Creighton's letter adds: "We were up to Cleveland to see Bill Calladine play. Bill is sure going good. Also up to see and talk to Frank Eddolls."

* * * * * *

Should Be Real Battle

The City Basketball League offers fans an exciting battle for Wednesday night when the Dominions and C.G.E. teams will clash in an important tussle that will have a good deal to say as to which team will land in a playoff berth. Dominions who started out by winning three straight games and were leading the loop until they were dethroned by Quakers last week had their winning streak broken by the C.G.E. the first time the two clubs met in a gruelling battle. Another loss to the same club now would be disastrous to the second-placers and on the other hand the Electricians can go into the second slot with victory Wednesday night so that both teams will be out there battling for the win. The game will start at 7 o'clock and will finish in plenty of time for the basketball fans to take in the hockey playoff game afterward.

* * * * * *

Belleville managed to keep Whitby's ace line of Covert, Cooper and Dafoe off the score sheet last night but while they were doing that the second line came through with enough scoring punch to give the Ontario County team a 5 to 4 win and spill Belleville into the discard. Gamble set the pace with three goals, and Durling and Brown got the other two Whitby counters. It was a tough battle. Each team scored once in the first period but Whitby won the argument by rattling in three counters in the second session before Belleville found the nets. Reliance outscored the winners 2 to 1 in the last period and were within a goal of sewing up the game with a little over eleven minutes to go but the equalizer never came.

* * * * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Bill Calladine improved his position in the American League scoring race last week by climbing to third place with a total of 48 points, made up of 28 goals and 20 assists. Only Pete Kelly of Springfield and Louie Trudel of Washington are in front of the Peterborough lad....This big Brown on the Whitby team has been going great guns recently and figuring in a lot of goals. Early in the season he could not move a wheel but the veteran has rounded into one of Palm Billiards most valuable players....The demand for reserved seats for tomorrow night's game indicates the biggest crowd of the season....Marlboros defeat of Hamilton by 3 to 2 in overtime tied up the series between the two clubs and the third game should be a honey....There will be a lot of one-man hockey excursions out of Belleville this week....That is one good thing about a team of imports. They don't have to stick around and listen to the postmortems after they have been eliminated....Bill Calladine is sure to hit the 30-goal class this season and that is sharp-shooting in any company....Biffer Ranger, Peterborough veteran is coaching a team in Detroit and getting into the odd game himself....All the other members of Peterborough's senior champion team have long since given up the pastime.

KINGS ROW

By HENRY BELLAMANN

THE STORY: Schoolmates in smalltown Kings Row are orphaned Parris Mitchell, 12, who adores his French grandmother, Madame von Eln; playmate Renee, daughter of vonEln estate overseer; "all boy" Drake McHugh; tomboy Randy Monaghan; beautiful Cassandra Tower, whose recluse doctor father is town mystery; Louise Gordon, daughter of leading physician. Dr. Tower, furious at social snub from Mrs. Gordon, takes Cassie out of school. Other characters: lawyer Skeffington, editor Miles Jackson, half-wit Benny Singer, brunt of schoolboy teasing. Parris avows childish love for pretty Renee.

FIRST LOVE—AND TRAGEDY
CHAPTER VI

A few days later when they were coming home from school they overtook Willy Macintosh. He looked very solemn.

"What's the matter, Willy?" Parris asked.

"My pa is awful sick." He blurted the words, and tears stood in his brown eyes.

"What's the matter with him?" asked Renee.

"I don't know. Terrible bad though. He's going to have an operation today."

"Oh, my goodness!"

They walked slowly, keeping step with Willy, who delayed as much as possible. When they came to the crossroads where the big white Macintosh house stood in a grove of trees they saw a buggy standing at the gate.

"That's Dr. Gordon's buggy," Willy said as if to prove his story. "I guess he's performin' the operation."

"Well, Willy, I hope your papa'll—" Renee's speech was cut short by a dreadful sound. A long-drawn cry came from open windows. It was more like the howl of a dog. It mounted and mounted as though it would never stop, then broke into several short, quick sobs and died in a long moan. Renee turned pale and caught Parris by the arm.

"Good gracious, Willy," Renee spoke in a loud whisper, "didn't Dr. Gordon give your father chloroform?"

"I—I heard Mama say he c-couldn't take chloroform because he's got heart disease."

The terrible yells began again. Willy threw his books into the ditch beside the road. His face was crimson, and he was crying aloud. Then he began to run toward the house. "He's got to quit that. I'll—I'll kill that old durnfool doctor!"

Parris and Renee watched Willy as he dashed up the walk and flung himself at the front door. He wrenched and pulled at the door, but it was locked. He ran around toward the kitchen door crying. "He's got to quit that—I'll kill him—I'll kill him!"

"Come on, Parris, let's go home. I'm scared. I never heard a man cry and holler before, did you?"

The next day at school Parris overheard Miss Colt say to Miss Venable that Mr. Macintosh had died from shock. He wondered just what that meant. It was a long time before Parris could forget the sounds he had heard that afternoon. Whenever he saw Dr. Gordon dashing along the road behind his two high-spirited bays, he was reminded of it, and always he was divided between two feelings—one, a sort of terror of the man who cut people with knives, and the other an excited admiration. But it must be wonderful to be a doctor, anyhow, he decided. Dr. Gordon must be a very fine doctor. Everybody said so.

One thing, however, he was certain of. He was afraid of Dr. Henry Gordon.

Parris and Renee would have fallen quickly into their accustomed summer pastime had it not been for the sudden, inexplicable strictness of Sven, her father. "There is danger in mixing classes," he told Gudrun. "More—now that both of them are growing up."

The next week he forbade Renee to roam the place with Parris as

WHITBY EDGES BELLEVILLE 5 TO 4 IN THIRD AND FINAL CONTEST

Scoring Record For Rangers Seems Far Away

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Flickering fortunes of New York Rangers during the last week have caused a sharp decline in the club's chances to crack the all-time National Hockey League record for team scoring.

The league-leader's slump has also forced a falling market on speculation that the Rangers' top line of Phil Watson, Lynn Patrick and Bryan Hextall would surpass the 72-goal season which ranks as best in the history of Rangers old-time great forward string, the Cooks and Boucher.

Rangers have scored 146 goals in 38 games. To smash the 179-goal record set in the 1929-30 season by Boston Bruins the Rangers would have to score at least 34 goals in their remaining 10 games in the schedule. Boston's records was set during a 44-game season, so Rangers would have to do more than best it by one goal to make their performance rank with that of the Bruins. Rangers have scored only six goals in their last three games —all defeats.

The Watson-Hextall-Patrick line must score 16 goals to top the Cooks-Boucher mark. So far it has 57 goals, an average of 1.5 a game, which is a fraction less than the average it must maintain to set a new club standard.

All is not well with the Rangers. They looked bad in losing 5-3 last Saturday to Montreal Canadiens, and they meet the Canucks again tonight—this time in New York. Last Tuesday Rangers were beaten 5-2 by Chicago and last Sunday 5-1 by Brooklyn. The main trouble seems to be in defence, as the average of five goals scored against them will testify. Coach Frankie Boucher may have to do some shaking-up to get the club back in stride and if he does it probably will be along the second and third forward lines, the dfence, and possibly in goal.

Freddie Mills To Meet McAvoy

LONDON, Feb. 17—(CP Cable)—Britain's biggest boxing show of the war will be staged next Monday when young Freddie Mills takes on tough Jock McAvoy in the final elimination bout for Len Harvey's British light heavyweight title.

For Mills, a 22-year-old Bournemouth boxer, it is the most important bout of his career. Far the veteran McAvoy, who holds the middleweight title, it is a chance to regain the title Harvey won from him before the war and to even the score with Mills who beat him 16 months ago.

The winner is promised the first crack at Harvey if and when the titleholders comes out of retirement where he has been since joining the R.A.F. as a physical training instructor.

Mills, a story book fighter, is being labelled as the future heavyweight champion of Great Britain and—by the more optimistic—of the world. No one had heard of him before the war, but at present he is the best drawing card in Britain. He started fighting at the age of 15.

Tarlton's Rink Defeated In Preliminary

TORONTO, Feb. 17 — (ENS). — The Ontario Curling Association's 15th annual bonspiel went into its second day here today, with its defending champion among the ranks of beaten rinks after strenuous opening draws yesterday.

Ross Tarlton's Hamilton Thistles rink, champion last season, was beaten 11-9 yesterday in the preliminary round of the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie event by George Farr's strong Brampton four. The Tarlton rink looked shaky in its first game yesterday, squeezing through with an 11-10 victory in the preliminary round of the Royal York. Last year Tarlton skipped his Thistles quartet to the Burks and Seiberling trophies, and the 'spiel's grand aggregate title.

Bert Hall's Kitchener rink, Ontario British Consols champion last year and one of the strongest contenders for the Canadian championship won by Howard Palmer of Calgary, won 10-8 in the preliminary round of the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie over D. H. McNabb's Orillia rink. The McNabb four won 13-9 on an extra-end over W. H. Peck of Detroit in the Royal York, earlier.

Other well-known rinks to advance included C. R. Redfern's Torontos, W. J. Card's Chapleau quartet, and the Timmins rink skipped by I. A. Solomon. C. F. Mason's Toronto Granites were beaten 15-11 in the North American Trophy by the Peck rink.

Gordon Campbell's Hamilton Thistles defaulted to W. A. Campbell of Elmvale in the first round of the North American Life Trophy.

It was not known whether the Timmins rink skipped by Dr. Lew Hudson would drop out of the bonspiel following the mysterious shooting of its vice-skip, Dr. Henry Hudson, during a game at the Royal Canadian Curling Club last night. Dr. Hudson was resting comfortably in hospital today. A bullet struck his right hip as he finished delivering a rock, and police investigation has failed to reveal responsibility for the shot.

3 Manitoba Greats In Curling Are Out

WINNIPEG, Feb. 17.— (CP). — Three of Winnipeg's curling 'greats' —Skips Gordon Hudson and Howard Wood of the Strathcona Club and Leo Johnson of the Granite—have been eliminated from the 1942 British Consols competition of the 54th annual Manitoba bonspiel here.

Only one former Dominion championship rink, skipped by Ken Watson of the Strathcona Club, is still in the running to represent Manitoba in the Macdonald Brier play beginning March 2 at Quebec.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 — (AP). — That idea of putting basketball officials up by the blackboards may not solve the problem of getting them off the court, but a lot of coaches seem to think it's worth a try....It is to be tried in Detroit's Olympia Arena next Saturday for the Alma-Michigan Normal game, but the refs will be on the floor for the Detroit-Wayne contest in the same card.

Photo finish.

When the University of California crew went out for its first spring workout recently, a boatload of photographers trailed along....The shutter snappers had just reached an agreement on the light, background, angles, etc., for the best shot and were taking aim when a voice hailed them from a nearby pier: "Don't point those cameras this way or I'll put a bullet in you."....The photogs looked again and went back to the boathouse where they were sure no military secrets were in the background.

Softies, eh?

The next time some one tells you modern boys are getting soft, refer them to basketballers Joe Jarrett of Detroit U. and Nick Del Ninno of Tufts....Joe finally quit the court the other day when he decided he couldn't do justice to his studies while he continued to play basketball and work on the midnight shift in a bomber plant....Nick lives at home and does some early-morning work for his father, delivers papers, works on a NYA job, practises basketball, and winds up the day as a sports reporter for the Boston Traveller and Herald....He manages to find time for classes, too.

Owner Of Alsab Is Not Discouraged

MIAMIA, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Despite Alsab's second humiliating defeat in as many starts as a 3-year-old, Owner Al Sabath is "not one bit discouraged" about his 1941 juvenile champion.

"He needs more work, there's no question about that," said Sabath after Alsab had finished a poor fourth in a $1,500 race.

"However, I don't believe we'll start him again before the Flamingo. I'm not one bit discouraged or worried about him—he was unimpressive at this time last year, but improved fast once he hit his stride. I believe he'll do the same again."

There was little doubt in the minds of most of the 15,845 who saw Alsab's latest effort that he would have to show sharp improvement to become a factor in the $25,000 Flamingo Feb. 28.

The startled crowd, which had installed him a 3 to 4 choice at the betting windows, watched in unbelieving dismay as last year's wonder horse failed completely Saturday to show the driving stretch run that made him famous.

Mrs. R. McIlvaine's Bright Willie won the race easily in the record time of 1 minute 36 3-5 seconds for the mile. Sir War was second, Incoming third and Alsab fourth—seven lengths off the pace.

Less Gold Opal Mining

CANBERRA, Feb. 17—(AAP). — A hint was given in Government circles to-day that gold and opal mining may be suspended or restricted in order to free labor and equipment for mining more essential meals for war purposes.

The proposal is only in the preliminary stage, it was said, but the supply authorities believe drastic action may be needed to replace certain metals lost to the Empire by the Japanese capture of Malaya.

Niagara Falls Beats Saints In Second Game

TORONTO, Feb. 17 — (ENS). — Niagara Falls Weavers, the team that barely got into the play-offs, made it two straight in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" semi-finals last night, defeating St. Catharines Saints 3-2 in an overtime match at Niagara Falls. In the other O.H.A. semi-final Marlboro Seniors, playing at Toronto, deadlocked their best-of-seven series at one-all by downing Hamilton Majors 3-2 in another overtime verdict.

Tomorrow Marlboros will meet the Majors at Hamilton and Niagara Falls will play at St. Catharines.

The winning counter for the Niagara Falls team was scored by Hal Cooper on a combination with Obs Heximer and Eddie O'Keefe after 14 minutes of the second overtime period. The Marlboro sextet didn't wait that long to tally their pay-off shot. Frank O'Brien, captain of the team, and a doubtful starter because of a throat ailment, personally directed the Duke to their hard-earned victory.

After putting in a belated appearance at the rink, O'Brien went out and scored two goals—most important of which was his overtime tally at 4:02.

The Marlboro-Hamilton game was marked by a dispute at the end of the second period when Hamilton scored a goal, which was disallowed. The puck apparently entered the net just at the same time that the bell sounded and the light flashed to end the period. At first it was declared to be a goal, but a meeting of officials and referees during the rest session ruled it no goal.

Only extra-curricular highlight of the game at Niagara Falls was an injury suffered by Swats Mason, Falls forward, who got the worst of a third-period collision, and injured his shoulder.

Dizzy Dean Dampens Comeback Notion

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean said today he has "given up any comeback notions."

The former National League pitcher said he did not come to Hot Springs to have his pitching arm worked on.

"I'm just here to visit some of my old stomping grounds again," Dean said. "Nobody is going to work on my arm. I've given up any comeback notions."

He added:

"If I did happen to pitch again it would be for the Chicago Cubs. I have a standing offer to come back there any time."

Dean said he intended to go back to his sports announcing job in St. Louis in April.

St. Louis Cardinals, he said, are "a cinch" for the next National League pennant "if the draft doesn't tear 'em up too much." Of Brooklyn Dodgers, he snorted, "I don't even think they have a good ball club."

Byran Hextall Retains His N.H.L. Lead

TORONTO, Feb. 17—Bryan Hextall of New York Rangers chalked up three points in week-end fixtures against Canadiens and Americans to maintain his lead atop the National League scoring race. Hextall's total of 45 points, made up of 21 goals and 24 assists, gives him a three-point lead over team-mate Phil Watson, who supplanted Lynn Patrick in second place. Patrick, the top marksman of the league, with 23 goals is four points behind the leader.

Don Grosso of Detroit Red Wings came through with five points to gain the most ground among the leaders. He jumped from tenth place into a tie for fifth with Gordie Drillon of Toronto. Each have scored 36 poin's, two less than Bill Thoms of Chicago, who holds down fourth spot. Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer of Boston are deadlocked in seventh place with 35 points apiece.

Deputy Minister Guest Speaker On Farmers' Day

"I can't understand any man refusing to co-operate in something that is being done to help him protect his own home," declared W. R. Reek, Ontario's deputy-minister of agriculture in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club and the club's guests, the members of the Peterborough County war agricultural committee at the weekly luncheon at noon Monday. Mr. Reek's reference was to the survey that is being carried on throughout the province by county war agricultural committees and he made an earnest appeal to farmers everywhere to extend fullest cooperation to this most essential movement.

It was the annual farmers' day luncheon of the Rotary Club and present as guests of the Rotarians were six out of seven members of the key committee of the county organization and about 50 members of the 80 comprising the school section subcommittees. Rotarian Frank Paterson, Ontario agricultural representative introduced the six members of the key committee, Reeve M. H. Johnston, North Monaghan, chairman; Lieut.-Col. F. E. Birdsall, Asphodel; Stanley Wood, Douro; Gordon Hancock, Smith; Reeve James Giford, Ennismore, and Reeve Peter Mather, Otonabee. George Elliott, Dummer, the seventh member, was unable to be present owing to the fact that he had to attend a meeting in Toronto, Monday. The committee members and the members of the sub committee were heartily welcomed.

"It has come to the stage when we have to start talking plainly," said Mr. Reek, introduced by Rotarian Paterson as the best deputy minister Ontario has ever had. "We have been sitting rather smugly in this country," the speaker continued. "Last week, however, ought to wake us up a bit."

Referring to the work that was being done by such organizations as Rotary Clubs and Kiwanis Clubs in bringing city and country more closely together Mr. Reek said that these commendable efforts were needed. "Harsh things have been said of farmers by city folk and there are some things that farmers, too, should forget," the speaker aid. "It is time we quit that sort of thing and realize that we are all in this job together." Farmers are getting into a position where they can present their own case clearly and with plenty of force. All they are asking is a fair deal."

Food Farmers' Job

Speaking of the job before Canadian farmers of raising the food that was required Mr. Reek stated that in undertaking that task no country had a better foundation in the matter of seeds and livestock than had this Dominion.

'We want munitions, men are required for the army, the navy and the air force but food is also required and that is the farmer's job," the speaker said.

The big job before Ontario this year, he said, was to raise large crops of feed grains, oats and barley. There had been a shortage last year and large quantities of western grain had to be imported into Ontario. "We cannot afford to take a chance on Western grain this year," said the speaker. "In the first place the West might not have a surplus and secondly there may be transportation difficulties."

Canada was also asked for 600,000,000 pounds for bacon this year, Mr. Reek stated and in this connection paid a tribute to the movement in Ontario by which the breeding of Yorkshire pigs had been developed in the past 20 years, characterizing it as one of the finest jobs that had been ever done in any country. Alberta, he said, had now taken first place in pork production but the foundation had been laid in Ontario.

Fall Wheat Needed

Mr. Reek stressed the importance of producing plenty of fall wheat, remarking that a good crop was already in the ground. For the first time on record Ontario flour mills were begging for fall wheat and his advice to any farmer holding fall wheat was to trade it for Western wheat which was just as good for feed purposes, making 25 cents a bushel on the deal and at the same time help the milling industry.

The speaker commended the attitude taken by the cheese industry a year ago as one that should be generally adopted. Those interested in cheese were not satisfied with the prevailing price but announced that if Britain needed the cheese they were going to produce it, leaving the question of a better price to be considered later. They went ahead and produced the cheese that was required.

Soy Beans Needed

The production of eggs, tomatoes, and soy beans were other matters that were to the fore at the present time, the speaker said. The need of soy beans was occasioned by reason of the fact that the importation of vegetable oils had been entirely cut off.

Three difficulties stood in the way of greater farm production this year (1) labor, (2) machinery, and (3) materials. In this connection Mr. Reek explained the work of the county war agricultural committees, whose job it was, he said, to take a complete survey of the situation, to discover what machinery, and materials were available, and to assist in the labor problem. The support of the Department of Agriculture was promised for this work and agricultural representatives had been notified that the efforts of these committees was their big job this year.

Mr. Reek stressed the fact that although the Government was fairly liberal in the matter of machinery, there might be difficulty in getting all the machines needed. He advised farmers to have their machines repaired as early as possible and against allowing them to stand outside during the winter. Within ten miles of Peterborough he had noticed machines standing out in the snow. That shouldn't happen any time, he said, and certainly not in the present situation. The county committee, Mr. Reek added, would have to see that the available machinery was used to the fullest advantage. Power machinery, tractors, etc. would have to be operated 24 hours a day if possible.

As for the labor problem, that had been turned over to his department during the last few days. It was proposed, he said, to round up all the farm labor available in the municipalities and put it to work, and this year it was expected that 20,000 Collegiate boys and girls would be called upon to assist the farmers. Referring to the fine job done in the Niagara fruit belt last fall by Collegiate girls, Mr. Reek made a plea for farmers to treat the boys and girls fairly and they would be rewarded by fine help from them. "Above all, never let a boy go hungry" was his advice. There was no danger that crops would be wasted, he declared. Urban communities would not sit idly by and allow that sort of thing to happen.

Rotarian R. P. Downey moved a vote of thanks to the speaker, and Reeve M. H. Johnston voiced the thanks of the war agricultural committee to the Rotarians for their hospitality.

Indies Planes

Java, most important of the Netherlands Islands, the site of the naval base of Surabaya and the seat of the United Nations' south-west Pacific command, now is deprived of the buffer strength of Singapore and is exposed to direct assault from three directions.

These are from Sumatra to the west, across the 20-mile-wide Strait of Sunda; and from the islands of Borneo and Celebes, across the Java Sea to the north.

With Palembang, producer of half the petroleum output of the Indies, in enemy hands the only consolation to the Netherlands was that they had applied the torch to its fields and machinery in a $100,000,000 fire before the Japanese could take it.

Japs Need Oil.

One reason for Japan's haste in launching the drive on Sumatra, first by parachutists and then by boatloads of invaders, even before the conquest of Singapore had been completed, was believed to be an urgent—and unfulfilled — need for oil.

Palemberg followed Balik Papan and Tarakan in flames and the only resources of any consequence remaining are wells of relatively poor quality on this island.

Singapore's downfall was a heavy blow but the Indies were urged to remain confident in their own power.

"Our strength," declared the influential newspaper Niews Van Den Dag, "is that we have chiefly trusted ourselves and so the fall of Singapore does not make us lose our heads.

"Our strength has been based on reality and we have a real chance in the game of life and death which we have undertaken."

and Capt. A. Sylvester (Lib. Lake St John-Roberval)—expressed opposition to compulsory overseas service and reserved the right to oppose it.

Under Secretaries.

Mr. Gladstone, since his election to parliament in 1935, has been an advocate of changes in the system by which Parliament works so that no more use could be made of the abilities of private members. Last night he supported the idea of parliamentary under-secretaries to the ministers and urged reform of the Senate.

"I sometimes wonder if it is an evidence of strength or of weakness in our cabinet make-up that we do not have family rows and resignations," he said.

"Shakeups are common in the British cabinet. And I sometimes wonder if we are not too hesitant about creating occasions necessitating by-elections. Who will say that the recent by-elections were not without profit right across Canada in bringing all the diversified factors of our war effort into the open for discussion and decision?"

Mr. Gladstone said the coloring of news should not be permitted to undermine morale in wartime and suggested the defamatory libel section of the criminal code be amended to make it an offence to injure national safety by publishing colored reports of proceedings in parliament.

He said he was not criticizing the parliamentary press gallery but singled out some editorials and headlines in newspapers which he did not name as recent instances of colred news.

He quoted from some newspaper reports of speeches in the House to illustrate his contention that wrong impressions were given by using only parts of statements, playing up certain observations and ignoring others.

He suggested amending Section 317 of the Criminal Code which defines libel as matters published "without legal justification or excuse, likely to injure the reputation or any person by exposing him to hatred, contempt or ridicule...."

By including the words "national safety" as well as "any person" in that clause, Mr. Gladstone said, he thought "colored reports of proceedings of Parliament" would become an offence under the Act.

Not Critical Attitude.

He stressed that his allusion to the press was "more or less of a hypothetical nature" and not critical of those who are members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery.

But it was "a warning to their editors that theirs is a high mission of maintaining and upbuilding the morale of the nation during the war years."

In another part of his address Mr. Gladstone paid tribute to the press for its aid in putting over the War Loan.

Mr. Gladstone said he advocated imposition on conscription if it proved necessary and said he believed the United States system was desirable in that it provided that some of more mature years were called "before exhausting entirely the cream of our youth."

D. F. McCuaig (Lib. Simcoe North) estimated the plebiscite would cost about 20 cents for each vote taken.

"Will anyone who votes on this plebiscite say it is not worth 20 cents to know that we have public men who honor their pledges not merely on minor matters but on matters of life and death?" he asked.

He said he believed opposition to the proposed plebiscite was rapidly disappearing and that he was sure the result would be in favor of releasing the Government from past anti-conscription pledges. He said he would work to that end.

Exempt Farm Laborers

Mr. McCuaig urged that farm laborers be given indefinite exemption from compulsory military service in order that the argicultural industry might be stabilized and left free for uninterrupted production. Access to boards of review considering postponements should be made easier for farm workers in remote districts," he said.

Mr. McCuaig said he would approve any measures proposed by the Government to achieve a total war effort, "even the conscription of wealth if necessary."

Capt. W. H. Harris (Lib., Grey-Bruce) urged an increase in allowances to dependents of men in the forces. He said he was strongly in favor of the plebiscite and remarked that the descendants of German settlers in his constituency are enlisting in numbers comparable to those of other groups.

Capt. Harris said Canada's army when the 1942 overseas program is completed will have a heavy proportion of armored troops—two armored divisions and two army tank brigades to three infantry divisions.

"When we recall it is generally understood the Germans invaded France with 11 armored divisions out of 60, and invaded Russia with 20 armored divisions out of 100 or 120 we can see that the proportion of armored strength in the Canadian army is very great," he said.

Supporter of Hepburn

Wilson Mills (Lib., Elgin) entered a defence of his neighbor and constituent, Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario, but registered his support of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's plebiscite policy to which Mr. Hepburn has taken exception.

Mr. Mills said he had always supported Premier Hepburn and always would. He said "Mitch" puts Elgin County on the map every day and is the best-known provincial premier in Canada.

Return to Bourassa.

D. M. McNiven (Lib. Regina) said he suspected some significance in the return of Henri Bourassa, former Quebec Nationalist leader, to the public platform at a time when Premier Hepburn attacked the United States navy while supporting Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen as leader of the Conservative party.

He said it recalled the alliance of 1911 when the anti-Imperialist Nationalists under Mr. Bourassa combined with Conservatives on a "no truck or trade with the Yankees" program to oust Sir Wilfrid Laurier from power.

He called on Mr. Meighen and Conservative House Leader Hanson to disassociate themselves from any such alliance. Mr. Hanson's only immediate comment was: "You have built up a straw man to knock him down."

Mr. McNiven envisioned an alliance of "Imperialistic Meighen" and "Anti-war Bourassa" working with the aid of Premier Hepburn of Ontario to effect the downfall of the government.

Saying that Mr. Bourassa arose from a sick bed last Wednesday to speak at a Montreal meeting which was followed by disorders, Mr. McNiven said he believed this was more than coincidence.

Nazis Spring Whisper Drive On Plot To Break Anglo-British Ties

(By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT.)

The first German spring offensive has started and is proceeding according to play.

The battlefield is invisible, for the offensive is a thunder of whispers on both sides of the Atlantic, designed to wreck the Anglo-American alliance on the shoals of mutual suspicion.

This Nazi offensive has almost every characteristic of the obscene "Britain will fight to the last Frenchman" propaganda which rotted the morale of the Maginot Line long before the Panzers broke through the Meuse.

The offensive is sped by the Nazi radio, although hardly any Americans or Britons get it that way. Instead, it is spread by clumsy written and spoken jokes, by cynical sneers, and by occasional false rumors of disasters. It fattens on irresponsible gossip and on well-meant, but thoughtless, speech-making and interviews.

In America the Nazi idea is to spread the belief that Britons cannot or will not fight. Every advantage has been taken of the tragedy of Singapore to build up this lie, although the valor of the thin red line which still holds at Singapore is plain enough.

In England the Nazi offensive mainly spreads the falsehood that America is in the war only for greed; that she intends to pick up pieces of the Empire and never give them back.

The Nazi "radio news service" which by day and night pours thousands upon thousands of words upon the world in many languages is not only the courier of the offensive; it is also its mirror.

Some of this poison, date-lined Stockholm and attributed "to neutral sources" gets here under the name of Guenter Tonn.

Few will remember Tonn, although he was an important and faithful fifth columnist in the United States. He was the furtive and rather shabby German "journalist" who was arrested in New York last spring and shipped back to Germany after a real or pretended suicide attempt on Ellis Island. The Nazi rewarded him for his valuable work by foisting him off on the Swedes.

Here is one of Tonn's typical pieces of poison, served this week by Trans-Ocean, the Nazi radio propaganda agency:

"Stockholm—The fall of Singapore, according to reports received from the U.S. of America, Thursday has resulted in a feeling of deep depression in the United States .. To all appearance the failure of the British defence at Singapore has made an awkward impression in the United States where references are being made to the successful defence of the Philippines by Gen. MacArthur. Most papers make the United States and particularly Roosevelt partly responsible for the loss of Singapore."

For the British front of the offensive there is this one, "reported" by Tonn's colleague in Turkey:

"Ankara—A new U.S. American news agency with headquarters in Jerusalem is to be founded for new supply to the Near East... According to reports from Jerusalem (Sic) it is planned to allow a number of Near East newspapers financial assistance from U.S. American State funds. Jews will be given influential jobs with the news agency. The British propaganda chief office in Cairo is watching the U.S. American plans with marked reserve."

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

Canadian Pig + Canadian Salt

= British Breakfast

SIX HUNDRED MILLION pounds of bacon—that's what Britain expects Canada to deliver this year — far beyond the pre-war figure.

Bacon can't be made without Salt. Cheese, butter, fish, canned goods — all likewise call for salt. In these days perishable foods are "out" — it's preserved food for the forces and for civilians too.

And food preservation calls for Salt — tons and tons of it!

In other vital ways, too, Salt serves our war effort. It is essential in the production and processing of vital war-time supplies and equipment — in metal refineries, rolling mills, textile plants, canneries, chemical works.

The C-I-L Salt plant at Windsor, Ontario, is Canada's greatest producer of Salt. From Windsor, in cars and cargoes, tons of Salt pour steadily into service in Canada's vast war effort.

Salt is one of many C-I-L products of Industrial Chemistry which are aiding Canada's war effort.

Omemee-Emily Set Loan Record

MAIN STREET TOPICS

CLEAN THE SIDEWALKS.

The board of police commissioners decided at Monday's meeting to instruct the police department to see that the city's by-law requiring sidewalks in the business section to be kept clear of ice, snow and slush, is enforced.

STRIKING DISPLAY

Many of the stores in the downtown business section have decked their windows in the Victory Loan theme, and the displays are most effective. Elliott's drug store, Metropolitan Store, Zellers, Richard Hall's and Grafton's all have made grand contributions in advertising the campaign.

RUBBER PRIORITIES

Up near the top of rubber priorities are nipples for babies. Officialdom recognizes that peace begins in the family, and teething time demands some infant comfort. And for those who like to have a rubber bottle in bed with them the trade reports that these radiators of warth are getting 65 per cent of rubber content.

RECRUITS FOR ORDNANCE

"They all want to be mechanics in the Ordnance Corps," commented Sergt. J. Duignan at the recruiting office today as he read off two more names of men who were accepted yesterday for that branch. They are W. Johnston of Lindsay and William Scott of Bethany. John Kapralik, Slovak, of 500 Parnell street, went to Kingston with the R.C.A. yesterday after obtaining a stay of about two weeks to place his wife on a farm near St. Thomas.

DON'T BUY SIGNS.

If you are thinking of buying an electric sign, take this tip from the Utilities Commission—don't. Certain intimations have reached Gordon Matthews and his associates suggesting that within the near future electric power is going to be cut off from signs, window lights and so on. Nothing definite has been announced yet, but war industries are using great quantities of power, a shortage is impending and such luxuries as street signs are to be first to be temporarily turned out.

LIQUOR AND AUTOMOBILES.

Automobiles and liquor and sometimes a combination of both are factors that give police the most work. The annual report of Chief Newhall presented to the board of police commissioners Monday shows that of the 1,043 cases disposed of last year, infractions of the Ontario Liquor Control Act were responsible for 295 cases. There were 60 violations of the Highway Traffic Act dealt with and 189 infractions of the city's traffic by-laws. Incidently 22 drivers were convicted of driving while drunk.

WOODCUTTER FINED

A woodcutter from Sutton, Que., who has been working in a camp north of Peterborough arrived in town at noon Monday and proceeded to take on board too large a cargo of alcoholic refreshments. The result was he fell into the hands of the police and this morning appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to plead guilty to a charge of being drunk. He told the court that he had a wife and three children but the magistrate in imposing a fine of $10 and costs, told him that he should have thought of that before he got drunk.

LEND AN EAR, GENTLEMEN

Bill Hunt, genial bus driver on the City Lines, hands out a little hint to gentlemen who wish to exercise good manners and commonsense. He says that the gentleman always precedes the lady in leaving a bus. In so doing he is in a position to assist his lady fair down the steps. In fact if one wishes a higher authority on this little item, Emily Post says the same thing, and a little thought on the subject will convince everyone of the logic of such a course, particularly at this time of year when roads, and bus steps too, are coated with ice, or snow and likely to be slippery.

ROBERT FOWLER APPOINTED

Robert Fowler, son of E. B. Fowler of Peterborough has been named as assistant counsel in the inquiry that is to be made into the sending of Canadian troops to Hong Kong.

A STRIKING SIGN

One of the most striking and effective Victory Loan display signs in evidence on George street is a Neon sign in the south window of the Florence Shoppe in which the legend "Buy V.B. Now" is spelled out in colored Neon letters. The effect, especially at night, makes this legend particularly impressive.

ANOTHER DONATION

Word from Trent River this morning indicates that the women in that small centre plan to aid the local Kinsmen's Milk For Britain Fund, and today "Mac" MacDonald, the treasurer at the Royal Bank reports receiving a donation of $5.00 from S. J. Whitehouse.

SLIPPERY STREETS

Soldiers from the Training Centre, who marched to the War Memorial in full battle-dress on Monday afternoon for the flag-raising ceremony had a tough time of it on George street. The pavement was covered with a coating of ice that made it difficult to walk, let alone march in good order, but despite these conditions the men made a fine showing.

ENGINEER'S MEETING

One of the outstanding electrical engineers in Canada, E. V. Leipoldt of the Shawinigan Engineering Company, will be the speaker at the meeting of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Thursday night. His subject will be "Electrical Design of the La Touque Development," and will be illustrated with moving pictures of hydraulic developments of the Shawinigan Engineer Company.

ANOTHER WAR BOND

A reporter standing beside a middle-aged woman in a local bank on Tuesday heard the women instruct the banker to purchase a $100 bond for her small girl, and the amazing part of the transaction is that the money for the bond came from penny bank savings. This is a thought for other parents who wish to invest the children's money to advantage in a proposition that has the security that Canada itself offers.

INVITATION BY SCOUTS

The boy scouts of the Sacred Heart parish invite all friends to attend their third annual boy scout week activities. With the K. of C. troop they will present a scout meeting Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the parish club house; the Wolf Cub pack presents a meeting Thursday night at 7.30, and a display of scout-cub manual craft is the feature for Friday night. The week's affairs are held in memory of the late Chief Scout, Sir Baden Powell. There will be no admission fee, and parents are especially invited to attend.

Valentine Tea Aids War Work

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 17—(ENS). — With proceeds for war purposes the Valentine tea held at "Kentucky Home," the home of Mrs. J. A. Murphy, Lakefield, on Friday afternoon, proved most successful for the Senior Women's Institute under whose sponsorship the event was held.

Valentine streamers and red hearts were used to decorate the tea room and living room.

Mrs. H. Bullock, the Institute president, presided at the attractive tea table, laid with ecru lace cloth with a central reflector, and red candles in tall brass holders. Her assistants were Mrs. T. W. Chaplin, Mrs. Roy Bullock and Mrs. E. Dracup.

A new idea featured was the jumble table where used articles and new novelties which had been donated, were for sale under the convenership of Miss Margaret Sanderson and Mrs. Charles Bickell. The home cooking table with its many tempting delicacies was in charge of Mrs. C. W. Garbutt and Mrs. Mae Jory.

Truck In Collision With Taxi Cab

Frank Patterson, 548 Charlotte Street, received bad cuts on the right side of his face and head when the truck he was driving was involved in an accident with a taxicab on Park Hill Road late on Monday night. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Patterson, driving a truck belonging to J. K. Hughes, was backing the machine out of a laneway when a taxi travelling east on Park Hill Road owned by Hugh Davis of the Capitol Taxi and driven by E. J. Withers came along. The road was very icy and Withers was unable to stop his car in time to avert an acident.

Neither motor vehicle was badly damaged in the crash. Patterson lost a lot of blood before his injuries were attended to, but his condition is not considered serious.

Tops Objective First Day By Over $10,000

Omemee and Emily township jumped into a pair of seven league boots on Monday morning and zoomed off in the Second Victory Loan Campaign to reach the objective at ten o'clock on Monday morning, the first unit in the whole of Ontario to top it's campaign total.

The amazing thing about this grand piece of work is that every bit of the money raised is from private subscriptions, and none as yet is from the big company, the North American Leather Company in Omemee village. It is understood that there will probably be an internal canvass of the employees in the plant, and the canvassers in the drive would cover all employees in the house to house canvass anyway. The employees are purchasing War Savings Stamps at a rate that does them credit, and they may have reached a saturation point in their savings.

The objective for Omemee village and Emily township was placed at $65,000, and at ten o'clock Monday morning, R. M. Patterson of the village, who is joint chairman of the unit along with Rev. Father McFadden of Downeyville, was able to report subscriptions totalling slightly more than $75,000. On Monday night at seven o'clock this had climbed to $80,300 and the returns were coming in fast.

"We hope that more than $100,000 will be loaned to Canada by the people in this unit" Mr. Patterson stated this morning.

David Weir, clerk of Emily township, is canvassing in Omemee village, while out in the township Arthur McQuade and Albert Carroll are making the rounds. In a telephone conversation with an Examiner reporter this morning, Mr. Patterson stated that Mr. Carroll came in yesterday with subscriptions totalling $16,100 from the north end of Emily township, which has a strong Irish-Catholic population.

Omemee village and its immediate environs is not only showing the way to other communities in the war drive, but enlistments in the three branches of the active service forces from this section have been extremely high, and already some of the airmen have paid the supreme sacrifice.

Local Victory Loan officials were happy today over the reports from Omemee and Emily but regretted to state that this unit is in Victoria county and headquarters for the drive in that section is in Lindsay.

According to information received today, Omemee's drive to victory beat the second community in Ontario by 20 minutes for the coveted honors. The second place unit is Smooth Rock Falls, and they reported an over the top effort shortly after ten o'clock on Monday morning.

In the city of Peterborough and throughout the county canvassers report they are travelling in top style and subscriptions are rolling in from a hundred sources. People who had money salted away, and who scoffed at investing in the First Loan have learned a lesson from the onward drive of the Japs, who daily come closer to Canada's shores, and all are determined that this new menace must be stopped and stopped soon. Dollars are the essentials in fashioning a mechanized war machine that will turn back the yellow hordes now sweeping the Dutch East Indies.

OBITUARIES

JOHN BURTON SANDERSON.

The death occurred today of John Burton Sanderson, in his 23rd year. He was born in Peterborough, a son of John Sanderson and Annie Hamilton, of 234 Braidwood Avenue, and was a member of St. James' United Church.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from his late residence, 234 Braidwood Avenue, with the Rev. Fred W. Craig officiating. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. SARAH O'BRIEN

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah O'Brien widow of the late John O'Brien, took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. T. Fontaine, 146 Aylmer street to the Church of the Sacred Heart, where Rev. J. J. O'Brien, pastor of the church sang requiem mass and afterwards delivered a very appropriate address to the gathering of friends and neighbors who attended to pay their respects and assist at the services of a member of the church ever since it was dedicated. In the death of Mrs. O'Brien the parish has lost one of its most ardent workers and her passing has caused much sorrow among those who were associated with her in the different activities pertaining to church work.

The many spiritual tokens also added tribute to the memory of one who in her own quiet way had made a host of friends in the city.

Interment was made in St. Peter's cemetery where Rev. Dr. Grant conducted the services at the graveside.

Pallbearers were Peter Collins, James Collins, Gerard Fontaine, Lambert Collins, Joseph Fontaine and Victor Fontaine.

War—25 Years Ago

(By The Canadian Press)

Measles Reach Epidemic Stage In School

HASTINGS, Feb. 17 (Special) — As a result of a serious epidemic of measles here, about 35 pupils from the public school are absent today and one from the separate school, Dr. W. N. Campbell, M.O.H., said this afternoon. More than twelve houses are placarded and 'contacts' have been advised to stay home until the epidemic is over. Between twenty and thirty students have the disease but it is believed the epidemic is about at its peak now. "It started before Christmas," Dr. Campbell said. "The cases have been rapidly climbing up to its present stage but I do not believe it will go any higher."

The measles is the common type and in no case has anything serious arisen from it. Hastings is relatively free of disease except for the present epidemic. The last epidemic of measles occurred about three or four years ago but this epidemic is believed to have caused more absence from school.

Epidemics of measles have occurred in several sections of the province and statistics show the death rate from it is one in every 500 cases. It is one of the most readily communicable of all diseases. Where a case is suspected, householders are warned to notify the medical officer of health immediately.

Nurses Dance Great Success

COBOURG, Feb. 17.— (ENS).— Dance and bridge held at Cobourg Monday night by the registered nurses of the town was a highly successful effort and proceeds were for the British Nurses' Fund. Music was provided by Bernard Tierney's orchestra of Oshawa. The affair was held in the auditorium of the Ontario Hospital, which was tastefully decorated. Although the weather was decidedly bad, the dance and bridge drew a capacity crowd. During an intermission of the evening, Miss Irene Shaw, nurses' superintendent, spoke briefly from the platform, specifying the object of the dance and bridge and thanking those who patronized it.

The dance committee was under the convenership of Miss E. Shepherd and the other members of the committee were Miss Covert, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Miss M. Waechter, Miss Rarksey, Miss M. Robinson, Mrs. W. Skitch and Mrs. G. Mitchell.

Judge Reserves Judgment In Shearer Case

Judgment was reserved by His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke in the county judge's criminal court this morning after he had heard the evidence and argument in a charge of reckless driving against Robert Shearer, 18, of Buckhorn, arising out of a traffic accident on Water Street North in which 75-year-old Henry Booth received injuries from which he died.

His Honor announced that he would give judgment on the afternoon of Wednesday, February 25.

Shearer was defended by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., while Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., prosecuted.

Three witnesses were called by the Crown: W. R. Booth, son of the victim of the accident; Max Cromie, driver of the garbage sleigh that figured in the affair, and Officer C. J. McGillen. Their evidence was similar to that given by them at the preliminary hearing. Booth and Cromie testified that the garbage sleigh had been driven up the west side of Water Street and had crossed over to the east side and was proceeding south. Henry Booth who had been assisting on the garbage sleigh was on the west side of the road, these witnesses said, and had proceeded to walk across the street when witnesses noticed a car coming from the north at what they said was a high rate of speed. A warning was shouted to Booth but apparently he did not hear it. He was struck by the car, they said, and knocked down.

Constable McGillen testified that the scene of the accident was 775 feet south of the curve in the street.

The Defence Evidence.

For the defence, Robert Shearer, the accused; Dr. E. E. Willis of Buckhorn, and Leona Shearer, sister of the accused, who were passengers in the car on the morning of the accident testified. They stated that they had seen Booth standing on the west side of the road as the car approached. Shearer had slowed down his automobile and sounded his horn, but when the car had nearly reached the man Booth had stepped out in front of the machine and was hit.

"What could Robert Shearer have done that he did not do to avoid the accident," Mr. Gordon asked Dr. Willis.

"He could do absolutely nothing," was the reply. "There was no time to do anything."

Dr. Willis said that he had always been glad to drive with Robert Shearer because he considered him about the best driver in the community.

Fred Pluard and Elder Montgomery testified that Shearer had a reputation as a careful and capable driver.

Mr. Gordon in his argument submitted that the Crown had failed to establish any recklessness on the part of Shearer and argued that the latter had done all that he could to avoid the accident.

Crown Attorney McElderry said that Shearer had 750 feet in which to avoid the accident and that it was his duty to have had his car under control so that he need not have hit the pedestrian.

King Decorates Capt. Davies

LONDON, Feb. 17.—(CP Cable.)— Capt. Robert Davies, the bomb removal expert, recently was invested by the King with the George Cross he won for removing a huge unexploded bomb from St. Paul's Cathedral during the Battle of Britain in 1940, it was disclosed to-day.

Capt. Davies, formerly of St. Catharines, Ont., appeared at Buckingham Palace more than a year after it was announced he had won the award and the King asked why the decoration had not been received earlier."

"I told him I had been out of the country until recently,," Capt. Davies told newsmen as he posed for photographs in the palace forecourt with his wife and daughter.

Capt. Davies said the King also had talked about the work of the engineer, who won wide acclaim at the height of the air raids on London.

SALES CLIMB AGAIN

The boys and girls up at the Collegiate turned the heat on again last week, and sales of War Savings Stamps climbed $46.00 beyond the total for the previous week, making total sales for the week, $390.00. Besides the stamps, the students sold $68.00 worth of War Savings Certificates.

Hot Drinks And Lunches Provided Free To Soldiers Passing Through Bowmanville

Bowmanville has a soldiers' rest room that has been proving quite popular in recent weeks because it is unique. Soldiers, sailors and airmen — as long as they wear the King's uniform may enjoy a light lunch with hot drink free of charge at any time of the day or night. During daylight hours and evenings, the room has its hostesses but no one is on hand in the middle of the night.

A sign on the wall directs those entering the room that they may secure sandwiches or pie and by preparing hot water in the room they may make themselves a hot drink—all of which costs the men in the armed service nothing.

The recreation room is in the Cowan block and is operated by Bowmanville War Services Club under which comes several women's and men's organizations of the town.

A guest book in the room has inscribed on its pages close to 400 names since the room was opened a short time ago. Many names are those of men who come in the night and help themselves to the generosity of Bowmanville. Under several of the names, men of the armed service have expressed appreciation of the service they have been rendered.

The room has a particular advantage for those who may be passing through the town on their way home from leave with scarcely a nickel in their pockets. Guards of the internment camp and their wives have found the room ideal for spending an evening. At any time, in winter months, the room is well heated and soldiers have found it an ideal place to warm up before taking to the highway again.

Mrs. J. McArthur Dies At Age 87

HAVELOCK, Feb. 17 — (ENS).— One of Havelock's highly esteemed residents passed peacefully away on Saturday afternoon, in the person of Mrs. John McArthur in her 87th year. She was the third child of a family of thirteen of the late Henry and Lucy Redden of Seymour township. Her maiden name was Hannah Jane Redden and she was born August 12, 1856, at Stanwood. On November 14, 1883, she was married to Mr. John McArthur, who predeceased her in 1918. For a number of years they lived in Seymour township, later at Youngstown, Alberta, and the last twenty years in Havelock.

One sister, Mrs. Amanda Owens, Campbellford, and one brother, Mr. Wesley Redden, Trent River, survive; other brothers and sisters, Peter, Henry, Ruben, Joel, Benjamin, Levi, Sarah Ann, Lucy, Rosa and Hulda, died some years ago. The children of the deceased are John of Vancouver, Joel, Campbellford, Fred and Hugh of Hanna, Alberta, Hector of Winnipeg and Reta (Mrs. Hiram Revoir), with whom she resided. The late Mrs. McArthur suffered a stroke over seven years ago, and has been partially paralysed and bedridden ever since.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church, a kind friend and neighbor and always willing to lend a helping hand to any one in need. Her funeral service was conducted Monday afternoon at her late home at 2 p.m. by Rev. D. K. Perrie, assisted by Rev. S. A. Kemp, with interment at Mount Pleasant cemetery, Campbellford.

Fined For Wearing Uniform Ilegally

The illegal wearing of the King's uniform, to which he pleaded guilty in Police Court this morning cost Freeman Parks, formerly of Belleville, a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs, or ten days in jail.

Parks in pleading guilty, said that he was a member of a reserve unit at Belleville and was entitled to wear the uniform on two drill nights each week, but admitted that he had no right to wear it at any other time. He was still wearing battle dress when he appeared in court this morning.

Sergt. G. F. Samis of the military police testified that Parks was a member of the 34th Battery at Belleville, a reserve unit, and as such was entitled to wear the uniform only on drill nights. The witness said that Parks had been picked up here some days ago and taken to the Military Training Centre, where he was warned that he must not wear the uniform. That same night witness said, Parks was wearing the uniform again.

"The outfit he is wearing cost about $25.00," said Sergt. Samis.

"I suppose the main thing is to get the uniform back to his unit," said Magistrate Langley, and Sergt. Samis agreed.

The court informed Parks that if he agreed to ship the uniform back to Belleville to-day the fine would be merely $10.00, and the accused promised to comply with this request.

Kawartha Kids Plan Skating Party

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 17—(ENS). — Characteristics of good tea biscuits was the discussion at the Friday evening meeting of the Kawartha Kids' Klub at the home of the leader, Miss Hazel Northey. Members answered the roll call with an individual salad.

"Tea biscuits should be light, symetrical in shape and very smooth with a light tender golden crust. Inside should be creamy white, free from any brown or yellow spots and with many evenly distributed small holes. The appearance is light and fluffy and will peal off in long thin sheets. This flakiness is always accompanied by extreme lightness and is one of the most desirable qualities of biscuits. The flavor is delicate and agreeable with no suggestion of any of the ingredients used."

The leader demonstrated the making of biscuits in variations with the members each assisting in the preparation.

The next meeting to be held at the home of Miss Ev Higgins on March 6 will have as a roll call, "One point to be remembered in making tea biscuits."

Following the Klub meeting an executive meeting of the Junior Institute was called, when plans were made for another skating party on February 26. The evening concluded with the serving of lunch by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Graydon Northey.

Curler's Shooting Is Said Accidental

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—Police said today following investigation into the mysterious wounding of a participant in the Ontario Bonspiel at a curling rink here last night that they are convinced the shooting was accidental and asked that "the person responsible come forward so that the mystery can be cleared up."

Dr. Henry Hudson, Timmins, Ont., dentist, had just given his brother, Dr. Lou Hudson of Timmins, "the broom" in the next-to-last end of a draw when a 22-calibre bullet entered his right thigh and lodged against an artery. It is believed that the explosion of the cartridge was not heard because of the bumping of curling stones.

"The only answer we can see to it right now is that the gun was discharged accidentally," said Detective James Ledlie. "There were a lot of men from the north country playing and many of them were wearing their north country mackinaws and windbreakers.

"It's quite possible that one of them forgot he had a gun in his pocket. It could have been discharged in half a dozen different ways."

Seeks Amendment To School Act

TORONTO, Feb. 17 — (CP). — Separate school trustees will be eligible to represent their boards on high school boards under an amendment to the High School Act to be introduced in the Ontario Legislature today by Alex. Elliott (Lib., Peterborough). The law as it stands now does not permit this.

Mr. Elliott said that the separate school representative on the Peterborough Board of Education for some years was elected a trustee, barring him from continuing in his former capacity. The County Council, the Board of Education and the separate school board have passed resolutions, Mr. Elliott said, that the Act be amended to correct this situation.

"It seems only logical," the Peterborough member said, "to have the separate schools represented by one of their own trustees who is familiar with their work."

Brinton Carpet Donations Now Total $500

For the 38th time, this column on behalf of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund is able to announce a donation from the employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company, Ltd., whose steadfastness of purpose on behalf of those made destitute and homeless in Britain through enemy air raids, acts as a beacon light to show the way, no matter what endeavor on behalf of the war we may put our hand to.

This time the amount given is $14.00, and as further evidence of what can be acomplished by steady effort their total now has reached the splendid sum of $500, a worthwhile contribution from a plant which numbers about 270 people.

Last Friday, the ladies' section of the Peterborough Curling Club held a bonspiel and in the midst of their enjoyment they were mindful of the needs of others, for to-day we record a donation of $5.00 from those who participated in this event.

The penny boxes placed at all three of our local moving picture theatres have been amongst the best of producers on behalf of the fund, and to-day we acknowledge the collection made at the Regent Theatre on Monday which contained a total of $9.07, of which $6.67 was all in the lowest coin of the realm out of a total of about 700 coins which the box contained.

The regular collection made on Monday from the penny boxes at McLeod's Drug Store yielded a further $1.15 of this day's receipts.

Mrs. C. H. Crouter, of Edison Avenue is sponsoring the further sale of tickets for a draw on Queen Victoria Jubilee shilling brooch donated by Miss H. Ward, which had been commenced by W. King, the meat manager of Loblaw's, and tickets may be procured at 10c each.

Last Thursday night, at the Military Training Centre, Joe Dean, in conjunction with Madame Perry and her pupils gave the men in the Centre an excellent evening's entertainment and both have now offered to do the same on behalf of this fund. An announcement in regard to this will be shortly made, for the event should prove of much interest to all, and be of good material benefit to the fund.

Nerves Are Sentinels of Health

Nerves transmit messages to and from the brain in accordance to the needs of the various bodily tissues. They warn of danger and their warnings when heeded often save us from disease and accidents. The sensations of taste, smell, sight, hearing and feeling are all transmitted with utmost speed. Cranial and spinal nerves work harmoniously together to control our activities. Extraordinary physical and mental efforts are the result of abundant nerve-power.

THE SPINE

has a controlling influence on the supply of nerve energy to all parts of the body. Our spinal manipulative treatments aid in the proper distribution of this energy and help to increase the strength and vitality of weakened tissues.

Lions Club Holds Ladies' Night At Kawarth aClub

The dinner and dance held at the Kawartha Club on Monday evening, on the occasion of the Lions' Club ladies' night, was enjoyed by 60 people who saw movies shown by Mr. B. K. Scarlett and applauded some musical and dancing numbers. Miss Grace Hobbs gave some song and dance numbers, with Carlyle Jaquith at the piano and Mr. Don Forde pleased the audience so much with his accordion solo that he was obliged to give three encores.

There were several luck prizes and the fortunate winners were Mrs. Herb Jamison, who won a clock which was being raffled; Miss Grace Hobbs, who won the second raffle prize, a box of chocolates. Mrs. Ernie Beatty and Mrs. Cameron Craig won the lucky number prizes at dinner.

Mr. Stan Darling was toastmaster in the absence of Mr. J. E. Girvin, president. Mr. Bruce Sargent proposed the toast to the ladies, which was replied to by Mrs. Fred Cripps.

The movies shown by Mr. B. K. Scarlett and much enjoyed by the audience were entitled "Snow Thrills," "Fun in Florida," "Rip Van Winkle," and "Super Thrill."

On resolution of Mr. Fred Cripps and Mr. Jim Dutton the club voted unanimously to support the Victory Loan 100 per cent. Mr. P. McGillen briefly outlined the great need that exists for money to finance the war effort now.

Omemee Girl Wed In St. John's Church

A pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon in St. John's church, when Mabel Louise Rowan, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Rowan and the late Mr. Thomas Rowan of Omemee, was united in marriage with A.C. 1 Thomas Peter Cassidy, R.C.A.F., Hagersville, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cassidy of Huntsville. Canon W. P. Robertson officiated.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Thomas A. Rowan, S.P.O., R.C.N.V.R., Halifax, Nova Scotia, to the strains of Lohengrin, played by Mr. Frederick G. Mann, L.Mus. She was gowned in white satin and English lace with a halo veil of English net caught with orange blossoms and Lily of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Miss Helen White of Peterborough attended the bride, wearing a blue silk net gown with matching accessories and a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Mr. Howard Leggitt of Peterborough was best man. The ushers were Mr. Fred Rowan and Mr. Donald Griffin. During the signing of the register Miss Phyllis Rome sang "I Love You Truly."

After the wedding a reception was held at the bride's home at Omemee. The mother of the bride wore black crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Huntsville for winter sports. For travelling the bride wore a black suit, a black coat with matching accessories and a pair of fox furs, the gift of the groom. His gift to the bridesmaid was a compact, to the groomsman, a tie set.

THE STARS SAY . . . .
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, February 18.
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

UNDER a very expansive and broadening influence from major planets this should prove to be a day in which excellent progress may be made in regaining lost ground, in whichever direction the foundations seem to have been undermined. This is business as well as personal relations. The stress, however, is laid on new creative projects, with changed plans and purposes, involving travel, writings, communications, agencies and fresh associations.

Those whose birthday it is should be most propitiously anchored in a year of progress and opportunity. Under expansive, friendly and productive influences there should be excellent opportunity for retrieving old losses or gaining ground in entirely new objectives of ambition and scope. Travel, change, writing fresh contracts and mainly the support of those in power and place are to be utilized for enhancing the fortunes. The love element is not wanting in the planetary scheme.

A child born on this day should be splendidly endowed with all the forces and faculties for lasting success, with progress, good fortune, as well as corresponding social, affectional and professional aspirations, happily realized.

Mark Street Choir Entertains Soldiers

The choir of Mark Street United Church, under the able direction of Mr. Harry Northrop, entertained the soldiers at the training centre on Sunday with a sacred concert. Adjutant Bamsey was master of ceremonies.

The choir opened the program with two anthems, "O God Our Help In Ages Past," and "Deep River," followed by a ladies' anthem, "Let Not Your Heart be Troubled," and two young ladies played a guitar duet, "In the Garden." The choir finished the program with "Glorious is Thy Name." Captain Tyson, the new padre, closed with prayer.

Marion Moncrief Is Wed To Rev. M. Rowland

A wedding of interest took place on Saturday afternoon at the Hillcrest Farm, Bailieboro, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moncrief, when their daughter, Marion Gwendolyn, became the bride of Rev. Morgan Edward Rowland, B.A., Fraserville, son of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Peterborough. The ceremony was conducted by the father of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of dusty rose, with a corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses, and carrying a gold evening bag which had been presented to her grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Barnard, on the occasion of her golden wedding anniversary. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Moncrief, who wore a gown of queen's blue with a corsage of Premier Supreme pink roses. Mr. Floyd A. Rowland of Peterborough was groomsman for his brother. The wedding music was played by Mrs. W. E. Thompson of Peterborough, aunt of the bride.

Following the ceremony the bridal party welcomed their guests against a background of ferns, daffodils and the mellow gleam of lighted candles. The bride's mother received her guests wearing a black and gold gown with a corsage of Bettertime roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore Carribean green with a corsage of yellow Johanna Hill roses. The bride's table was lovely in pink and white, with sunny daffodils. The buffet luncheon was served by girl friends of the bride attired in pretty frocks.

Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Ottawa and points East, the bride travelling in a rabbit's hair dress with brown accessories, a black coat with mink trim. On their return they will live at the United Church parsonage, Fraserville, where the groom is the minister.

An interesting feature of the day was the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barnard, and her grandfather, Mr. J. W. Moncrief. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. L. Musgrove, Peterborough, was also present. The bride's brother, Jack Moncreif, R.C.O.C., Ottawa, her uncle, Joseph Barnard, R.C.A.F., Manning Pool, Toronto, and Miss Marie Van Allen R.C.A.F. (Women's Division) were honored guests at the wedding. Guests numbering 40 were present from Toronto, Ottawa and Peterborough.

Local YWCA Gets Letter of Thanks From British Y.W.

The following is a letter received by the Peterborough Y.W.C.A. from Miss May Curwen, National general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association of Great Britain, thanking the Peterborough "Y" members for their contribution to the donation recently received from the Canadian Association.

"Dear Members of the Peterborough Y.W.C.A.: We do want to thank you all most warmly for your contribution to the donation which we have recently received from the Canadian Y.W.C.A. The help we are receiving from branches of the Association overseas is the greatest source of inspiration to us at this time.

"As more women are called up so demands upon us increases. One request which we receive frequently now is to provide Leave Hostels for Service Women. If it were not for these Hostels many a girl, arriving tired and cold in a strange town in the blackout, would have no alternative but to spend the night sitting in the station waiting-room. But if there is a Y.W.C.A. Hostel to which she can be directed, the warm welcome she will receive, a hot meal and a comfortable night's rest will make all the difference on her short leave.

"This is just one example of the many calls upon us — which your generous gift is helping us to meet."

DOROTHY DIX

IS NO SCIENTIFIC GADGET BY WHICH LOVE CAN BE DEFINED

When You Go Ga-Ga and Refuse To See Real Things, the Cupid's Got You.

Dear Dorothy Dix:—Can you tell me a surefire method by which I can determine whether or not I am in love with a girl? I have been going with one for more than a year now and still am unable to answer this question concerning my own feelings. I like to dance with her. I like her smile and her understanding nature, and whenever I leave her some magnetic attraction always draws me back. She takes the lead in sentimental conversation, while I sit back and listen. I haven't the heart to say sweet little nothings to her until I am sure that I mean them. By the way, is Cupid a girl or a boy?

Member of the Stronger Set

ANSWER: Cupid is always represented by artists as being a boy and poets, who seem more familiar with him than other people, call him Dan, but personally, I have always believed that he was of the feminine persuasion, for no one can deny that women are more concerned with the subject of love than men are, and that if they didn't do most of the courting it wouldn't be done. Alas, I fear that I can throw but little light on your problem of determining the state of your affections and deciding whether you are in love for keeps, or are just preoccupied with a passing fancy. Science has given us the lie-detector that enables us to tell whether others are speaking the truth or not, but human ingenuity has failed to devise any gadget that will tell us whether that gone feeling we experience at the sight of some particular man or woman is love, or indigestion, and whether it calls for a wedding ring or bicarbonate.

Love Is Often Guess Work

We can only guess at what the nature and quality and strength of our emotions mean, and how often we guess wrong is proven by the number of philandering husbands and wives we see and the divorce statistics.

Generally speaking, I should say that as long as a man wonders whether or not he is in love with a girl, he isn't; and he is wise to give himself the benefit of the doubt. Real love is like the measles. You break out with it all over and there is no argument about how you feel. You know you've got it.

Also, I should say that when a man lets the girl do all the love-making and is cautious about committing himself, he isn't hard hit. Cupid may have struck him a glancing blow, but the arrow didn't hit the bull's-eye. When a man has a fatal wound in his heart, he wants to tell the girl all about it and describe his symptoms ad infinitum. Nor does he weigh his words. No promises too rash for him to give. No statement too exaggerated for him to make. He throws veracity to the winds and spends a perfectly enchanting evening telling some commonplace, ordinary girl that she is the most beautiful creature on earth, and that he could never weary of holding her lily white hand. And unless you can do that you are not in love.

Other Tests of Love

Other tests of love that, while not conclusive, are important in showing how your temperature is running are these: Has something happened to your eyesight that makes you see a homely girl as more beautiful than a cinema star?

How much of a girl's society can you stand when she doesn't talk about you? Can you listen to a little canary bird twitter for hours at a stretch and still ask for more. What are your feelings towards the girl's family—murderous, or do you regard them as delightful people? And, above all, ask yourself, honestly and truly, would you rather have Mary Jane or a new streamlined car?

But in the end, no matter how careful you are, you will have to take a chance on your own heart. You never know how the old pump is going to work.

Teamwork in Child Rearing

Dear Dorothy Dix: We have a sweet little girl almost two years old. Here is my problem. Her father spoils her to death and doesn't co-operate with me at all in correcting her and supervising her diet. If I don't watch him, he stuffs her with candy and cookies that make her sick. He makes her think I am mean to her when I correct her, and she is getting wise to it and flies to his protection when I try to make her behave. I have seen so many spoiled brats and spindle-legged, anemic little children that I have made up my mind to raise a good healthy child, but I don't see how I can do it without any co-operation on my husband's part. Is there any way to get this straightened out without too much fuss?

WORRIED MOTHER.

Answer: When a father is a child-spoiler, he can simply leave the most baby-worshiping mother at the post, for two reasons. One is because he has more money to spend on the children than the mother has and all children are gold-diggers, and secondly because he doesn't have to take the consequences of his spoiling. He isn't at home much of the time, so he feels free to have fun breaking all the rules his wife has laid down for the nursery, and teaching the children manners and habits that they will have to have spanked out of them later on.

Certainly if your husband is a man of any intelligence whatever, he knows that rearing children properly requires team-work between parents, and that when either one sets the other's authority at naught it nullifies all authority and gives the youngsters a chance to do what they please. It is because mothers and fathers so seldom work together that the country is afflicted with the ill-mannered young hoodlums we see about us on all sides.

If your husband won't listen to reason, the best thing to do is to let him have a proof of how his spoiling works out. The next time he stuffs the baby on candy and cakes put on your hat and go to visit your mother. Let him spend the night working over a nauseated child and be scared half to death for fear it may be something serious after all, and he will back up the next time when you say that the baby has had enough sweets.

Oatmeal Cookies

One and one-quarter cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda, ½ cup butter or other shortening—I use half and half, ½ cup brown sugar sifted and packed, ¼ cup water, 1¼ cups fine oatmeal or rolled oats put through food chopper. Mix and sift flour and baking soda. Cream butter or shortening well, add sugar and cream until fluffy. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with the water; add rolled oats and mix well. Roll ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board and cut in rounds. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 8 to 9 minutes. These are very nice plain and extra special with a date filling.

Thank you very much, M.G., for this good cookie recipe—we should use whole grains as much as possible and while we can still have it, brown sugar in place of white when other substitutes won't do. Remember to send us your economical recipies whenever you have more.

Readers! Here is one little "bit" that you can do—send your economical discoveries to us so that we may print them for all your neighbors to see. Keep a scratch pad in the kitchen and jot down your wartime recipes—also other ideas that will help stretch the budget.

Chief Appeals To Motorists To Obey Rules

Peterborough had 587 traffic accidents last year, Chief Constable Newhall's annual report to the police commissioners, at the regular meeting Monday afternoon, showed and these mishaps involved the death of three persons, injuries to 153 others and 143 of the most serious represented a property damage amounting to $15,232.55.

Chief Newhall stresses the significance of this toll of accidents by urging motorists to obey traffic laws and observe safety first rules in an effort to reduce the number of accidents.

The annual report was received by the commission almost without discussion. The reference to the bicycle bylaw, however, drew the statement from Judge S. L. Smoke, chairman of the Board that he did not think the commissioners had any right to license non-residents.

Chief Newhall's report was as follows:

I have the honor to present my 32nd annual report, dealing with the workings of the Police Department of the City of Peterborough for the year 1941.

The police department prosecuted cases during the year and collected $5,854.45 in fines and costs, 377 of these cases being all classes of traffice violations, which are classified on an attached sheet.

391 windows and doors were found insecure, the owners of premises were notified and after examinations were made secure.

21 fire alarms were responded to and several of them false alarms were investigated on complaint of the fire chief.

Many Lodgers Sheltered

853 lodgers were given shelter and in some extreme cases were supplied with meals.

15 lost children were picked up or handed over to the police by citizens and were returned to their homes.

378 summons were served and 25 were made for outside police department.

36 homes where owners were away, or on vacation were visited several times during the day and night and all were found to be in order on their owners return to the city, with 3 exceptions, and these homes were broken into and articles stolen, during the owner's absence, but after being investigated, those responsible were brought to court.

During the year there were 587 accidents reported by the police and others, resulting in injury to 153 persons, 3 of which were fatal, all were investigated, many prosecuted and were necesary 143 special reports were made out and sent to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles in Toronto, the 143 special reports represented $15,232.55 in property damage.

Sixteen trucks and automobiles were stolen during the year, valued at $8,217 all of which were recovered valued at $3,780 and returned to the owners.

Licensing Bicycles

Since 1940 the licensing of bicycles has come into effect but unless Section 1 of bylaw 4138 is amended to read, "no person owning or using," instead of, 'resident in both places," it will only help to a small degree. It has already created considerable confusion and will cause more to residents of the adjacent townships. Officials of some townships have already requested that their residents be licensed and have agreed that the expense go to the city.

Goods of all classes to the value of $22,023.78 were reported stolen and through the untiring efforts of the police $14,883.07 of the same was recovered and returned to the owners.

Lost property to the value of $3,199.50 was reported and $1,837.56 of same was recovered and returned to owners.

Radio

The police radio has been very effective in bringing all classes of law breakers into the hands of the police but it has been very troublesome to keep in working order, owing to parts not being standardized and listed. Our local radio experts had to learn from sheer testing and hard work, which amounts to extra expense.

"Traffic, Etc."

Owing to so many added duties, 1942 will be a very difficult year for police departments. So much time is lost around the courts, extra reports to both Federal and Provincial governments, such as Motor Vehicle Department, Military Defaulters, Alien Enemies, who are reporting each month, also Paroled Aliens, Passports, Bicycle Licensing, that it is almost impossible to keep men on the streets, attending to their proper duties. Unlike other work the whole 24 hours must be covered, and police officers are only human, they have to rest like men in other walks of life. How many of our citizens have ever given thought of how free from bad accidents and serious crime this city has been for many years, and yet right in our midst we have nightly criminals with long records picked up and charged with vagrancy, thereby preventing many offences being committed. The automobile has largely made possible the swift movement of criminals of all classes and rendered it most difficult and dangerous for the police to cope with. A great many more traffic offenders were prosecuted during 1941 and the great majority of those offenders would have rendered valuable assistance to the police had they obeyed the Traffic Laws which were made to protect those very citizens who failed in their duty to obey them.

Safety Rule

It is not pleasant to have to prosecute motorists for every slight offence, so finally I ask all citizens who drive to try to observe the following rules:

1. Be careful when approaching street intersections.
2. Do not attempt to speed where traffic is heavy.
3. Think of the rights of others.
4. Do not attempt to pass other cars going in the same direction unless and until the road is perfectly clear.
5. Watch out for school and military zones as children are careless and full of life and soldiers have to march as ordered.
6. Take no chances but always have your Auto under control.

By carrying out these few "don'ts," you will be helping the police far more than you realize.

Recommendations

I am sorry that my recommendations could not be granted viz.: two more constables. We are working under a great handicap and it is impossible to render efficient service in the face of so many added services. The Detectives are called upon to supervise various pay-roll movements. The men on the beats have always to be on the alert for Bank hold ups, etc., especially when so many paroled and other ex-convicts are hanging around under the pretence of being in this city for work at the various factories and at the same time praying they may not get it. For instance in the last two weeks of January three ex-convicts were picked up with 45 convictions registered against them. Not one of them has done a day's work in years, in fact they openly stated they were expecting a job but would not say where. That is their usual excuse.

There are many things which cannot be mentioned in a public report as to the activities, etc., of the police, but this I can say "Mobility is said to be a symbol of progress," it will always increase and its potential hazards will always exist. The problem to study out is, "how are we going to combat these hazards the answer, "Greater Activity," and that means, "more police," I have done my part;

In conclusion allow me to express my appreciation of the wonderful co-operation extended to me by the Toronto Police Force, and other Police Forces, and last but not least the loyal support of the members of our own force, of which the Police Commissioners and Citizens have a right to be proud.

KINGS ROW

By HENRY BELLAMANN

she used to do, thrashing her soundly in the storm of tears and refusals to obey him that followed. Of all this she told Parris nothing until, one stolen afternoon, they went up through the spruce planting and down the other side to the pond—their "secret lake," as they always called it.

Renee stooped beneath the branches of the big crab apple tree and entered the canopied space beneath.

"Parris," she said softly.

He knelt beside her. "What's the matter, Renee?"

She told him, her hair, silver in the green shadows, falling over her face to hide the tears. "So you see, I can't be your sweetheart anymore," she whimpered.

"Oh, no, Renee!" he cried, taking her awkwardly in his arms, kissing her cheeks, stroking her head, rocking her gently.

"Papa said that if I—look!" She leapt to her feet and cowered against the tree.

"Parris, there was somebody in those bushes—somebody watching us. Maybe Papa."

He scrambled to his feet and stood close to her, holding her arms tight. "How do you know? Did you see anybody?"

"I saw somebody—I don't know who it was—oh—" she began to cry.

"Come on, Renee, let's go."

"No." She thought a minute. "You stay here, and I'll go first. You wait a good while."

"I better go with you."

"You do like I tell you. You wait."

Before he could argue further, she ran. He watched her blue dress fluttering down the long alley between the trees.

Later he went slowly down the same way she had gone. He thought first he had best go home some roundabout way, but he felt that he must see her—pass her house.

When he came in sight of the little cottage he was surprised. The doors were shut and the shades were drawn. He was about to pass when he heard voices. It was Sven—Gudrun, too. Without thinking he ran up the walk to the door. He could hear Sven cursing, and Gudrun saying something very loud. They were speaking Swedish, though and he could not understand. Sven began to shout. Through it he heard a little wail that almost stopped his heart. Renee!

There was a thud on the door as though someone had been thrown against it. Then he heard the unmistakable swish of a heavy strap. He heard it strike flesh and heard Renee's piercing scream. He hurled himself against the door and shouted.

"Sven! Sven Gyllinson—Sven—Sven . . . "

But Sven did not hear. Sven was cursing louder than ever. The sharp slap of the strap came faster and faster. Renee's scream ran together in a continued stream of sound. Still the murderous blows went on and on. The screams changed. They were suddenly hoarse—like the cries of an animal.

Parris whirled and leaned his back against the door. He flung his arms straight on either side to keep from falling. He looked up where a few clouds seemed to hang motionless. "Dear God—dear God—don't—don't let—"

Suddenly the terrible crying sank to a shaking moan and stopped, but the hideous swish of the strap went on—steadily—relentlessly.

Parris felt himself turn icy cold. He knew he was going to be sick. He threw out his hands as he saw the ground slanting sharply toward his face.

It was almost dark when he opened his eyes. He remembered at once where he was and what had happened. He crawled a few paces and listened. The house was silent. Had they killed her? His breath shook out of him in gasps. He felt terribly ill. Tomorrow—he'd tell his grandmother about Sven. They'd take Renee away from him. Tomorrow—he couldn't do anything now. Tomorrow—Sven—the dirty, horrible, monstrous, terrible dog—tomorrow! He could not keep to the path. It kept swinging out from under him—slipping to one side—slithering from under his feet. . . . He tore his hands in the rose trellis.

He stumbled up the steps of the terrace. He heard Anna's startled exclamation as he stepped into the blinding lamplight, and then his grandmother saying, "Nom de Dieu! Anna, vite, de l'eau, . . . "

Dr. Gordon came, but Parris could not see him clearly. He heard questions, and tried to answer. Faces without bodies attached to them seemed to float over the bed. They came close, and enormous eyes looked door. Maybe she was lying in bed but could not. He tried hard to think. He said Renee—Renee—Renee, over and over. What was happening to her? Maybe she was still lying on the floor behind that locked door. Maybe shew aslying in bed—all bloody. He screamed and pushed at Dr. Gordon's face. Then he felt someone hold his hands and force him back on the pillow. He knew he was falling through the pillow—through the bed—through the floor—down a long shining tunnel that dwindled away and away to a tiny shimmering point. He was rushing violently toward that minute spark at the end of the slippery tunnel. . . .

When he awoke it was dark outside. There was a shaded light in the corner, and someone was in the big rocking chair.

"Anna!" He could hardly hear himself—such a funny weak croak he made!

Anna ran to the door. "Madame, bitte komm'!"

In a moment his grandmother leaned over him. "Parris," she said very softly.

"Yes." He tried to move.

"S-sh! Not now, tomorrow you can talk, perhaps."

He waked and slept and waked again but never for very long. Then one morning the objects in the room were steadier and clearer, but the inside of his head was heavy as lead. His temples seemed to spread out like balloons—then he floated for a moment until the heaviness returned and thrust his head down hard into the pillow.

He lay half awake and tried once more to think. A wagon rattled along the drive below the terrace. He heard a whip crack. A quick little cry escaped his lips. That was it! Renee!

His grandmother was instantly beside the bed. "Parris, what is it?"

"Where's Renee?"

"She's not here just now, dear. Try to lie still."

He wailed a little. "But where is she?"

Madame laid one of her wrinkled little hands on his. "Renee has gone away, Parris."

"Gone? Gone away? Where?"

"Well, I don't know, dear. Her father moved away somewhere."

All of the breath went out of him. His face drew up, but he couldn't cry. "Oh, oh!" he said weakly.

Liberal Caucus Gives Hepburn Confidence Vote

TORONTO, Feb. 17 — (CP). — Leaders' day in the Ontario Legislature today brings Premier Hepburn and Lt.-Col. George A. Drew into the Throne Speech debate. Col. Drew, the Opposition leader, adjourned the debate last Friday and will be the first to speak, followed by the Premier.

The Legislature held only a brief session yesterday, long enough to permit Health Minister Harold Kirby to introduce several bills and then adjourned in order to turn the Chamber over to the United States soldiers visiting here to publicize the Victory Loan.

The Liberal members, however, came back at night for what is believed to have been one of the longest caucuses since the present government took office.

From eight p.m. until midnight practically the entire group of available Liberals threshed out the problems confronting the party and when the session was over the chairman, W. L. Miller, member for Algoma - Manitoulin, announced there had been "an unanimous vote of endorsation and confidence in Premier Hepburn."

Election Up To Premier.

Mr. Miller said no decision had been made as to whether there would be an election this year—the present government was elected for a five-year term in 1937—but he declined to say what action, if any, had been taken on the proposed motion to censure the Dominion Government on its war effort.

During the recent by-election campaigns in York South and Welland Premier Hepburn indicated his intention to have the motion of censure brought before the House. Asked after the by-elections if he intended to drop the motion, the Premier said it was still a 'live" subject to be dealt with in caucus.

Speculation at Queen's Park since that time has been to the effect considerable opposition was developing among the "Mackenzie King" Liberals against the motion. The fact the caucus chairman refused to comment on it left the matter still one of conjecture.

Historic Event

It was an historic event when the American infantrymen, led by Brig.-Gen. T. E. Troland and packing full fighting kit, paraded on the wine-carpeted floor of the Chamber yesterday and took over the members' chairs.

Premier Hepburn, in welcoming the 100 or more stalwart soldiers, said they came "at the darkest moment in the history of the two nations." Col. Drew said he hoped the visit was the first of many and there would be reciprocal visits on the part of Canadian soldiers. Gen. Troland responded by declaring the detachment, while small, was representative of the great army growing up below the border.

The soldiers were inspected by Ontario's lieutenant-governor, Hon. Albert Matthews, before entering the building. To add an unique touch to the historic occasion the wooden mace which America soldirs took away as loot when they burned the parliament buildings in the war of 1812 was back at its usual place on the clerk's table on the floor of the House. The mace was returned to the province by President Roosevelt in 1935.

Jap Naval Base Goes Up In Smoke

A great pall of smoke hangs over Wotje Island, Japanese naval base and one of the main targets in the successful American attack on the Gilbert and Marshall Islands. The white streaks seen at the water's edge are flames consuming oil tanks, storage houses and shops. The Wotje Island base and four vessels found in the harbor were destroyed.

Minister Denies Hepburn Claim

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—Pensions Minister Mackenzie in the House of Commons yesterday accused Premier Hepburn of Ontario of making unfounded statements likely to give comfort to the enemy and needlessly to alarm mothers and wives of men in the armed forces.

He referred to statements reported in the Toronto Globe and Mail Feb. 13, attributed to Mr. Hepburn, that 45,000 men had been discharged from the forces, mostly because of colds and tuberculosis brought on by lack of proper clothing.

"Every implication in that statement is totally unjustified," Mr. Mackenzie declared.

Of all the men discharged up to Nov. 1, last there were 1,320 cases of tuberculosis, or one-third of one per cent of all enlistments.

Of the 11,320 only 39 were found to have contracted the disease after enlistment or to have had an old ailment aggravated by service and therefore pensionable, the minister said.

The fact was that the medical services had unearthed many cases of non-active or incipient tuberculosis and thus saved lives by warning men of a disability which they had not suspected.

M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. leader, asked the government if it would consider using Defence of Canada Regulations to intern the authors of such statements but there was no reply.

Valentine Tea Attracts Crowd

HAVELOCK, Feb. 17—(ENS).—A most successful Valentine function was held Saturday afternoon in the Presbyterian church basement, sponsored by the girls' class, with a large attendance.

A pretty colour scheme in keeping with the Valentine season was carried out. Mrs. Thomas Green, the leader of the class, received the guests. The tea table was beautifully decorated with red candles in silver holders and the silver tea service was presided over by Mrs. Harold Mateson, assisted by Mrs. Fred McKenzie. In charge of the dainty tea tables were five of the younger girls of the class, Misses Josephine Rowat, Berle Rice, Marion Forsyth, Cleo Copp and Doris Dafoe, each wearing pretty Valentine aprons. The fancy work table, with many varied, useful articles of sewing and knitting was capably looked after by Mrs. Grenville Rutherford, Mrs. Roderick Webb and Mrs. James Squire. There were also three beautiful patterned quilts offered for sale.

The home-cooking table with its many attractive goodies of tarts, pies, buns, biscuits, cakes, macaroons and little cookies was well patronized, and was in charge of Mrs. O. Patterson, Mrs. T. Watson and Miss Essie McQuigge. The receipts of the event were over $30.00.

Timmins Dentist Wounded While Curling

TORONTO, Feb. 17 (CP)—Police today continued an intensive investigation into the mysterious wounding of Dr. Henry Hudson, Timmins dentist, who received a .22-calibre bullet through the right hip while competing in an Ontario Curling Association bonspiel match last night.

Police said no shot was heard by anyone present and a search of the persons in the Royal Curling Club rink and of the ice and building revealed no sign of a gun or an exploded cartridge.

Witnesses said Dr. Hudson was standing with his right side to the rink's northern windows after delivering a rock when he suddenly straightened up and exclaimed: "I've been shot!"

With blood spurting to the ice, Dr. Hudson was helped to the club rooms and then to hospital. Dr. Roy Thomas said an X-ray showed the bullet lodged on the high but no attempt has been made to remove it. He said Dr. Hudson is "all right," but would remain in hospital a few days.

Police are investigating the possibility that the bullet came from a loose cartridge which had exploded in some one's pocket or had fallen to the ice and exploded on landing or when struck by a stone. Another possibility was that the bullet was fired through windows at the north end of the rink about 20 feet above the ice.

How Women Can Aid Canada's War Effort

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 17 (ENS).—Some suggestions on how women could save and thereby help, Canada's war efort were made by Mrs. Carl Reid as a feature of the monthly meeting of the Rylstone Girls' Club on Wednesday afternoon. Buying economically, taking a greater part in the work on the farm and cooking to conserve materials such as sugar were among the principal suggestions made by the speaker in her topic. The president, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer, presided for the meeting and it was decided that $30 of the club's funds should be appropriated towards the proposed redecoration of Rylston church. As a means of augmenting their finances arrangements were made to hold a valentine social evening on February 19 and for this the president very kindly offered the use of her home.

Mrs. Alex Stewart then gave a very intersting demonstration together with some suggestions on the making of woollen cushions. The remainder of the program comprised readings by Leah Stewart and Pearl Stewart and a contest by Mrs. Jack Barnett.

"MUSTARD HELPED RELIEVE MY BOY'S ACUTE CHEST CONGESTION"
—SAYS MRS. FOXTON

WHEN Mrs. J. B. Foxton's son was 7 years old his suffering with acute chest congestion caused his mother great anxiety. Her physician used mustard poultices in his treatment and the young patient made a splendid recovery. But each Winter after his illness, if the lad developed a cough, Mrs. Foxton was anxious lest it lead to another attack. So the moment he started to cough she would get a mustard poultice ready, leaving it on for about 20 minutes, and that always helped to relieve the cough!

"My son grew to manhood without again contracting any chest congestion," said Mrs. Foxton, "thanks to the helpfulness of mustard. He is married now and I showed his young wife the proper way to prepare a mustard poultice for the cough, also how to use it for their young children. She tells me it always helps."

"Mustard Baths Cannot be Beaten" says Mrs. Foxton

In her home in Calgary, Alta., Mrs. Foxton said, "I know the value of mustard in helping to relieve chest congestion and I am a champion of its use. It has been my helper through the years." She has told hundreds of persons what a help mustard has been to her family. She suggests adding a little salt when a person is taking a mustard foot bath. Speaking from experience, Mrs. Foxton contends that this kind of foot-bath helps to relieve a cold and often gives a sense of invigoration to the person taking it.

Relief for Other Aches and Pains

As a home treatment, mustard gives comforting relief from the pains of neuritis, rheumatism, arthritis, neuralgia, lumbago and over-tired muscles. Also for many chest complaints, pleural pains, chills, colds and everyday ailments of the family. Serious or prolonged pains should, of course, be reported to your physician.

EXECUTIVE MEETING

A meeting of the Local Association executive will be held on Tuesday of this week, February 17, at 7.30 p.m. in the headquarters. All members are requested to attend.

TROOP COMMITTEE CONFERENCE

All members of the various group committees throughout the district are requested to attend the conference being held on Tuesday, February 24, in the Paragon Hall at 8 p.m. Some good subjects are on the line and it is your opportunity to learn a little more about the work you have undertaken.

Any man interested in scouting is invited to attend and all present scout officials would do well to put in an appearance.

SCOUTERS' CLUB

We were glad to see Edgar Jones, our esteemed field secretary from Headquarters, Toronto, in attendance at the club meeting.

Stan Leggett has undertaken to census the scouters, and get their ideas about the club and has drawn up a concise form for same. Good work, Stan.

The club will also approach the Local Association in reference to the putting on a monthly patrolleaders' get together. We think this is a good idea and can see no reason why it should not receive full support from all concerned.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF LANDS

Under and by Virtue of a Writ of Fieri Facias issued out of the Supreme Court of Ontario and to me directed against the Lands and Tenements of THE PETERBOROUGH HARDWARE COMPANY LIMITED at the suit of The Treasurer of Ontario, I have seized and shall offer for Sale, at the Sheriff's Office, Peterborough, on THURSDAY, the 26th Day of February, 1942, at Eleven o'clock A.M., all the right, title interest and equity of redemption of The Peterborough Hardware Company Limited, in to or out of the following Lands and Tenements, namely:

THREE PARCELS OF LAND, being composed of parts of Lots Numbers 3, 4 and 5, fronting on the South side of Dalhousie Street in Block "C" according to Registered Plan Number ELEVEN for the City of Peterborough, containing 3,210 square feet, 2,075 square feet, and 1,964 square feet more or less, respectively, as described in Registered Instruments Numbers 28691, 19971, and 8829 for the City of Peterborough

DATED at Peterborough, the 21st Day of Novemebr. 1941.

JOHN A. HARSTONE,
Sheriff.

MORE ABOUT—

Britain's Naval Setup

not detected shortly after daylight, and secondly was contact and liaison between the coastal command and the Admiralty and also between other R.A.F. commands and the Admiralty as close as it should have been.

Ordered Inquiry

At the suggestion of the Admiralty and the Air Ministry I have directed that an enquiry shall be held into these points. The enquiry will be secret and I doubt very much whether its results will be found suitable for publication.

I am not prepared to give any information about the enquiry or any undertaking that its results will be made public. Although it may somewhat surprise the House and the public, I should like to state that in the opinion of the Admiralty, with which I most cordially concur, the abandonment by the Germans of their position at Brest has been decidedly beneficial to our war situation.

A threat to our convoy routes has been removed and the enemy has been driven to leave an advantageous position. The diversion of our air bombing efforts, which though necessary was so wasteful, is over and a heavier scale of attack on Germany is now possible in which all the near misses will fall on German and not on French dwellings.

Further, both the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau have received damage in their passage which will keep them out of action for some time to come, and they will have to have gunnery and other practice. Before they can again play any part in the war the Royal Navy will be reinforced by various units of highest quality and a similar strengthening process is going forward in the navy of the United States.

Whatever smart of disappointment or annoyance may remain in our breasts that the final forfeit was not exacted, there is no doubt that the naval position in the Atlantic, so far from being worsened, is definitely eased.

Nothing On Singapore.

I have also been asked whether I will make a statement about the fall of Singapore. This extremely grave event was not unexpected and its possibility was comprised within the scope of the argument which I submitted to the House on the occasion of the vote of confidence three weeks ago.

The House has of course many opportunities of discussing this and other aspects of the war situation. I am sure it would be a great mistake to start to discuss it this afternoon in the short time available.

I have no information to give to the House other than that contained in the public press nor would it be prudent to speculate in detail upon various evil consequences which may follow from the fall of Singapore.

Moreover it would ill become the dignity of the government and of the House and would render poor service for the alliance of which we are a part if we were dragged into recriminations at a time when our minds are oppressed with a sense of tragedy and with the horrow of so lamentable a misfortune. Perhaps at a later date, when we are more fully informed and when carefully considered statements may be made, the House may wish for further debate on the situation in the Far East and on the prospect of its being retrieved by combined action of the Allied powers concerned. I should certainly not take part in any such discussion now. However, as some members may be otherwise inclined and as I did not wish to prevent them from expressing their opinion, I decided to move the adjournment as I have done.

The government will listen to debate which takes place and I hope I may be prmitted to remind the House of the extremely serious situation in which we stand, and the use of which is made in hostile and even in Allied countries of any loose or intemperate language into which anyone may be drawn, and the importance of the Commons maintaining its reputation of firmness and courage in the face of adversity.

NOTICE

Poor Letter Gets a Poor Response

What Boners Did He Write?

What a slap in the face! In response to his letter he gets this cold, curt note. WHY?

Maybe HIS letter was disappointing. Maybe she tore it open very eagerly, only to find it a string of choppy, ungrammatical sentences: "I sure am busy. Haven't been to a movie yet."

So many people are careless about letter-writing, thinking it's a special art, hard to learn!

It's simple to check on errors—to write correctly "surely am," to put the subject "I" before "haven't been."

You can easily make your letters interesting, by just telling little things. About your movie, say "Hope got laughs, all right!" You are busy? Write: "Papers are on my desk in two-foot stacks!"

If you are careless about business letters of course you'll never get the job. Do you write: "I saw your ad in today's newspaper and have had four years experience and I could take the job right now?" Learn to be clear, correct;

Our 32-page booklet points out common grammar mistakes, helps enrich your vocabulary, suggests topics to write to friends, rules of good business letters. Gives 24 model social, business and friendly letters.

For your coopy of "Good Letter Writing Made Easy," send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Examiner Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of the booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

TIMING RIGHT IS VITAL

IN WAR, football or almost any other form of competition, correct timing is a vital factor. Probably no game shows the operation of the principle more clearly than bridge. Doing first those things which should be done first, so that you can do later the things which by then are prepared for, is the essence of a great share of the most successful play of the cards. Change the order of events and you change the entire result on many an occasion.

North: ♠J 10 9 8 ♥K Q 2 ♦8 6 3 ♣10 8 3

West: ♠K 5 4 ♥J 10 7 5 ♦J 7 ♣J 6 5 2

East: ♠A Q 3 2 ♥8 ♦A Q 10 4 2 ♣K 9 7

South: ♠7 6 ♥A 9 6 4 3 ♦K 9 5 ♣A Q 4

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

After East's strong vulnerable overcalling, with a "reverse" bid of the higher-ranking spades at the range of three, West was justified in making his very narrow double in a match-point duplicate game. The same general bidding occurred at several tables, so that the way that South made out depended on whether he got set one trick or two. If only one, he would beat the score of those pairs against which East managed to make 3-Diamonds.

When the diamond J was led at a couple of tables playing 3-Hearts doubled, East won with the A and followed with the diamond Q to the K. Then the differences came. One declarer took two top trumps in the dummy, killing all chance to hold his set to a single trick. His one remaining try was to play low when East later led a small club, hoping East had the K-J, but of course that didn't work.

Better play, with nice timing, was by Joseph Norris, one of the soundest cardsmen in New York's social duplicates. Under his plan, all he had to do was find West with three spades and not over four hearts. After winning the diamond K, he led the spade 7 to the 8 and Q. East cashed the diamond 10 and switched to the club 7. The Q won that and the spade 6 was led to the 9 and A. The club 9 was taken by the A, the heart K scored and the spade 9 led from dummy, ruffed by the heart 4, dropping the spade K and setting up the 10. After the heart A, Mr. Norris led to the Q and called the spade 10. On that he discarded the club 4 and West had to use his heart J to ruff the trick. The heart 9 naturally took the last trick.

Success of this line of play was due entirely to starting the spades before the hearts were touched. Otherwise there would have been no entry for the fourth spade.

Library Board Officers Are Re-elected

GORE'S LANDING, Feb. 17. — (ENS.)—The annual meeting of the public library was held in the library on Friday evening. The president, Clare Harris, was in the chair.

Stanley Harris, who has been a fatihful treasurer of the library for many years, reported cash on hand $6.50. During the year books costing $118.32 had been purchased and insurance had been paid also.

Miss Emily Pratt reported on the entertainment effort which netted $40.54. The entertainment committee is responsible for the upkeep of the library, paying Hydro bills, caretaker and incidental expenses.

Miss Pratt, who is also the librarian gave a good report on books purchased and handled during the year. Tihs also includes magazines which have been donated and are much enjoyed by the boys, especially as there are many 'Popular Mechanics' and other magazines similar to this. Books purchased in 1941 included 3 literature, 7 history, 1 travel, 5 biography, 8 adult fiction, 35 juvenile. Total 59 books.

The comparison of books read showed in 1940 there were 470 books taken out; in 1941 an increase to 934. This was due to juvenile readers. The local school, S.S. No. 16 has had a ticket for some months and a package of books is taken to the school each week. S.S. No. 17 is now taking out books with the teacher handling several each week. It is expected this will increase the circulation in 1942 to over 1,000. The number of juvenile books read in 1940 was 158; in 1941 there were 491 read by the boys and girls.

The number of adult members is 67. During the election of officers, all members of the 1941 boards were reinstated. A vote of thanks was expressed by Mrs. Clare Harris for the kindness of Melville and Joe Harris in giving and preparing a new fence in front of the library. Mrs. Meggs moved a vote of thanks and appreciation to Miss Emily Pratt, the librarian who works diligently in this worthwhile community effort without remuneration.

V. S. Milburn Extols Local Farmers At Meeting

Although he recently sold his farm and moved into the city, retiring from the dairy business, Ed. Butler was re-elected president of the Milk Producers' Association of the Peterborough district at their annual meeting Saturday afternoon in the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Butler tendered his resignation to the large company of nearly seventy members, expressing regret that circumstances required him to withdraw from the association. During the election of officers several other producers were named as his successor, but they declined to assume the responsibiity. At that stage of surveying the membership for a new president, R. T. Lillico enquired whether there was any constitutional reason preventing Mr. Butler from being re-elected.

"I don't know of any objection to Mr. Butler continuing as president," Mr. Lillico said. "I would like to see him stay on."

This proposal elicited immediate and unanimous approval, and Mr. Butler found himself returned as head of the association of which he has been a prudent and faithful leader for years.

C. E. Moore of Smith was re-elected vice-president, and V. S. Milburn of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, was retained at secretary-treasurer.

The directors for the coming year are as follows: Joseph J. Tully, John Torpey, Melville McKee, George H. Mullen, Wallace Brealey, Stanley Wood, Harold Cathcart, James Sargent, Harry Faulkner, Harvard White, William Rollins, Ernest Fife, Gordon McIntosh, Joseph Mann.

The financial statement reported a credit balance of $105, and the Association voted $35 to the Federation of Agriculture, as a contribution for the two years 1941-42.

Friendly Relations

Looking back over the year, the Milk Producers affirmed in their discussion that it had been generally quite satisfactory. Individually, the members have been trying to do their part in co-operating with the Peterborough Board of Health in meeting its requirements relating to the supply of milk to the city consumers.

Relations with the distributors have been friendly. It was said that the larger dairies in the city were collecting from producers the agreed payment which is turned into the funds of the Producers' Association. Several of the smaller dairies, it was said, were overlooking this understanding or ignoring it, and it was decided to make representation through the producers supplying those dairies that they should fall in line with the others, whose attitude was much appreciated by the association.

Mr. Milburn Grateful

Vivian Milburn told the meeting that his re-election as secretary-treasurer of the organization meant more to him than any other honor and responsibility he received. Mr. Milburn and Ed. Butler have been re-elected to their respective posts for thirteen years. Back in 1929 the Milk Producers reformed their ranks at a time when they were lagging, and getting nowhere. During the years since then the Association has become one of the strongest farm groups of the district.

The meeting Saturday re-nominated Mr. Milburn as their candidate to the directorate of the Ontario Whole Milk Producers' League. Speaking of the support he had received from the Association during the thirteen years, Mr. Milburn said that his first nomination to the provincial producers' directorate had resulted in projecting him into a new field of activity

"If I may mention the fact now, and I would like to do so," Mr. Milburn said, "many honors have come to me in larger fields since then, but nothing makes me feel happier than to come back here to Peterborough not only to be with one's own people and to know and feel their loyalty to me as they have showed it year after year. You may often hear it said that farmers are not loyal, that they won't support their own, that they won't stick together. I know from my experience with this association that those ideas are not true.

I would like to say one thing more on the personal side. I am glad you have kept Ed. Butler as your president. I have been sitting in with many organizations, and I have been with Mr. Butler as your president for thirteen years, and I have not met a more sincere, honest and loyal officer and friend of the farmers than Eddie Butler. You can be certain that he will not lose interest in your work, and in the affairs of the members he has been associated with so long."

Mr. Milburn spoke of some of the accomplishments during the year, especially mentioning the free freight policy on feed grain from the west, amounting to around $4.50 a ton. He said it had been made possible ultimately by the Federal government, but that organized farmers had made representations to the Department, had received a hearing and had obtained help that was needed. Dairy producers had also received the benefit of a government allowance of 30c a hundred pounds on milk delivered to dairies for distribution and 40 cents on other milk that went to the condenseries.

"As a matter of fact the government is providing this money to the dairy farmers so that the public can get cheap milk," Mr. Milburn said, referring to a fact that a price ceiling had been applied to retail milk, and it was recognized that some provision would have to be made for the producer.

Delegates Appointed

Delegates appointed to the provincial convention of producers next week were: Henry Batten, Ira Robson, Lorne Reynolds, W. W. Sutton and Ed. Butler.

Wilbert Rosborough and J. T. Tully were elected auditors. Frank C. Paterson explained the purposes of the rural survey that is being made through the recently appointed Agricultural War Council, and urged that every farmer fill out and return the questionnaires which they had received several weeks ago.

City Taximen Meet Police Board

Suggested changes in the local taxi fares brought a delegation of taxi owners before the board of police commissioners at the regular meeting Monday, but the members of the deputation had not agreed on any definite program of changes so that the conference was fruitless.

Among the taxi men present were Hugh Davis, John Drummond, Austin Gorman and Gerald Dunford.

The present tariff calls for a day time charge of 25 cents for an area that takes in practically the whole city, with a 50 cent fare for suburban trips. There had been a petition that the 25 cent fare be increased to 50 cents and yesterday's deputation had been invited to attend the meeting of the commission to discuss the situation.

However when it developed that no meeting of the taxi owners had been called, and they had no definite program to offer, Judge S. L. Smoke, chairman of the commission suggested that the taxi men get together and endeavor to reach an agreement as to what they wanted. His Honor said they might find it advisable to organize a taxi owners' association.

The deputation then withdrew, it being understood that they will have something concrete to offer at the next meeting of the commission.

"The police should check up on all of us to see that the bylaw is being obeyed" suggested Hugh Davis before the deputation left. "After all it is a bylaw." He urged that taxi owners' licenses should not be issued to individuals who were not prepared to give full taxi service.

Later in the meeting an application from Joseph Fontaine for an owner's license was turned down by the commission.

The board also refused to grant a taxi driver's license to William Brown, whose age was given as 16 years.

"That is too young" said Judge Smoke and Magistrate Gee concurred in that opinion.

"His application has been approved by the chief, too" commented the chairman.

An application from Robert Hart, 18, of 313 Murray street, for a taxi-driver's license was granted.

Judge Smoke presided at the meeting and Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay was the other member present. Illness prevented Mayor James Hamilton from attending.

War Workers Review Work In 1941

KEENE, Feb. 17—(ENS). — On February 12 the Keene Carry-On Club met at the home of the president, Mrs. A. Doris. The financial report of last year's work was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Harry Short, and was received as being very satisfactory. A new effort was promised by the group to double their efforts for war work for the coming year. The money raised last year was used as follows: Donations to D. D. Brown, treasurer of the local branch of the Red Cross Society; two donations were given the Examiner War Victims Fund; eighteen boxes were packed at Christmas and sent to the boys of the community serving overseas; letters of appreciation have been received for every box, the boys showing how grateful they are for a thought from the people back home

The club has pledged itself to take a special interest in their boys. A bingo and dance will be held in the near future in the Town Hall, proceeds to go for that purpose.

Rundown Man Surprised With Syntona Results

Was Unable to Work or Sleep Because of Sore, Swollen, Aching Joints and Muscles. Condition Followed Years of Stomach Gas, Acid Indigestion, Headaches and Dizzy Spells. Felt Weakened, Nervous and Rundown.

"Because of the grand results I got by taking a treatment of Syntona, I am glad of this opportunity to recommend it to others." said Mr. Victor Clouthier, 76 Hamilton Road London, Ontario, in a recent statement.

"For years I had been troubled with sour stomach, cramps, gas and bloat. I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells and I always had to be taking something for constipation. Then, these rheumatic pains set into my points and muscles. The pains and stomach gas kept me from getting my proper sleep, so I had become very nervous and rundown. There was a bad taste in my mouth, my tongue was constantly coated and my skin was rough and pimply. I couldn't do any work because I felt so miserable all the time.

"I must admit I wasn't very hopeful when I began taking Syntona, for I had tried so many remedies without getting any real benefits. But right from the first it settled my stomach and I liked the way it acted on my bowels, so I thought that even that much was well worthwhile. Now, after taking Syntona for a few weeks, I am surprised with the improvement in the way I feel. For the first time in four years I can enjoy my meals without all that stomach misery. I got relief from those rheumatic pains, my nerves are relaxed, and I get a good night's sleep once more. I don't have those headaches and dizzy spells like I used to and I feel better in every way than I thought was ever possible again."

MR. VICTOR CLOUTHIER

The above are often common results of disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels. Syntona is compounded to act on these four organs at the same time and the results that it gives are vouched for by thousands of delighted men and women who have used it. Make up your mind to begin taking this pure herbal medicine to-day. See how much better you, too, can be feeling in just a short time.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Fenella Women Plan Program

FENELLA, Feb. 17—(ENS)—The ladies of the Fenella W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Sandercock on Thursday, February 12. There were 24 present.

With the president, Mrs. C. McNaught presiding the meeting opened in its usual form. Following the correspondence it was decided to extend invitations to Mr. H. Deyman, Cobourg, solicitor, to attend the March meeting and to Mr. Ian McLeod, district agricultural representative to the May meeting. It was suggested to use honey, raw and dried fruits to save sugar in wartime.

By motion it was decided to have an evening of bingo in March.

The next meeting will be held in the hall for the members and their families with Mrs. James Waldie, Miss Ruby Herrington, Mrs. Bruce Macklin and Mrs. Ambrose Fanning as program committee.

Quilt remnants and patches were displayed. Mrs. C. McNaught, Mrs. R. Eagleson, Mrs. E. Sandercock and Mrs. C. Childs volunteered to cut them into blocks and Mrs. McNaught, Mrs. S. Leach, Mrs. R. Eagleson and Mrs. G. Harvey offered to sew them into quilt tops.

Mrs. M. Lonsberry gave the Red Cross financial report and a collection was taken up for this purpose. 10 pair army socks, 4 turtle neck sweaters, 1 quilt, 4 khaki scarves, 2 pair blue mitts, 3 khaki helmets, 1 aero cap, 1 pair gloves, and 1 sleeveless sweater had been made and forwarded in January.

Mrs. Murray McFiggin gave a very interesting and educational paper on health, concluding with a demonstration on first aid including how to bandage for different broken bones of your body and how the artifivial motions of respiration are made. Mrs. C. Brisbin moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. McFiggin

Due to the lengthy meeting the program was withdrawn excepting two musical numbers by Miss Bernice McNaught.

Mrs. G. McIsaac moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Lunch was served by the hostess and a pleasant social visit followed.

Radio-Run Barrages Cut Hun Lines

(By EDDY GILMORE.)

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 (AP)—Soviet big guns, some directed by radio from Russian guerilla detachments which had driven behind the German lines, today were reported to be smashing Nazi positions all along the front from Leningrad deep into the southwest. In one sector of the front west of Kalinin a tank-led German counter attack was thrown back by artillery which destroyed three of the tanks and then routed the Nazi infantry. In another northwestern front zone the Red Army claimed to have cut off a Nazi defensive position with concentrated fire which forced the invaders to abandon 15 cannon in their retreat.

Army dispatches said a number of important but unspecified villages were recaptured in the southwest, where the Russian batteries poured a heavy rain of shells into a double line of Nazi defences that included land-mine fields. The batteries were said to have destroyed 36 points in one day.

Only two newly-recaptured places were mentioned—Sosino, on the Smolensk front, and Manakhovo, on the Leningrad front. (Neither place appears on available maps).

Claim 1,000 Reds Slain.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 18 — (AP). — The German high command claimed to-day for the second successive day that Nazi forces had cut off and killed more than 1,000 Russian troops on the central sector of the Eastern Front. The Germans claimed much war material was seized.

Twenty-eight Russian tanks were claimed to have been destroyed, 51 planes shot down, and much rolling stock destroyed in yesterday's fighting.

The only report from the Libyan land front was of scouting activity in the area south-east of El Mechili where, the Nazi command claimed, 10 British patrol cars were destroyed.

D.N.B. claimed that a German plane scored a direct hit on the turret of a submarine, which disappeared after a violent explosion. The news and propaganda agency claimed the attack occurred yesterday afternoon north of Crete.

The German command's communique also said a British submarine was "probably sunk" off the Island of Crete but the communique did not indicate whether this was by naval or air attack.

Further British air raids on north-west Germany (which have increased since the homeward flight of the Nazi battleships Gneisenau and Scharnhorst) were acknowledged.

Dutch Chief Urges Allied Push

Sees Retreat Doom; Indies Fall To Turn Japs On India

SYNDEY, Feb. 18—(CP). — Appealing to the United Nations to take the offensive, search out the enemy and fight, Lieutenant Governor Hubertus Van Mook of the Netherlands East Indies, declared today that the policy of "constantly retiring to prepared positions could lead to a position in which the Allies might lose the war."

"We'll fight in the Netherlands East Indies as long as humanly possible," he said.

Van Mook arrived in Sydney today from the United States where he had conferred on co-operation in the Pacific with officials in Washington.

"We have been faced with the prospect of having to fight alone so long that if we have to do it perhaps it would not be such a great shock," he said at a press conference.

"The thing that shocks us is that if we are beaten it might mean more than the defeat of the Netherlands East Indies.

"If the Japanese get the Netherlands East Indies I think there is a good chance that they will not go straight on toward Australia but would swing in to help the Axis win the war by moving against the Middle East and Russia.

Hit Australia Later

"I think they would confine themselves to nuisance raids against Australia, but Australia may depend on it that the Japanese would deal with her later on.

"The Japanese are using ships recklessly. I think we could emulate them."

Speaking of his trip to the United States, he said he had not found any under-estimation of the Pacific War in America. It has taken Americans time to awaken to its implications, he added, but now their attention is turning more to the Pacific than to Europe.

"They and their president are convinced of the value of attack," he said. "They'll go about things in a very American and very drastic way in the next few months, swinging over entirely to war productions."

He predicted that if Japan did not attack Russia, then Russia would attack the Japanese.

2nd Day Of Loan Sees Totals Hit 85 Million

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Subscriptions to Canada's $600,000,000 second Victory Loan totalled $85,436,000 at completion of the second day's business, the National War Loan committee announced to-day.

Canada's Unemployment Insurance Commission invested $10,000,000 in long-term three per cent. bonds of the loan yesterday, the committee said, bringing yesterday's subscriptions to $34,102,000.

The campaign opened Monday ahd will last three weeks.

Loan headquarters said they regarded Tuesday's subscriptions "with moderate satisfaction" because storms and bad weather in several sections of the country slowed up the returns from country units to provincial divisions.

"An all-day blizzard halted returns from Alberta, where the first day of selling had shown great vigor," the committee saiad.

Among the larger municipalities, Saskatoon, with 27 per cent. of its quota subscribed by Tuesday night, was runner-up to Edmonton, which had subscribed 37 per cent. of its full quota on the first day of the campaign.

Other centres to report progress included Sydney, N.S., 25 per cent of quota; Charlottetown, 22 per cent; Halifax, 16 per cent; Moose Jaw, Calgary and Glace Bay, N.S., all with 14 per cent.

2 Million Contributors

Funds which made possible the unemployment commission's large investment came from the joint contributions of more than 2,000,000 Canadian workmen and their 150,000 employers, supplemented by the Federal Government's payment of one-fifth the total. The purchase was approved by A. MacNamara, acting chief commissioner, Allan Mitchell, employers' representative, and R. J. Tallon, labor representative.

Chinese Units Jump Thai Fontier

Japs Gain In South, Fear Direct Attack On Rangoon

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 18 — (AP).—Chinese troops have crossed the mountainous Thailand frontier in the north from Burma, it was reported here today, but on the southern front heavy fighting raged with the gravity of the situation hourly becoming manifest.

The Japanese, following hand-to-hand combat with Indian troops, forced a night crossing of the shallow Bilin River, a communique said today, and the British front was vaguely described as somewhere between the marshy Sittang and Salween Rivers.

The Sittang River, at the tip of Martaban Gulf is only about 20 miles from the railway which connects with China's Burma Road, or about 30 miles nearer than the parallel Belin.

The possibility was increasing almost hourly that the Japanese would attempt to use their sea and air power to make chance landings of troops on the Rangoon delta in a direct assault upon this part which supplies the Burma Road.

Drive on Jap Holdout.

The communique said "a report, as yet unconfirmed, says farther north Chinese troops have crossed the Thai frontier and are fighting toward Chiengmai, terminus of the railroad running north of Bangkok."

Chiengmai, 300 miles north of Bangkok, Thailand capital, has been converted into a Japanese base in Northern Thailand. The forbidding mountainous territory, however, slows communications and possibly prevents a more positive report.

Previously thousands of Chinese troops reported moving through the steep passes of the frontier area had their first encounter with Japanese patrols several days ago.

Such an offensive would be the first land attack by any of the United Nations' forces on territory held by Japan. One purpose of such

Japs Open All-Out Assault On MacArthur; Yank Bombers Scuttle Two Jap Transports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—(AP).—Start of the long-expected assault in force against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's lines in Bataan was indicated today in a United States War Department communique reporting increased enemy air activity, much heavier Japanese artillery fire and the landing of Japanese reinforcements at Olongapo in Subic Bay, just north of Bataan Peninsula.

At the same time the Department reported that four-motored army bombers, attacking Japanese ships of Bangka Island between Sumatra and Borneo, scored direct hits on two enemy transports, one large and one small, both of which were believed sunk. Two enemy barges were destroyed, with no damage to any of the American planes.

The communique said the Japanese had made a second bombing attack on the refugee camp at Cabcaben on the Bataan Peninsula.

The War Department reported yesterday a Japanese bombing attack killed 18 women and five children and wounded 13 women and nine children at the camp. Department officials said there was no report of casualties in the second bombing of the camp.

British Run Big Convoy To Malta With Loss Of Only 2 Merchantmen

LONDON, Feb. 18—(CP). — British planes and warships covering evidently important convoy movements in the Mediterranean have turned into defeat Axis efforts to blast the merchantmen, the Admiralty declared today.

Although it said two British merchantmen were lost, the Admiralty declared all others reached their destination safely in the face of "great efforts to inflict serious losses."

Torpedo hits were scored on three enemy cruisers and a destroyer.

Informed quarters said they believed the convoys were engaged in carrying supplies to Malta.

The Admiralty's announcement did not contradict Prime Minister Churchill's statement Sunday night that "the Mediterranean is closed" on the west, they said.

Two of the cruisers and the destroyer were those reported in the Middle East communique yesterday as having been located and torpedoed by naval aircraft. One was left burning and lagging astern of the enemy squadron.

The other cruiser, an eight-inch gun warship on which two torpedo hits were scored, was intercepted and attacked later by a British submarine, the communique said.

An Admiralty communique said that these operations, which apparently were extensive, took place between Feb. 13 and 16.

It declared that although the "enemy made great efforts to inflict serious loss" and "published the usual greatly-exaggerated claims" the operation was successful.

Secret Session Due 1st Of Week

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King gave formal notice in the votes and proceedings of the Commons to-day that the Commons will sit in secret session and one parliamentary source expressed belief the session would probably be put over early next week, likely starting Monday.

This source said also that indications were the secret session would be "quite a lengthy one" devoted to discussion of defences on the east and west coasts, dispositions of Canadian troops not only at defence posts in the Dominion but also overseas and discussion of the job they are doing.

It was suggested the session might also discuss Canada's war production.

The Prime Minister's resolution in to-day's votes and proceedings reads:

"That on any day set aside for that purpose by the House without notice having been previously given, the sitting of the House shall be a secret session until the House shall then otherwise order, and that all strangers be ordered to withdraw during such secret session; provided, however, that this order shall not affect the privilege enjoyed by members of the Senate of being present at debates in this House."

Tokyo's Raiders Hit Timor In Far-Reaching Blow On Island North Of Darwin

Allied Bombers Sink Enemy Troop Barges, Fighters Down 11 Japanese In Scraps Over Scattered Indies Isles

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 18—(AP).—United States and Netherlands fighter planes and bombers aiding in the all-important battle for the Netherlands East Indies have struck damaging blows at Japanese aircraft and invasion forces in southern Sumatra, the Allied southwest Pacific command announced today.

Indies defence forces also brought down five enemy bombers of a force of 21 planes which attacked the vital United Nations' naval base at Surabaya in two waves this morning. The news agency Aneta reported the raid did little damage to the base and caused only a few casualties. The alarm lasted 95 minutes.

A squadron of U.S. fighters was credited with bringing down four Japanese planes without loss to themselves in an attack on an enemy-held airdrome, presumably in the area around the destroyed oil centre of Palembang which lies 270 miles northwest of the Indies capital of Batavia.

Netherlands bombers, which the American planes apparently were protecting, shot down two more Japanese, the communique said.

In raids on Japanese shipping an American-Netherlands bomber force sank one large transport, scored hits on two others and rained destruction on a fleet of troop-laden barges.

This latter report appeared to amplify yesterday's communique from the Netherlands high command, in which Indies bombers scored one direct hit on a transport and a probable hit and a near-miss on another.

Hitting Near Australia

While a Japanese assault on Java was expected momentarily, an enemy bombing plane struck far to the east in a raid on Koepang, chief city of the Netherlands portion of the Island of Timor.

Timor lies slightly north and west of the important Australian base of Darwin. Three persons were slightly injured in the latest raid, which followed reports yesterday of attacks on shipping in the Timor Sea by a large number of enemy planes.

Today's communique from the Indies high command, issued through the news agency Aneta, announced that defence forces still were offering resistance to the Japanese invaders in unspecified sections of Borneo, but said that on the Minahassa Peninsula in north-east Celebes fighting has almost come to an end."

Official announcement of the Japanese occupation of Macassa, chief port on the southwestern arm of Celebes and 490 miles northeast of Surabaya, came in a special Broadcast communique citing a war correspondent attached to the war department."

His report said the defenders occupied new positions after their withdrawal from Macassar," and then undertook reconnaissance and patrols by which valuable information was obtained." He said the Indies forces ambushed a Japanese detachment yesterday and killed 30 or 40, including the commander and several other officers.

Press Steps Up Pressure For Changes

LONDON, Feb. 18—(CP). — The desirability or inevitability of cabinet changes continued to occupy the London press today, with several papers emphasizing the need of vigorous action to secure the full co-operation of India in the war.

The Daily Telegraph suggested that Prime Minister Churchill's critics were irrational in professing trust in his leadership yet distrust of the way he leads," but conceded that "it may be predicted with the certainty of the law of nature that the government will not long remain without alterations."

The Daily Mail foresaw the possibility of the Japanese conquering India should Burma fall, and added: "Time is passing—soon it may be too late....Mr. Churchill must act at once. His Government must be reconstructed at home to give confidence to the Empire.

"A new Secretary of State for India must be appointed and sent to India with war cabinet status and with full power to take whatever decisions are necessary on the spot. A man must be sent who is young and wise enough to be able to do it without loss of British prestige or Indian pride."

Half Malay RAF Lost First Day

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 18, (AP).—Sir Keith Murdoch, Australian publisher, writing in the Melbourne Herald today, said the first cause of the loss of Malaya was the success of the unsuspected first Japanese stroke against the peninsula, which weakened the air force, already too small, by destroying nearly half the British fighter strength the first day. The second cause, Sir Keith said, was the loss of the navy.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, then in command, had two schemes prepared for the Thailand border. One was to withdraw from Kedah toward Singapore. The other was to remain within strong posts barring the roads.

The first plan was put into effect but before the defenders had gone far the Japanese landed at Singora and also at a southerly point on the eastern coast. The Japs

Jap Threat Seen Loosening Indian Ties

(By DEWITT MACKENZIE.)

The Japanese successes in the Orient and their consequent threat to India have brought that great empire to the verge of momentous developments.

The way the leaves of Fate are falling there is a likelihood—or so it seems to me—that the war will bring India either a far greater degree of independence within the British Commonwealth or slavery under the yoke of Nipponese conquerors.

When I was in India during the First Great War the Japs were boasting openly that one days they would possess this land where princes are so rich they don't know their own wealth. Today, a quarter of a century later ,the Mikado's empire-blazers are claiming that the fall of Singapore finally opens the way to Hindustan.

The Japanese thrust into Burma is reported today to be continuing and undoubtedly they are preparing for a grand offensive against that country. Possession of Burma would be the entering wedge for India.

Successful defence of the vast Indian domains, with their population of some 389,000,000, depends in major degree on the Indians themselves. To be sure, Britain has some white troops there, and a native army of about 1,000,000 has been trained, and part of it is in action overseas.

In any event, defence of India calls for a united effort of the whole people, both the States and Native India which are under the Princes, and British India which comprises the provinces. It is at this point that we encounter a political issue which is causing concern in London.

The demand in British India for absolute Independence — "Puran Swaraj"—hasn't abated with the war. The position at the moment is that the Nationalists have expressed desire to co-operate with the government in defence of the country, but they are unwilling to render full co-opertion short of a pledge of freedom. As a result India approaches the great crisis with a house partly divided against itself.

It remains to be seen whether a life or death emergency will compel either side to give ground in the interest of common defence. Since lack of unity might result in overrunning the whole of Hindustan, one would expect a compromise which would result in giving the Indians a much larger measure of self-government.

The British Government's problem is titanic. Pandit Nehru, Leftist leader of the All-India Congress party, is insisting on full independence as the price of war co-operation. At the same time, Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, has said that his organization won't co-operate unless Britain agrees to divide India into Moslem and Hindu provinces—the age-long religious battle boiling up again.

It's always unsafe to make predictions about a country as inflammable as India, where spots of sedition exist, but there has been no

Tires, Cars For S. America

U.S. Open Reserves On Quota Basis To Neighbors

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Herald Tribune said last night in a dispatch from Washington that large supplies of automobiles, refrigerators, tires and virtually everything else the United States produces are to be made available soon for export to Latin-American countries in accordance with a pledge given at the recent Pan-American conference that the United States should share "equally and proportionately" its stock of goods with sister republics to the south.

As a first step in the closer economic co-operation, the paper said, a large number of automobiles will be exported to South America from the stock of 500,000 cars assembled here since cessation of automobile production in favor of war goods.

Refrigerators, tires, tin for canning purposes, and other commodities will be allocated from existing stocks on the basis of a fixed quota for each South and Central American country, the story said.

JAVA'S ZERO HOUR IS RAPIDLY DRAWING NEAR AS THE JAPS MASS

United Nations' Aces Pound Enemy On Nearby Islands

By DE WITT HANCOCK
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 18 — (AP). — A Japanese assault on this stronghold island of Java was expected momentarily to-day from invasion forces arrayed on three bases at its gates.

Java's 40,000,000 resolute inhabitants were ready to match their exacted a frightful toll of ships and enemy hordes in a last-ditch battle.

Successfully held, Java will mean that Japan's invasion of the East Indies has been a costly failure.

The United Nations already have exocted a frightful toll of ships and men from the enemy in the Indies. The willing sacrifice by the defenders of their wealth of oil and machinery wherever it fell to the invaders' hands has left the Japanese only a scorched earth for their efforts—and the footholds for attempting the final, decisive blow.

So far, although yielding ground to the overwhelming forces of the Japanese in the outer islands of the archipelago, the Indies have waged a successful fight of delay and destruction, depriving the enemy of valuable time and loot.

But if Java is lost to the United Nations it will mean Japan's total conquest of the vast, rich Netherlands archipelago, her complete hegemony of the Asian waters of the Pacific, her reduction of the last great rampart before Australia and her acquisition of another base at the crossroads of Pacific and Indian Oceans.

Tightening the Ring.

The Japanese now stand on the Island of Sumatra, less than 30 miles to the west of Java across the narrow Strait of Sunda, and on the southern shores of the Islands of Borneo and Celebes, to the north across the Java Sea.

Defence forces are fighting fiercely to block a Japanese push from Sumatra, but aerial stabs at the same time in the lesser Sunda Islands area to the east, at the opposite end of long, narow Java, suggest that the moment is approaching for the final test.

Some inhabitants were killed and wounded in the first air assaults on the Sunda Islands which include Bali. Lombok and Sumbawa, but a communique yesterday said material damage was slight.

It has been understood, following Mr. King's announcement last Monday that a secret session would be held, that such session would follow immediately after conclusion of the Throne speech debate.

Indications to-day were that this debate, with votes on the Conservative and Co-operative Commonwealth Federation amendments to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, might not end until late to-morrow.

Friday Not Suitable

On Friday the House normally sits only in the afternoon, so in some quarters this was regarded as not being a good day to start a secret discussion which might continue for some time.

For that reason, it was suggested tht the House, should the Throne Speech debate conclude before Friday, might spend Friday considering the bill to authorize the taking of the plebiscite by which the Government seeks release from its anti-conscription pledges.

The last secret session of the Canadian House of Commons, on April 17, 1918, lasted only an afternoon. It followed by 48 hours the formal notice that it would be held.

Airman Honored For Helping Save Bomber

OTTAWA, Feb. 18—(CP).—Sergeant B. C. Paige of Bridgeport, a Royal Canadian Air Force observer, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal for aid given a Royal Air Force pilot, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced last night.

Paige was observer in an aircraft combing enemy waters for convoys when three ships were sighted sailing through ice floes. The R.A.F. pilot went in at mast-height and scored direct hits with some of the bombs.

The ships opened anti-aircraft fire and the pilot, attempting to avoid the fire, flew so low while banking that the aircraft struck a rock. The starboard engine was disabled, all instruments and the gun turret became unserviceable, and all lights were extinguished.

The pilot regained height but in a heavy snowstorm, became uncertain of his bearings and flew into a searchlight and anti-aircraft zone.

For thirty minutes the aircraft was under intense fire, but eventually the position was identified and with the assistance of Sergeant Paige's navigation the pilot flew across the sea with only one engine functioning.

Reaching Britain, a fuel shortage compelled them to attempt a forced landing, although it was snowing heavily. While Sergeant Paige fired Very signal lights in quick succession in an effort to light a landing place, the pilot landed without further damage to the aircraft or injury to the crew.

The citation reports the R.A.F. officer was "greatly assisted by the coolness and efficiency of Sergeant Paige."

Sergeant Paige was born in Toronto, but his father lives at Bridgeport, Ont.

House Getting Peeved

Commenting on Mr. Churchill's statement in the House yesterday, the News Chronicle said "M.P.'s are faced with a sense of growing frustration at their apparent inability to impress upon the prime minister that though he personally has their wholehearted support some of his ministers should be replaced without delay."

The Daily Herald urged reconsideration of his refusal to turn over his duties as minister of defence to some one else. "Many things have gone steadily wrong with the conduct of the war because the prime minister, absorbed in his tasks as minister of defence, has been too busy to put them right," the Herald declared.

The Times took issue gently with Mr. Churchill over the attitude of the House, saying it is "neither captious nor embittered."

"It is a large body of patriotic and entirely friendly opinion," the Times said, and it is now urging him to seek relief by delegating some of his duties to others.

The Times also said that Mr. Churchill's comparison between Brest and some German harbor as "lurking places" for Nazi warships was "not quite to the points."

"What is troubling the public mind is the contrast between a German harbor and the bottom of the Channel," it added.

Reports reaching the London press from the Netherlands Indies quoted refugees from Singapore as declaring British leadership there was far from forceful and that something was lacking to crystallize and co-ordinate the spirit of the island's defenders.

These reports said a similar lack of drive characterized the upper ranks of the civilian administration. Ineffectual civilian rule, these reports claimed, was the principal cause of labor difficulties which made it necessary for soldiers needed on the firing line to spend time unloading ships in Singapore Harbor.

The situation was so bad, they said, that early in the war only about 800 of 12,000 Asiatics employed at the naval base were reporting for duty.

All accounts of the Singapore defeat ended on the same note—unless more aircraft are made available in the Pacific so that the United Nations can gain superiority in the air it will be difficult to hold the Japanese at sea and on the ground.

The Parliamentary Labor Party met to-day to discuss the general political situation but arrived at no decisions. tI will meet again tomorrow.

Hepburn Denies Walking Out Of Sirois Parley

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Premier Hepburn, rising before the orders of the day in the Ontario Legislature yesterday, said it was incumbent upon him to correct what he described as erroneous reports which had been pubished in the press of Ontario..

He referred to a report in the Ottawa Journal that the Ontario delegation "walked out" of the Dominion-Provincial conference on the Sirois report at Ottawa Jan. 14-15, 1941, and denied he and his colleagues had "walked out." Mr. Hepburn quoted from remarks of Prime Minister King to support his statement.

An item was broadcast over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation on his trip to New York last Sept. 23 in which he was quoted as saying he would speak there on "Canada's war effort and America's lack of preparedness," Mr. Hepburn said. This was wrong, Mr. Hepburn said, and when he checked the C.B.C. he said he had learned the report was obtained from a reliable news service which proved to be the "Toronto Red Star, which I consider to be the most unreliable" of news sources.

He referred also to a report in the Toronto Star (quoting Navy Minister Angus Macdonald as saying, in a campaign speech in the Welland by-election recently, that remarks by Premier Hepburn, Conservative Leader Arthur Meighen and Lt.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, were being quoted by enemy propagandists.

This was libellous, Mr. Hepburn said, and Mr. MacDonald had denied saying it and the Toronto Star published a retraction but this does not "excuse its publication nor detract from the libel action that may follow."

He referred also to a report in many newspapers about his remarks concerning the United States navy over which, he said, he had received 1,000 letters of protest. Mr. Hepburn said he never at any time made any offensive remarks about the United States navy.

Regarding criticism in the House of Commons at Ottawa yesterday concerning remarks attributed to him that 45,000 men had been discharged from the Canadian army, mostly because of colds and tuberculosis, Mr. Hepburn declared what he actually said was that in the early days of the war many soldiers had contracted colds and tuberculosis through lack of proper clothing.

The Ontario Government, he said, had offered to give free hospital treatment to soldiers from Ontario who contracted tuberculosis or mental illness within 90 days of their enlistment.

Many young men, he said, are coming back from overseas as tubercular cases and as mental patients and "the Dominion Government refuses to consider them for pensions."

Mr. Hepburn said he did not blame Defence Minister Ralston, Navy Minister MacDonald or Air Minister Power for their criticism of him but he did blame Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

"He (Mr. King) is not the kind to shoot you verbally but he would buy a gun, hand it to the other fellow and tell him to shoot you."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 18 — (CP). — Trade on Winnipeg Grain Exchange got off to a slow start today with only limited transactions of local and routine character. There was minor mill demand for wheat, but no large volume of business was confirmed to this source. Winnipeg wheat was ⅛ higher with May at 80¼ and July at 81⅜ cents a bushel. Chicago futures were reported ¼ higher.

Only minor trade marked business in oats and barley in the coarse grain pit. Fair crusher support in flax sent May, July and October futures in this commodity to ceiling levels of 1.64. Rye was inactive.

MP's Ask Wider Use Of Act

(By FRANK FLAHERTY.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.—(CP).—More extensive use of the powers contained in the National Resources Mobilization Act to bring about more effective utilization of available manpower was urged in the House of Commons last night by two members—Gilbert Weir (Lib. MacDonald) and E. H. Corman (Lib. Wentworth.)

Both expressed concern over the farm labor problem.

Mr. Corman said the age groups liable to be called for military training should extend up to 35 years, compared with the present top limit, men who were under 25 in July, 1940. He said some men in less important occupations up to 36 years of age should be called before farmers' sons were interfered with.

Mr. Weir also suggested wider age groups could be called and that the powers in the Act could be applied in other directions.

"If necessary," he said, "we could call up men and train them for four or six months, giving them thorough training and then, perhaps, letting them return to civilian life. This could be done again and again, making certain that we have a large number of men in this country thoroughly trained at least for home defence."

For Conscription

Mr. Corman declared himself in favor of conscription for overseas service, and served notice he would advocate that measure if the Government, through the proposed manpower plebiscite, obtains release from its earlier anti-conscription pledges. The plebiscite was necessary, he said, as conscription had to be obtained with the "will of the people" and not be "instituted by a small group of Fascist-minded" persons.

No immediate necessity for conscription for overseas service was

Drive On Gliders

London, Feb. 18 (CP)

INCREASED pressure is being applied everywhere to the German army to get ready for a planned spring offensive, the ministry of economic warfare said today, but the strongest efforts are being bent toward the manufacture of troop-transporting gliders.

In some quarters this information caused renewed predictions of a spring attempt to invade Britain.

The ministry said its information indicated there had been a sharp rise in German morale since the first of the year.

Bomb Damage To U.S. Warship

A damage control party aboard a U.S. warship works to extinguish a fire started when a Japanese bomb fell on deck at LOWER RIGHT, during raid on Gilbert and Marshall Islands. The raid sent a total of 16 Japanese ships to the bottom. Included in the toll was an aircraft carrier and a cruiser.

Polish Units 50 Mi. Off Home Border

Gain Headway Fast British Equipped, With Russian Planes

MOSCOW, Feb. 18 (AP)—Fighting on the Russian front was summed up by the Soviet information bureau today with a declaration that "our troops carried out offensive battles against the enemy, are continuing to advance and have occupied several populated points."

(A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Herald said that six Polish divisions fighting in a Soviet army corps now are only 50 miles from the frontier of Poland on a drive "with gathering momentum" into White Russia.

(The Poles are said to be equipped with British-made rifles, tanks and trucks for land operations and Russian planes for air support.)

Minor successes on the three main sections of the front—the Leningrad region, the central zone west of Moscow, and the Southwest—were announced in the information bureau's mid-day communique.

In the Leningrad region, it said, guerilla detachments killed 20 German officers and 151 men in a night raid on the garrison of an unidentified "populated place."

On the central front the Germans were dislodged from a village identified only as "N" while in the southwest the Red Army killed 300 Germans in repulsing a counter attack.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, February 19

A lively and progressive day with the sudden development of surprising or unforeseen angles, is read from the very predominant astral figures. While there may be a certain security in property or other organized interests, yet this unusual situation may give concern and calls for much restraint, deliberation and acumen in order to maintain the ground gained. Irascibility, erratic or intense words and deeds might prove disastrous. However the accent on the day's lively doings may be social, domestic or affectional, with keen enjoyment.

Those whose birthday it is are promised a lively and enterprising year with all manners of affairs stepped up to high and perhaps thrilling tempo. In business the progressive and new plans and ideas call for some safeguarding as sudden and surprising situations may arise to challenge good judgment and sagacious action. Elders as well as strangers seem to figure in the perplexing circumstances in which irritability, rashness or excitable decisions might be fatal to promising conditions. However the major interest, if centred on domestic, social or affectional associations, may bring felicity.

A child born on this day should have much inventive ability and ingenuity for creating novelties in things as well as ideas. It will be fond of adventure and change; at the same time it will be gentle, loving and gracious.

Special Course Planned For All Farmers

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS)—Arrangements for a two day course in Farm Management, to be held here on February 27 and 28, have just been completed, according to District Agriculture Representative Ian MacLeod of Brighton. Sponsored by the Northumberland County Branch of the Department of Agriculture, it is the first of its type to be held in this county, although similar courses have been held in various parts of the Province in the past two years. In the first six courses held in fourteen Ontario counties this year, attendance ranged from 50 to 70, and Mr. MacLeod expressed the hope that farmers of this district would respond equally well.

Topics of timely interest as well as those of general interest to the farmer will be discussed and among those on the agenda are, The Farm Business in War Time; A Review of Successful Farm Business; The Basic Factors of Farming Success; Costs, Prices and Farm Practice; The Farm Business Turnover; Recording the Farm Business; A Plan for Next Year's Farm Business. These will be discussed by the two special speakers, Mr. H. R. Hare of the Economics Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and Mr. R. M. Miller of Markham, Ont. Lecture hours will be from 10.00 a.m. to 3.00 p.m., both days and the importance of being on hand for both sessions on the two days is stressed by Mr. MacLeod. The course is being held in the Parish Hall on Rear street.

War Chest Benefits

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS)—The Trent Valley Chapter I.O.D.E. added upwards of thirty dollars to their war chest as the result of a skating party sponsored in the local arena on Monday evening according to a report made by the treasurer, Miss Betty Adamson. Each of the 24 members assisted with the ticket selling campaign and the proceeds will be used to buy a new supply of wool, flannelette and other items which the girls will turn into much needed war time articles. The Regent, Miss Clara Lucy, voiced the appreciation of the Chapter for the generous support the event was given.

Plan Bingo Party

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS) Meeting at the home of Mrs. William Burgiss on Monday evening members of the Victory Club made arrangements to hold a bingo party which will be the latest of the series of undertakings sponsored by this busy group. The appointing of a convener (Mrs. D. J. McArthur) and other details of the affair formed the principal business item discussed at the meeting. The affair will be held February 28. It was revealed that steady progress is being made on the quota of helmets and scarves being made by the group, and it is expected a quilt will be completed for the next meeting.

Loan Canvassers Report Great Response

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS)—Local Victory Loan headquarters down in Arthur Armour's office has been the scene of great activity since the opening of the second campaign on Monday and evidence of the enthusiam not only of the salesmen but of people in this vicinity as well is shown by the first day's score. Twelve per cent of the $197,000.00 quota given to Campbellford and Seymour had already been subscribed at the end of the first day and although the opening of the drive was accompanied by no fanfare Chairman Armour expressed the opinion that people here are well aware of the seriousness of the situation and are determined to make their dollars go all out for victory. He contended the outlook for oversubscribing the loan again was very favorable. The first war loan for this dictrict was over-subscribed by approximately $15,000.00 and as if to inspire an even greater effort this time the county committee raised the quota from $185,000. Canvassing in additoin to Mr. Armour are Messrs. F. C. Bonnycastle, J. P. Archer and R. N. Morrison.

Radium Worth $25,000 For Each Gram

PORT HOPE, Feb. 18—(ENS). — At the meeting on Monday night of the Canadian Club, in the Library Hall, it was the privilege of members and friends to hear an interesting address by Marcel L. Pochon of the Radium Refinery, one of the most important industries in Port Hope.

Mr. Pochon gave the early discovery of radium and told how in 1922 there was only one-half pound of radium in the world compared with two pounds at the present time. Up till 1930 the only pitchblende available was in the Belgian Congo.

The pitchblende was discovered in Northern Canada at Great Bear Lake by the La Bine brothers in 1930 after prospecting, exploring, and discouragement. Much of the credit goes to Gilbert La Bine for his perseverance as an explorer and to his brother Charles who looked after the financing of the exploit. At first there was great difficulty in getting the pitchblende out of this sub-Arctic wilderness. Mr. Pochon showed interesting slides of this country and the mine and the preparation of the ore for shipping.

Why Site Chosen.

Many persons have wondered why Port Hope was chosen as the refining plant for radium, and Mr. Pochon explained how it takes five tons of chemicals to refine one ton of pitchblende, and as many of these chemicals are obtained from a Tweed firm, this with water facilities in Port Hope seemed an ideal situation, so in 1932 the first radium was refined in Port Hope.

Samples of how radium is packed for shipping were then displayed. How it is extracted through different chemical processes, through dozens of huge vats, till it reaches the last room in basins or jugs, and as a final stage is packed in very minute platinum needles. It takes 33 chemicals to extract radium from pitchblende.

Before Mr. Pochon, owner of a radium refinery in France liquidated his factory and brought his entire equipment with him, joined the Port Hope Refinery, 45 chemicals were needed for this process. The platinum needle is then packed in a very heavy glass and then in a casing of heavy 2-inch lead and even through this heavy packing many instruments are susceptible to its great power.

The present supply of radium is practically all shipped to Britain to be used for war purposes. The standard price of radium is $25,000 a gram.

Mr. Pochon also showed what is known as a radium hound or detector, which is used to locate lost radium. As radium is mostly used for the treatment of cancer and skin disease, and in such small quantities, it is sometimes lost, but can always be found with one of these devices, of which there are several different kinds.

At the close of the most instructive address, Mrs. J. A. V. Fraser, president of the club, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Pochon.

Huge Bonfire Set On Friday

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS) In compliance with the request made by the publicity chairman of the National War Finance Committee, Mayor F. F. Long on Tuesday called a meeting of the local Ceremonials committee to arrange details of publicity to be carried out in connection with the Victory Loan campaign here. Though original plans called for a bonfire atop one of the hills surrounding the town, this idea was abandoned when the committee comprising Reeve Charles Calver, Councillors Fowlds and Mason went into the matter. It has now been decided to build a large bonfire near the Cenotaph on the river bank Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Here Mayor Long will act as chairman and Town Solicitor N. Alex McColl will take the oath to the gathering. If the weather is favorable it is planned to have school children take part in the ceremony to assist with the singing.

DISCLOSES HOW CANADIAN WOMEN SAVE SUGAR

Get KOTEX Pkg. 12 Napkins 25c 30's 59c — 48's 85c

The Sugar Board asked Mrs. Aitken to suggest ten ways to save sugar. Last Friday morning on the Tamblyn Drug Store broadcast, Mrs. Aitken asked you, the women of this country, how you keep within your government ration. Seven hundred and ninety-seven suggestions were received, which shows how truly interested you are. These suggestions have been summarized and are listed below. Since so many of you sent similar suggestions, we have given credit to those whose letters were first received. However, all your letters have been forwarded to the Dominion Government for use in preparing sugar-saving advertisements, and we are sure they will be appreciated. Sugar is of much greater value when used for cooking purposes than when used as a sweetening for beverages. Therefore, one-half your sugar ration, at least, should be saved for cooking. SUGAR SUBSTITUTES ARE—Corn Syrup, Honey, Molasses, Maple Syrup and Maple Sugar.

BAKING

Reduce sugar in all recipes from 1 cup to ⅔ cup. Instead of icing cakes, sprinkle batter before cooking with chopped nuts, cocoanut, chopped raisins. Bake crumb cakes and gingerbread (no icing necessary).
Bake rolls, yeast breads, biscuits, instead of cakes (only 15% as much sugar is required). For custards, puddings, muffins and fruit loaves, use sugar substitutes.

FRUIT

Soak prunes, figs and apricots overnight; cook slowly (no sugar required).
For grapefruit, use salt (grand flavor) or sugar substitute.
Add a pinch of salt to all fruits when cooking; requires less sugar.
For apple sauce, cook apples unpared, sieve, add half the quantity of sugar.
Cook all fruits till tender; add sugar (especially good for canning.)
Use left-over syrup from pickles for salad dressing; left-over syrup from fruit for puddings, sauces, desserts.

ON TABLE

Use glass sugar bowl (you can see the sugar go down).
Use saccharin for tea and coffee. Use small sugar spoon.
Measure sugar into cup before pouring tea or coffee. It dissolves immediately. Toronto alone wastes 500 lbs. sugar weekly with unstirred tea and coffee.
Use condensed milk for tea and coffee.
Use corn syrup or honey on cereals.

Canada's Economic Rise

A survey of business conditions in Canada makes clear that a great expansion has taken place in our economic activity. Exports have already nearly doubled since 1938, the last full year of peace. Then again, imports have more than doubled even though regulations were passed by the Government to conserve foreign exchange.

It would be expected, of course, that increased volumes of trade and commerce would flow both ways because of the big jump in war time production and also on account of the need of foreign markets for the materials and manufactured goods which the Dominion can supply. The gain in exports from 1939 to 1940 was about $250,000,000, but the rise was up to roughly $440,000,000 for 1941 over 1940. That is a remarkable climb on the business ladder.

Of particular significance, in some respects, is the striking advance made by agriculture in exports, the gain for 1941 being in the neighborhood of $100,000,000 over the previous year. Bacon, wheat and flour have been the principal factors in this increase, but there has been a gain also in exported eggs, fish, cattle, wood products and paper. A considerable part of this volume has gone toward helping to keep the tables of Great Britain supplied.

Prime Minister Churchill in his address to the world on Sunday discussed the serious problem the Old Land has of keeping the sea lanes open for all kinds of supplies from outside countries. This trans-ocean shipping has been carried on successfully despite the marauding U-boats and the war vessels of the Axis powers. Without the tremendous volumes that must regularly reach the millions of free Europe, the plight of the people there would be desperate.

Canadians may well appreciate what it means to their own trade, industry and finance to have British sea power keep the Atlantic and other life lines intact.

Time—Here And There

It is a singular coincidence that at a time when practically all North America has figuratively picked up all the clocks and watches on this Continent and shoved their hour hand ahead sixty minutes—just like that!—when this has been going on the very future of Greenwich, from which we derive our time and have derived it for some generations, is up for debate.

Of course the "daylight saving" or "war time" move in Canada and the United States doesn't alter the Mean Time of the Greenwich meridian, but what is happening does show that life is constantly subject to change. Even the Greenwich Observatory, an age-old fixture, may have to pick itself up and move to another site than that where it has been for long years. It is a startling proposal but there are innumerable things of a startling character brought about every now and then by the trends of civilization.

As far back as 1880 Greenwich Time was given legal status by a Bill passed in the English Parliament. Then in 1884 at an international conference, called in Washington by the State Department of the United States, it was agreed that the Greenwich meridian should be universally adopted as the prime or zone meridian from which all longitudes should be measured. It was also decided at that time to institute a system of standard or zone times by which the time used in any country should differ by an exact number of hours from Greenwich Mean Time. With few exceptions this has been adopted by countries in different parts of the world.

Even more important than this, perhaps, has been the way in which the Greenwich Observatory helps navigation. In fact this astronomical station was originally founded to make possible reliable lunar tables for shipping, so that longitude could be accurately determined by those out at sea.

The reason for the present consideration which is being given to the removal of the Greenwich plant, is due to smoke troubles. The celebrated Observatory erected back in the reign of Charles II., stands in a park along the Thames River and only about five miles southeast from London Bridge. With the extension of the great Metropolis and its increasing smoke volume the "light" hours have decreased noticeably and consequently there is a possibility that the buildings may be moved out to a more favorable rural site. The whole matter is still being pondered, though, and moves of this kind are not made in a hurry. So it may be sometime yet before the new site is decided upon. Meanwhile Greenwich goes on dictating the Standard Time, even though governments on this side of the water jump all timepieces forward an hour.

This Is Surprising

The statement made by Premier Hepburn that Dr. Allan Dafoe, of Callendar, famous for his skill in saving the lives of the Dionne quintuplets, has resigned from acting as their physician owing to discord, has caused a feeling of deep regret, to put it mildly. Particularly is this the case when it is officially stated that there has been an unpleasant condition of affairs for some time in which the desire of the Doctor to have the Quints learn English has been thwarted.

The facts when they all come out will cause the general public to ask why such strenuous objection should be raised by the father, as alleged, to having the girls speak the English tongue as well as French when the Province of Ontario as a whole has been like a fairy god-father to the little girls and when Dr. Dafoe has devoted several years now to their physical and moral welfare.

According to information given out by the Premier, an estate running to no less than $1,180,000 in bonds and gilt-edge securities has been created for the Quints from nothing at the time of their birth. To whom should go the credit for that favored financial position? citizens everywhere are asking. What would have happened to them had not Dr. Dafoe watched over them, directed everything about their diet and nursing care and generally been as attached to them as a father could be? He would not agree for instance to their being taken to the Chicago Fair sideshow and he served for sometime, indeed, until friction arose, on the board of guardians set up by the Ontario Government to administer their estate and protect the five girls in every way.

The Premier adds that he has written Mr. Dionne asking for an explanation as to his attitude of the matters that have come to a climax. Until that is received and presented to the Legislature, the public is somewhat in the dark except for what has been disclosed in newspaper reports. Nevertheless, what has thus far happened will be feelingly deplored not only because of the widespread esteem which has been earned by Dr. Dafoe but because of the remarkable revelation that these five lovely girls are to be made the subjects of bitterness and controversy because the English language in an English-speaking country is something they are forbidden to learn.

The Biggest Thriller Yet

New York in all peace time activities has an imagination of its own. Not infrequently quite original, if not fantastic, stories come from its mental harvest fields. But so far as we know they have all been harmless and quite entertaining. Now, though, reporters, news photographers, radio stars and fiction writers can sit back and be amused at a Nazi propaganda spreader. He has surpassed them all but he uses the grim background of war to build up his "thriller."

Hans Kreis says—and that name seems to sound something like German! —he was privileged to ride right into New York harbor in a Hun U-boat, get out with comrades and take a look at the turmoil of traffic and then see a 10,000-ton tanker set afire by torpedoes so that the whole cargo went up in flames and smoke. "'Twas a fantastic sight for us," according to the "whopper" that Berlin broadcasted about this spectacular adventure," and without doubt a terrifying sight for the Yankees."

There are quite a few people down in Gotham and vicinity—some six or seven millions of them—but on this particular occasion they all must have been sound asleep for not one of them, it is announced, saw any of the flames or heard any of the excitement. New Yorkers were never known to all be asleep at any one time. In fact thousands of them seem to think that Broadway and near-by streets just don't know what darkness and slumber mean. So how all the ace newspapermen there and an army of other news sleuths could miss a story of that magnitude is beyond the brain powers of several hundred million other people who live in more sparsely inhabitated regions of the world.

Come to think of it, though, Goebbels has probably held out an Iron Cross as a prize for the person who could develop a new and startling story to broadcast from the Berlin propaganda factory. Hans Kries, or whatever his real name may be, has apparently been tempted by the offer and has exceeded even first class American novelists with his invention. Anyway, New Yorkers will have a new joke to laugh at for a long time, and they will certainly enjoy it.

What Are We Doing?

Though facts and figures are given out through different media from time to time as to what Canada has done and is doing in war effort, people are still heard to say: "Why doesn't the Government get busy? We're not doing anything at all in this country." The truth is that a more foolish remark could scarcely be made.

According to information given to the House of Commons at Ottawa by Hon. J. L. Ralston, the strength of the Canadian army, navy and air force is now approximately 422,000. He is proposing to carry out a program which will increase this number to approximately 605,000. This year's addition, he states, will provide the maximum number of men who can be trained within the period of 1942 and in 1943 more will be trained.

When it is considered that there are roughly only eleven and a half million people in Canada this is a remarkable showing. It is a very high percentage indeed, and compares favorably with any country which is fighting the Axis powers. The figures as presented by the Minister of Defence may well be kept in mind. Canada is doing something much more than the prejudiced and uninformed realize.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Headline says: U.S. Applies Rubber Curb. What, we ask, has happened to the cement curbs. Why not apply them?

There is one thing about posterity. It often says much more good about a man after he is dead than his critics could find to say that was bad while he lived.

When some sleepy-eyed youngsters in the country have to get up these winter mornings and away to high and vocational schools, they must think there is a blackout every day.

Libyan Front Quiet, But British Dig In, says newspaper heading. What a change for the ear drums out there. They must be badly in need of specialist care by this time.

"It Can't Happen Here" has been a popular slogan. Meanwhile the U-boats of the Axis powers have sunk fifteen or more vessels off the Atlantic coast that belonged to the Allied nations or those countries friendly to them.

These sports writers have a "language" of their own which is very expressive even if not super-elegant. For instance: Leafs Almost Blow Duke to Rampageous Canucks or Bisons on Scoring Spree. Right off the griddle, too "them" punches!

The big automobile plants of the United States are said by a newspaper heading writer to be "turning their coats" since they are going into war production instead of manufacturing passenger cars. Well, they have the kind of coats you don't have to get dry cleaned, anyway.

AN ALLEGORY

The inhabitants of a greenwood fair
Saw, in mighty conflict, a Beast, a Bear;
A Lion, Eagle and Kangaroo
All mixed up in the melee, too.

An owl flew high, where he could see
The highest branch of the old oak tree
Where, in nests secure, for many a year
All the feathered folk had gathered here.
Then he flew about, calling all his kin, and shouted: "This fight is ours; get in
And destroy this Beast, for I plainly see
That he soon will spoil our beloved tree,
Already he's battered its oaken face
And left his mark on its mighty base."
But some jackdaws clamored: "Wait and see—
Why worry about the rest of the tree?
If he comes too close to our highest limb
We very soon will fly at him.
We will fight for the branch whereon
we dwell,
But the rest of the tree can go to Hell!"
The owl disapproved of their blasphemy,
And utter lack of unity,
For the jackdaws could think of not a thing
But which had the blackest, smoothest wing,
Or which would sit in the shadiest spot,
And all that silly kind of rot.

Ambition, politics, creed and race,
We all agree have their proper place.
Nobody knows how this tale will end—
It's up to you, and to me, my friend,
Whether the Beast will reach the tree
Is all a question of Unity.

First Reporter Ever Assigned To Royal Navy

By Walter E. Schneider, in Editor and Publisher (New York).

LARRY ALLEN, the Associated Press war correspondent who broke British Admiralty tradition and became the first reporter regularly assigned to the Mediterranean Fleet, will be ready to go back to Alexandria in a month for more perilous assignments like the Galatea sinking—as soon as he learns to swim.

Down at Miami, "where the water is warm," Allen will spend most of his home furlough taking swimming lessons. When the Galatea went down December 16 Allen couldn't swim a stroke. But for an inflated life suit which kept him afloat 45 minutes, the Galatea disaster would have been the end of Larry Allen. And so, prepared for any eventuality, he's going back to see the war through with the Mediterranean Fleet, with which he travelled 100,000 miles in 18 months.

On orders of Kent Cooper, AP general manager, Allen went from Rome to Alexandria in May, 1940, when it became apparent that the first aggressive steps were to be taken in that sector by the British Navy.

At first Allen covered all three British services—Army, Navy, and the Royal Air Force—but immediately he began a campaign of pleading and begging with high ranking Mediterranean Fleet officers and the Admiralty for permission to go to sea on a warship. It hadn't been done before in this war or the last one, but after nine weeks of daily persistence by Allen he convinced the officers it would be to the British advantage to let the American people know what their Navy was doing.

THE 33-year-old correspondent subsequently travelled on every type of combat unit in the fleet except a submarine. He made the first trip on a destroyer and afterwards saw virtually every engagement with the enemy in the Mediterranean, up to the sinking of the Galatea which nearly cost his life.

He was aboard the aircraft carrier Illustrious, which was bombed by 50 Nazi planes in January, 1941.

"I had seen so many killed and the Illustrious was listing heavily, like a wounded tiger," Allen recalled. "Big bombs were dropping like hailstone, the Nazi dive-bombers were droning like a chorus of madmen and every gun on the Illustrious was firing everything it had at them.

"After four hours of this I said my prayers. I didn't think I had a chance in the world of getting out of it alive. In those four hours the Illustrious suffered seven direct hits from 1,250-pound bombs. She was afire. I wondered how she kept afloat, and why the magazines didn't explode and blow us all to bits I never will know."

But despite her wounds, the Illustrious limped into port.

Allen did a lot more praying during the 45 minutes before he was picked up half-dead with other survivors of the Galatea.

"When I went down off the side and came up for the first time I thanked God for the little bit of air I had put into the life belt," Allen said. "Later, when my head was being banged between a life raft and the side of a rescue destroyer I thought I was a goner."

On the way back to Alexandria Allen was unconscious for 10 hours. Later, ill with pneumonia in a hospital, he borrowed a typewriter and wrote his story. He was beset by fears that he couldn't get the story out and that American editors would say "it was a good story three weeks ago."

Despite a fever of 103, the story counted most with Allen, not his health. Day and night from December 16 to January 9, he kept a fretful vigil at his bedside radio, fearing he would miss an Admiralty announcement of the Galatea's loss that was to release his copy immediately.

After more than three virtually sleepless weeks of listening to every news broadcast, the announcement came on January 9. Allen wondered whether his 2,000-word story had made the inside pages of the papers back home.

On January 10 Allen got the first inkling of how that epic personal narrative was played. Kent Cooper cabled him: "Heartiest congratulations on your thrilling story. Best yet. Smashing front pages. Entire staff proud. Affectionately, Kenper."

That cable broke the tension. "It was a hellish thing," Allen recalled, "to think that after going through such an experience the copy might not be used because it was too old. It made me feel good that American editors well realized that we boys who go over there are willing to break our necks to get out the news while it's still news. And I hope they understand that if we can't send a story out when it happens, no one feels sadder than the correspondent himself. I thought I would go mad waiting for Admiralty release of the Galatea story."

Another cable from his chief did much to cheer Allen during those fevered hours on an Alexandria hospital bed. Allen had lost his typewriter, clothing and money in the disaster and requested replacements. Mr. Cooper cabled back: "Everything okay so long as we didn't lose you."

ALLEN made some 70 trips with fleet units. In battles he covered the action from the open bridge "There is no safe place on a warship when it is attacked," he explained "You hardly know where to go, but the bridge is the highest point. Barring a direct hit, if you flop flat on your tummy you will probably escape most of the bomb or shell splinters. And if your ship is hit by a torpedo, on the bridge you will probably be only severely shaken, except in a hit on the magazine. If you are below decks the chances are you will be killed."

No story is ever sent from the fleet. To break wireless silence would expose its position to the enemy, so all stories are filed upon arrival in Alexandria if the news involved is released by the Admiralty. Otherwise there is nothing to do but wait.

The uncertainty of the Admiralty's release is best illustrated by the "Barnham" story. Allen wrote in Alexandria November 25 his eye-witness account of how the battleship went down in five minutes. It was finally released January 29 in Alexandria and arrived by cable in the U.S only a few hours before he did.

Most of Allen's trips on men-o'-war lasted several days, but he went on some that kept him at sea for 10 days. On the average swing around the Mediterranean looking for enemy craft the fleet travelled 3,000 to 4,000 miles. Among the major engagements he covered, besides the Galatea, Illustrious and Barham stories, were the Battle of Crete, the bombardment of Tripoli, and the Battle of Cape Matapan. The trips are arranged by the fleet press officer in Alexandria sometimes on an hour's notice.

Allen created his own uniform for the fleet assignment. He wore one stripe until the Admiral, Sir A. B. Cunningham, laughingly explained that was for a sub-lieutenant. Straightaway the ship's officers dubbed Allen "Subby." Later Allen changed the insignia to three stripes, upon which Admiral Cunningham smilingly commented: "You earned them on the Illustrious." One officer asked Allen what the gold star he wore meant. "That," said Allen, "stands for U.S. line service. I'm shooting a line for Britain—a news line."

Usually Allen slept in the captain's or commander's cabin, for they were constantly on duty after leaving port. He dined with them, too, and several times was the Admiral's dinner guest on the flagship. He also ate frequently with the Rear Admiral.

• Churchill Floors Critics

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill's dismissal of the Dover Strait episode as an "annoyance" which had compensating values for Britain clearly indicates his own conviction that neither that fiasco nor the fall of Singapore has seriously shaken his war leadership.

He conceded nothing to his Parliamentary or press critics except the formal inquiry into air force-Admiralty liaison failures which may have permitted escape of a trio of heavy Nazi warcraft, damaged but unsunk.

It was a characteristically bold Churchill approach to his home front problems. There is no more astute and experienced reader of the British mind. His move outflanked his critics. It also tended strongly to reassure all Britain's war associates that there is to be no break in the continuity of British leadership.

HUNT BATTLESHIPS ANEW

Even as he spoke Royal Air Force bombers were hunting anew in German harbors for the ships that escaped them in the strait. The Prime Minister found some additional satisfaction in the fact that bombs which miss them now will fall on German, not French heads. He was satisfied from his own inquiry that all three vessels were further damaged in their daring race and will not soon be fit for action.

The test of the Churchill theory that removal of those important Nazi naval units from Brest to Heligoland has eased rather than increased British peril in the Atlantic depends on why Hitler ordered the dash. If Mr. Churchill is right, it was because Hitler had no hope of ever using them effectively from Brest under a continual deluge of British bombs.

Four thousand tons of bombs were rained on them at Brest in ten months. Although their escape shows that high-altitude bombing against small targets is inefficient, the law of averages makes certain that some of those bombs fell true. German repair crews had to do their work over and over again.

STRAIN REMOVED

Hence Mr. Churchill argues that the Germans decided to take the ships out of Brest, thus sacrificing the strategic advantages of an operating base on the flank of British convoys in the Atlantic.

The presence of the ships at Brest had taxed British air and sea power to guard against attacks on those convoys. That strain has been removed by the Nazi flight and the Admiralty now can make somewhat better disposition of their naval forces in the Atlantic, as Mr. Churchill drew the picture for Parliament.

Nevertheless, the dash from Brest synchronized too closely with the dawning spring campaign season in all Europe and the Near and Middle East to escape the conclusion that it plays some part in Hitler's major strategy. Just what part it is to be neither London nor Washington can yet know. Mr. Churchill banked heavily, however, on his assurances to Parliament that before the considerable Nazi naval strength now massed in German harbors can be brought into action, new British and American construction will be available to deal with it.

DE VALERA AND CASEMENT

THE controversy involving Eire is not over fortified naval bases but over air bases De Valera might turn over to England and the United States, Grattan O'Leary, Ottawa newspaperman, held in recalling highlights of a trip to England and Eire. From conversations with the Irish leader, the speaker divulged, he had learned that De Valera had pleaded with England and the United States for arms to protect Eire against the German air raids which would follow permission to use the Irish bases. "Sir John Dill, chief of the British general staff, agreed with De Valera, but both England and the United States were fearful, at the time, that any armament they could provide would fall into the hands of the I.R.A.," Mr. O'Leary declared.

At that time, he added, Eire had neither anti-aircraft guns nor mechanized equipment only four obsolete planes, and 50,000 soldiers equipped with obsolete guns. Presently, however, a commission of 15 English and 15 Irish officers are preparing the way for providing Eire with war materials. "From his conversation with me, I became fully convinced that De Valera is not pro-German and, certainly, not anti-British," Mr. O'Leary stressed amid loud applause. "Realising the question of national unity in Canada and the similar problem which existed until recently in the United States, we should be slow in criticizing the conduct of Eire and of De Valera.—Montreal Gazette.

Girls' Garden Brigade To Be Formed

MILLBROOK, Feb. 18—(ENS).—The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of the president, Mrs. E. C. Richards, on Saturday.

Included in the correspondence were letters of thanks from local boys overseas for W.I. Christmas boxes, those heard from being Harry and Bruce Freelove, William Kerr, B. L. Richards, and Gordon Challice. A letter relative to forming a "Girls' Garden Brigade," to help raise the food needed for Britain, and for home consumption, in the war years, was received from E. A. Summers, agricultural representative for Durham, the ages being 12 to 26, with judging of garden plots at the end of the summer and simple cash prizes. The Institute was asked to interest girls in this important project, names to be in by February 21; seeds will be sold to members at 75 cents a package, and hannd-cultivated and horse-cultivated plots may both be chosen.

There was another letter on this subject from Mary A. Clarke, provincial secretary, and application cards for girls who may be interested. The secretary of the Red Cross branch at Millbrook, Miss B. M. Turner, wrote to thank the Institute for its latest donation of $20, "which will be used to purchase material, which, in turn, when made up into garments has a value of $60." This was the second $20 donation of the branch, and Mrs Hilton reported $1.76 in the Red Cross fund, to which would be added the collection taken on Saturday.

A letter from Mrs. M. Duke, telling in detail for subscriptions from all branches to the W. I. Central Fund for war purposes, was also read, the total amount received to date being $7,961.29; Millbrook, in common with a number of other smaller institutes, sent a donation fo $5. Owing to illness in the home the treasurer, Mrs. Melville Ball, was not present, but a report from the last dance sponsored by the Institute on February 5, showed total receipts of $33.25; this will not cover expenses, and it was decided to approach the municipal council with a view to having a lower rate for the Town Hall, since the object was to raise money for war work.

Mrs. Richards read an editorial from a recent issue of The Peterborough Examiner: "Home Makers, Nation Builders," in which the Women's Institutes were highly commended for their widely-vazied program of constructive activities. The subject of "Education" was taken up by Mrs. Edmund Ball, convener of the standing committee on that theme, the talk centring largely on how the members, adult and home-makers, who are daily, consciously or unconsciously, receiving education in the sometimes harsh school of Experience, may "live to learn and what to learn."

The matter of individual choice was emphasized, also the value of education. No enemy can take from us that which we learn; at home education is a friend; abroad, an introduction; in solitude, a comfort; in society, an ornament. With-better than unreasoning savages. The real purpose is to train the mind in the use of its own powers; the uninstructed mind is like the unpolished diamond." Any scheme of education which does not include the moral and spiritual, as well as the intellectual, just isn't an education at all; and life fellowship with Jesus Christ is the ony school where, from the Eternal Teacher, we may learn the science of heavenly things."

The March meeting will be at Mrs. Ball's home, with the convener of the standing committee on Legislation in charge of the program. The National Anthem closed the meeting.

He will be decorated and promoted for his initiative.

CAPITAL CITY'S FLYERS PLAY TO A TIE

Krauts Welcomed By R.C.A.F. Flyers

Three new aircraftmen, class 2, who are pretty fair hockey players, are welcomed into the Royal Canadian Air Force by Bill Touhey, coach of the R. C. A. F. Flyers Hockey Club. The three grinning recruits are, LEFT to RIGHT, Radio Mechanic Bobby Bauer, Physical Training Instructor Milt Schmidt and Clerk Accountant Woody Dumart. The three, better known to sport fans as the famous Kraut line of the Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, reported for duty with the R.C.A.F. at Ottawa and were fitted out with uniforms.

Kraut Line Adds Punch To Ottawa Team

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 — (CP). — The Capital city's Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers, bolstered by acquisition of Boston Bruins' famous Kraut line to-day stood out more prominently than ever as contenders for the Allan Cup.

And by their 5-5 exhibition tie last night with the National Hockey League Bruins—a feat in which the Krauts played no mean part—they likely bettered the chances too, of a post-season clash between the Allan Cup winners and N.H.L. titlists for Air Force charity.

Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt, and Woody Dumart, who practised with Flyers for the first time only last Sunday after their enlistment and consequent reinstatement as amateurs, provided the spark their new team needed to compete with the Bruins' extra speed.

That was the verdict of 7,604 fans who paid an undisclosed sum into the Air Force Benevolence Fund last night to watch the city senior leaguers come from behind to tie the visitors in regulation time.

Approximately, the tying goal was fired in the last 32 seconds of play by Centre Schmidt of the Krauts.

Schmidt led the Ottawa scorers with two goals, while Allison (Pickles) MacNichol, Al Campbell, and Mike Miller got one apiece. Jack McGill and Eddie Wiseman split four counters for Boston, Lloyd Gronsdal getting the other one.

It was Art Ross, Bruins' veteran manager, who first advanced the idea for a hockey "World Series."

Ross hinges his proposition on the thesis that Air Force Flyers, bolstered by the transplanted Kraut line, are going to win the Allan Cup.

That formality disposed of Flyers would challenge the Stanley Cup champions to a best-of-three series for the world's championship. Gate receipts would be turned over to the Benevolence Fund.

Indians Trounce Barons By 3 to 2

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 18 — (AP). — Springfield Indians gained their fourth victory out of five starts against Cleveland Barons by a 3-2 margin last night in a hard-fought American Hockey League game. The other in that series ended in a tie.

Owner Eddie Shore's victorious forces scored in each of the three periods, but twice they prevailed while the Barons were playing short-handed. The Barons did not score until after Gus Marker had decided the game during the sixth minute of third period play.

While trailing 3-0, the Barons threw five forwards into action but the Indians held them under a firm check during the last seven minutes of play.

Thurier, assisted by Kelly and O'Flaherty tallied the lone Springfield goal in the first period with Kelly getting the second one in the next stanza, helped by O'Flaherty and Thurier.

In the final session McPherson and Dill assisted Marker in collecting the third goal for the winners, while Adolph, supported by Deacon and Giroux, and Cunningham, assisted by Desilets, tallied the two Cleveland goals.

Should Flyers Become Allan Cup Winners Ross Suggests Game With Stanley Cup Six

OTTAWA, Feb. 18 — (CP). — If the Royal Canadian Air Force Flyers of Ottawa turn out to be Allan Cup winners this year, Manager Art Ross of Boston Bruins would like to see the Flyers tangle with the 1942 Stanley Cup winners in the interest of war charity.

He put forward this suggestion on Tuesday at a luncheon attended by R.C.A.F. officials and hockey players from the Bruins and R.C.A.F. Flyers.

"I know that half your team is the greatest in the world," he said, referring to Flyers' newest acquisition, Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer, and Woody Dumart, formerly with Boston Bruins. "If the rest is nearly as good I can guarantee you should win the Allan Cup."

Ross said his proposal was that if Flyers win the senior amateur hockey championship they should challenge the Stanley Cup champions to a best-of-five series for the world hockey championship.

"With payment of a minimum rental charged and other minor expenditures, the entire gate receipts would go to the Air Force Benevolence Fund," Ross told the luncheon meeting.

"I know we (Bruins) would be glad to play such a game, and I hope I can speak for the other teams who have a chance to win the Stanley Cup," he said.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press)

James J. Corbett, former heavyweight boxing king, died at his New York home nine years ago today. Corbett stunned the sports world Sept. 7, 1892, when he knocked out the great John L. Sullivan in 21 rounds in the first heavyweight battle under Marquess of Queensbury rules.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The drop in temperature has come just in time to ensure the only thing needed to make tonight's battle between Whitby Palm Billiards and the Peterborough Soldiers the hockey gem of the season, namely a lightning fast sheet of ice. A capacity crowd will see the two rivals hook up in the first game of a best three-of-five series to decide the group championship. The reserved seat plan was cleaned out this afternoon and the outlook is that the biggest standing room attendance of the current campaign will be recorded tonight. That of course is only natural. Playoff time is here and everybody wants to see a playoff battle. Especially of course one between two teams who play a fast wide-open brand of hockey. Whitby and the Petes are fast-skating outfits who turn on the heat early and keep it on all the way round the track. Tonight both should be flying on a perfect cushion in an effort to get the drop on the opposition in the opening game of what should prove a memorable series between two powerful and well-matched squads.

* * * * * *

Naturally Whitby would have liked to have postponed this game for three of their Oshawa stars, Cooper, Covert and Barnes are members of the Peoples team of the Toronto major loop and that team is billed to play tonight. Whether the three will journey to Toronto or come here has not been announced but we have a hunch that when the Palm Billiard outfit skates out for its preliminary work tonight, Messrs. Cooper, Covert and Barnes will be in the lineup. Last week when the Whitby team had to face a similar situation Covert elected to play in Belleville and the other pair made the Toronto pilgrimage. Tonight we fancy they will all be here and Whitby will have every gun in the battery unlimbered and ready to shoot at the Petes. In any event the Ontario county representatives will be doughty opposition with Durling and Gamble added to the squad since it last played here and with plenty of reserve strength to fill any gap. Coach Hamel will make a big bid for this opening game for a victory would leave Palm Billiards in the nice position of having two of the next three games in the series on their own ice and with only two more wins needed to give them the group championship.

* * * * * *

On the season's record the Petes should be favorites to win tonight. They won the opening game in Whitby 7 to 1 but at that stage the losers were without their Oshawa reinforcements. Then Whitby came here with Covert, Cooper and Dafoe as their ace line and were beaten 18 to 4. In the third game of the series played on Whitby ice the Ontario county team was at full strength and the Petes were playing their third away-from-home game of the week. The Ellis-Scates crowd led by 3 to 2 going into the last period but Whitby tied it up in the third and a goal by Doc Dafoe in the overtime salted the game away for Palm Billiards. On their last appearance here the Whitby crew had Doug Maundrell in harness but the other Oshawa stars were missing. In spite of that fact however, the Hamel-coached team gave the Petes quite a battle before succumbing 3 to 1. So there is the season's record. The Petes have won three out of four games from Whitby and have outscored them 26 to 10. But as we said last night the dope can be tossed into the ashcan. A new series starts tonight and the championship depends upon what the teams do in this round. The Petes have what it takes to turn the trick and if they hit their usual stride tonight should open the series with a win. But it will be a honey of a battle and every fan in the district will want to see it. The game will get under way at 8.30 sharp.

* * * * * *

A Basketball Marathon

Those who like their basketball in large doses should get a treat at the Collegiate gymnasium this week-end when under the auspices of the Girls' Athletic Association of the Collegiate and Vocational School a big basketball tournament will be staged. Participants will be senior and junior girls teams from the Bowmanville, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay and Peterborough Collegiates. The cage marathon will start on Friday evening and continue on Saturday morning and afternoon until the winners in both sections have been decided. This is something new in basketball around Peterborough and the competition in both divisions with so many teams playing should be decidedly hot, with plenty of color for the fans. The proceeds from the tournament will be turned over to the Collegiate's mobile kitchen fund and with such a worthy object to be helped and such an interesting basketball program arranged there should be liberal patronage for the event. The girls will operate a booth during the tourney and it, too, should have many customers. It is all good clean fun for a cause that is decidedly worthy of all the help it can be given.

* * * * * *

In the midst of the excitement over tonight's Whitby-Peterborough playoff game it is but right that we should pause for a moment and sigh over the fate of the Belleville club, an outfit that has won more championships in October and November than any team in Ontario hockey history but that usually turns up missing in mid-February. Last fall the Belleville management made a real bid for a championship outfit. Players were moving in and out of Belleville, from all over the map as the talent scouts looked them over and eventually some seven or eight selects were chosen and with Mike Rodden named as coach the Reliance fans settled back to watch their new battle array gallop through the group race. However, the going proved decidedly tough and the Belleville ship hit heavy weather. And so reinforcements turned up in the person of Military Replacement Johnny Hamilton. But Johnny did not quite fill the gap and once more the Kingston pond was raided and three more auxiliaries in Martin, White and Grisdale were added to the lineup. And even that Combine-Queen's delegation could not turn the trick and Reliance are through. Their experience has probably been Tobe White, Bun White, Dud White and bled white.

Rangers Skid Again

Those skidding New York Rangers haven't found their chains yet. Last night Lester Patrick's team dropped their fourth straight game when Canadiens defeated them 2 to 1 in an overtime game at New York. As a result the New Yorkers while still in first place are tottering on the top shelf for they have played a game more than the Bruins and two more than the Leafs. Last night's game certainly did not do the Rangers any good but it was a lot of help to Dick Irvin's Canadiens in their battle for a playoff berth. The victory was won by the former Montreal amateur razzle-dozzle line of Morin, Heffernan and O'Connor, the latter getting the winning marker 30 seconds after the overtime started. The trio have been playing great hockey for the Frenchmen and have proved a theory that this column has long maintained that the pro clubs would have better results in picking up complete lines from strong amateur organizations than by grabbing off stars and then having to wield them into a line afterward.

SIX RINKS REMAIN UNBEATEN IN THE ONTARIO CURLING BONSPIEL

Hudson Rink Defeats Bert Hall Four

TORONTO, Feb. 18 — (CP). — Contestant in the 18th annual bonspiel of the Ontario Curling Association today faced one of the heaviest draws of the bonspiel, with a possible four games for winners in early contests. Five draws are scheduled to make up for the night off last night, when curlers of the 'spiel's 104 entries attended the associations banquet.

Nate Cornwall of Detroit, L. G. Amsden of Toronto, and Alexander Logan of Parry Sound were awarded life memberships in the O.C.A. at the banquet. Mr. Logan was not able to be in Toronto for the presentation.

One of the features of yesterday's play was the 12-10 victory by Dr. Lou Hudson's Timmins rink over the favored Kitchener quartet skipped by Bert Hall. By a special ruling of the bonspiel committee, Dr. Hudson was allowed to recruit A. Hill, a former Timmins resident, to curl in place of Dr. Henry Hudson, who was wounded on his right hip by a bullet while playing at the Royal Canadian Club Monday night. Police investigation has not disclosed who, if anyone, fired the shot or if a stray bullet exploded when dropped to the ice from someone's pocket. Dr. Hudson is in hospital in condition described as good.

The Timmins rink bowed 13-10 to Dr. C. Brereton's Toronto Granites later in the day.

Six rinks entered play today unbeaten in the 'spiel, with four wins each. They are skipped by: Dr. F. T. Knight, Toronto Royal Canadiens; Walter Cowan and Earl Green, Toronto High Park; James Howard, Fergus; George Parr, Brampton; and Dr. S. T. White, Orangeville.

The bonspiel will continue through Saturday.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Leading positions in the National Hockey League scoring race went unchanged following last night's game between New York Rangers and Canadiens. The Rangers trio of Bryan Hextall, Phil Watson and Lynn Patrick remain in the first three places, with totals of 45, 43 and 41 points respectively.

Chicago's Bill Thoms holds down fourth place with 38 points, while Gordie Drillon, Toronto, and Don Grosso, Detroit, are tied in fifth position with 36 points apiece. A triple tie for the next berth exists between the Boston linemates, Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer, now in the Royal Canadian Air Force, and Syd Abel of Detroit. All have 35 points.

The Mite And The Mighty

Here are the biggest and smallest of the competitors in the Westminster Kennel Club show which opened at Madison Square Garden recently. The little guy is Val's Delonora, a Chihuahua, owned by Mrs. George P. Reitz. The big fellows are St. Bernards, Mr. Chips of Uhlenhorst, LEFT, and Mend's Leo of Nassau.

Tweed Juveniles Trounce Campbellford

TWEED, Feb. 16—(ENS).—Playing the much-heralded Campbellford squad at the local arena on Monday night, Tweed Juveniles trounced the visitors 10-6 in one of the highest scoring games of the season. The Campbellford boys put up a stiff game, but lack of substitutes prevented them from going all out.

As a result of the win, the Tweed youngsters have pulled three points away from Campbellford, and are on top of the Stirling squad by one point.

D. Meraw, tricky forward on the home squad, had a field days, scoring a total of six goals, while Hamilton, flashy player on the visitors' lineup, accounted for four counters. Wagar in the locals' nets played exceptionally well, particularly in the last period.

Summary:

1st Period:
1. Tweed—D. Meraw, Hayes, Rivers.
2. Tweed—D. Meraw, Price.
3. Tweed—D. Meraw, G. Connor, Rivers.
4. Tweed—Price, Thompson.

Penalties—Price, LaVallee.

2nd Period:
5. Campbellford—Hamilton.
6. Campbellford—Dunk, Hamilton.
7. Tweed—G. Connor, LaVallee.
8. Campbellford—Hamilton.
9. Tweed—LaVallee.
10. Campbellford—Hamilton.
11. Campbellford—Bertrand.

Penalties—Hayes, Smith.

3rd Period:
12. Tweed—D. Meraw.
13. Tweed—D. Meraw, Price.
14. Campbellford—Hamilton, Bertrand.
15. Tweed—LeVallee.
16. Tweed—D. Meraw, LaVellee.

Penalties—Hayes 2, Bertrand, Price.

Lineups:

Tweed.—Goal, J. Wagar; defence, D. Connor, F. Hayes; centre, J. Price; right wing, L. Vance; left wing, D. Meraw. Subs., G. Connor, B. Thompson, C. LaVallee, C. Rivers, J. Shannon.

Campbellford—Goal, Osborne; defence, F. Hamilton, G. Milne; centre, K. Dunk; right wing, J. Smith; left wing, J. Little; subs., C. Bertrand, D. Bartley.

Referee—Hendy, Campbellford.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—(APA. — Look for the first robin of Spring any day now, folks....The first of the new crop of football heroes has arrived....Ed Danforth of the Atlanta Journal says that Charley Trippi, the Wilkes Barre, Pa., boy at Georgia, can heave a 30-yard forward pass and by the time the received has straightened out to run, there is Charley alongside him yelling for a lateral.

One-Minute Sport Page

The Forth Worth (Tex.) Junior Chamber of Commerce will throw a luncheon for Rogers Hornsby February 25, and is inviting baseball men and sports writers from throughout the country....Tommy Hitchcock, former 10-goal polo player, took up skiing this winter and hasn't broken any bones yet. ....The National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress is planning a national registration day for all prospective players March 30.

To-day's Guest Star

R. G. Lynch, Milwaukee Journal: "Ski jumping is the only sport in which the athletes are at the mercy of kibitzers. All sports have wiseacres who tell competitors, 'You would do better if you did it thus or so.' In skiing they make judges out of the kibitzers and the 'judges' make the sport ridiculous."

Oscar Vitt: "If Ty Cobb were playing today, he would steal 150 bases a season. The pitchers don't bother to develop a fake movement to first or second any more. Runners are seldom picked off the bags."

Maxie Berger Gets His Chance

By AL COLLETTI
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18 (CP)—For 6½ years Maxie Berger, an earnest journeyman fighter from Montreal, has been pounding the ring beat, winning and losing, having his ups and downs, but even in defeat always making good showing.

"I always kept going," Berger said today, "because I knew that as long as I was in shape and in there punching I sooner or later would get a break. Now, after all this time, I'm getting the break I had been hoping for."

Maxie will get his chance to advance from the $1,200 class Friday night. He'll be the principal in the main bout at Madison Square Garden. His opponent will be Harlem's Ray Robinson, the negro beanpole unbeaten in 115 bouts as an amateur and professional and hailed as the coming welterweight champion.

But the genial Montrealer who'll be 25 years old next Monday isn't discouraged by Robinson's great record. He's been training hard three weeks and he has the utmost confidence in himself. "I expect to win," says Maxie. "I think I have the style to defeat Robinson and I'm in the best shape of my career. I've wanted to box him a long time and now that the chance is here I don't expect to muff it."

Onlookers Impressed

Berger, doing his training at Stillman's gymnasium, has impressed onlookers with his odd style and ruggedness. Though Robinson will be a prohibitive favorite, there are some who make a study of fistic styles who predict that the lanky negro will be in for a tougher evening than generally anticipated.

Friday's Garden chance tops a long career for Maxie, most of it spent in New York rings. He made his first appearance here in May, 1936, in a four-round bout at Dexter Park. Six months later Berger, a lightweight at the time, was a main event fighter and so popular an attraction he boxed 16 times in one year as a main bout performer at the Bronx Coliseum.

During that time he attracted 187,000 fans to the Coliseum for an average of better than 11,000 a show.

Badminton Club Holds Box Social

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 16 — (ENS). —As a means of raising funds for war purposes the members of the Lakefield Badminton Club held a box social on Monday evening in the Memorial Hall.

For the first part of the evening the members enjoyed a round robin tournament, with the winners being Misses Mary Davis and Ralph Millage. Consolation prizes were awarded Mrs. I. Madill and J. Aymer.

The selling of the many pretty boxes followed the games, and with Rev. G. F. Kelly and Don Hendren as auctioneers, much merriment ensued during the selling. It was decided to vote the entire proceeds to the Red Cross Society.

Commencement.

The annual commencement exercises of the High School is being held on Friday in the Memorial Hall. There will be the usual awards of diplomas and proficiency and athletic awards, but this year in accordance with the Victory Loan Campaign Committee the program will be of a patriotic nature, with a speaker from the Victory Loan headquarters in Peterborough.

Servo Blasts Lew Jenkins

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—(AP). —Marty Servo, family honor revenged by his savage pasting of Lew Jenkins last night, now is gunning for Red Cochrane and the world's welterweight championship.

"Marty had trouble getting below 140 pounds for this fight," declared Al Weill, Servo's manager, after the young coast guardsman from Schenectady, N.Y., virtually blasted the ring career of the former lightweight titlist by winning a decisive 10-round decision at the arena.

"He wants to fight Cochrane now for the welterweight crown. He's the coming champ, I tell you."

Servo is a cousin of Lou Ambers who absorbed a terrific three-round beating before dropping the lightweight crown to Jenkins. With Ambers watching from the ringside, Servo gave the Sweetwater, Tex., swatter one of the worst beatings of his career.

At the end Jenkins' face was a gory red from cuts over both eyes, a bloody nose and bruised lips. Servo's only mark was a scratch on his cheek. Jenkin's didn't win a single round.

Jenkins' loyal wife declared: "He'll be a champion again."

Promoter Herman Taylor announced paid attendance as 6,906 and the net gate $9,361. Servo weighed 139½ to Jenkins' 134¾.

Rangers Suffer Defeat By Canadiens

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Bigtime hockey players are blase fellows and not given to expressions of youthful enthusiasm, but Buddy O'Connor, Gerry Heffernan and Pete Morin of Montreal Canadiens are rookies and obviously unfamiliar with professional etiquette.

They were parted for about 30 minutes last night while a doctor stitched a long gash on Heffernan's chin, and when they got back together it took just 30 seconds to score the overtime goal that beat New York Rangers 2-1. Just like amateurs.

It was the only National Hockey league game of the night, Rangers fourth consecutive defeat, and their fifth loss in six games. Canucks moved to within a single point of the fifth-place Detroit Red Wings and Brooklyn Americans (tied) and revived hopes that they will make one of the league's six playoff spots.

O'Connor scored the goal that sank the league-leading Rangers, with his rookie linemates drawing assists. Terry Reardon had scored in the third for Canadiens after Alex Shibicky's counter for Rangers in the second. But the razzle-dazzle line stole the show.

It was the 31st game with Canadiens for the Morin-Heffernan-O'Connor trio since the three turned professional last Nov. 29 after five successful seasons with Montreal Royals in the Quebec Senior League. In those 31 games, Morin has nine goals and 11 assists for 20 points, O'Connor seven and 13 for 20, and Heffernan four and 11 for 15.

The decision spoiled Ott Heller night for the Rangers, who were honoring the defence veteran for his 12 years of service. It was the last game of the schedule between the two clubs, with each winning four games.

Sir Marlboro Wins Easily

HIALEAH PARK, Fla., Feb. 18. —(AP) Mrs. J. Eitinger's Sir Marlboro, which became known as the best of the turf course horses here when he won the Miami Beach Handicap on the grass, substantiated that claim here Tuesday. Running over the velvety strip he likes best, the 6-year-old horse carried 126 pounds and easily defeated four rivals in the Indian Creek Purse. His time for the mile and a sixteenth—1:44 4-5—equalled the turf course mark shared by himself and Air Current.

E. K. Bryson's Trois Pistoles trailed the victor by three lengths while beating Joe W. Brown's Minnelusa by a head for the place. Greedan and Pomiva brought up the rear. Sir Marlboro was a 2-to-1 shot.

Trois Pistoles was installed a slight favorite over the winner because there was a nine-pound weight shift in his favor over Sir Marlboro since thir clash in the Miami Beach Handicap. On that occasion Sir Marlboro won easily under 115, with Trois Pistoles second under 114. Today the winner spotted the Bryson gelding ten pounds, the latter being weighted at 116.

Since winning the Miami Beach, Sir Marlboro had started once on the main track, showing little. But he was at his best again yesterday on the infield strip. Don Meade hustled the bay veteran right to the front and nursed him along in front of Trois Pistoles all the way. Trois Pistoles tired trying to keep up. He almost lost the place to Minnelusa in their nip-and-tuck duel behind the breezing winner. Greedan and Pomiva finished far behind.

Marksmen Made Not Born Such

DALLAS, Feb. 18.—(CP).—Thurman Randle, who ought to know, says there is no such thing as a born marksman. Randle has won more than 400 shooting trophies.

Natural athletes, writers, painters, yet—but a star with a rifle is made. Randle came up the hard way. He got his start shooting at rabbits on the farm. Years of practice are behind this steel-eyed man who is an international figure when rifle shooting is mentioned.

At this time the Dallas man holds several national records, is a director of the National Rifle Association and recently opened a basic training school of rifle marksmanship to develop instructors for home defence units.

Getting Married Hoards Sugar Pays $50 Fine

NEWMARKET, Feb. 18.—A bachelor in his fifties who bought 300 pounds of sugar contrary to the war-time rationing order "because he was going to get married this summer," was fined $50 and costs of $18.30 to-day with the alternative of thirty days in jail. Ths accused, William Draper, R.R. 1, Queensville, paid the fine.

The sugar was purchased on the morning of Jan. 26 from the two stores of Mrs. Edith Crowder and Mrs. Oliver Hamilton at Ravenshoe contrary to the sugar rationing Order-in-Council issued Jan. 24 allowing three-quarters of a pound per person per week and providing that no more than two weeks' supplies may be bought at one time. Draper also ordered a 100-pound bag of yellow sugar at the store of Mrs. Crowder but cancelled the order Jan. 30.

"You deliberately tried to do your neighbors out of sugar," Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe told the accused, who had pleaded guity. "You deliberately attempted to evade the restrctive measures. This restriction is very mild. There is no reason for you to do such a thing. There is no evidence you ever acquired such quantities before. It is a deliberate breach of the law."

Two bags of sugar were removed from Draper's home by Stuart M. Robertson, of Toronto, chief inspector of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and they were returned to-day to the storekeepers who will credit Draper's account with their cost. Draper said the third bag was for the couple at whose home he was boarding.

MP's Ask Wider

seen by Mr. Weir, but he supported the plebiscite and said he hoped the Government would secure a free hand as a result of it.

"I am in favor of total selective service for overseas or anywhere in the world," Mr. Corman said, "and in that I feel sure I represent the views of the majority of the people of my riding, both within and without the Liberal party."

In this view, he said, he was not in any way influenced by the "Committee of 200 for Total War, whose headquarters are in Toronto, and who appear to be backed by very influential mining interests."

He said he could not admire the super-patriotism" of the committee members, as they seemed to "wrap the Union Jack around their privileged persons in order to force the boys to fight for their wealth."

Conscription was a red herring to that group, he said. Their real objective was a National Government, political power and abolition of the Excess Profits Tax.

"We want no shameless exploitation of war to make a few millionaires," said Mr. Corman.

While he favored conscription he did not want it by the methods of the "Toronto group who want to ram it down our throats like the Gestapo," Mr. Corman said. The proper way was to proceed by the plebiscite, obtain release from pledges and the enact conscription.

"I want to go about it the Democratic way, the Mackenzie King way," he said.

It might become necessary to conscript all profits and to take all capital. The government already had power to do that.

"But we hear precious little about this kind of conscription from the total war group," he said. "'Conscript the boys but hand off our dividends' is their policy."

An Ostrich Policy

Some people thought the only way to fight a war was to get a lot of men together in the army as quickly as possible, Mr. Corman said, but this was "an Ostrich-like policy."

Canada already had more men in the army than at this stage in the First Great War and also had large numbers in the Nevy, the Air Force and war industry. Industrial workers in his constituency did not appreciate the emphasis placed by some people on the army as the only war activity.

Mr. Corman said he believed more liberal exemptions from compulsory military service should be accorded farmers' sons. Men up to 35 years of age should be called before farmers' sons were interfered with.

As for the financial side of the war effort, Mr. Corman said he thought there was room for improvement. Canada could have an "internal currency" for inside the country which need not be pegged to the currency by which external debts were settled. With that and the price control system it would be possible to have "controlled inflation."

"Or why not get all the Allied Nations together to agree on an International dollar?" he asked.

Mr. Corman said he wanted to protest against a subsidy on the importation of canned Grapefruit juice as provided by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. There should be an embargo on that product for foreign exchange control reasons instead of a subsidy, particularly when there were many Canadian fruit juices available, he said.

A. S. Rennie (Lib., Oxford) said "Canada has struck a pre-eminent position in this great world scene." Canadians might have differing opinions but factional and political differences should sink into their appropriate place.

Men Of The Hour.

"Obviously Winston Churchill is the man of the hour in Britain, President Roosevelt is the man of the hour in the U.S., Joseph Stalin is the man of the hour in Russia and so obviously Mackenzie King is the man of the hour in Canada," he said.

No one but Mr. King could have made a forthright appeal to the United States for help to Britain.

Through his leadership, Canada, as a free nation, had been able to declare war and play an important role in bringing Great Britain and the United States together.

The farming industry should come first in the consideration of the Government, said Mr. Rennie.

All farmers asked was an opportunity to continue to produce on a fair basis.

The present system of granting six months' postponement of military service to men needed on the farms was not satisfactory, Mr. Rennie said. Young men on farms where they were the only workers or the only young workers should receive assurance they would not be called away.

Farmers had to make plans and preparations in advance. They should be told just where they are going to stand this spring when they come to put in their crops.

Mr. Rennie said he supported the plebiscite and after the vote on it would use his best judgment, in the light of the facts, if called upon to vote on conscription for overseas service.

Leaves For Seeding

Hugh MacKenzie (Lib. Lambton-Kent) proposed that farmers in the armed forces be granted leave of absence for seeding and harvesting.

"One of the greatest dangers to an all-out war effort is, I believe, a shortage of labor on the farms," Mr. MacKenzie said. High salaries in industries had taken money from the farms.

If this proposal or something similar were not adopted, Mr. MacKenzie said, he feared "our farmers will not be able to supply the foodstuffs required for the feeding of Britain and our Allies."

The armed forces, the factories and the farms were the three big factors in the war effort and they should be placed in a position of equality of sacrifice, Mr. MacKenzie said.

"We live in a democracy," he added. "Then let us start with the highest office in the Dominion and end with the private in the army or the laboring man and be as nearly equal in service and sacrifice as possible until this war is won."

Dr. A. G. Blair (Lib. Wellington North) said the province of Quebec is showing a spirit of "true patriotism" and giving wonderful support to the war effort. He praised Prime Minister King for bringing about friendly relations with the nations with which Canada now is associated, particularly Great Britain, the United States and Russia, and for promoting unity within Canada.

Threat To Unity

Raymond Eudes (Lib. Montreal-Hochelaga), one of the youngest members in the House, said he considered any move towards conscription a threat to national unity and an obstacle to the war effort. He would have preferred it if the plebiscite had not been decided on, but was nevertheless prepared to support the government.

J. S. Roy who was elected as an Independent Conservative in Gaspe in 1940 and broke with that party last session because he disliked its tendencies towards conscription, accused Prime Minister Mackenzie King of catering to both pro and anti-conscriptionist sentiment.

Hong Kong gave Canadians a foretaste of what was to be expected under conscription for overseas service, he said. Men had been sent without proper training to defend a place which was inadequately fortified.

(In a statement to the House last month Defence Minister Ralston said investigation indicated 138 to 148 of the 1,885 Canadians sent to Hong Kong had received less than the 16 weeks training which under defence department orders each man sent overseas is supposed to have.)

Against Conscription To A Man

A veteran of the first Great War and again in uniform in the present conflict. Lieut. Leonard Tremblay (Lib. Dorchester) said Quebec was against conscription "to a man" because of the way it was "thrown at us in 1917." He quoted enlistment figures to support his contention Quebec is doing its part in the war effort and said the first full infantry battalion raised in the war was the Maisonneuve Regiment, a French-speaking formation.

Hector Authier (Lib. Chapleau) told the House the people of Quebec would gladly accept conscription for continental defence but were against conscription for overseas service. He supported the plebiscite proposal. Mr. Authier expressed belief residents of gold-mining areas were being frightened by rumors that the mines were to go on reduced production and said nothing was to be gained by such a curtailment of output.

Conservative House Leader Hanson moved the adjournment and will lead off in the debate today. He is expected to state the attitude of his party towards the C.C.F. amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, moved since he last spoke. The amendment urges inclusion in the plebiscite question of a reference to conscription of wealth and industry.

(The question to be asked in the plebiscite is: "Are you in favor of releasing the government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?")

Cuts Sugar Excise

When yesterday's sitting opened Finance Minister Ilsley announced a reduction from two cents to 1½ cents in the excise tax on a pound of sugar, a move designed to avoid an increase in the retail price due to increased costs of imported sugar and to provide for a higher price to producers of Canadian sugar beets.

The minister was asked by Percy Black (Con. Cumberland) if the 20-per cent reduction ordered for commercial users of sugar would apply to manufacturers of beer, wine and liquor and if not why not.

"I made some inquiry and it confirmed by impression that no sugar is used in the manufacture of beers and spirits," said Mr. Ilsley. He added the would make a further inquiry about wines.

the first landing attempt on Java.

That it has not been made already, they said, merely means that the Japanese are first consolidating their arc of offensive positions, including fallen Singapore and their Sumatran foothold at Palembang.

Most of the Indies' strength has been held on Java and its successful defence is said to depend in large degree on the flow of reinforcements from the United States. The Netherlands assert they have been disappointed in these so far.

Must Have Supplies

("There are ample troops," he said in a broadcast, "the civilian population is prepared and everything is well organized. The most important item on which future developments depend is the receiving of materials in time. I am glad to say that part of the supply has arrived already, but we can do with much more.")

Refugees arriving from Palembang brought the first graphic details of heroism and unhesitating sacrifice in putting oil treasures to to the torch with methodical efficiency, braving heavy machine-gun fire.

Japan's first air-borne invasion of the Palembang area Friday did not excite great alarm, but Japanese transports arrived in the Musi Estuary, the seaway of Palembang, Saturday night and the demolition orders were issued.

Civilian volunteers pitched in with the destruction squads while soldiers and town guardsmen fought fiercely to hold off those enemy aerialists who survived a day-long battle. Sunday morning everything was ablaze—even business offices, social halls and some homes, along with warehouses and the radio and telephone stations.

Among the individual exploits were those of a merchant captain who scuttled his ship in the Musi to try to stop the Japanese transports and a civilian pilot, R. P. A. Van Rees, who was awarded the Flying Cross for skilfully setting his flaming transport plane down in the jungle after an enemy attack and saving its occupants.

Army Mascot Buried With Honors

With Bozo, the number one mascot, standing to attention with the honor guard, taps is sounded over the grave of "Lousyana," the number two mascot of an army camp near Seattle, Wash. "Lousyana" was killed by a hit-run driver and was buried with military honors, bugles and salutes.

Thriller Writer Packard Dies

MONTREAL, Feb. 18.—(CP)—"How to break into print has only one answer and that is work," was the philosophy of Frank Lucius Packard, who for several generations thrilled Canadian and American youth with his stories of Jimmie Dale. Mr. Packard died last night at his home in suburban Lachine after a brief illness. He was 65.

Frank Packard was not an imaginative writer. In fact most of his data was obtained right on the scene. He haunted New York police stations, accompanied detectives on their investigations and thus weaved the web that resulted in the Jimmie Dale series.

"The Red Ledger," in 1926 provided the background for a radio series presented over the network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, in which Mr. Packard himself introduced the play.

Mr. Packard was a graduate of McGill University and took a post-graduate course at L'Institut Montefiore, University of Liege, Belgium, before moving to the United States.

Mr. Packard married Marguerite Pearl McIntyre in 1910 and was father of three sons and one daughter. His three sons are at present serving with the Canadian forces.

Sugar, too, enlists for Victory

Our government, through the medium of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, has issued an order restricting the use of sugar for all. Naturally, this regulation includes "Coca-Cola". Besides all bottlers of carbonated beverages, the restrictions affect bakers, confectioners, ice cream manufacturers and many other industrial users.

We, in the "Coca-Cola" business, accept this conservation order without question, as a necessary measure. As a result, our output has been reduced and patrons may not be able to get "Coca-Cola" at their favourite dealer's as often as they might wish. We count upon the patience and co-operation of dealers and consumers everywhere during these restrictions.

Although volume has been reduced, this one thing is certain — the quality of genuine goodness — the character of "Coca-Cola", the real thing — remains the same. The public can continue to trust its quality.

EASTER MAIL

Postmaster Lacheur requested the Examiner today to appeal to the public to posting at once Easter mail for men of the Canadian forces overseas. The base post office in Ottawa despatches 300,000 letters, 47,000 pounds of parcels and 30,000 pounds of newspapers weekly, and additional mail at the Spring holiday time involves such problems as arranging for shipping space. To avoid disappointment mail should be posted during the next week or ten days.

REMINDER TO FARMERS

Peterborough farmers are reminded of the two days of lecture on farm management Tuesday and Wednesday, February 24 and 25 in the local office of the Department of Agriculture. F. C. Paterson hopes that these dates will be set aside for the lectures and discussion on practical subjects broadly and basically affecting successful farming.

SAYS DELAY DANGEROUS

Charged with assault, a local man gravely informed the court this morning that the lives of 500,000 and possibly of a million people depended upon his being released at once. His protest was occasioned by the fact that the crown asked for an adjournment until tomorrow.

The Milk for Britain fund operated by the Peterborough Kinsmen Club has received a donation of $6 from the pupils of the Queen Elizabeth school and $5 from the Brinton Carpet employees.

PLEADS GUILTY

On a written plea of guilty Garnet Patterson was fined $5 and $2.50 on a charge of careless driving in police court this morning. Patterson's car was involved in a traffic accident at George and Brock streets some time ago and the charge today was the result.

ARE ASKED TO REPORT

All Finns, Hungarians and Rumanians who have registered with Sergt. Gordon T. Puffer at the local police station, under regulations issued some time ago are asked to get in touch with Sergt. Puffer as soon as possible. A new order, that is to their advantage, has been received from Ottawa.

GETS LONG ADJOURNMENT

Charged as a third offender with being drunk, a local man succeeded in securing a month's adjournment when he appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning, the accused said that he had some important matters to wind up and the police offered no objection to his request for delay in the case with the result that it was enlarged for a month.

TWO MEN FINED

Two local men, one arrested on George Street and the other on Water Street Tuesday night, faced charges of drunkenness before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. in police court this morning and both admitted their guilt. Inspector James F. Reid told the court that there had been nothing flagrant in either case. Magistrate Langley imposed fines of $10 and $2.50 costs.

DRINKS ARE RATIONED

Spots in town which handle "cokes" are operating on a ration basis now. Merchants are being allowed only 60 per cent of their usual quotas and it is expected that the same system will be followed in the case of other soft drinks. Chocolate bars are also rationed with manufacturers cutting down orders to 80 per cent, one dealer stated today.

RANGERS ADD TEN RECRUITS

In one of the most successful parade nights from a recruiting standpoint in some weeks the Prince of Wales Rangers (R) Regiment, added ten members to the unit Tuesday night. Many members of the unit have been joining active service units and it is only through adding new recruits to the Rangers that it has been able to keep up to full strength. The new members taken on were: Carnduff Leslie Hegadoren, Western avenue; Carmen Ryerson Grose, 302 Margaret avenue; Clayton Robert Hughey and Fred George Hughey, both of 28 New Chamberlain street; Walter Phillip Drummond, 299 Rubidge street; John Smith, Ford avenue; Kenneth Gerald Nelson, 348 Stewart street; James Earl Fallen, 576 Charlotte street; George James Robert Bond, 590 Weller street; William Allan McIvor, 27 New Chamberlain street.

Horses Tied For Day Without Food, Water

The Humane Society reports the finding of a team of horses outside the city tied in a church shed for more than a day without food, water or blankets. This is just one of dozens of cases the society has investigated recently. Despite the war, instructions to Canada from Britain stress the need of not neglecting Humane Society work during these times of anxiety—in other words, Carry On Canada.

Numerous cases are being investigated both in and out of the city. Dogs are still being injured and killed on city streets, diseased and homeless cats are being looked after and horses are being examined.

Following is the monthly report: Horses examined 100; Dogs brought to shelter 19; dogs destroyed 10; cats brought to shelter, 15; cats destroyed 14; cats given homes, 1; complaints investigated 15; warnings issued 10; emergency calls 13.

Is City Council Put On Spot By School Board?

"It seems to me the Board of Education has the City Council on a spot," a former alderman remarked to a reporter this morning.

"You mean about cutting the tax rate?" the reporter queries.

"Certainly. I usually follow the council's doing pretty closely. When you have spent as many years as I did in civic work you keep on wondering what is going on, and I have noticed recently two things. First the Utilities Commission in its quiet way decided to buy $25,000 of Victory bonds and they made a contribution of $12,000 to the city tresaury. Then the Board of Education announces a reduction of $34,000 in the amount they are asking the ratepayers to provide this year.

Alderman Gordon and the other members of the council just can't laugh off that accomplishment. I haven't heard of any retrenchment yet by the council. They are going along with all sails set, and it looks to me that Alderman Cotton as chairman of the Finance committee, will have to take hold of things right away and get some pruning done, or, on the other hand, tell the ratepayers that the council cannot find any estimates that have their necks stuck out and should be trimmed down.

"Don't quote me now on this matter, but a few of us have been wondering what the council is going to do, because so far it looks to me that they've done nothing compared with the evidences the other bodies are showing of adjusting their financing to this third year of a world wide war. It wouldn't hurt us at all to do without a few of the things we are accustomed to, and tell the people that they have been cut out and the money saved for war purposes."

Since that conversation it was announced at the city hall that the Finance committee begins its review of the municipal budget tonight, and it is no likely that the committee will complete its scrutiny in one session.

Dr. H. M. Yelland Heads Y.M.C.A.

Dr. H. M. Yelland was elected president of Peterborough Y.M.C.A. at a meeting of the Association, in which he succeeds Charles Lacheur, who just completed the usual two year term. The retiring president expressed deep appreciation of the support of the board and staff during his term of office. The incoming president told his fellow directors that he considered it a high honor to be elected to this position. He referred to his early connections with the board as a member of the boys' department and of the lasting impressions he received. J. L. Gillespie was elected first vice-president, with W. L. Ferguson as second vice. Fred Hills was re-elected treasurer and H. L. Garner appointed as chairman of the Boys' Division. The other chairmen were re-elected to their several offices:

Recording secretary, W. L. Ferguson; chairmen of committee: Membership, A. L. Elliott; Finance, Fred Hills; House, R. L. Dobbin; Physical, J. L. Gillespie; Religious and Educational World Service, F. E. Johnston.

Mr. Citizen Tells Why He Plans To Purchase Victory Bonds

Mr. and Mrs. Peterborough will give their views on the Second Victory Loan in a series of interviews during the next two weeks, and the first of these interviews appears in this column to-day. All are invited to send along their comments, properly signed, and the statements do not obligate them in any way, and at the same time, reporters will go seeking interviews so that the Examiner readers may have a chance to compare opinions with others from all walks of life.

Visitors to Canada from Australia, New Zealand and Britain have marvelled at the indifference and complacency which appears to exist among the people of Canada, but many local people believe that the people are wholly alive to the needs of the hour and that the interviews will indicate in no uncertain fashion that Peterborough County and city folk are pulling their weight, each in his or her own way, to hasten a victory for the United Nations.

Here are comments from Peterborough citizens:

A. HOPE, 219 Stewart Street, who has four sons on Active Service, says: "From a selfish standpoint alone investment in the Second War Loan is a sound policy. This war will end some day, and the money in War Loan bonds will be a shock absorber in the days that follow our victory. Each family, each citizen, should try to save from income, no matter how modest the amount may be, something that will permit them to buy Victory Bonds.

"We must be prepared to sacrifice at least part of the pleasure and the luxuries which are still permitted to us, so that our armed forces may have the badly needed weapons of war. Peterborough responded nobly when the call for men was made and it will do its part in seeing to it that there are no more retreats in Libya, and no more defeats like Hong Kong and Singapore.

"I am confident that the people of this county will put the Victory Loan over the top so that our boys may have a fighting chance for victory in whichever theatre of war they may be."

HAROLD FREEMAN, barber, veteran of World War 1: "I am sure that by now people are fully aware of the vital need for money to finance the country's giant war effort, and I am sure too from the way people are talking, that this Victory Loan will go away over its objective.

"To me the funny thing about the war is that a certain class of people are still indifferent to the danger. If it was said there were hungry wolves roaming through the city, everyone would be panic-stricken and the men would be sitting at the windows with loaded rifles. Well, in these days of rapid transportation, one should remember there are six million mad, land-hungry Japs just outside the boundaries of Canada, ready to pounce on us at the right moment.

"The Victory Loan is a fine investment because it pays a fine rate of interest, is secure, and surely all realize that much money is required to provide tanks, airplanes guns and munitions, so badly needed by our boys in the Front Line.

"Idle dollars or hoarded dollars have no place in this fight against barbarism. Every idle penny has a job to do and it can only do it through the purchase of Victory Bonds now. Don't say the other fellow must pay, we must all pay, but actually we are just taking our money out of the pocket that has a hole in it, and putting it into a safer pocket in the same suit of clothes. Come on, Peterborough."

A HYDRO EMPLOYEE: "We've got to stick together to see this war through. That is the reason I bought a Victory Bond. I figure if everyone puts as much as they can afford in bonds, we will be helping the war effort in the best way possible, and at the same time become more united, which is so essential at this time.

"We employees of Hydro have already committed ourselves 100 per cent here for the loan. People shouldn't look upon the loan drive as a means of taking money away from them—it's like putting it in the bank. The Government is the best security we have, and if it fails everything fails.

"I have one parent for a dependent and I think I have put as much into Victory Bonds as my earnings will allow just now."

He digressed for a moment to survey what is happening over the world at large—setbacks everywhere. "If these fighting men had enough materials of war, they could put up a better showing. That's where I want my loan money to go—to aid in building planes tanks, guns, that we might show them what we can do when we are properly prepared. The people of Canada just have to put this loan over and well over. It is better to loan our money freely than to have the enemy 'borrow' it and keep it."

SERGT. HAROLD ROBSON: "It's the soundest investment any person can make. There is no sacrifice connected with it. We are just asked to loan, not givet, the money. I think it is the least any person can do in our war effort. Purchasers of Victory Bonds are allowed more interest than the banks will pay, and in addition, the money goes to help equip our fighting men."

The three members of the administrative and training staff of the Rangers have each bought their second Victory Bond.

Draw On Afghan Nets $52.15 For War Victims

(By FRED G. MANN, Secretary-Manager of Peterborough and District War Victims Fund.)

There comes a time in all businesses, whether private or public, when a stock-taking or analysis of its affairs does much good, and taking advantage of incidents relating to Tuesday's receipts for the City and District fund to relieve the distress of air raid victims in Britain, we feel a review of the circumstances which have to date raised the splendid total of $37,342.71 in the city and district would be quite in order.

The amount raised speaks highly for the patriotism of our citizens, displaying a real human and sympathetic interest in the well being of others less fortunate than themselves, without which this fund could never have reached the proportions it has to date, some fourteen months after its inauguration.

Three main factors (although there are others of a minor nature) have entered into this notable achievement, equally combining to make this possible, and these can be listed under the headings of Response, Publicity and Management.

The first of these three factors receives much attention in the daily articles of this column, but the second (that of publicity) is seldom referred to, and because all of today's receipts for the fund are due to the same source, the secretary of the fund feels that the time is opportune for him to pay fitting and his own sincere tribute to the part that publicity has played in the success which has marked the operation of this fund. The girls of the Examiner Office have from the very outset, done a notable work in helping the secretary of the fund, and to add to this today we record a splendid contribution of $52.15 as a result of an effort initiated by them in which Miss Irene Cox took a leading part, ably backed by the entire staff.

The girls bought the material and themselves knitted the Afghan, and the staff in general helped by selling tickets for a draw which was made on Tuesday by City Clerk E. A. Outram, resulting in ticket No. 697 held by John Brackenridge, R.R. No. 1, Bailieboro, being the winner. Adding to the receipts for the day, the box in the Examiner Office yields a further $1.65 to help things along.

We are indebted to C. Iveson for word that the London Times Weekly edition of January, 7th carried (amongst others) the report of the receiving by the Lord Mayor of London of £1,100 making in all a total of £7,100 to date from the citizens of Peterborough and district for his National Air Raid Distress Fund.

Radio Draw

Sponsored by the employees of the Canadian Department Stores, tickets at 10 cents each or three for 25 cents are now on sale for a 1942 model, 5-tube mantel radio draw which will take place at a dance to be also held in the interests of the fund on March 17th at Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Music for this event will be provided by Jimmy Duffus and his eight-piece orchestra, and tickets will be $1.50 per couple.

Young Woman Hurt When Car Skids on Ice

Helen Peel, 19, of 169 Edinburgh street, had to be taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment after the car in which she was a passenger, was involved in an accident on the Park Hill Road bridge over the Trent canal. Miss Peel, who was the only person injured, sustained a bruised forehead, a bruised knee, a cut on the lower lip and had four teeth broken and loosened.

John Johnston, 119 Robinson street, was driving west on Park Hill Road and as he reached the bridge his car skidded on the icy surface and the rear end of the machine collided with another car that was being driven east on Park Hill Road by Donald Laten.

Both cars were considerably damaged by the impact.

GEORGE CHEYNE ROY.

There passed away in Oshawa on Tuesday George Cheyne Roy, a former resident of this city, husband of Florence MacDonald and father of Margaret (Mrs. K. MacDonald, Smiths Falls), Inez (Mrs. David Pearse) and Betty of Oshawa.

The funeral will be held from the Luke Funeral Home on Thursday at three o'clock with interment in Mount Lawn cemetery.

MRS. NETTIE WINNIFRED LEWIS.

TWEED, Feb. 18 — (ENS). — The death occurred in the Township of Madoc on Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Nettie Winnifred Lewis after an illness of five weeks' duration.

The late Mrs. Lewis was born 79 years ago in the Township of Huntingdon, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Kane. All her life was passed in the district and she was well esteemed in the community. In religion she was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Surviving her are Russell Lewis and May Comerford, both of Madoc. Her husband died some years ago.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from the residence of Russell Lewis. The service in the home and at the graveside in Lakeview Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. A. Poulter.

MRS. ELIZA JANE DAVIDSON.

TWEED, Feb. 18 — (ENS). — After an illness of one week's duration, Mrs. Eliza Jane Davidson died at her home in the Village of Madoc on Friday.

The late Mrs. Davidson had reached the advanced age of 85 years. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Cronkwright, and was born in the Township of Hungerford. For the past 66 years, she resided in Madoc. In religion she was a member of the Standard Church at Madoc.

Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. Louise Shea of New York and Mrs. William Brady, Huntingdon Township; two sons, Robert Davidson and William Davidson, both of Madoc. Her husband died some years ago.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at the Standard Church in Madoc, where service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Scamahorn, the pastor, assited by the Rev. Mr. Hanley of Ivanhoe. Interment took place in the Lake View Cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM ROBINSON

TWEED, Feb. 18 (ENS)—After an illness of several years' duration, Mrs. William Robinson of the village of Madoc, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday.

The late Mrs. Robinson was born sixty-five years ago at Flinton and prior to her marriage was Miss Mary Renaud, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lezor Renaud. For some years she resided at Flinton and for the past forty-five years made her home at Madoc. In religion she was a member of the United church and was well esteemed.

Surviving are her husband, Mr. William Robinson, Madoc; Miss Elizabeth Reid, Belleville; Mrs. Jack Foster, Madoc; Mr. Charles Reid, Madoc; Mr. Frank Reid, Madoc; Mr. Sam Reid, Orillia; Mrs. M. James, Tweed; Mrs. W. Sinclair, Stratford; Mrs. C. Brushey, Flinton; Mr E. Renaud, Flinton; and Mr. J. Renaud, Flinton.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. J. Foster. The service in the home and at the graveside in Lakeview cemetery was conducted by the Rev. A. Poulter of Trinity United church.

The bearers were Messrs. Joseph Cox, Robert McCoy, Alfred Connor, Percy Naylor, George West and Fred Fleming.

MRS. ELLEN BENNETT.

The funeral of Ellen O'Leary, widow of Peter Bennett, was held yesterday from the Bert Duffus Funeral Home to the Church of the Sacred Heart, when requiem mass was offered by Rev. Dr. Grant. He delivered a very appropriate address to the relatives and friends who were present to assist at the services and pay tribute to a former native of Otonabee township and for some years a resident of Bridgenorth before leaving to take up residence in Montreal, where her death occurred on Saturday.

The many friends of the family who called at the funeral home and the profusion of floral tokens and also many spiritual offerings bore silent tribute of the esteem and friendship the late Mrs. Bennett and her family had enjoyed during her life and much sympathy was extended to her only daughter, Mae, and sons, John and William Bennett and sisters, Mrs. William Geraghty of Peterborough, Minnie O'Leary of Toronto and brother James O'Leary of Saskatchewan.

Interment was made in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rev. J. F. Houlihan conducting the services at the graveside.

Pall-bearers were: William Geraghty, John Bennett, Frank Marino, William Bennett, Anthony Marino, and Stanley Bogue.

Beacon Service Planned For Friday Night

Citizens of all religious denominations will take part in a patriotic rally at George Street United church on Friday evening, which is being held as part of the continent wide "Beacon Service" in connection with the Second Victory Loan.

His Worship Mayor James Hamilton, who is chairman of the service, has extended an invitation to all citizens to take part, and the program will be in keeping with the purpose of the gathering. The Prince of Wales Rangers Band will provide music, and the service will start at 8 o'clock. Chief speaker will be Captain, the Rev. George S. Easton, and short speeches will be made by Mayor Hamilton and others.

The service, which is under civic auspices, is being held in George Street church because weather conditions do not permit a program out of doors.

There will be a tiny beacon, glimmering within the church, and the program arranged will impress everyone with the solemnity of the occasion.

Just as the service nears its close, a huge beacon fire will be set on top of Armour Hill, and it will be visible for miles in the county.

Ontario To Pay Over $2,000,000

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, last night said at the annual banquet of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association that the Ontario Government bonus for cheese production from February 1, 1941, to January 31, 1942, amounted to $2,027,923.98.

The increase in winter cheese production, Mr. Dewan credited to the establishment of a satisfactory winter cheese price by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

He advocated the increased consumption of cheese in Canada, "believing it to be desirable both from the standpoint of national economy and the health of our people."

The cheese producers are "the very base of the dairy industry" and "a part of the foundation of our rural life in Ontario," he continued.

Although farmers are at present confronted by a degree of regimentation and all-round price control, the Minister of Agriculture predicted that in the "long run" these momentary handicaps may "prove a godsend for farmers."

"The coming months will oblige them to take prompt action in presenting accumulated data and briefs based on a sound study of available statistics," he said. "By these very experiences, they may learn that they have been too docile and long-suffering in the past."

City Canvassers Report $115,000 First Two Days

First reports from canvassers in the city and county working on the Second Victory Loan revealed on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock that $115,000 in private subscriptions had been subscribed already, with the bulk of this coming from city people and no report as yet from the Special Names committee.

Weather conditions were adverse particularly in the rural districts and farm people are urged to cooperate as much as possible with the 41 canvassers as many of them will be forced to tramp several miles along snow-drifted country roads to reach the farm homes. Commenting on a canvass made last summer for the first Victory Loan, one man said, "The nicest part of the whole job was the fine reception I received from the people, even though many could not purchase a bond, they gave me a cordial invitation to come in and have a cup of tea, while they told me their stories. The worst incident of the entire canvass and one that soured me, was the reception I received from one of the richest men in the township; but this time, I am told he has had a change of heart, and I hope such is the case."

Today a working model of the Peterborough Lift Lock, will be placed on the Custom building wall facing George street, at the George and Charlotte intersection, and the manipulation of the pontoons will indicate to the passersby the progress of the loan. This model has been built by Alderman Adam Sands and Fred Gray, and there is a scale placed between the pontoons and marked off in $100,000 units to show the progress of bond sales.

The idea is that as the money pours into one pontoon, this pontoon drops, forcing the pontoon on the opposite up, thus recording an increase in the sale of Victory Bonds. This unique idea was put forward by Alderman Adam Sands so that the Victory Loan committee could use something typical of Peterborough.

Many local citizens are purchasing their bonds through the banks, while the industrial workers for the most part are taking advantage of payroll deduction plans, and their wives are signing up with the canvassers that call at the homes.

House Adjournment May Affect Budget

Indefinite adjournment of the Legislature today, a prospect announced by Premier Hepburn last night will hold up the completion of the civic estimates for this year, City Treasurer M. E. Shaver commented to the Examiner this afternoon.

Financial relations between the provincial and federal governments are so vague that the Legislature finds itself in the position of proceeding with its own budgeting. Transfer to the federal authority of the corporation and income tax collectible by the provinces is one of the issues that has not been clarified.

The Legislature has been making an annual contribution to the municipalities of a sum equivalent to one mill in the local tax rate. The council cannot go ahead with its own budget on an assumption that this payment may be made this year, and on the other hand local plans are aimed at fixing the rate before the end of this month, if possible.

Japanese Plan To Attack Canada And Will Take Australia Minister Claims

COMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 — (ENS). — Labelling China as one of the saving elements in the Far Eastern situation at the present time Rev. George A. Williams, field secretary for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the United Church, gave a vivid picture of the gigantic effort made by the Chinese during the past five years. The speaker who spent five years in Formosa returning in 1924 has maintained constant contact with representatives of the Church in China, and as a consequence was able to cover authoritatively the wide field to the vast interest of the Campbellford Rotary Club on Monday.

Stating that the war was one of many surprises he pointed to the contribution made by the Russians saying "few ever thought they would be able to stage such a comeback." Others he said were surprised at the apparent strength of the Japanese, but like Germany the people of Japan had been preparing for this war for many years. In support of this contention Rev. Mr. Williams related the story told by a friend of his concerning a Japanese statesman who twenty years ago travelled on the same boat across the Atlantic. According to the narrative the Oriental had become very drunk and became involved in an encounter with an English seaman waiter who gave him the K.O. When he revived in the stateroom of the minister who had gone to his aid, he went berserk and began pitching his clothes and everything else he could get his hands on out of the window. Even some of the belongings of his benefactor went seaward as would the Jap's state papers and money if the minister had not managed to hide them first. On his return to mormalcy the cleric told him what he had done and thinking he would teach the man a lesson led him to believe not only his state papers but also his money had gone. As a result the Japanese determined to commit hara-kari until he was finally convinced the papers were intact and he was then so eternally grateful he revealed the story of Japan's plans for domination of the East, the taking of Hong Kong, Singapore, Australia, and even the invasion of Western Canada and the Island of Vancouver. Even then they had made their plans for a surprise knock-out blow against the U.S. Fleet, and in the words of the Rev. Mr. Williams "have come surprisingly close to following their well-formed plans."

Chinese Stronger.

The speaker regarded as one of the most remarkable factors that the Chinese have been growing in strength "and are much more effective and powerful than they were in the past." He said that a new unity appeared evident everywhere. No longer were the notorious war lords at each other's throats with large armies and the Chinese are "more united than ever before" with an entirely new sense of patriotism. The Leftists are to-day more patriotic than any other group because they have more to lose, but the Rightists, he claimed, represented the wealthy class which might be enticed to sell out to the aggressor.

After paying tribute to the great unity fostered by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, the speaker stated the slogan "China shall live again" is the spirit which is firing the Chinese to carry on their fight to "resist the invader and reconstruct the country." Here the speaker contrasted the democracy's plan to postpone reconstruction until after the war. "No great war was ever won by fighting for the status quo" warned the speaker, adding that the Chinese were no longer fighting for the dear old China of the past but for a great new China of the future. They realised that

Cheese Producers Vote $10,000 For Victory Loan

TORONTO, Feb. 18.—Members of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, assembled here for their ninth annual convention at the Royal York Hotel, voted unanimously yesterday to subscribe $10,000 to Canada's second Victory Loan. The association contributed a similar amount to the first Victory Loan a year ago.

The need for greater cheese production to fill Empire and domestic needs was stressed at the convention by C. E. Lackner, director of dairying, Ontario Department of Agriculture, who emphasized the necessity for equipping factories for winter production.

"It is quite true that we do not want all the plants to equip for winter production, as there isn't sufficient milk to keep them all operating," he said. "But we are convinced that there aren't sufficient plants operating in some sections of Central and Eastern Ontario to allow the producers to send their milk to a cheese factory.

Maintain British Supply

"We will continue to supply Britain with all the cheese possible," said Mr. Lackner. "We are willing to do that and reduce our own consumption as we did in 1941. From the standpoint of a long-term policy, reducing domestic consumption is a mistake. We will need our home market after the war and if our people become accustomed to doing without cheese now, it will take considerable time to make them consumers of cheese after the war."

Mr. Lackner said that Canada may be expected to export 125,000,000 pounds of cheese to Britain in 1942. This is approximately 24,000,000 pounds less than the entire production for 1941, and would mean that Canadians would have only slightly more than two pounds per capita for domestic consumption.

He pointed out that the Dominion had fallen short of its objectives in the production of milk and cheese last year.

"We succeeded in filling our contract with Great Britain," he said, "not by increased production, but by cutting into home consumption. If we are going to increase our exports to Britain this year we have got to get down to the business of increasing production of milk."

He conceded that the labor shortage is serious, but said: "If we make up our minds that the job must be done, it will be done and well done."

Dr. J. F. Singleton of Ottawa, associate director of marketing service for the dairy branch, addressed the convention yesterday afternoon, and estimated that an increase of two-and-a-half per cent in the volume of milk should take care of 1942 requirements for overseas and home consumption.

Dr. Singleton estimated that Canada's present consumption of cheese is 3,300,000 pounds per month.

Warns of Problems.

He warned of problems that are facing the industry. He indicated that "the most disquieting things concern supplies of steel and tin." The tin for cheese vats previously was imported from the United Kingdom but, with the fall of Malaya, it is unlikely that Great Britain will be able to spare any of its scanty tin resources.

Tin or black iron for milk cans previously was imported from the United States and the supply there is uncertain. He warned that during the first few weeks of next summer it is unlikely that there will be enough dried "heading" available for cheese boxes.

S. L. Joss of Belleville, secretary-terasurer of the association, who has been investigating the important cheese box situation, announced that the Government has carried out experiments with a by-product of lumber for the purpose of determining its suitability for use as veneer for cheese boxes. The result of the experiment was that permission was granted for the use of this veneer.

"We have also interviewed others in the cheese box business," he said, "and our conclusions are that 35 cents a box is a fair price, and there does not seem to be any need for anxiety as to an adequate supply of boxes for 1942."

Other speakers at yesterday's sessions were: P. D. McArthur, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada; and George Gardiner of Seeley's Bay, who retires this year from his post as president of the Ontario association.

Provincial Government To Adjourn To Await Outcome Of Federal Tax Issue

TORONTO, Feb. 18 — (CP). — The Ontario Legislature is to adjourn today—just one week after it opened. The adjournment, for an indefinite period, will continue until the Provincial Government has completed negotiations with the Dominion Government over the transfer of the corporation and income taxes and its fiscal condition is clarified.

The Premier announced after yesterday's sitting he would move adjournment — a recommendation made by Opposition Leader George A. Drew when he preceded Mr. Hepburn in the Leaders' Day debate on the Speech from the Throne.

During his speech, Premier Hepburn said the province was "having difficulties in dealing with a government which doesn't know where it is going."

It was not the fault of his government, he said, that it was not in a position to place the budget before the House.

"We cannot budget when he have no idea of what steps Ottawa intends to take with regard to revenue."

Detailing the difficulties in reaching an agreement with the Dominion on the tax transfers, Mr. Hepburn said the definition of corporation tax as proposed by Ottawa is "ambiguous and unsatisfactory." He was also opposed to the Dominion interfering with the collection of corporation taxes by municipalities which have responsibilities that should not be interfered with.

"It is only within the last few days," he continued "that Ontario has learned definitely that while the province is being asked to sign away its rights of taxation....the Dominion Government has no intention of passing complementary legislation but has voted a sum estimated to take care of the amounts covered by the agreement for 1941-42, which will be made available to implement the agreement insofar as payments to the province are concerned this year."

Lauds British Setup.

Col. Drew reviewed his trip to the British Isles last fall and praised the agricultural and industrial methods in force in the Homeland. He extended the sympathy of the House to Secretary Harry Nixon, whose son died in action with the R.C.A.F., and to Frank Spence (Con. Fort William) whose son was with the Canadian Forces at Hong Kong.

In winding up his speech, the Opposition Leader recalled he had warned a year ago that unless the Ontario Government had some intimation of Ottawa's plans the budget for the coming year would be nothing but "the wildest guess."

He said that until this "specific" information was obtained the Government would be creating "nothing but men of straw which may be knocked down immediately afterward by Orders-in-Council passed either under the War Measures Act or the Mobilization Act." He then urged adjournment of the House.

No Profit Proposition.

Mr. Hepburn said his government has transferred free of charge to the Dominion government buildings valued at more than $16,000,000 to be used in the war effort and had not like other provinces "profited" by renting such buildings.

Referring to the Sirois report, Premier Hepburn said one of Ontario's principal objections was to the provision which required the province to yield a good share of its staple revenue—that derived from the corporation tax proceeds of which were used to pay for social purposes.

"We found that with the staple tax taken away, we were to be left with taxes which time could not improve," he said, referring to gasoline and liquor taxes. The province had no way of being able to forecast what these taxes would yield under present-day conditions.

Turning to the pending agreement with the Dominion over the taf transfers, Mr. Hepburn said "we were bludgeoned into accepting their conditions under the threat of double taxation on corporation and income taxes if Ontario stood alone among the provinces."

He said the province was still in disagreement with the Dominion on the subject and the Cabinet Council

British Government Shake-up Is Discussed

LONDON, Feb. 17 (CP Cable) — Will Prime Minister Churchill yield to his critics and reconstruct the Government

This question was asked in political circles tonight after the Prime Minister had faced one of the most critical House of Commons sessions since he took office.

He read his carefully prepared statement on the Dover battle to a silent House, but failed to allay the uneasiness of some of the members over the conduct of the war.

Critics will have a chance to attack the Government probably next week in the debate granted by the Prime Minister, but some circles wondered whether cabinet changes might not be made in the interval.

Possible Steps

A busy day of conferences and consultations among various groups terminated in speculation as to whether the Prime Minister might not take one or more of these steps:

1. Reduce the War Cabinet to a small group freed of departmental worries, whose one job would be to get on with the war.

2. Appoint a separate Minister of Defense—although Mr. Churchill today told a questioner that he would not surrender that post.

3. Reconstruct the Administration—a step regarded by many as likely.

Criticism made by members in the lobby after fifty minutes of Churchill's statement was crystallized at the private meeting of the Midland group of M. P.'s. This group adopted a resolution of "unabated confidence" in Mr. Churchill, but drew his attention to the "grave feeling of unrest and doubt" prevailing in the country.

Effective co-ordination of defense services and reconstruction of the Government to enable "entire energy and thought to be concentrated on the war effort," were urged.

The situation is to be discussed also by other House groups, including the powerful 1922 Conservative committee and the labor group.

"Grand Inquest."

Mr. Churchill had a difficult House to handle. Before he entered, midway through the question period, members already has displayed restiveness when they snapped at a couple of Government speakers who were answering queries about prisoners' food parcels and gasoline.

Some resentment was aroused by the Prime Minister's reference to the "mood of anger and panic" in the House as he suggested the disadvantages of an immediate debate on the fall of Singapore and the escape of the Nazi warships. There were some shouts of "Withdraw."

Finally, when it was decided to hold a full debate, cheers greeted Earl Winterton's declaration that it must be "a grand inquest into the whole affair."

This debate may last two days and it is expected that Sir Stafford Cripps, newly retired from his Embassy post at Moscow, will participate. He made his first appearance in the House today, but remained silent throughout the proceedings.

There is no indication at present that the Government will seek another vote of confidence.

150 U.S. Troops Visit Oshawa

OSHAWA, Feb. 18.—Oshawa was the second Canadian city to be "captured" Tuesday by 150 visiting United States troops who took Toronto by storm Monday.

Heralding the opening of Ontario County Victory Loan drive the troops, members of the 101st Regiment, arrived in the city at noon after making brief stops in Pickering and Whitby on the trip from Toronto.

Headed by their brass band and accompanied by large contingents of Canadian troops in Bren gun carriers, armored cars and one heavy tank, the men staged a short route march witnessed by hundreds of noon-hour spectators. The United States contingent was under command of Brigadier Thomas Troland.

Following the parade the officers and men were the guests of General Motors officials and officers of the Second Battalion, Ontario Regiment. The men were given their dinner at the General Motors auditorium while the officers were the guests of Lieutenant-Colonel R. B. Smith and Colonel R. S. McLaughlin at the officers' mess in the armories.

"We welcome you as good neighbors, and brothers in arms in this struggle with a common goal as our objective," Mayor Gifford, himself a lieutenant in the Second Battalion, Ontario Regiment, told the men.

Japanese Claim

if the old doesn't go the new cannot come, and this new idealism is being stressed by the Chinese.

Turning to the new life movement fostered by Madame Chiang, the speaker said that both she and the Generalissimo had worked out the plan with missionaries, medical and educational workers which had helped to bring about the new order. No longer was marriage such a difficult proposition with large dowries to be paid before the bride was handed over. They are now married in "batches of ten to one hundred at a time." To better contrast the new status of women, Rev. Mr. Williams recalled that it used to be the policy for a man with five or six sons to go out and buy up six or ten girls as prospective wives for them. The woman's position was little more than that of a chattel, he reminded, and once carried over the threshold of her husband's home she was never allowed to step outside again until she was a grandmother. "Behind all this re-birth is the Christian spirit which is the remarkable thing. Christians planned the great industrial movement which is giving them new life today," he said. One of the great tasks acomplished was the movement of industry from territory threatened by the Japanese to territory far west of the war zone. Some 448 factories were carried on the shoulders of coolies across the mountains and started over again, and this same procedure was followed when their colleges were destroyed by bombs. Their personnel merely moved to new locations and continued their work.

Rotarian A. J. Meyers moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker for his splendid address. Guests at the meeting included Rotarian W. A. C. Witthum of Ottawa, Rev. J. R. Bick, and Capt. Burton Pedlar.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. H. Tremain, in the chair.

The business meeting opened with a hymn and all the regular reports were read and approved. This was followed by a splendid account of the annual Presbyterial meeting at Mark street church, given by Mrs. J. Johnston. The members are planning to take advantage of the offer to obtain books through the presbyterial. It was decided to have the annual tea in May this year, the exact date to be set later.

The worship service was led by Mrs. F. Harris' group, with scripture passages read by Mrs. Dewdney and Mrs. Crozier. A complete and interesting review of the study book was given by Mrs. A. A. Munro and Mrs. Rogers led in prayer.

Rev. M. C. Parr Guest At Anniversary

A very enjoyable evening was had by George Street Young People's Union on Monday. The Young People were at home to members of the congregation on the occasion of their anniversary. Rev. M. C. Parr of Wesley United Church, Galt, formerly of George Street, was the guest speaker. Loretta McDougall was in the chair, and Dorothy Smith, Mary Walker and Margaret Edmison taking part. The subject of Mr. Parr's address was "Detoured Youth." Dr. Smart of St. Paul's and Rev. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Church, associates of both Mr. Parr and Mr. Roberts, were also present. We were favored by three numbers sung by Mrs. James Goldie, "Green Pastures" and "Vespers," and as an encore she sang "I Shall Not Pass Again This Way." Loretta McDougall made the announcements and also read a letter received from Lloyd Parnall, R.C.A.F., who is now serving overseas. A light lunch was served during which Mr. Parr renewed acquaintances with his many friends.

Muriel Moorhouse, Once of City, Is Wed in Essex

Miss Muriel Moorhouse of Essex, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Moorhouse, of Forest, was united in marriage to Cpl. Bernard Cecil Neice, R.C.A.F., stationed at St. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Neice, of Essex, on February 12. The bride's father was minister at St. James' United Church not long ago. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. Moorhouse, brother of the bride, in Gesto United Church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white jersey gown, fashioned on Grecian lines, with an accordion pleated skirt, a draped bodice and short, full sleeves. She wore a corsage of white carnations and a wisp of veil in her hair and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Marjorie Neice, sister of the groom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a frock of aquamarine moire taffeta trimmed with tiny rose velvet bows, rose carnations in her hair. She carried a bouquet of rose carnations. Mr. Emerson Neice, cousin of the groom, was best man. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Manley Barnett.

After the ceremony a reception was held at which the bride's mother wore a black gown with a short bolero jacket edged with white, a black hat, and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Neice, mother of the groom, chose blue, with white trim, a black hat, and Talisman roses.

Cpl. and Mrs. Neice left later for a motor trip east, the bride travelling in a black tailored suit, with a muskrat coat.

Gay Dance Is Held For Benefit Of Local Sailors

Naval Cadets from the Grove School lent an appropriate air to the dance held at the Legion Hall on Tuesday night in aid of the Women's Auxiliary of the R.C.N.V.R. This is a new organization which is being set up to look after the comfort and welfare of Peterborough boys serving in the Canadian Navy.

The dance hall was decorated with flags and red, white and blue streamers. Furniture was loaned by A. Comstock and Sons, plants by Turnbulls' flower shop, and flags by Mrs. H. Dunford. The Canadian Legion co-operated by giving the use of the hall for the event.

During the evening a floor show, provided by the talented pupils of Mrs. Marion Perry Laird, gave great pleasure to the guests. Patrons of the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Ian McRae, Mrs. E. Wand and Mr. and Mrs. William Milburn. Duffus' orchestra provided music for dancing.

Audience Enjoys Comedy At Knox Church

A good-sized and appreciative audience laughed heartily on Tuesday evening at trials and tribulations suffered by those who marry for spite of money, as presented by the Bethany Young People's Union in the farce-comedy, "Aunt Bessie Beats the Band," at Knox United Church.

The play was directed, very ably indeed, by Mrs. Walter Roland of Bethany, and all players acted their parts capably. The plot concerned a young lady, Miss Alice Morley, who is jilted by her sweetheart, and determines to have revenge on the entire male sex by making one man miserable for life; and her middle-aged, cynical housekeeper, Aunt Bessie, who married just to prove that she could if she wanted to. The play was further enlivened by the romance of Betsy Blotter, Miss Morley's kitchen maid, and Simon Trotter, a man-of-all-work of the Mortimer Snerd variety, and also by the wiles of Miss May Catchum, a man-hunting spinster of uncertain age.

The part of the heroine, Miss Morley, was played gracefully by Miss Gwenyth Staples and that of her unfortunate victim, Paul Vernon, was equally well-played by Allan Beer. Beatrice Morton was pert and pretty as Betsy and in his brief appearance as the faithless sweetheart, Frederick Frost, Mr. Charlie Preston gave a capable performance. A lawyer who married for money—and got stung — was played very amusingly by Mervin Porteous. Aunt Bessie, whose biting and merciless tongue provided most of the laugh-lines of the play, was extremely well-played by Miss Jean Fairbairn. Simon Trotter, lovelorn and hay-fever stricken, was played by Ralph Preston, who did a splendid job. Miss May Catchum was played by Miss Clara Beer.

During the intervals between the acts, some very fine piano duets were played by Miss Helen Patten and her pupil, Norman Lowes.

Rags Essential To War Effort, Must Be Salvaged

"Rags are an essential sinew of war." So says a weekly news letter from the National Salvage Office. Canadians waste far too much rag, just as they have been too wasteful of many, many things in the past. Rags are used as wipers in the factories that turn out the weapons of war; other kinds are used in roofing. Canada needs both kinds now as she never needed them before.

In one year before the war, Canada imported 56,800,000 pounds of rags from Europe, Great Britain and the United States. None of these imports now enter the country, and yet Canada collected during the first year of the war, only 50,000,000 pounds of rags.

This lazy wastefulness must cease. Delve into rag bags; penetrate into attics and cellar. Search out those hoarded rags that are no use to you where they are, but which can render so great a service in helping to forge the weapons that defend democracy. And hurry. We need those weapons now—not tomorrow—or next week—or next year—but now! Telephone the salvage committee at 9116 and tell them to call for your bundle of rags right away.

There seems to be an impression abroad that the salvage committee collects used clothing for war victims and refugees. Such is not the case. The only clothes wanted by your salvage collector are those which are good only for use as wipers or in roofing. Clothing which is still good, or that can be made over, should be sent to the Red Shield or to some other organization which makes over or repairs used clothing.

Children's Aid Holds February Meeting

The February meeting of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society was held in the board room of the city buildings, on Tuesday afternoon, with the chairman, Mr. J. Dutton, presiding. Mr. Dutton welcomed a new member to the Board, Mr. A. Archibald of North Monaghan, who represents the county council.

Miss Rachel Young, supervisor of the Children's Aid, read her report and the problems contained in it were discussed. The problem of children left alone in home without adequate supervision is becoming increasingly serious. One family has been moved from the wood-camp near Apsley and given suitable living quarters and material aid in another community. A marked rise in the standards of this family has been noted since thy took up residence in the community. Ways and means of preventing these shacks being used as living quarters again were discussed.

Satisfaction was expressed at the report that the age for compulsory school attendance will not be lowered and Miss Young also felt gratitude to Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt for bringing to the attention of Baby Bands in the city the need for baby clothes. The response to this has been very fine indeed.

The Shelter report was read by Mrs. S. Maguire, who also reported that all three theatres employ matrons on Saturday afternoons and special holidays.

The budget for 1942 was introduced and discussed. It was decided to hold the annual meeting as soon as possible after the regular meeting on April 21 and Mr. Dutton suggested that the Hon. Mr. Oliver, minister of Public Welfare, be asked to speak.

Boy Scouts Entertain Parents' Auxiliary

The regular meeting of the Parents' Auxiliary of the 5th Troop of Boy Scouts met on Tuesday evening in All Saints' Parish Hall, with the president, Mrs. A. Watkins, in the chair. Rev. Mr. W. Filer opened the meeting with prayer, followed by a Scripture reading by Mrs. H. J. Kearns. Further letters were read from soldiers who received parcels from the Auxiliary at Christmas.

Assistant Scout Commissioner A. J. Wolfe, guest speaker, gave a talk on the observation of the birthday of Baden-Powell, Chief Scout, among the Scout organizations. He outlined and elaborated on the principles of the ten Scout laws, and the meaning of the Scout ceremonies, for the benefit of the parents and the Scouts.

Following the speech, Mrs. Watkins, on behalf of the Auxiliary, presented the Scoutmaster, Art Rose, with a new flag, for use in the troop's flag raising ceremonies.

The meeting was then taken over by the Scouts, who put on a display of their games and work for the benefit of their parents. Mr. A. Hope spoke a few words of encouragement to the boys and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

St. David's Society Re-elects Officers for 1942

The St. David's Welsh Society held their business meeting and election of officers for the coming year at the home of Mrs. V. Hill, Gladstone Avenue, on Monday. The president, Mrs. G. Pakenham, presided.

Business was discussed and it was decided to send another donation of $10 to the British War Victims' Fund, this being the Society's third donation. Donations were also sent to the Welsh Ambulance Fund and Welsh Relief. The ladies have been sewing and have sent over $100 worth of layettes to Britain.

It was decided that all officers for the past year be elected by acclamation for the coming year. They are as follows: Honorary President, Rev. Mr. Hughes; President, Mrs. G. Paokenham; Vice-Presdent, Mr. V. Mills; Secretary, Mr. G. Reader; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Bartley.

After the meeting was adjourned refreshments were served by the hostess and social committee.

LOVE IS NOT ENOUGH TO KEEP WHEELS OF MARRIAGE MOVING

Emotions Are Fine and Necessary but Practical Side Must Be Followed.

THE other day I was trying to persuade a very young girl from rushing into marriage with a very young boy. "Wait," I begged her "until John is in a position to support a wife. Why, he isn't making enough now to feed a canary bird."

"Love has taken my appetite," she replied. "I do not eat much now. I just feed on love."

"Well, what about clothes?" I brutally insisted. "You've always been very keen about having the latest thing in frocks and hats."

"If I am clothed in John's love, I shall not care whether I am wearing rags or imported finery. His arms about me will keep me warmer than a mink coat."

"But," I urged, "you have always been so gay. You've always gone everywhere and done everything and been the life of the party. It takes money to entertain and be entertained. You can't do that on an income of practically nothing a year. You and John will have to drop out of your old crowd. You will have to spend your evenings in a little two-by-four flat looking at each other."

"So much the better," she cried. "Why, just to see John in a crowd gives me such a thrill it makes my knees weak. Think of having him all to myself and being able to look at him for hours at a time! I shall not want any other excitement when I have that."

"You will both have to make sacrifices," I warned.

"We shall not mind that. Just love will be enough for us," she answered confidently.

Common Sense Loses Argument

And I gave up, as common sense always does when it argues with sentiment.

"Love is enough." It is the eternal cry of romance, but love alone is not enough capital to marry on. For love isn't self-sustaining. It has to have a lot of aid and adjuncts to keep it a going concern. It has to have an adequate financial foundation, for one thing. It is all very well for a lovesick girl, who has had three square meals every day of her life, to say that she can live on bread and cheese and kisses, but she finds out that after marriage she is just as hungry as she was before marriage, and that a steady diet of bread and cheese diminishes her appetite for kisses.

Also, she discovers that after marriage she takes just as much interest in pretty clothes as she did before marriage; that she likes to go places and do things just as much, and that she can get fed up on the society of her Romeo if she gets too much of it.

Practical Side Is Necessary

For the truth is that while love is the meringue on the lemon pie of life, it isn't the whole thing. It adds sweetness and flavor and beauty to it, but what nourishes us is the good substantial foundation under it. A marriage without love is cinders, ashes and dust, but a marriage that has nothing in it but love is a painted balloon that collapses in our hands.

Emotions do not last. Time withers them, as the sun does a fragile flower. No man and woman can keep thrilling over each other for thirty or forty years at a stretch. And no man and woman can ever be all-in-all to each other. They must have other people, other interests, other amusements.

It isn't enough for a husband and wife to love each other personally. They must love a lot of the same things. They must love the same books, the same kind of people, the same amusements, if they are to be happy together.

This is something that the boys and girls who cry out "love is enough" do not know, and that is why more than one-third of all youthful marriages end in divorce within five years after the wedding. When the honeymoon wanes and the stern realities of life begin; when the billing and cooing ceases and the discussion of how to pay the

By HENRY BELLAMANN

THE STORY: Schoolmates in smalltown Kings Row are orphaned Parris Mitchell, desperately ill after overseer father of childhood sweetheart Renee beats her, whisks her away; "all boy" Drake McHugh; tomboy Randy Monaghan; beautiful Cassandra Tower whose doctor father, town mystery, takes her out of school after social snub from Gordons; Louise Gordon, leading physician's daughter; half-wit Benny Singer, brunt of schoolboy jokes. Other characters: Madame von Eln, French grandmother of Parris whom he adores; surgeon Dr. Gordon, whom Parris fears; lawyer Skeffington.

FULMER GREEN'S GANG

CHAPTER VII

Renee was gone. He knew he would never see her again. He felt his stomach shake, but his eyes were quite dry.

"Parris! My darling child—you mustn't. I'll try to send for Renee if you'll be very quiet and not worry."

He knew his grandmother could not. Never, never, never!

"What time is it?"

"Why—I don't know, child. Almost seven, I suppose."

"I mean—no, no—I mean what time this week?"

"Oh—it's Sunday."

"Goodness! Why, I got sick last Tuesday, didn't I?"

"Longer than that, dear. It's the middle of August."

"The—middle — of — August?" He whispered the words. "Have I been—"

"You've been unconscious for weeks, Parris. You see now how very sick you have been, and how careful you'll have to be."

"What's the matter with me?"

"You've had fever—a very bad fever."

He was silent for a few minutes. He turned his head very slowly on the pillow and looked out of the window. "When—when did she go away?"

"What? Oh! The Gyllinsons left just the day after you took sick."

"Why?"

"Well, Sven told me he had the offer of better wages and he'd have to go. I hated to lose him. He was a good manager."

"Did Renee—did—" He couldn't frame the question; he feared the answer.

"I didn't see Renee, Parris. Anna said she came to the kitchen door that morning. She thought Renee seemed very frightened—maybe because she heard you were so sick. She ran away again very quickly. Sven made up his mind very suddenly. It seemed queer."

"Where did they go?"

"I don't know, dear. I don't think Sven told anyone. He packed up in a hurry and went off. I think down toward the Ozark Mountains, somewhere. Now don't talk any more. Try to go to sleep. You'll be getting strong soon, now."

His convalescence was slow and tedious. Gradually he learned to take a few steps, and then to walk without leaning on Anna.

It was a long time before he could bring himself to so much as look toward the Gyllinson cottage. It stood empty and close shuttered. The sight of it struck him with an almost physical impact. He wanted to lie down and cry when he thought of Renee and what had happened to her. He blamed himself. He could hear again her voice saying, "Maybe we'd better go back."

* * *

"I guess Uncle Henry could hitch up and take me to school next week, couldn't he?" Parris asked the question a bit diffidently one morning at breakfast. "I guess I couldn't walk that far yet?"

Madame folded her napkin carefully, placed it beside her plate, and hunted in her reticule for her glasses before she replied.

"You're not going to school this year, Parris."

"Wha-at?" His eyes opened very wide with astonishment.

"You won't be strong enough to start next week, and I have decided to get a tutor for you this winter. You can study at home."

"Oh, goodness". The tone of his voice dropped a little. It was mixed with dismay. School was really not bad. He had been looking forward to seeing everybody again.

"Besides," Madame continued, "you need study in German and French that you don't get at school."

"Oh, dear. I don't know—"

"I'll arrange at Aberdeen College to get a nice young man to come here and hear your lessons. You can study at home, and I'm sure you will make better progress anyway. Of course you can go on with your piano lessons if you want to."

Parris knew that tone in his grandmother's voice. It was settled. He sighed. "All right," he said.

* * *

It was not until Thurston St. George called on his grandmother one warm afternoon that Parris learned, from their conversation, the nature of his illness.

"So this is your grandson!" Massive Mr. St. George affected surprice. "I'd never have known you, boy. Been sick, I hear."

"Yes sir."

"What's the matter?"

Madame interrupted hastily. "It seems to have been a spell of — brain fever."

"Hmm. That's not so good. Been studying too hard, sonny?"

"I—I don't think so, sir."

"Parris, ask Anna to make some lemonade."

The talk had run to other matters when he returned with glasses and a pitcher making a pleasant tinkle of ice.

"By the way, Marie," Mr. St. George was saying, "I hear you've lost your overseer. Know old Tom Carr?"

"Oh, yes. Big bushy head of white hair? I've seen him."

"Believe he'd be a good man for you."

"Well, I might talk to him."

"Tell you what. I'm riding out that way tomorrow. I'll send him around. I'd like to see him get a good place. Surely you remember the Carrs!"

"Don't recall them, Thurston."

"They came here from New York state. Had some money. Started off in big style—horses, carriage, everything. He tried trading in real estate. Lost it all. Wife went crazy—she's been in the asylum here twice, but he keeps her at home now and looks after her himself. He's a good man."

"Um—send him to see me."

"It'd be a mercy, ma'am, if you could take him. I heard she was a graduate of Vassar College back there, but she's crazy as a loon now. Got dropsy, too. Fat as an elephant."

"Dangerous, do you think? I wouldn't wan't to have—"

"Oh, no, no! Not all all. Just sits and sings. Too fat to move."

"Heavens. I'll be glad if I can help the poor man. What a life that must be!"

The fires of Indian summer burned on every hill, and the nostalgic odors of autumn filled the air. It was the most stirring of all seasons in this region.

One warmish day a crowd of boys swarmed down the hill after school, shouting the relief of their escape from the stuffy classrooms. It was Fulmer Green's "gang." Fulmer Green had won through to undisputed leadership after two years of bullying fights and the commission of such minor depredations as gained him the admiration and adherence of his kind. His mother, ambitious for a better standing in Kings Row since they had moved "uptown," tried to break Fulmer's old associations. So far she was unsuccessful.

The boys swooped down the hill and passed through the tiny streets of Jinktown.

"Looky!" Fulmer pointed to the blue cottage at the end of the street. "That's where ol' crazy Ben lives." He picked up a rock and threw it in a long easy curve. It landed with loud thump on the rotten shingles. The boys shouted gleefully.

"C'mon, let 'em have some more." A shower of rocks clattered on the low roof, making the splinters of dry wood fly in every direction.

Mrs. Singer came out on the front step. "Get on with you! You're going to hurt somebody first thing you know."

The boys did not answer. They grinned and shuffled a shade uneasily. Mrs. Singer went into the house and closed the door. A heavy clod shattered against the panels, and yells of laughter greeted Fulmer Green's daring and spirited answer.

"C'mon," he commanded, looking back at the house as they passed. "Who does she think she is, anyhow? Crazy, that's what she is. People like that ain't got no business livin' round Kings Row, nohow."

One of the bolder boys sent another rock banging against the side of the house. Mrs. Singer appeared once more. "Go on, now," she called. "You quit that, or I'll have the

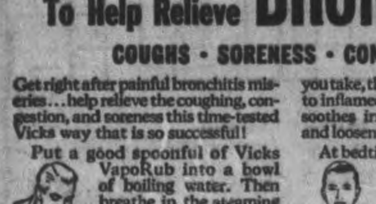
Double-Action Way To Help Relieve BRONCHITIS

COUGHS • SORENESS • CONGESTION

Get right after painful bronchitis miseries . . . help relieve the coughing, congestion, and soreness this time-tested Vicks way that is so successful!

Put a good spoonful of Vicks VapoRub into a bowl of boiling water. Then breathe in the steaming vapors for just a few minutes. With each breath you take, the medicine goes straight to inflamed bronchial tubes where it soothes irritation, quiets coughing and loosens tightness and congestion.

At bedtime rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Its poultice-vapor action works for hours to bring you added comfort while you sleep.



Quakers Beat Saints 16-12

The Quakers strengthened their chances for a spot in the Ladies' Basketball League playoffs by copping an important 16-12 victory over St. John's at the Y.W.C.A. last night. Quakers actually won the game in the first half when they set up a 12-8 margin and then battled St. John's to a 4-all deadlock in the final period. The losers battled hard to avert the loss that did nothing at all to help their playoff hopes, and had enough chances in the final quarter to win but failed to cash in on their opportunities.

The winners held a decided edge in the first half and shot more opportunely to earn the four point margin they pulled out in that period. St. John's shooting throughout the game was below par and particularly in the dying minutes they missed plenty of shots to have given them the verdict.

Quakers strong defense is clearly shown in that they held St. John's high scorer, Agnes Bowler, to a mere two points and throughout the game they held an edge in that department. Both teams strengthened their defenses in the last twenty minutes and after the fast opening period the second half was ragged in comparison. Either team could have decisively won the game by improving on their poor free throw records as Quakers scored exactly none in nine tries and St. John's were no better in their eight chances, making a grand total of none in seventeen throws. P. Ayres and P. Lawless were outstanding for the winners and E. Hewitt and A. Bowler were best for St. John's. The teams: teams:

Quakers, 16—P. Ayres 6, P. Lawless 4, H. White 2, M. Youdell, M. Duncan 2, D. Weese 2, G. Allen.

St. John's, 12—A. Bowler 2, D. Groombridge, E. Clark 2, F. Gynane, E. Hewitt 6, M. Mason, E. Foster, T. Lawe 2, M. Ellis.

would meet after adjournment in the hope of solving the matter.

Continuing, Mr. Hepburn said he did not know whether the Dominion proposed to control the export of pulpwood but that "we are producing only 60 per cent. of our capacity because of lack of manpower," which was available but which Ottawa refused to press into service.

Uncertain on Bonuses

The Premier said he was unable to say where his government stood in regard to the bonuses on cheese and hogs because of the present perplexed state of affairs.

In conclusion he said: "We have difficulties dealing with a government which doesn't know where it is going and because of this we are not in a position to state what the government will be able to do."

Col. Drew, in his opening remarks, referred to the fall of Singapore and declared that "we in Canada are in deadly peril . . . our very survival depends upon the speed and energy with which we now prepare."

Col. Drew said that from what he could see and learn of the organization of British Agriculture he ventured to say that here in Canada we were three years behind.

He told of the County War Agricultural committee which had succeeded in increasing the farm land under tillage from 12,000,000 acres at the outbreak of the war to 17,000,000 acres last year.

"They hope to add another 2,080,000 acres in the present year," Col. Drew added.

All organization was centralized under the Minister of Agriculture and while there were objections at the outset to what appeared to be the extreme arbitrary power in the hands of the committee, these had disappeared and the farmers were wholeheartedly supporting the plan.

The Industrial Plan

The opposition leader said industry is organized in a similar manner with regional committees, comprising representatives of employers, labor, women's organizations and the army, set up on the basis of density of industrial production.

"These committees—even have the power to bring men and women back from the armed forces to work in the factories if their services are required."

He said that perhaps the most important single aspect of the organization is the wonderful co-operation between employer and employees.

"Organized labor has been recognized from the outset as a full partner in the job of producing war material and the British trades unions have demonstrated their sense of responsibility by themselves advocating legal measures to outlaw all wartime strikes."

Switching to provincial matters, Col. Drew quoted excerpts from the speech from the throne dealing with proposed legislation to be brought before the House and declared "there is literally almost nothing before us."

He said there were no plans for agriculture, industry, labor or forestry—"thinks we should really be tackling."

Col. Drew said he predicted a year ago that unless the province had some intimation of the Dominion Government's plans the budget for the coming year could be nothing but "the wildest guess."

Former Carrier Boy

Ralph O. Parnell, O.C. serving with the R.C.N.V.R. on the seas, is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Parnell, Rubidge Street. His wife, the former Dorothy B. Weil, resides on Prince Street. After completing a course in coding in Quebec, this seaman was assigned to a ship, a Canadian minesweeper, and is now at sea. Besides being a former carrier boy, he was more recently employed as manager of Jay's Cigar Store.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

To-night, barring a few straggling games, will see the finish of the 1942 schedule season—but so important are some of these games that the present standing in three of the groups might receive quite a shock.

In Group A, Harry White and Jim Harkness will fight it out. Should Jim win the group championship will be settled; if Harry wins then there will be a play-off.

In Group B, if R. Pratten wins tonight he will be tied with E. Thomas for the group honors; should Mr. Pratten lose, then the C.G.E. quartet wins.

In Group C, it is more or less complicated. If Ross Williamson wins tonight, his rink wins the group. If he loses and George Sorenson loses, it looks as five or six would be tied for group honors.

However, it will be worth while to come down to the rink this evening and see just what happens.

The Neill Trophy competition will commence on Monday evening next at 6.45 p.m. Be sure your entry is in. Don't hang back or expect somebody else to do it for you.

Judging from the little pieces of news we have picked up here and there, we believe our ladies who were down at the Seigniory Club last week had one grand outing.

Today the ladies begin play for the Waddell Cup. This is the consolation event to the Gibson Trophy, and while there are still some games to be played in the Gibson Cup competition, yet it will have no bearing on the final outcome. Mrs. D. Clark's rink is already the winner. And, speaking of Mrs. Clark's rink, they have gone through the entire schedule, won all their games, and with their own rink in attendance at every game, and have earned the right to hold the Gibson Trophy for the coming season. This is some record to shoot at, and we congratulate the players both as individual players and as a rink.

The personnel of the rink is: Mrs. L. Fletcher, Mrs. M. Risor, Mrs. D. Davis, Mrs. D. Clark, skip

Prairies Top Curling Win

QUEBEC, Feb. 18.—(CP)—Manitoba has won the Canadian curling championship Macdonald's Brier Tankard nine times since the trophy was placed in competition in 1927. Alberta rinks have won three times, Ontario twice, with Nova Scotia the victor in the first year of Canadian title play.

Cliff Manahan of Edmonton and Howard Wood and Gordon Hudson of Winnipeg are the only skips ever to win the title twice. Manahan won in 1933 and 1937, Wood in 1930 and 1940 and Hudson in 1928-29.

The winners:

1927—Nova Scotia, Murray MacNeill, Halifax.

1928—Manitoba, Gordon Hudson, Winnipeg.

1929—Manitoba, Gordon Hudson, Winnipeg.

1930—Manitoba, Howard Wood, Winnipeg.

1931 — Manitoba, Bob Gourley, Winnipeg.

1932—Manitoba, James Congalton, Winnipeg.

1933—Alberta, Cliff Manahan, Edmonton.

1934 — Manitoba, Leo Johnson, Winnipeg.

1935—Ontario, Gordon Campbell, Hamilton.

1936—Manitoba, J. K. Watson, Winnipeg.

1937—Alberta, Cliff Manahan, Edmonton.

1938—Manitoba, Ab Gowanlock, Glenboro.

1939—Ontario, Bert Hall, Kitchener.

1940—Manitoba, Howard Wood, Winnipeg.

1941—Alberta, Howard Palmer, Calgary.

Farm Radio Hour In Lakefield Area

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 18—(ENS).— Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frankish gave their home on Monday evening for the first meeting and organisation of the Farm Radio Forum in that community. The radio broadcast and the discussion of the topic for the evening were followed by a short recreational period. Then after the serving of dainty refreshments by the hostess the meeting adjourned, with the next one planned for at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Dunford on Monday evening, February 23, at 8.15 D.S.T.

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Splendid

Saves Real Money. No Cooking. Real Results.

To get really surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—anyone can do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it's hard to beat, for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a 16 ounce bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid cough syrup—about 4 times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a family a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it is actually splendid. It works in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

SHANNON.—In loving memory of Mrs. W. J. Shannon, who passed away one year today, on February 18, 1942.

Dear mother, your last parting wishes we would liked to have heard,
And breathed in our ear your last parting word;
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain in the heart at not saying farewell.
—Dearly missed by her loving children, husband and mother-in-law.

GROTTICK.—In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Gladys Ivy Whitworth, who passed away February 18, 1930.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember her who once was near
And who though absent is just as dear.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad and Sisters.

RUSAW.—In loving memory of Nelson J. Rusaw, who passed away one year ago today, February 18, 1941.

God knew that he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So he closed his weary eyelids
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some time, some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Remembered by Wife and Family.

law on you."

Fulmer stood in the road facing her squarely. "Aw, you shut up," he said.

"Go on, go on. If you don't behave yourselves, I'll sick the dog on you!" She closed the door once more.

"I'll tell you," he said. "Let's give her ol' house one good rockin', then we'll run."

A hail of stones fell on and around the house. A few windowpanes shattered with loud crashes. At that moment Benny, returning from a neighbor's, ran down the road and yelled at the top of his voice, "Stop that, stop throwin' rocks at our house, you dirty ol'—dirty ol' snoozers, you!"

The stones whizzed so close to his head he had to dodge. He ran quickly around the house and reappeared with an old rusty pitchfork. Holding it ahead of him, he charged straight at his tormentors. Benny chased them well out of Jinktown, and came back wiping the sweat from his face with his sleeve.

A week later Drake McHugh came to see Parris after school. "Did you hear about Benny Singer?"

"No, what?"

"He had a kind of fight over there in Jinktown with Fulmer Green's gang. They rocked Benny's house and he got after 'em with a big pitchfork. He pretty near got some of 'em, too. Guess he'd have killed 'em."

"Goodness, I never saw Benny fight, did you?"

"No, but he went for 'em that time. Fulmer told his daddy, and they had Benny arrested."

"Sure enough? Did they put him in jail?"

"Just one night. Mr. Green said he ought to be sent to a reform school, but Colonel Skeffington was on Benny's side—he got him off. But they bound Benny's mother over to keep the peace."

"Fulmer Green is kind of low-down, I think, don't you?"

"Sure he is. He's a stinker."

rent commences; when the young couple who thought that all they wanted was just to be together discover that they still want all the things they have always wanted and had, they can't take it, and another marriage goes on the rocks.

What a pity that boys and girls can't be made to realize that if they want to be happy though married they must have something in the cupboard besides love before they face the parson.

Plight of Unhappy Boy

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a boy of 16 and all mixed up in life. When I was two years old my parents were divorced and I was made a friend of the Court for both my mother and my father to enjoy. But my father took me to live with my grandparents, which for several years separated my mother and me completely, but I have at last seen mother and have learned to love her very deeply. Both my mother and father have remarried. My step-father welcomes me into his home, but I am unhappily situated in my father's home. I love my mother and want to be able to see her, but I love my father and do not wish to lose his love for me, yet he stubbornly refuses to let me visit my mother and says he will disown me if I do. Can you advise me?

UNHAPPY BOY.

ANSWER—Poor boy, you are another victim of divorced parents, one of the multitude who have four parents and no real father and mother, two homes and no stable home in which they belong and in which they can live in peace and security.

In choosing whether you will throw in your lot with your mother or your father, I think you will be wise in trying to decide which one can give you the best chances in life. Will your own father, or your step-father, be able and willing to give you the best education, and which one will be able to give you a start in business or profession?

Probably your own father will, as not many step-fathers are willing to support another man's children. Most of them feel that they are doing all that they can to take care of their own. Your father is being selfish and unreasonable in his not being willing for you to go to see your mother, but it will not be long before you will be a man and can do as you please. In the meantime the thing for you to consider is getting an education and a hand up in life.

Dress Designing Studied at Home

Diagrams Show Steps In Design

Today, any girl who loves clothes and has ideas about them may aim at a dress design career—there are wonderful new opportunities!

If you don't know the steps from bright idea to dress, you may teach yourself.

You might start by sketching your idea, using a cardboard figure as guide; then you make a foundation pattern—a piece of muslin you drape on a form.

For the blouse, pin the centre of the muslin to centre front of the dress form, allowing 4 inches above the neckline, and pin also along shoulder and under arm. Snip off excess muslin — cutting along the centre, too, for you work on only half the figure.

Now on this foundation pattern, work out your special design with colored thread and pins. As you learn the lines that flatter the figure, you create wearable, salable styles!

Our new 24-page instruction book describes step by step, with clear diagrams, how to sketch, drape and draft your pattern. Explains principle of design, how to combine colors, fabrics.

For your copy of "Dress Designing Self-Taught" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and name of instruction book.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

BID THE HIGHEST FIRST

WITH TWO five-card lengths in your hand in touching suits—spades and hearts, hearts and diamonds or diamonds and clubs—an opening bid should always be on the higher-ranking one. That is just as true if the higher is topped only by the 6-spot and the other is the five honors as when the difference in strength is less emphatic. If you start them in reverse order, you may not be able to find a good second bid at all, if it comes around to you again, and even if you do, you can never give your partner a true picture of your distributon, to land you in the right contract.

North: ♠ A 8 5 ♥ A K 8 ♦ 4 ♣ J 9 8 7 5 4

West: ♠ Q 9 6 2 ♥ J 10 3 ♦ K 10 8 ♣ K 6 3

East: ♠ J 10 7 4 3 ♥ Q 4 ♦ J 9 3 2 ♣ Q 10

South: ♠ K ♥ 9 7 6 5 2 ♦ A Q 7 6 5 ♣ A 2

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	2♣	Pass
2♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4♦	Pass	4♥

How much better bidding that was than at the duplicate table where South opened with 1-Diamond. North there got fancy by bidding 2-No Trumps. South didn't like this, but finally decided to bid 3-Hearts. This sounded to North like a four-card suit, coming after the initially-shown diamonds, so he bid 3-No Trumps. A spade lead doomed that contract. North had to lose two tricks before he could build up nine, whereupon the three setting spade tricks were taken.

Where hearts were bid first, South easily showed his five-five lengths with the rebid of diamonds, so North made the proper choice. Only two tricks were lost there, a diamond and a heart. Even with careless play, only three could be lost.

The important thing, in getting into the correct suit, is the number of separate pieces of cardboard your side holds in that suit, so that the opponents will be out of trumps while your side still has protection. Hence the order of your suit bids should be that which gives your partner correct information on that point, if you are strong enough to make the bids which will accomplish that important purpose.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 7 2 ♥ K J 10 5 3 ♦ A K 2 ♣ Q 10 5

West: ♠ A Q 9 6 4 3 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ 10 8 4 ♣ 7

East: ♠ 8 5 ♥ 9 8 7 4 ♦ Q 9 7 ♣ 9 8 3 2

South: ♠ K J 10 ♥ 2 ♦ J 6 5 3 ♣ A K J 6 4

(Dealer: South. Neithe. side vulnerable.)

What is the soundest bidding of this deal, in rubber or duplicate bridge?

Valentine Party Is Staged By Apsley W.I.

TRENT RIVER, Feb. 18—(ENS). A Valentine Party was held in the Trent River United church on Friday by the Young Peoples' League, in aid of the British War Victims' Fund. The proceeds for the Fund amounted to $14.00. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson acted as chairman for the splendid program which consisted of chairman's address, a reading by Miss Doreen Free, composed by Eleanor Brown; a duet by Miss Isobel Cook and Mr. H. Hutcheons, an instrumental by Miss Ruth Wilkinson; a vocal solo by Pearl Lewis, accompanuied by Mrs. W. Lewis; a play "Builders of Canada," was presented by the pupils of Trent River school, under the direction of the teacher, Miss L. Kidd; a vocal solo Miss Margaret Johnson, accompanied by Mrs. D. Dart; a song by H. Hutcheons; a play, "The Valentine," by the school pupils; a duet by Miss Isobel Cook and H. Hutcheons and a reading by Miss L. Kidd; League choruses were then sung with Miss Kidd leading and Mrs. D. Dart as pianist.

Following the program the entire assembly repaired to the dining hall where they were entertained with games and contests under the leadership of Doris Waters. Isobel Cook and Mrs. D. Dart. A substantial lunch was served by the league members at the close.

Personals

Mrs. G. Dart has returned home after spending the past two weeks with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Wight and family of Peterborough were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. M. Wight.

Pte. Keith Lewis, R.C.O.C. of Peterborough spent the week-end with his parents.

Mrs. K. Glenn of Seymour West was a week-end visitor with her daughter, Mrs. George Gardner, and Mr. Gardner of Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Stewart and Miss Alice Hay of Pickering were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. J. Hay.

Local and district friends of Mr. George Johnson of Seymour West, and who resided in this section until last year, will regret to learn of his passing at his home on Thursday of last week. The late Mr. Johnson resided on the Jos. Johnson farm for several years and was highly respected by all who knew him. The funeral was held on Saturday and burial was at Marmora.

Zion Y.P.U. Plans Visit To Hoards

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 18 (ENS). —Zion Y.P.U. have accepted an invitation to be guests of Hoard's Branch at a social evening on February 16, it was announced following the regular meeting held Wednesday. President E. Lindsay Anderson presided, and during the course of the evening gave the topic which was "In Time of War Prepare for Peace." On this topic Mr. Anderson spoke with the conviction that it was the church's responsibility to take the lead in the ultimate re-organization which must come after the war and he drew attention to the bitterness that would inevitably smoulder for years in some countries thereby greatly limiting the missionary effort of the future. In his opinion the people should prepare themselves physically, mentally and spiritually.

Others assisting with the program were Mr. and Mrs. A. Petherick, who gave a vocal duet, and Mr. Aylmer Petherick, who assisted Mr. Anderson with the devotional period.

School Hours Changed By Norwood Board

NORWOOD, Feb. 18 — (ENS).— The annual meeting of the Norwood Board of Education was held in the High School auditorium with the following members present: Mrs. E. P. Cuffe, Mrs. A. M. Weir, D. Starke, W. B. Tucker, G. Wright, G. Peoples, T. P. Rork, E. T. Buck, John Marks, H. G. Carleton, and E. H. Hamblin.

The newly appointed and elected members present signed their declaration of office. Nominations were called for chairman for 1942.

John Marks was nominated by E. T. Buck and H. G. Carleton, and declared elected. Mr. Marks then took the chair and thanked the members for the honor conferred, and for the co-operation given him during the past year. He welcomed new members to the Board.

Nominations were called for vice-chairman for the year 1942. Edgar Buck was nominated by H. G. Carleton and G. Wright, and declared elected.

The selection of the standing committees was then proceeded with.

The executive committee is composed of John Marks, chairman W. H. Montgomery, H. G. Carleton, Mrs. E. P. Cuffe, W. B. Tucker, T. P. Rork, and E. Hamblin.

The Property Committee is composed of E. T. Buck, chairman, W. H. Montgomery, D. Starke, R. Nevins and G. Wright.

The Supply Committee includes: E. Hamblin, chairman, Dr. Carleton and Mrs. Weir.

The Finance Committee is composed of W. H. Montgomery, chairman, John Marks, E. T. Buck, and T. P. Rork.

The School Management Committee is composed of Dr. Carleton, chairman, John Marks, and Mrs. Weir.

The Music Committee includes Mrs. E. P. Cuffe, chairman, W. B. Tucker, and G. Peoples.

W. H. Giffen, chairman of the Supply Committee in 1941, was present, and reported on unfinished business of the committee. Moved by E. T. Buck and T. P. Rork, that the Supply Committee be instructed to purchase a truckload of Pocahontas coal to be tried out in the Public School.

Moved by Mrs. E. P. Cuffe and W. B. Tucker, that Miss B. A. Borland be re-appointed to the Library Board.

Moved by W. B. Tucker and Mrs. Cuffe, that the regular meetings of the Board be held on the first Monday of the month at 8:30 p.m.

Moved by D. Starke and G. Wright that the schools be opened at 9:30 a.m. until Easter.

Scavenger Hunt Entertains Group

HAVELOCK, Feb. 18 — (ENS).— On Saturday evening the Young People's League from the Faith Mission Hall enjoyed a skating party at the local rink, and after returning to the hall were divided into four teams for a scavenger hunt. The captains were Reta Southward, Elaine Iles, Donald Newton and Allan Goheen, with the latter team winning the prize, by returning in the time set with the required number of "founds." After a short sing-song program, the usual refreshments were much enjoyed.

Re-elect Officers Norwood Red Cross Unit

NORWOOD, Feb. 18 — (ENS).— The regular monthly meeting of the local Red Cross branch was held in the auditorium of the High School. The president, S. S. Breckon, in the chair. In his opening remarks the president said he regretted that such a small number attended the meetings, when the branch has so many knitting and sewing and quilting, and a paid up membership of 120 from Norwood and district.

The vice-president, Mrs. Charles Coughlin, assumed the chair while Mr. Breckon was re-elected president. With Mr. Breckon in the chair the 1941 officers were returned to office by unanimous vote: Mrs. Charles Coughlin, vice-president; Mrs. R. K. Tedford, secretary and A. A. Waddell, treasurer.

Miss Pauline Weir is wool convener with Miss Mary McDonald assistant. The refugees supply committee, with Mrs. Henry Pearce, convener, includes Mrs. Golden Andrews, Mrs. Gideon Brown, Mrs. Earnest Patterson, Mrs. Gordon Girven and Mrs. Alfred Metcalf, all representing the several groups doing Red Cross work. Mrs. Pearce and Miss M. Buck were authorized to arrange for a sewing room.

Thirteen Attend

The February meeting of the Norwood Branch of the Women's Institute was held in the Orange Hall with Mrs. Gill as hostess and thirteen members answering the roll call.

Reports were received and accounts approved for payment. A letter of appreciation for money donated by the Institute for cigarettes was received from the I.O.D.E. local chapter.

Mrs. Simpson took charge of the program, which included a solo, two readings and community singing. Those taking part in this were Mrs. Golloher, Mrs. Innis, Miss M. Buck and Mrs. Simpson.

W.M.S. Meeting

The February meeting of the United Church Women's Missionary Society was held in the Sunday School room, with the president, Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, presiding.

The leader of the February group was unable to be present so Mrs. Lawlor continued in the chair. After a further period of devotions Mrs. W. H. Giffen gave the story from the study group. Mrs. Franklin Webster told of receiving word that her sister, Miss Greta Clarke, an Anglican missionary in China, and well known here, was now a prisoner of war.

Miss Nona Breckon contributed a solo "My Task" with piano accompaniment by Mrs. R. Ferguson.

Mrs. W. G. Barrie gave an interesting report of a meeting of the Presbyterial held recently in Peterborough.

Havelock Public School Pupils Aid Red Cross

HAVELOCK, Feb. 18 — (ENS).— Despite the inclement weather, 26 ladies were on hand at the regular Red Cross meeting on Monday afternoon and a splendid lot of work was accomplished. The business part of the meeting was conducted at four o'clock by the vice-president, Mrs. H. Roche.

A lovely gesture of kindness came from Grade 6 and 7 of the public school from Miss Watson and her pupils, enclosing a $2 bill, which they had won for obtaining the most new members for the Home and School Association, and a hearty vote of thanks is to be sent to them by the secretary, Mrs. C. Couch. All final plans for the euchre party on Tuesday evening were completed, when the draw on the autograph quilt will take place. A 5 pound parcel of print patches was received and will be used to piece quilt tops. During the afternoon two quilts were quilted and bound, woollen articles were labelled and bundled and the cutting committee was busy on the new sewing quota. A large amount of knitted articles was turned in, also a quilt top pieced by Mrs. C. Price. As the next meeting will be the last in February, light refreshments will be served at the close of the afternoon's work.

Ernest Thurtle Praises Canada

LONDON, Feb. 18—(CP Cable).— Canada's $1,000,000,000 gift to Britain and her interest free loan "indicate the existence of a bond between Canada and Britain which is quite beyond the comprehension of totalitarian dictatorships,' Ernest Thurtle, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Information, said at the annual luncheon of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce of Great Britain Wednesday.

"There is nothing of the sordid huckstering spirit of the market place in this magnificent gesture of friendship and comradeship," said Mr. Thurtle, who gave a detailed outline of the Dominion's contribution to the war effort.

H. W. Smart, referring in his presidential address to post-war plans, said Canada had willingly surrendered her long view plans and it was only fair to her that no hindrance should be put in the way of re-establishment of her pre-war trade.

Mr. Smart said there was equal responsibility on the part of the United Kingdom to share with Canada the task of re-establishing in commerce and industry the tens of thousands of Canadian soldiers who will be returning to the Dominion after the war.

93 BOMBERS IN TWO RAIDS RAIN RUIN ON DARWIN

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 19. (CP)– More than 100 Japanese bombers and escorting fighter planes attacked the north coast city and port of Darwin, potentially a vital United Nations naval and supply base, in two raids today in the first direct assaults on the Australian mainland. Prime Minister John Curtin, from his hospital sickbed, announced that 72 bombers with protective fighter formations participated in the first raid this morning, and that another wave of 21 bombers returned to the attack in the afternoon.

Four of the second group were shot down.

Mr. Curtin promised a full statement as soon as details are available. Reports do not give any information as to loss of life.

A communique issued subsequently said the raid lasted about one hour and was directed both against the town itself and against shipping in the harbor.

Some casualties were inflicted and there was some damage to service installations but details are not yet known, it said.

Darwin's importance to the United Nations has grown as Japan's tide of conquest has rolled southward in the Pacific toward this island continent.

Base Takes On Importance

At the start of the war in the Pacific, Darwin was essentially a reserve base for the United Nations behind Manila, Singapore and Surabaya and Amboina in the Netherlands East Indies.

Now Japan's hordes are poised for an invasion attempt against Java, the site of Surabaya, and all the others already are in enemy hands.

Surabaya is less than four hours' flying time for Port Darwin and Amboina is only 675 miles to the north.

The loss or incapacitation of Port Darwin might, therefore, banish the

Canuck Corvette Torpedoed

All 5 Officers 52 Men Die Only 8 Saved

Four Of Survivors Are Injured, In English Hospital

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—(CP).—Five officers of the Royal Canadian Navy, and 52 ratings, "are missing and must be considered lost" with the Canadian Corvette Spikenard, believed to have been torpedoed in the Atlantic, it was announced today.

Eight men, four of them wounded, were saved.

In the typically terse form common to all navy announcements, Navy Minister Macdonald made known the loss to-day.

The Spikenard's captain, Lt.-Cmdr. Hubert G. Shadforth, of Vancouver, and all of his officers, went down with their ship.

H.M.C.S. Spikenard, third Canadian Corvette to be lost since the second great war started, was believed to have been "torpedoed by a German submarine while she was on convoy escort work in the North Atlantic."

It was thought the vessel broke in two after being hit.

Loss of life on the Spikenard, including her commander, who was particularly well known in Canada's wes tcoast peacetimes mercantile marine operations, brought total Royal Canadian Navy dead and missing in this war to date to 522.

Four in Hospital.

"Four of the survivors, reported to be slightly wounded, are in hospital in England," said the statement from Naval Service Headquarters.

H.M.C.S. Spikenard had spent many weeks at sea throughout the winter in company with other ships of the Royal Canadian Navy guarding the lifeline to the United Kingdom.

"The fact that only eight men survived suggests the corvette broke

MOSCOW, Feb. 19—(AP).—Russian troops by-passing Smolensk to the north have penetrated into White Russia, Red Army dispatches announced today, but the most westward point of advance specifically mentioned was some 20 miles short of the White Russian border.

The dispatches reported the recapture of Kresty, in the Velizh district. Velizh itself lies 70 miles northwest of Smolensk and 20 miles east of the frontier of White Russia.

The Soviet Information Bureau told how, in one Central front sector, Russian troops, after beating off several fierce German attacks, seized the offensive and recaptured two villages from the enemy, who left 200 dead on the field.

CHUNGKING, Feb. 19—(AP).—War supplies for China will be moved over a new land route from India, replacing the Japanese-menaced Burma Road, a Chinese official announced today.

He said the problem of transportation of supplies from India to China had been worked out as a result of Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek's visit to India.

Concrete steps were agreed upon, the official said, whereby a much larger quantity of goods than ever was carried via the Burma Road henceforth will be transported to China by way of India over a route known to pass overland through Northern Burma into China, involving rail, road and river transportation.

Writers Watches Bomber Fire Pal's Ship

(Editor's Note.—Two Associated Press correspondents, starting from different points on two British ships, had the unique experience of being in the midst of the latest big sea-air battle in the Mediterranean, each unaware of the other's presence. Their stories follow.)

(By PRESTON GROVER.)

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Feb. 18—(Deyaled)—(AP).—British warships and planes engaged in keeping the sea lanes open in the Eastern Mediterranean have just completed a wide four-day sweep during which they damaged two cruisers and a destroyer and destroyed five Axis planes.

British losses during this period consisted of two planes and two merchant ships, which were set afire by Axis bombers while in convoy, and subsequently were sunk by escorting warships. A third freighter suffered superficial damage, but all participating British naval units escaped unscathed.

I was aboard one of the merchant vessels when it was set afire, and had a ringside seat for part of the far-flung action, which began on February 13 and continued through February 16, ranging from Malta to Alexandria and as far north as the Ionian Sea.

The Italian navy came briefly into the action when a force of its cruisers set out February 14 to finish off a British freighter damaged by a German dive bomber.

They didn't reach their target.

Blum Claims Upset Riom Trial

Declares Court Illegal; Gamelin Refuses To Enter Defence

RIOM, Unoccupied France, Feb. 19 (AP)—In a dramatic outbreak today at the opening session of the French war defeat trial, former Premier Leon Blum, one of the defendants, attacked the constitutionality not only of the court but of the present government of France.

The trial was suspended to permit the prosecuting attorney to prepare a reply.

Blum, the Socialist leader, pale and haughty as before the war, asked the court to declare itself unconstitutional since, he said, the republic itself exists and under its laws only the Chamber of Deputies has a right to indict a minister while only the Senate has the right to try him.

Blum and France's one-time commander in chief, Marie-Gustave Gamelin, a co-defendant, clashed over whether the cause of France's defeat was military or political.

Gamelin Plays Armys Honor

Gamelin, in a preliminary statement, said that for the honor of the army and since his conscience was clear, he refused to take a further part in the trial.

Pounding the table, Blum interjected that if the army were eliminated all that was left was to put the republic on trial.

Gamelin, alone of the five defendants, looked tired and ill. The other three are former Premier Edouard Daladier, former Air Minister Guy La Chambre and Pierre Jacomet, former Administrator of National Defence Industries.

On hand to report this strange post-mortem of France's collapse and Germany's victory was a large battery of German and other Axis correspondents while working across from them was a smaller group of

Other Attacks Due

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP).—War Secretary Stimson said today that the United States should expect attacks "all along our coasts and other places" like the raids made by submarines on the Netherlands Caribbean island of Aruba.

The Secretary urged at a press conference that the country be prepared also for pressure, from "thoughtless persons" to scatter defensive forces to meet such attacks.

"Yielding to that pressure would be the surest way I know of to lose the war," Stimson said.

Victory will be won, he declared, by massing forces to carry the war to the enemy. He gave assurances that urgent preparations were being made for offence.

Canada Shoves Loan 3rd Day To 124 Millions

OTTAWA, Feb. 19 (CP)—Canadians subscribed $39,140,250 yesterday to Canada's second Victory Loan for $600,000,000 and brought total subscriptions at the close of the third day of business to $124,576,250.

The National War Loan Committee, in giving out these figures, said the total number of subscribers yesterday was 34,509. Among them were 2,852 employees in factories who subscribed $304,900.

Included in the subscriptions were 31,264 names of persons who subscribed a total of $14,125,350, an average of $451.

"As in the case of the June Victory Loan this gave clear indication that citizens in general had seized hold of the loan and were bearing the torch high among the small subscribers," said the committee.

PILOT OFFICER George H. Evans, 21, of Montreal, flying with a Spitfire squadron of the Royal Air Force, drove off a Dornier-217 which attacked a British convoy off the east coast yesterday.

Evans managed this despite the fact his guns were unloaded. He made repeated mock dashes at the Dornier until it disappeared in the clouds.

"All I did was to dive at him a couple of times and then I didn't see him again," the pilot said.

Five Dorniers attacked the convoy, which got through unscathed. One was shot down into the sea and two others damaged, one of them by Wing Cmdr. Howard P. Blatchford of Edmonton.

Reinforcements Reach Java, Some Americans

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Fb. 19.—(AP)—Expeditionary forces of the United Nations, including a "relatively small number of Americans"—both ground troops and bomber and fighter pilots from the United States—have arrived in Java to help defend this island stronghold against the inevitable Japanese assault, it was announced today.

The combined expeditionary forces known previously also to include Australians, it was said authoritatively, are "by no means large enough yet" but "their arrival serves as an indication that the Netherlands Indies do not fight alone."

While Indies forces fought stubborn delaying actions in Southern Sumatra, Southern Borneo and Southern Celebes — the stepping stones to the Java citadel of the United Nations—Aneta News Agency was permitted to disclosed the arrival of the United Nations' forces.

The battles on the approaches to Java are helping the United Nations to mass all possible strength to meet the expected invasion of Java.

Coinciding with the announcement of reinforcements, Batavia had two air raid alarms today but there was no attack. Some observers said

British Fling Japs Back Into Bilin River

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 19—(CP).—British troops drove Japanese forces trying to cross the Bilin "into the river," army headquarters reported today in announcing that violent fighting with heavy casualties on both sides raged all along this front about 50 miles east of Rangoon's railway line to the Burma Road.

In the past 48 hours some parties of these shock forces, running a gauntlet of fire and hand-to-hand shore fighting had reached several precarious positions along the shoreline which British Empire forces are defending as the next to last natural barrier to the vital railway.

Only the Sittang River would remain for a river-line defence of the railway if the Bilin were lost.

Whether the first enemy footholds had been wiped out in the counter-assault by hard-fighting Indian Gurkhas was not yet known.

The Japanese were using captured Thaton, a short distance east of the Bilin estuary on the Gulf of Martaban, as a concentration point for troops thrown into the battle of the Bilin River.

The enemy used every available small boat for his crossings. What proportion of the boats got through was not learned, but many of them were shattered in mid-stream by artillery fire or were raked by machine-gunners.

Ashore, the invaders were subjected to harassing fire.

New Snag Holds Steel Dispute

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP).—A "stormy career," predicted for the United States War Labor Board bobbed up today in the form of a major snag in the "little steel" dispute, regarded as the board's biggest test.

Even as William F. Leiserson, of the National Labor Relations Board, made the forecast last night, the Bethlehem and Republic Steel Companies announced their flat opposition to a board-considered compromise on the closed-shop issue.

Leiserson, whose address to a city college audience was prepared before the steel companies expressed their stand, declared that if mutual agreements between labor and war industries failed the only alternative was for Congress to determine the policies by legislation.

Bethlehem Steel, employing 90,000 men, and Republic, with 50,000 work, together with 35,000 others employed by Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel, comprise the "little steel" group for whose workers the C.I.O. steel workers' organizing committee is seeking a $1-a-day wage increase, the check-off system and a closed shop.

Paratroops Ready, Air Blitz Units Soon

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP).—The British Army has air-borne troops in training and parachutist forces ready for action, Capt. David Margesson, War Secretary, announced to-day. He declared that new armored divisions have been formed and those in the "Middle East" reinforced.

Outlining this broad picture of strengthened striking power, Capt. Margesson said that because of the equipment shortages and the need for older type weapons already in production, the Army had been unable last fall to convert large numbers of infantry into artillery and armored units "of which we were woefully short."

Without disclosing any details of the strengthening of armored formations in a zone he described only as "the Middle East," the War Secretry declared that the reinforcement "process is continuing."

He said that in Malaya, British forces had been up against "hardened soldiers with four years experience in a type of warfare with which we were totally unaccustomed."

In that ill-starred campaign, he said, there had not been time for troops to get essential preliminary battle training—often not time even for them to become accustomed to the equatorial jungle climate after their long sea voyage in cramped quarters.

This was the first official announcement that the British army is planning to use air-borne infantry like that which has served Germany well.

In addition, he said, a number of new armored divisions have been formed.

"We have practically completed formation of the required number of anti-tank regiments," he said, recounting the progress of army development.

Of the situation in Libya, he said that at present the British forces "in some respects were at a disadvantage with the Germans" in tank warfare.

He referred to "the insidious and false suggestion" which he said is "now finding some expression in newspapers of the United States" that Britain is "willing to accept arms and equipment from any and every source, but not willing to send our soldiers out to fight with them."

"Of every 100 men killed and wounded in the land fighting in Libya since the beginning of the war," he said, "about 70 have come from this country."

He said the sending of troops to foreign theatres must be considered in the light of first, the absolute necessity of defending this country, "an arsenal from which arms are flowing to all the Allied nations, and second, the availability of shipping."

In a discussion that followed Capt. Margesson's report, Thomas Horabin Liberal member for North Cornwall, demanded ruthless action against inefficient Army officers. In order to strike at what he called the "root of our humiliating defeats," the member proposed the appointment of an Army head "who

Unit Dumped On Snowbound Mountain For Night

ALTA, Utah, Feb. 19—(AP).—The United States first para-ski troops—who leaped in parachutes to a snow-bound mountain valley—will bivouac in the open to-night 9,000 feet up in Wasatch Mountains.

The 'chute jumpers proved yesterday that a tactical unit can be landed from the air regardless of terrain or weather.

Capt. A. F. Gorham of Bellevue, O., to-day sent most of the men in the unit he commands on an overnight ski-trek into the highest recesses of the mountains around this snow resort, counting on the skill of Army airmen to drop them sleeping bags in late afternoon. The soldiers carried rations and small gasoline stoves on their jaunt.

The troopers on the first test jumps tumbled from a transport plane just behind an eight-foot bundle of skis and weapons; floated to earth, seized arms and sped away over the deep drifts on their slender runners.

QUEBEC LIBERALS MOVE AMENDMENT OPPOSING CONSCRIPTION

King Policy Challenged By Liberals

Sudden Pouliot Move Follows Defeat Of C.C.F. Amendment

(By FRANK FLAHERTY.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—(CP)—After sweeping aside one challenge to its policy on the proposed conscription plebiscite and on conscription itself, the government today faced a new one, thrown by two of its own followers in the House of Commons, J. F. Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) and L. P. Lizotte (Lib. Kamouraska.)

The prospect were that with several full-dress divisions and a few speeches the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne may end today, thus paving the way for a secret sitting on defence and other war problems.

By a vote of 190 to 16 the House yesterday rejected a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation sub-amendment to the address calling for addition to a question on conscription of wealth to the plebiscite question by which the government proposes to seek release from pledges against the use of compulsion in recruiting men for overseas service.

Before the House could proceed to vote on the Conservative amendment which expresses regret that the Government has not instituted complete mobilization of wealth, material-resources, manpower and womanpower, Mr. Pouliot proposed another sub-amendment.

In effect it expresses regret the government is contemplating a reversal of policy on overseas conscription which is "uncalled for, untimely and detrimental to the defence of Canada." It goes on to ex-

Ambassador here, Gaston Henry-Haye, who conferred with him yesterday, had informed him that no demands had been received by the Vichy Government from Axis Governments for the use of naval bases or other facilities on Madagascar.

In reply to a question, Welles said that so far as the Caribbean island of Martinique was concerned the United States Government had no information tending to confirm recent reports that secret submarine bases there might have had something to do with the recent submarine attack on Aruba.

Provincial Constable Takes To Snow Shoes To Catch Deserter From Canadian Army

BANCROFT, Feb. 19—(ENS). — Matthew Stone, a resident of the Monk Road near Bancroft, who is alleged to be a deserter from the Canadian army, was captured by Provincial Constable Palmateer in an exhausting chase across the rough bush country today.

It is understood Palmateer was acting on a tip and drove in a horse and cutter to the home of Phelty Brethour, 7 miles from Bancroft, where he searched the premises for the missing man. He found nothing and had started to leave the premises when he turned around and saw his man running away from the buildings. Palmateer gave chase for a mile, through snow and a heavy crust, but could not gain on the quarry. The officer then borrowed a pair of snowshoes from John Baumhour and trailed his man for three more miles to the home of Archelus Baumhour, where the fugitive was captured. He was taken to Belleville jail today, and faces a charge of desertion. Constable Palmateer intimated that a much more serious charge would follow this first charge.

So far as can be learned, Stone is alleged to have deserted the army about two months ago.

Mr. Horabin also suggested the creation of a Commons Committee to "pass under review our military operations" and the appointment of an Inspector-General to investigate all aspects of the Army. The Inspector, he said, "should report direct to the War Office and if the report is unfavorable the officer should be ruthlessly liquidated."

Writer Watches

British naval aircraft went after them and later the same day a British submarine sent two torpedoes into an Italian cruiser which was heading home.

Our ship got her death blow on February 14, about 280 miles from Malta, when a two-engined German dive bomber pounced on her from a cloud, swept down to within 1,040 feet of the water and unloosed two bombs which struck square on her afterdeck.

It is an unpleasant sensation to be aboard a plodding freighter at which a screaming dive bomber has just loosed a stick of bombs. Hearing them whistling down makes one feel as though he were tied on a railroad track in front of an oncoming express train.

Knew They Were Doomed

I was standing on the bridge when the bomber that finally got us dropped out of a cloudbank at an altitude of 4,000 feet. Almost frozen into immobility I saw the raider let go two bombs, and as I watched them speed downward with a spine-chilling whistle I know they were ticketed for us.

They struck home on the afterdeck with a roar and a flash of red flame that rose to the top of the masts. The blest blew my tin hat off, and the ship shuddered as though shaken by a gigantic terrier.

Black clouds of smoke immediately began to billow from the stern of the ship, mingled with hissing steam escaping from cracked boilers. Shells stored in the stern of the ship went off like a string of giant firecrackers.

The order was given to abandon ship.

As a destroyer sped to our assistance the voice of a man trapped below could be heard crying: "Get me out, get me out!"

A husky sergeant ripped off a hatch cover and pulled the man out from the midst of popping shells, virtually unscathed but badly shaken.

Some of our boats were pulling away, but I decided to try to rescue my typewriter from the cabin. When I came out the destroyer was standing alongside, heaving on the waves so that her deck now was almost level with ours and again almost 20 feet below.

A sailor on the destroyer spied my typewriter and yelled: "Throw it."

I did—and sailor and typewriter crashed to the deck together. The sailor was unhurt, but the typewriter didn't fare so well.

Then I jumped myself—one of the last ten to leave the burning ship. The freighter's captain was the last to go.

Cylinder Hits Refugees

As the destroyer pulled away she was showered with flying fragments of shells from the freighter's hold. The butt end of a cylinder of compressed gas hurtled into the air and bounced off the destroyer's bridge, ricocheting among the packed survivors below.

Several long-armed soldiers reach up and caught it like a forward pass, saving their mates from serious injury.

Bombers continued their attacks on the convoy for the rest of the afternoon and hit another freighter which had to be sunk. There were only a few casualties on the bombed ships and none from drowning, so orderly was the rescue.

It was not until I was put ashore in Alexandria that I knew another Associated Press Correspondent, William McGaffin, had witnessed the destruction of my ship and the rescue of her survivors from another British destroyer.

From a Destroyer Bridge

(By WILLIAM McGAFFIN.)

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Feb. 17.—(Delayed)— (AP)— British fighters shot down one and possibly two torpedo bombers when Axis warplanes attacked a British Mediterranean cruiser squadron again today after their bombs led to destruction of two British merchantmen and damaged a third.

I watched the action from the bridge of a British destroyer on which I was proceeding from Gibraltar to Alexandria.

Two torpedo bombers tried to slip in out of the sun for an attack—but fighters which were protecting us saw them before they could come in and gave chase. Warships saw, too, and began firing furiously, stopping only as the fighters closed in for the kill.

Suddenly one of the torpedo bombers glow red in the sky and a few seconds lated dropped into the sea.

Another British fighter was hard on the tail of the other bomber, pumping bullets into it. The bomber was last seen wobbling low over the horizon.

The men of the destroyer I was aboard were yelling as if they were at a football game while they watched the fight. Those working below out of sight were kept informed by a running description from the bridge broadcast over the ship's loudspeaker system.

This was the second torpedo bomber attack of the day. No damage was done in the first.

I witnessed the attack which led to destruction of the freighter on which another Associated Press correspondent, Preston Grover, was travelling. I did not know he was aboard, however, until our arrival to-day in Alexandria when we compared notes.

Smoke Gives Signal.

The first we knew of the attack was when he arrived early in the afternoon to see a great column of gray smoke billowing up on the horizon from a basted freighter.

Here and there, great splashes showed as bombs plopped into the water amid the fanned-out convoy.

The destroyer's crew went into action stations at once and soon her guns were joining the batteries of other warships in transforming the blue above into a mackerel sky full of white shell bursts.

The planes were flying so high they were hard to see but there was no mistaking they were there.

We twisted and turned in a crazy snake dance as the bombs began to fall nearer.

Then I saw a plane flying right over us and a few seconds later there was a mighty swish which told of a descending load of death heading for us.

I shut my eyes and flattened myself on the deck with the ship's officers.

The stick of bombs missed us by yards. It left a great splotch of oil in the water alongside the ship. When I got up my clothes were covered with grime and my notebook was so dirty it was illegible.

The last night out were listening to Prime Minister Churchill's speech over the ship's radio when a loud bang interrupted the proceedings. Our vessel had dropped a depth charge on suspicion she was near an enemy submarine.

Ask Secret Session

NEW DELHI, Feb. 19 — (CP). — Some members of the Indian legislative assembly urged yesterday that a secret session of the assembly be called to consider India's defences in the light of Singapore's fall and make suggestions for wider support of the war effort. The proposed meeting was reported to have the approval of all parties.

Removing Snow Contracts Mention Slush

Although the contract for the removal of snow from the city's sidewalks contains a clause that also demands the clearing away of slush, Alderman J. E. Sullivan found it necessary to write into the suggestion book in City Clerk Outram's office on Tuesday a memorandum that snow ploughs should be put into service in mild weather.

The same idea must have impressed many citizens as they slogged through the heavy going during the afternoon that day when the weather was showing signs of turning cold with the prospect of the slush freezing. And that is what happened. It may be that some of the snow plow men did turn out without being told, but some of them did not, and walking that night and the next day was unnecessarily rough.

This is an old complaint, and members of various councils have enquired from winter to winter why the snow removal contracts were not carried out promptly and thoroughly. This latest complaint was referred immediately by City Clerk Outram to City Engineer Parsons.

The suggestion book shows four entries, all of them by members of the council. One was to the effect that the south end of Stewart street had not seen a snow plow all winter. Street Commissioner Burgess investigated that complaint the day it was entered and learned that Stewart street south of Perry street had been plowed, but that the corresponding short section of Bethune street had been overlooked. It was reported that a new man had the contract for the snow plowing in that section of the city and apparently did not realize that several houses are situated on the west side of Bethune street between Lake and Perry streets.

Aldermen Glover and Swanston are represented in the book with several suggestions, but the general public has so far passed it up, possibly for the reason that they have neither suggestion or complaint about the general conditions of the city and its administration.

Toronto Man Mentally Ill

Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., declined to continue with the hearing of a charge of assault against a former local man who has been living in Toronto for a number of years and returnen here recently on a visit. His Worship said he believed the accused was mentally ill and therefore should not be tried on a criminal charge.

The man constantly interrupted proceedings this morning by declaring that he was being railroaded and that the local machinery of law was out of joint.

Magistrate Langley committed the accused to the Ontario Mental Hospital at Whitby for observation.

Refuses To Give Names

The text of the Gamelin declaration, vague in spots, follows:

"I have always served my country. I have decided not to participate in this trial.

"Several times I offered to resign but the resignation was not accepted.

"I have been condemned on the political plan without being able to present a defence. Today I would have to give French and foreign names and I refuse to do so.

"I wish above all that the army remain the guarantee of the independence of our country.

"I ask my two attorneys to keep silent as I do and for the same patriotic reason."

Gamelin's counsel, however, declared that the court could not condemn the general—that it would be unjust to make him "bear the weight of others' faults."

sums were noted, among them $5,000,000 subscribed by Imperial Oil Limited; $2,500,000 by Montreal Light, Heat and Power; $1,500,000 by Falconbridge Nickel Mines; $1,000,000 from Moore Corporation of Toronto; $750,000 from United Corporations Limited of Montreal; $235,000 from Queen's University at Kingston, Ontario; $750,000 from the Canadian Order of Foresters at Brantford, Ontario, and other substantial sums.

Edmonton In Lead

Some reports from the larger municipalities were delayed due to weather conditions. Those received at national headquarters show that Edmonton continues to head the list, with 45 per cent of its three-week quota subscribed.

Next in line is Saskatoon, with 41 per cent of its quota, followed by Sydney, N.S., with 40 per cent.

Others to account for 20 per cent or more of quota included Halifax, with 33 per cent; Summerside, P.E.I., 30 per cent; Charlottetown, 27 per cent, and Regina, 22 per cent.

Among other large subscriptions reported overnight:

British Columbia Telephone Co., $1,000,000; H. J. Heinz Co. of Canada, Leamington, Ont., $250,000; Cluett, Peabody and Co. of Canada, Kitchener, Ont., $150,000; Great Eastern Life Assurance Co., Kingston, $135,000;

British Mortgage and Trust Corporation of Ontario, Stratford, John Forsyth Ltd., Kitchener, Breithaupt Leather Co., Kitchener, B. F. Goodrich Co. of Canada, Kitchener, $100,000 each; Forst Steel and Wire Co., Hamilton, $75,000; City of Owen Sound, $70,000; County of Huron, Ont., $30,000.

If the Hun Ruled

Highlight of today's reports from provincial divisions was a special wire to G. W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee, which started off: "Frei Sprechen Ist Verboten, Ihre Aufmerkfamkeit." (Freely translated: "Free speech is forbidden. Take warning.")

Thus was the "if day" demonstration of the "enemy occupation" of Manitoba reported to headquarters.

The despatch said the "province was taken over" after brief resistance, and that radio orders and proclamations on stores directed residents what to do. Churches were closed. Schools controlled. Mayor Queen of Winnipeg was "arrested" and replaced by a "Gualeiter." The Lieutenant-Governor and Premier Bracken were taken into custody and the legislature dissolved. The Winnipeg Tribune's front page was entirely in German.

"The citizens of Manitoba now are preparing to re-occupy Manitoba by purchasing Victory Bonds," the message concluded.

Employees of Marine Industries Ltd. at Sorel, Que., rolled up a total of $93,000 in subscriptions on the first day of the canvass, and additional purchases are still being made. The Alberta division of the loan organization reported the John Deere Plow Co. plant at Edmonton had its employees enrolled 100 per cent as subscribers.

182 Jap Ships Lost

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 19 (AP)—A total of 182 Japanese ships had been sunk or damaged by the United Nations forces up to Feb. 14, according to an authoritative compilation published today by Aneta News Agency.

Of the total 109 were sunk, 38 probably sunk and 45 damaged. The number did not include the heavy losses known to have been inflicted on the enemy in the invasion of southern Sumatra, started last Saturday.

American ships and planes were credited with 84 of the known sinkings, 15 of the probables and 28 of the damaged ships, and N.E.I. forces with 24 sinkings, six probables and 11 ships damaged.

The recapitulation follows:

Battleships—Two probably sunk, two damaged.

Cruisers—seven sunk, four probably sunk, 11 damaged.

Destroyers—13 sunk, three probably sunk, two damaged.

Aircraft carriers—one sunk, two probably sunk, one damaged.

Submarines—six sunk, one probably sunk, one damaged.

Cargo vessels and auxiliaries—23 sunk, four probably sunk, three damaged.

Tankers—seven sunk, two damaged.

"Numerous minor vessels of all types" were not included.

up and sank within minutes after the believed torpedoing," said the Navy.

"They were rescued by a corvette of the Royal Navy and taken to a British port."

The Navy gave no other details of the loss.

But of the ship's captain, the naval statement added:

"As a naval officer he was one of the most popular in the ships identified with East Coast ports."

The Navy quoted him as saying on several occasions:

"It gives me a great satisfaction to be able to help in the protection of the ships in which are serving the great men who were my colleagues in peacetime."

The Navy announcement was headed simply:

"Hon. Angus Macdonald, Minister for Naval Services, regrets to announce that H.M.C.S. Spikenard, a corvette, has been sunk by enemy action. All five officers and 52 of the 60 ratings are missing and must be considered lost. The next-of-kin have been informed."

Men from both coasts were among those lost with the Spikenard. Too there were men from Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Alberta Saskatchewan.

Loss of the vessel came at a time when the dark nights are growing shorter over the North Atlantic and Canadian Navy men can see the beginning of the end of a wartime winter which has tried the endurance and brought honor to their name.

Driven Off Heligoland

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), Feb. 19.—(AP). — British planes raided the German northwest coast (where the Battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau presumably found haven after their flight from France) the German High Command acknowledged to-day.

The Command claimed the planes were driven off from Heligoland Bight by anti-aircraft fire.

A communique also claimed that German surface craft have sunk a British submarine off the coast of Norway. (This claim lack confirmation.)

House Adjourns Pending Tax Settlement

TORONTO, Feb. 19 (CP) — The Ontario Legislature adjourned last night until early in March after Premier Hepburn assured members that the adjournment was "no trick" and Eric Cross, former Liberal Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs, opposed it with a suggestion that it was born of an "understanding" between the Premier and Opposition Leader George Drew.

The adjournment came one week after the session opened, and was said by Mr. Hepburn to be necessary until the province had reached an agreement with the Federal government regarding the transfer of Income and Corporation taxes. He said he was unable to proceed with the provincial budget until the terms of the transfer were clarified.

Mr. Cross, who resigned his post in 1940, said there was enough work for the House to continue in session, and in suggesting an "understanding" between the Premier and Col. Drew recalled that the Opposition Leader had recommended the adjournment during the throne speech debate yesterday and Mr. Hepburn had announced later he would move the adjournment.

Col. Drew denied any agreement on the measure and the Premier termed the inference "nasty and unwarranted," on the part of a "disgruntled" member.

Before adjournment, Attorney-General Gordon Conant outlined the Federal Government's proposals for the taxes transfer.

Reassemble in March?

Before moving the adjournment Mr. Hepburn said the House would reassemble, probably early in March, contrary to the rumor that there would be a general election.

Elaborating on his contention there was enough business to warrant continuance of the session, Mr. Cross said he believed Hon. T. B. McQuesten, highways minister, intended to introduce some revisions to the Assessment Act which would

Goes Active Service

Captain Stuart A. Anderson of Campbellford, formerly Officer Command "B" Company of the 2nd Midland Regiment, has gone on active service with the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. He was ordered to report at the Officers' Training Centre in Brockville this week. Prior to enlisting, Captain Anderson operated one of this town's leading hardware stores.

Heavy Snowfall Impedes Helpers

COBOURG, Feb. 19.—(ENS)—Canvassers throughout Northumberland County bucked ice and snow and inclement weather throughout the county when the campaign for the Victory Loan got into action on Monday. As a consequence the results of the first two days endeavors were only 8.5 per cent of the objective of $1,125,000 instead of the expected 11 per cent. Cobourg's percentage was 3.8. This week the local Capitol Theatre is going to use the week's total receipts for investment in the Victory Loan and it is hoped that the receipts will be enough to buy a $1,000 bond.

Industry in Cobourg is showing the way in the Victory Loan campaign with employees' buying bonds as soon as the campaign opened. Employees of the Cobourg Dye works appointed eight canvassers from their number and with three-quarters of the men already contacted, 94% of the objective has been attained. Wednesday the Edwards & Edwards Co. and the Cooey Arms Co. organized their canvassing program and returns are coming in very well, it was reported.

Anglican Church Women Hold Supper

BEWDLEY, Feb. 19— (ENS). —Monday evening the ladies of St. Anne's Anglican Church held a very successful pot-luck supper in the dining-room of Rice Lake Inn. The folk of the community attended in goodly numbers in spite of the unfavorable weather. Later ten tables of progressive euchre were played with good prizes given to Mrs. Mervyn Benson, N. D. Sidey, and Harold McAllister as winners, and consolations to Miss Bertha Ainslie and Charlie Morton.

At the Campbellcroft Hall on Tuesday evening a basket social was held under the auspices of the Garden Hill United Church Ladies' Aid Society. The Plainville Quartette, Mrs. Fred Bowman, Miss Evelyn Brisbin, Clifford Manley and Glen Cole assisted in the program with three numbers; Mrs. Bowman and Miss Brisbin sang two duets, Miss Phyllis Goheen of Rossmount sang a solo; Miss Marjorie Douglas, of Bewdley, a piano solo; Miss Douglas also accompanied all the other numbers; Halcot Benson, Bewdley, gave a reading, and numbers from their own talent were readings by Mrs. Milton Dunbar, also one by her young son, and two solos by Murray Lord acompanying himself with guitar. A quiz contest was an amusing part of the program.

Willard Lord was the chairman and was the capable auctioneer selling the numerous baskets, which all sold well. Lunch plates were served to all without baskets. The evening proved very successful and most enjoyable.

Referee Floors Boxer, Sore Over Toss-Out

HAMILTON, Feb. 19 — Davie Muir, clever Hamilton heavyweight boxer, was awarded a decision over Joe Kayori of Brantford when the Brantford boy was disqualified in the fourth round of a bout in an amateur boxing show staged at the civic pool last night.

Referee Justin Campbell disqualified Kayori for low punching, and the Brantford boxer took a punch at the official. Campbell, ex-middleweight champion of Canada, floored the boxer with a brace of right hands, and the police quickly stopped a threatened riot.

In the best bout of the night, Tony Brandino, local boxer, took a close decision over Frankie Bricker, Brantford welterweight. The Hamilton boy showed more aggressiveness and won the last three rounds of the five-round bout with superior punching power.

110 lbs.—Johnny Nunziato, Ottawa A.C., decisioned Bill St. Julian, unattached.

Dominions Lace C.G.E. 33 to 21

Dominions regained the top rung in the Men's City Basketball League standing by lacing C.G.E. 32-21, in an important fixture at the Y.M.C.A. last night. The winners had to come back from a 12-11 deficit at the half but went to town in the last period and were going away at the finish. It was the first win for Dominions in three games but added to their early winning streak places them back at the top of the heap, although Quakers have two games in hand. The standing to date:—

	W	L
Dominions	4	2
Quakers	3	1
P.C.I.	2	2
C.G.E.	2	3
Soldiers	0	3

It was nip and tuck through the first half, in last night's game with C.G.E. taking an early lead and they were still out in front by a meagre 12-11 margin at the half. Dominions hit their stride as the last half opened, quickly took the lead and outlasted C.G.E. in the hectic middle part of the half to break loose in the dying minutes and win going away. Both teams checked relentlessly and play under both baskets was rough as both teams battled for important baskets with no quarter asked or given, offensively. The winners helped their own cause considerably by sinking a better than average seven out of ten free throws, while C.G.E. tossed in one in six tries. All the winners earned mention for a good showing as the way the scoring was split up will show. Craig was top man with 10 points with Rogow scoring 7, as well as standing out defensively. Stewart led C.G.E. with 8 points with Currie sharing the spotlight. The teams:—

C.G.E. 21—Currie, Stewart 8, Barabe 2, Dundas 2, Smith 2, DuBlois 3, Dyer 4.

Dominions 33—Craig 10, Gillespie 4, Rogow 7, Burns 6, Johnston 4, Grose 2.

The committee in charge of the war work under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Munn are continuing the work and the work rooms are open very Tuesday with every one welcome. Mrs. Mann on behalf of the members extended thanks to all those who so willingly worked and donated in the common effort to help end Hitler.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 17, was ladies' night at the war workers' rooms and the ladies were honored guests. The men of the community tied on aprons and took charge of the whole affair from cards to washing dishes and ladies were admitted free. A large crowd turned out, apparently not a bit afraid of men's cooking, and 12 tables of cards were played with prizes going to Mr. James Cook and Mrs. William McQuigge. Hot dogs, cake and coffee were served and an enjoyable time had by all. Mrs. W. Glenn president of the Women's Institute thankd the men for the splendid evening on behalf of the ladies. Some $3 was turned in to the war funds.

ArmyConvoyDue At Friday Noon

COBOURG, Feb. 19.—(ENS)—Convoy of 45 military motorized vehicles and about 125 men will arrive in Cobourg at noon on Friday of this week for a stay of an hour and one-half. The convoy will park on both sides of the main street where the citizens will be able to see tanks, Bren-gun carriers, artillery pieces, anti-aircraft guns and other types of military equipment. The convoy is sponsored by the Officer Commanding Military District No. 3. The men will be the guests of the town at luncheon and arrangements have been made to look after them at the various local hotels. After its stay in Cobourg, the convoy will move off on its westward trip, the next stop being at Port Hope.

Army Train

Besides the army convoy of motorized equipment which is to visit Cobourg this week, the town will also be favored with the opportunity of viewing the Canadian Army Train which will visit Cobourg on Saturday, arriving at seven p.m and remaining until ten p.m. The fifteen car train will be on the Spring street siding, north of King, and citizens will be afforded an opportunity to look through the cars. The train will contain a tank, artillery, dental corps equipment, army service corps equipment, univeral carrier, Bren guns, an exhibit of the Army Trades School and other items. There will also be a Red Cross exhibit on the train.

Red Cross Workers Battle Bad Roads

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 (ENS) —Bad roads drifted with heavy snow didn't deter members of Rylstone Red Cross Sewing Circle from attending their regular meeting yesterday when nearly twenty ladies who a week ago became reconciled to the fact cars were "out" for the time at least, hitched up a sleigh and drove to Mrs. Carl Reid's. One quilt was taken off during the afternoon, and the president, Mrs. Everett Heath assisted in giving out material from which members will make girls' skirts and boys' trousers before the next meeting. A large number of khaki handkerchiefs being made for the Rawdon branch of the Red Cross, as is all their work, were turned in during the afternoon. On motion, a donation of $5 was given to the Russian Relief Fund, and $3 to the Rawdon Red Cross Society. The president read a lengthy report summarizing the work done by the Rawdon Red Cross branch during the past year. They will hold their next meeting in March at the home of Mrs. Lillian Anderson.

Marathon Bridge Concludes; Is Great Success

PORT HOPE, Feb. 19 (ENS) —One of the marathon bridges which was played in the evenings, held their final windup party of five tables on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Hozack, Walton street.

This group was under the convenership of Miss Pearl Hutchings and Miss Georgia Lee, and had six tables playing once a week, which contributed $66.00 to the Red Cross funds.

The windup party consisted of bridge and the distribution of marathon prizes, which were all War Saving Stamps.

The high prizes for the eleven week marathon went to Miss Agnes O'Niel and Miss Marie Cancilla who each received $1.00 in War Saving Stamps. Second high were Mrs. A. Brown and Mrs. V. Highfield, each receiving 75c in War Saving Stamps and the receivers of the 50c War Saving Stamps were Mrs. Eric Carr and Mrs. W. Vick.

The high bridge prize for the evening, which was donated by the hostess, went to Mrs. Highfield and the low to Miss Mildred Curtis.

These marathon bridges have been greatly enjoyed by every person, and although this group is not carrying on for another round at present, every one is looking forward to a fresh start early in the fall.

Dainty refreshments brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

Bowmanville's Example

The people of Bowmanville who have provided a soldiers' rest room where soldiers, sailors and airmen, so long as they wear the King's uniform, may enjoy a light lunch and hot drink free of charge, as they pass through that town, have set a commendable example. It is a public-spirited service which might well be followed in communities all over this Province. In fact this kindliness and consideration for men in the fighting services is so praiseworthy that its provisions should be passed on. The Examiner carried a news article on Tuesday about this friendship centre but it also deserves warm editorial approval.

* * *

It is probably true of all of us that, in the hurry and complexity of life, we are not lacking in appreciation of the job uniformed men are doing, or ready to do, for us, here or wherever they are sent, but we take it all as a mere matter of course. Their pay is small, particularly of all below commissioned officers and even they have expenses which eat up considerable of their cheque, and often the young fellow who is prepared to do his share in protecting our lives and our property has little money in his pocket when going here and yonder. When he is out on leave he wants to trip home or to friends for a visit. Transportation costs a good deal, especially when the distance is considerable, and if it is too much he may seldom see his folks. Besides, there is a coldness about going into a city or town where one is not known at all and wondering where to pass an hour in an atmosphere made congenial by the warmth of civilian welcome.

* * *

It may be, often is said, that men in the armed services get their regular pay and that they should "hang on to it." But those who speak in this way are not the ones who are in uniform or who have been in uniform in the past. Military life is quite different from that of the every day, around home manner of living. Only those who have been in the ranks can understand the difference between the two kinds of existence. Consequently there is nothing gained in moralizing with scores of thousands of healthy, brave lads who are willing to forego the good big pay envelope that hundreds of others are getting every week in industries and other jobs. They are willing to forego the security and local companionships one forms and become a cog in a huge military organism which moves whole battalions or squadrons here or there at a few hours' notice to guard, defend and fight for the masses not in uniform.

* * *

The big, generous, sporting sort of thing to do is to let these fellows go in and have a hot drink or a sandwich when they are passing through a city or town. The men when at their station in a community are in a position to know their way about, to take care of themselves, find friends and forms of entertainment, but the chaps who are away from these opportunities, well — Bowmanville has the right idea. There isn't a centre either of any considerable number of homes in this entire country where the same hospitality could not, and should not, be extended.

What The Future Holds

When Prime Minister Churchill said in his Sunday last broadcast that he had directed his best thought and energies to winning the co-operation of the United States, and that he is gratified to have succeeded in getting that resourceful Republic in as an Ally, he showed the foresight of a great statesman. Now it is acknowledged that had not this unity of interests been effected, Britain alone could not have hoped to hold as well as it has against the foe.

Some idea, therefore, of what is in reserve for the Germans, Italians and Japanese may be obtained from the enrollment of upwards of 9,000,000 men in the Republic this week, men between the ages of 20 and 45 years. Another registration is to be held in the late spring for those between 18 and 20 and between 45 and 65 age brackets. These men will be classified for civilian protection and for war production jobs. The procedure will bring more than 42,000,000 into the total registration of manpower for all purposes.

The reverses and defeats that we of the United Nations have suffered during the past two and a half years have been hard to take. The day will come, though, when the power and numbers of Britain, with the Commonwealths, such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and so on, and the vast resources, wealth, industrial output and armed forces of the United States—when these will bring about victories and advancements for the Allies. That is not merely wishful thinking. The fact that the United States is rolling up such a tremendous enlistment, that Canada expects to have over 600,000 men in its armed forces in 1943 are evidences in themselves of what a few months from now will present as a front to the enemy. It gives a sense of greater confidence than ever to Canadians to know that our neighbor across the border is now working side by side with us.

What The Master Said

The reported refusal of a district Cemetery Board to allow the burial of a man in their local graveyard because he was a foreigner is a strange and un-Christian act if the circumstance as given in the press is true. It is understandable of course inasmuch as religious and color prejudices have been responsible for the same kind of outlawry in past generations, but one would suppose that civilization would have passed up and beyond the point where a dead person could not be interred in a plot in any community because he was born and raised in a foreign country.

If the teachings of Christ mean anything they mean that the feelings of mourners should be considered as well as respect for the dead. A body which is to be committed forever to the earth is no less that of a human being because it happened to be native to some land not our own. And, in any case, what possible harm could the repose of any body in the ground have to the other bodies there? None of course. The only meaning it could possibly suggest is for those who are still alive and dwell in a community where the cemetery is located. That meaning is based on a mental attitude that because the dead is of a foreign race and tongue he should be left to hunt somewhere else for a resting place which would in no way affect the sensitive minds of the prejudiced. The Scripture says that a malefactor was hung on a cross beside Jesus when He was crucified but Jesus did not say "Get away from me. I will have nothing to do with a criminal." Instead what was said was this:

"Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

That example should teach its own lesson.

Starvation In Greece

The news which continues to come from Greece about the desperate hunger and the number of deaths from starvation there is appalling. It is almost inconceivable, in an era as advanced in human learning and scientific achievement as this present era, that two races of people with notable histories behind them such as the Germans and the Italians have had, that they should have looted and plundered over-run countries in Europe until poor little Greece, as one of those lands, is today in a wretched state.

* * *

What has been happening during the past few weeks is not avilable, but dispatches said that during December thousands of persons died from want of enough food. Since the marauders swept down and subdued and pillaged that country, the loss of weight among the native population is placed at about 34 pounds per individual. Destitution, sorrow and tears are the lot of that heroic people with an ancestral wealth of civilization from which the outside world has drawn for centuries. What vengeance should be meted out to the ruthless, murderous invaders who have reduced to this terrible condition a people who sought only to retain their national freedom and independence!

* * *

After the conquest of the native population, the country was turned over to the Italians in theory but actually the Germans are controlling the situation as they are said to control things even in Italy itself. That they would let large numbers in Athens and surrounding towns and villages become starved and many die from malnutrition is much more characteristic of the Huns than it is of the Italians. At least the history of the two races justifies that opinion, if any word whatever can be said now, of tolerance for either of them.

* * *

No wonder three-quarters of the entire world population is arrayed against the barbarians who are making such a tragedy possible. Shipments of food have gone in through the channel of the Red Cross Society because there is a sense of the humane in the English speaking peoples, but unfortunately it is not easy to get food supplies through. A shipment is consumed almost as soon as it arrives. Certainly the deep sympathy of the outside world will go to the suffering Grecians and earnest is the hope that a day of retribution will come for the brutal powers that have inflicted this crime against humanity.

A Surprising Situation

It is an obvious reflection on leaders in the political life of this country that they cannot better co-operate during the seriousness of a war so as to avoid a situation such as has developed in Ontario by which the Legislature called together with all the formalities of that procedure a few days ago now may have to be immediately adjourned. Premier Hepburn has said that his Government is unable to budget for the coming year because he can't get information as to what the Administration at Ottawa plans to do.

A legislative body is not called together easily. Members have to come from all parts of the province and to arrange for places to stay — hotels, apartments, etc., in Toronto. The cost of putting all this machinery in motion is considerable. When the House opens there should be business before the elected representatives and they should get on with it. They can't get on with it when the Government's program is not laid down for study and debate. That appears to be impossible because the powers at Ottawa have not informed him sufficiently, he says, of what they propose to do on matters of taxation and finance.

Whatever the facts are—and we are not in a position to know all that has gone on between the two governments—whatever the trouble may be it is not going to sweeten the minds of electors all over this country who are carrying on their own private affairs diligently from day to day. They have to be responsible for many thousands of dollars going out in sessional indemnities every session. If the House is adjourned now members will draw only a part, no doubt, of their regular allowance, but the remainder will have to come along later anyway. The whole situation is surprising, to say the least.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Kinsmen Club is doing a fine patriotic and humanitarian service in shipping so much milk to Britain to help feed thousands of under-nourished children. Members of that organization have created a new "Milky Way."

Hon. T. B. McQueston, Minister of Municipal Affairs, proposes "equitable" assessing for Ontario. The mills of the political gods have been many years grinding out legislation but little of it has been of more interest to the average citizen than this promise of relief from much assessing that has not been equitable.

There are so many controllers, directors, advisors, superintendents, administrators and general officials with staffs being appointed at Ottawa that soon the dictionary will run out of words to attach to them all. The lay population is beginning to wonder whether there'll be anybody left home after a while to pay the taxes.

Evidently the governmental powers at Washington are getting serious. They have told representatives of $200,000,000 radio manufacturing interests to convert their entire facilities to war production and do it within four months. No I's, if's and no's about it. There's no chance now for even the loud speakers to "air" their objections.

A new kind of bethrothal has been announced by proud parents in Rochester, N.Y., for a couple in which, however, there is a vast disparity in age. Otherwise the union is said to be idealistic and happy. The notice says:

"Mr. and Mrs. John L. Dougherty proudly announce the engagement of their son, John L. Dougherty, Jr., to his Uncle Sam on Friday, the 30th day of February, 1942—for the duration." It is to be hoped they escape the divorce mania.

THE CRUCIBLE

Stout Singapore has fallen,
Brave Hong Kong is no more,
Now Nippon's armies threaten
The Australasian shore,
Now Java is beleaguered
By land, by sea, by air,
And every passing broadcast
May fresh disasters blare.
Yes,—these be days of testing
To prove if we be great
Enough to bear, undaunted,
The shattering blows of Fate,—
To still remain determined
To set the whole world free
And snatch, from out this welter,
The palms of Victory.

Does the War Affect Your Stomach?

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

Do you worry about the war? In all probability you do. And does your worry affect your stomach? That is quite possible too, for a recent conference of prominent members of the medical profession in the U.S. found itself discussing the great increase of digestive disorders in that country during the last five or six years. Men with strong feelings of responsibility, and men of more than ordinary intelligence have gone to physicians in greater numbers than ever before, complaining of disordered digestion; many have developed ulcers. The majority of the doctors so consulted prescribed medicines, but one part of their treatment was invariable: they advised rest and freedom from worry, for they knew that it was the worry, far more than any physical disability, which caused the indigestion.

Now a doctor who advises rest and freedom from worry to the average sufferer from indigestion is giving excellent advice, but he is wasting his breath. What men were mentioned above as being liable to digestive ailments? Men with strong feelings of responsibility and men of more than ordinary intelligence, was it not? Just try to persuade such men not to worry. Induce them, if you can, to take a carefree, happy-go-lucky attitude toward life. Your attempts will be fruitless, and in all likelihood they will heap scorn upon you, as a flighty, irresponsible, unsound, unpatriotic rascal. They hug their worries to their breasts, and immediately below the breast they suffer for it. For, unless you are a most unusual person, you cannot worry seriously without having indigestion.

Nevertheless, indigestion is not necessarily a mark of distinction. No man is a better citizen because he suffers agonies after every meal; his great responsibilities are in no way helped because he is forced to live on a diet of toast and milk-puddings; his intellect, however far above the average, is not sharpened because he has a continual gnawing at his vitals. Mr. Churchill has a word for that sort of thing; he calls it 'fretfulness' and he advises against it. It is useless to dignify a belly-ache which arises from worry with the name of 'Executive's Stomach,' or "Wall Street Stomach,' for so it was called when the denizens of Wall Street were capable of raising and supporting expensive stomachs. The thing to do is to stop worrying.

But have we not already said that men who suffer from indigestion will not stop worrying? What, then, is to be done? Well, perhaps it would be possible to persuade them to confine their worrying to a certain reasonable portion of the day. Could they not worry between breakfast and dinner-time, taking only a light lunch; and then could they not contrive to lie down and compose themselves for an hour, or even half an hour before dinner, so that they would be able to eat with reasonable composure? For relaxation is one of the best ways in which to defeat indigestion; he who is able to relax and cast off his woes at intervals during the day may be able to worry more comfortably in the rest of his time.

But wars are serial, and not periodic, evils, and bad news and anxiety are liable to come at any time. It is easy to recommend relaxation, but it is not by any means easy to carry the recommendation into effect. Men who accept the responsibilities of adults and citizens in democratic countries are apt to feel that such a course is a kind of mental sabotage; they feel that they are evading responsibility when they dismiss the problems of war from their minds. Such a feeling is understandable, but it is not logical. No man can do his best in his job, whether it is a war job or an essential peace-time occupation, if he is carrying the shackle of chronic indigestion about with him. It is his duty to get rid of it, if he can. If he cannot, his efficiency will be seriously impaired, and he may eventually find himself incapacitated by colitis, or peptic ulcer, two painful but increasingly common ailments of the digestive tract.

It is a mistake to think of ulcer as a rich man's disease. The rich are no more likely to have ulcers than they are to have gout. But they are much more likely to make a fuss about it. The poor man who develops an ulcer will probably dose himself with a remedy which he can buy in a drug store, or he may simply attempt to still his anguished middle with bicarbonate of soda. Worry is the cause of the trouble, and the poor are just as likely to have worries as the rich. A certain amount of intelligence is, however, necessary to the development of this particular sort of indigestion. "Where there is no sense, there is no feeling," our ancestors used to say, and modern psychologists are likely to agree with them. Indigestion has been described as a badge of civilization, but it cannot be too strongly impressed upon the public that it is bad manners to wear one's decorations ostentatiously.

Psychiatrists regard indigestion as a physical sign of a mental ill. When it does not yield to medicines or to relaxation and rest-cures, they recommend that it be attacked by psychoanalysis and they have had remarkably good results from this sort of treatment. It may be noticed that very few articles dealing with indigestion mention women. It is very much a masculine complaint. Women have their own woes and seats of nervous disease, and the stomach does not apear to be one of them. Women suffer from indigestion, of course, but it is almost always someone else's indigestion. The cure for the ailment is simple enough; rest and relaxation will do it, but the real difficulty lies in putting this simple cure into effect.

• Crisis Due in Russia

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 —(AP)— Critical developments in Burma and the tightening Japanese squeeze attack on Java tend to obscure the fact that an even more portentous crisis may be close at hand in Russia.

Within a month weather conditions on the southern flank of the Russian front are apt to permit a resumption of the German drive for oil. Wherever else Hitler plans to strike in the Berlin-advertised spring blitzkrieg, it is inconceivable that the main thrust will not be in Russia and at the Caucasus.

Failure to do so would tremendously alter the whole war scene in Allied favor. It would be convincing evidence that the Russian winter campaign had reaped its full harvest.

It was planned and executed for one prime purpose. That was to cripple or at least greatly diminish Nazi striking power in Russia in the spring. If it does not succeed in doing that, the outlook for the Allies will be as ill-omened in the European war zone as it still appears to be in the far Pacific.

STRAIN TERRIFIC

Neither side has clearly defined the major fighting fronts in Russia since the German retreat from Mozhaisk weeks ago. A series of tremendous salients and counter-salients is indicated from the Azov seacoast to the Baltic. The strain on both sides to keep these manned against entrapment of advance forces by an enemy junction across the base of each salient must be terrific.

In the centre, west of Moscow, and supported by the Smolensk and Vitebsk junctions, the Germans appear still holding a huge eastward bulge. It still is an ominous threat to Moscow along the Napoleonic route if the Russians fail to crack it finally.

Unofficial reports, however, have indicated that Russian spearheads have driven deeply westward on both sides of the bulge. One has been reported across the Vitebsk-Nevel road and rail connection, and reaching the vicinity of Polotsk. If that is true, a Soviet force is operating close to the old Polish border more than 100 miles west and north of Smolensk. It not only has cut direct communications between the Smolensk area and the German northern flank, but is menacing the Vitebsk key to the great Nazi bulge in the centre.

TOWARD VITAL JUNCTIONS

Similar reports place a second Soviet spearhead west of Smolensk to the south at Kirov on the Sojh tributary to the Dnieper. If that is true, the Russians are within forty miles or so of the Dnieper below Orsha. They are threatening direct communications between the Smolensk bulge and Nazi forces to the south and already across the Vitebsk-Smolensk-Roslavl-Bryansk-Orel rail and highway system that appears to be the communications key to the whole German front in the centre.

Northward in the Kalinin-Valdai-Novgorod sectors the situation is more obscure. It is clear, however, that Russian thrusts have driven twin salients into German lines toward vital junctions. Enforced expansion of Nazi forces to contain these multiple drives in unquestionably sapping German reserves intended for spring offensive use, probably far to the south against the Caucasus.

Along the Azov Sea coast at Taganrog and north of that point at Stalino, the Germans have clung grimly to potential springboards for renewal of the effort to turn the Rostov corner into the Caucasus. Deep Russian salients are indicated on both sides of Stalino. That to the north is almost in sight of the great southern bend of the Dnieper at Dnepropetrovsk.

CANADIAN INDUSTRY

EARLY in this war, there is no doubt about it, there was an attempt by some British industrialists to impede the development of war industries in Canada. A few made no secret of their reason. They did not want this Dominion to develop as a great industrial country which might be a serious competitor of British industry after the war. Most of these people changed their attitude when it sunk in on them after the fall of France that unless Britain accepted all the help she could get from all possible sources there might not be any British industry left after the war to do any competing. A few, however, have probably continued to insist that British industry could have handled the matter safely without great assistance or at least without assistance from anywhere except the United States.

It is consequently pleasant to read of the recognition afforded Canada's industrial contribution in a speech by Lord Beaverbrook in the House of Lords. Canada, he told the Lords, is of high importance in the industrial effort of the United Nations. The Dominion has all the facilities for creating industrial output, he said, and there is no doubt that Canadian output will still further increase. Apparently the Lords listened to it all with complete approval, not worrying in the slightest whether Canada will be a competitor of British industry. That is something that can be worried about after the war has been won. The main thing now is to get the supplies with which to win. — Kingston Whig-Standard.

A Bit of Nonsense

The mayor of a certain town, out for a spin on his bicycle, found himself a long way from home and in need of water for his acetylene lamp. He rode on in momentary dread of the village constable, until at last he saw a man standing at the door of his cottage. "I say, would you be kind enough to give me some water for my lamp?" he asked.

"Water?" repeated the man. "I s'pose you mean oil."

"No, I don't. I want water."

The man looked searchingly at the cyclist. "Take my advice, and get along 'ome," he said. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, and you the mayor, too!"

IF VESTS MUST GO

FRANKLY, the clothing designers needn't worry their prematurely bald heads one bit about depriving us men of vests for the duration of the war.

For though it may necessitate the transference of two fountain pens (upper left-hand pocket), nail clip, cigar cutter, handy magnifying glass for studying fine print, finger marks, and dead flies at close range (lower right-hand pocket), two stamps stuck together, coat button, and smudged newspaper clippings (lower left pocket)—though, as we say dispensing with vests will necessitate the transfer of these precious articles to other zones of influence, we can manage it without any great spiritual wrench.

For of all the foppish holdovers from another century—lapels, pocket flaps, buttons on the sleeves, etc.—the vest is the worst. Nine out of ten of them provide no warmth in back. Few of them fit as comfortably as a knitted garment would, but bind in the armpits, yawn at the waist, and press on a full stomach. And all of them gather spots more mysteriously than any other outer surface devised by man. So if the designers decide to leave vests off of the well-dressed man, it will evoke no great protest, but on the contrary a faint sigh of relief.—Providence Evening Bulletin.

And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certain man, kneeling down to him, and saying, Lord, have mercy on my son: for he is lunatick, and sore vexed: for ofttimes he falleth into the fire, and oft into the water. And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not cure him.

Then Jesus answered and said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me. And Jesus rebuked the devil; and he departed out of him: and the child was cured from that very hour.

Then came the disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out? And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you. Howbeit this kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting.—Matt. xvii, 14-21.

MORE MILK

President D. J. Binnington, addressing the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Dairy Association, created considerable stir by reporting that this province during the past year produced 2,002,000,000 pounds of milk.

That represents an increase of 160,000,000 pounds over 1940. It's an all-time record for Saskatchewan. It was achieved under wartime conditions despite the fact that there are fewer farmers in this province than there were 10 years ago. — Regina Leader-Post.

Lightnings On The Wing

A group of Lockheed P-38 Interceptor planes is shown flying in formation as the U.S. army air force practices its combat tactics. The P-38, named the "Lightning," is said by experts to be the world's fastest airplane, designed specifically for the interception and destruction of enemy bombers. It embodies every known modern principle of aero-dynamics—that is, it is the last word in streamlining.

IODE At Norwood Reviews Very Busy Year

NORWOOD, Feb. 19.—(ENS)—The annual meeting of the 40th Northumberland Chapter I.O.D.E., Norwood, was held in the chapter room with fairly good attendance.

The secretary stated there were 33 members in roll and 11 regular meetings were held and 3 special meetings. One day a week was set aside for sewing day, and a great amount of work was accomplished.

Books were collected during the year, and sent to a nearby school which the chapter was interested in. Members and friends of the Chapter filled 40 personal bags during the year with a total value of $74.08. Besides this a great deal of knitting had been done as shown on the report of the knitting committee.

The members of the Norwood Legion very kindly presented the Chapter with a new flag during the year. A wreath was placed on the Cenotaph on Remembrance Day in honor of those who gave their lives in the last war.

Christmas boxes were sent to all local boys, sixty having been sent during the year at a total value fo $275.87, including postage.

Those boxes included 187 pieces of knitting, such as socks, tuckins, helmets, gloves, etc. It was reported that practically all these boxes had reached England safely and been gratefully acknowledge by the boys there.

The knitting convener reported that 958 articles had been knitted during the year, and they were divided as follows: 577 articles sent to headquarters and 381 articles given to our local boys, of whom there were now 102 on the list. The articles consisted of every type asked for by the army, navy and airforce, as well as some for the Women's Auxiliary Services and knitting for British bomb victims. Twenty-five ditty bags had also been filled with an additional eighty-two pieces of knitting.

The sewing committee convener reported on the articles made or donated and sent to headquarters by her assistants during the year as follows: 43 quilts, 3 afghans, 6 flannelette blankets and 3 wool blankets, 4 leather jerkins for seamen and 2 pneumonia jackets for hospitals. 4 complete layettes consisting of 154 articles had been sent for British bomb victims as well as 32 other miscellaneous pieces.

There had been 102 other articles, such as, nightgowns, stockings, bloomers, pyjamas, dresses, pinafores etc., also sent. In addition 29 comfort bags had been filled valued at $42.41. Treats to the value of $30 were put in the Navy League ditty bags. Besides this 7 good used articles were forwarded to provincial headquarters and 72 pair of sick stockings legs to the Navy League.

Special thanks were due to the Westwood War Service committee, the Willing Workers, the Women's Institute, the local churches, and other individual friends for their splendid donations and loyal support of the Chapter throughout the year.

The camp libraries secretary reported 54 books received at the Imperial Oil station for this purpose. also sent to hadquarters were 810 magazines and 9 packs of playing cards.

The financial statement was given as follows:

Mrs. Mouncey, 85 Serves At WMS

ROSENEATH, Feb. 19—(ENS).—Mrs. Robert Mouncey, in her 85th year, not only helped serve the W.M.S. members to afternoon tea, but made the special item on the menu, a Prince of Wales layer cake with fruit filling and white icing.

Mrs. Mouncey was joint hostess with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Mouncey, Wednesday afternoon, when the regular meeting of the W.M.S. was held in their home. Although a motion to not serve refreshments at regular meetings had carried at the previous meeting, indulgence was granted Mrs. Mouncey, veteran member of the society, is unable to attend many meetings, wished to serve the members with afternoon tea on this occasion.

Mrs. A. Halstead, second vice president was in the chair. It was decided to extend invitations to Fenella W.M.S., Centenary W.A., St. James' Anglican church W.A. and ladies from Alderville church to unite with the W.M.S. in the observance of the World Day of Prayer service. Mrs. A. Nill and Mrs. M. Davey were named a committee to arrange details for the service.

Mrs. E. R. Crego presented Chap. Five of the study. Assisting her to tell the story of "The Chinese Church Comes of Age" were Mrs. M. Davey, Mrs. Andrew Brown, Mrs. W. J. Campbell, Mrs. G. Mouncey, Mrs. D. Brisbin and Mrs. A. Nill.

Mrs. Nill offered her home for the March meeting and Mrs. Halstead will have charge of the study. There will be a shower of cotton articles at the March meeting.

Indian Burns

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 19. —(P). — A 62-year-old Indian resident of Tyendinaga Reserve was burned to death and two other Indians escaped when fire destroyed their small shack on the reserve 20 miles north-east of here early today. An inquest will be held.

Fatally burned was Joseph Green. The others were Mark Hill and his son Stephen.

Stephen awoke to find the shack filled with smoke and called to the others. The Hills made their way to safety. The body of Green was found near an upset gallon jug that is believed to have been filled with coal oil.

PETERBOROUGH SOLDIERS WIN FIRST GAME OF GROUP PLAYOFFS

Whitby Team Is Outplayed By Score Of 6-2

Peterborough Soldiers got away to a good start in their group playoff series with Whitby Palm Billiards at Brock Street Rink on Wednesday night, defeating Coach Hamel's outfit 6 goals to 2. On the run of the play it might just as easily have been 12 to 2.

Whitby were without Cooper, Barnes and Gamble, the three filling engagements in Toronto, and they were never in the hunt although they held the Petes to a 3 to 2 score in the first period. The Soldiers added two more goals in the second session, and a sixth in the final twenty minutes, and on the scoring opportunities they had might have run their total well into double figures. They blew some of the chances by erratic gunnery and Peg Hurst who was the Whitby hero robbed them repeatedly by sensational stops of close-in shots.

The ice looked good at the start, but failed to stand up and soon was heavy and sticky. The Petes never liked that kind of going, but they adopted winning tactics by constantly ganging up on the visitors. For minutes at a time, especially in the second period Whitby were hemmed in behind their own blue line and Hurst was the busiest man on the ice as the Soldiers kept driving in at him. How the rubber remained out of the net on some of those plays was a mystery to everyone including, we presume, Mr. Hurst himself.

Whitby only threatened occasionally in the last two periods and the 6 to 2 score does not fairly represent the run of the play.

Razzle Dazzle Line Click.

The Kingdon-Heal-Tompkins line was the Petes' most effective attacking division, figuring in five of the six goals scored. Bun Kingdon came through with the hat trick by driving the puck past Hurst three times and Honey Tompkins, despite an ankle injury sustained in practice on Monday night, scored twice. The other Peterborough goal was registered by Joe Blewett, who tore off one of the nicest individual rushes of the night and completed it with a backhand shot that beat Hurst all the way. Harding, while he had not nearly as much to do as Hurst, turned in a good card in the nets and both defence pairs checked steadily and effectively and made few mistakes.

For Whitby Hurst was the outstanding star. The peppery Peg kicked out a flock of shots, holding the fort alone at times when he got little help from his team mates and he helped materially to keep the Petes' score down to six. Covert tried hard but had no luck, and Johnny Heard, captain of the visitors, and Bagnall were about the most effective forwards. Doug. Maundrell was on the defence with Bill Vipond.

Kingdon Starts Scoring.

The Petes went on the attack early in the first period and were outlucked on several close-in chances. Finally a penalty to W. Vipond gave him an opening and on a power play Kingdon beat Hurst for the first goal of the game, banging in Jopling's rebound after the defence player took a pass from Tompkins.

Crowe then drew a penalty and the visitors had the numerical advantage, but it backfired. Kingdon and Tompkins did a nice chore of fore-checking to pin the Whitby crew behind their own blue line and finally Kingdon intercepted a Whitby pass and went in alone to beat Hurst for his second goal in succession. The Petes missed several more opportunities and finally McMaster passed from behind th net to Bagnall who was parked just outside the crease and scored easily. Joe Blewett got that one back in thirty seconds when he grabbed the rubber at centre, skated around the Whitby defence and back-handed a beauty into the cage.

Whitby closed the gap at 12:30 mark when Vipond took a pass from the corner by Heard and laced a bullet drive into the net. Just at the close of the period Bagnall was penalized.

He was still off when the second session opened and the Petes did everything but score while he was in the penalty box. Kingdon missed two real openings, shooting past the post when he took forward pass close in, and then being foiled by Hurst after Don Crowe had put him in the clear. A few seconds after Bagnall got back to the ice, Kingdon got another opportunity on a pass from Tompkins, and that time he picked a corner to put the Petes two goals up.

Hurst Is Busy.

For the next ten minutes the Petes continued to storm in and they had Hurst dizzy trying to keep track of the rubber. However, he managed to get into the way of everything they fired straight and on other occasions when they had him out of position the Peterborough attacks missed the net. On one ocasion Tompkins hit the post with Hurst on the other side of the cage. Nichols scored on a nice passing play, but Referee Holmshaw called the attack back for offside. Finally Godfrey drew a penalty and that was the first time Whitby were able to relieve the pressure. A little later McMaster got a breakaway and went in on top of Harding only to have the Petes' goalie dive into the shot. At the 15 minute mark the Soldiers went further ahead when Tompkins scored at close range on a pass from Kingdon. Heal, who carried the rubber in also got an assist on the play. Near the end of the period Burton drew a two-minute rest for hooking a Whitby player and he was still on the sidelines when tht third session started.

The final twenty minutes was just a case of playing out the string. The ice was very heavy and both teams tired badly in the hard going. However the Petes continued to do the bulk of the attacking, but had little good fortune close in, while the Whitby offensive was spasmodic and not very effective. Over 14 minutes had passed before Soldiers got the last goal of the evening, Tompkins going right in to pull Hurst out and slid the disk into the empty cage. Bennett gave the right-winger the pass to start the play going.

High Park Rink In 4th Day, RecordUnbeaten

TORONTO, Feb. 19 (CP)—Walter Cowan's High Park rink entered the fourth day of play in the Ontario Curling Association's 15th annual Bonspiel today with an unbeaten record and seven straight victories to lead the race for the 'spiel's grand aggregate crown.

One game behind, and the other unbeaten rink in the bonspiel, was Earl Green's Toronto High Park rink with six straight wins. George Farr's Brampton rink, beaten last night for the first time after six consecutive victories, and Dr. S. T. White's Orangeville rink, were in close running for the aggregate honors. Both have six wins and one loss.

Bert Hall's Kitchener rink dropped Farr from the unbeaten class with a 13-2 trouncing in the second round of the Royal York Trophy.

The Cowan and Green rinks have the most strenuous schedule today as the six events of the bonspiel progresses. They will compete in the three main events — the Royal York, the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and the Seiberling.

Ray P. Best of Peterborough was beaten in the first round of the North American Life tilt by Ken A. Miles of High Park 15-14.

The bonspiel is expected to end Saturday.

Trenton Cagers Cop 20th In Record String

TORONTO, Feb. 19. — Tip Tops, local Senior basketball leaders, continued their hot playing last night at I.T.S. No. 6 R.C.A.F. Drill Hall to better the New York Chain Gang, 28-24, for the second straight win over the visiting cage artists and bring the two-night war charities program, sponsored by the Riverdale Kiwanis, to a smashing close. The crowd of 2,000 were put in a receptive mood for the Tailors' victory by a sparkling first game between Trenton Air Force and I.T.S. No. 6, taken by Trenton 37-33 for their 20th successive triumph.

Shooting Betrays Them

Shooting, weak link in the Chainmen's make-up this visit, betrayed them again. They displayed marvellous ball-handling ability and indulged in lengthy and brilliant passing sessions, but weren't able to make them pay off when they let fly at the hoop. They seemed away to an easy win, and held a 12-6 lead at half-time, but the Toppers, led by Don Finlayson and Art Gibson scame through with a series of points midway in the final half to establish the margin that produced victory. The visitors weren't able to make much use of their superior height either, even under their own basket, as the inspired Toppers recovered the ball there time after time or else broke up Chain attacks before they got started.

Bill Breadon led the Tailors to their popular win, giving a high-powered defensive display. Finlayson led the attack and proved very useful in checking also. Snake Martin, Herb Moores and Shag Park were other effective helping hands. Lon Amery was best for the Chain Gang, while John Williams and Tom Seeley pleased the crowd. John Bailey showed a terrific burst of speed once when he tossed in the ball from the end and got on the floor in time to take his own pass. Unfortunately the procedure is illegal, but it was an original idea.

Three-Star Performance

The opener brought together two unbeaten clubs and they played like it, giving a three-star performance from start to finish. The result could have gone either way.

Trenton went into an early lead but I.T.S. No. 6 climbed back into the contention toward the end of the opening half, led by two tricky, fast-moving players, Cavanaugh and Huntington. The score at the half was 19-16, Trenton's favor, and the same even-Steven play ruled in the second session. "Ananias" Phibbs and Huntington popped in golden baskets five minutes from the end that whittled Trenton's lead to a point, but Green of the winners got busy shortly after to notch a basket and a free throw to hold I.T.S. off.

A $600 Smack

MANKATO, Minn., Feb. 19—(AP)—A smack on the lips last August caused a loud echo in district court here six months later. Beatrice Schoeb sued Wesley A. Volk for $600 for personal injuries sustained when a car in which they were riding rammed another machine. Volk's principal defence was that Miss Schoeb was kissing him when the crash occurred and that she therefore was guilty of contributory negligence. Miss Schoeb was awarded $500.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Petes took one step closer to the championship of the senior B group last night when they walloped a short-handed Whitby outfit 6 goals to 2 in the first game of the playoffs. The most remarkable thing about the game was the fact that the local Soldiers failed to win by a larger margin for they had 75 per cent of the territorial play and an even higher percentage than that of scoring chances. Toronto calls robbed the Whitby team of some of their Oshawa stars. Covert and Dafoe of the first line were here but left-winger Jerry Cooper was an absentee off that line and Carl Gamble and Durling were missing from the second line and Barnes off the defence, although the veteran Doug Maundrell filled in nicely for him. The Petes badly outplayed the visitors over most of the route, in spite of the fact that the ice soon grew sticky and heavy, the kind of footing the local crowd hate. The Peterborough tactics of ganging up and penning the visitors in behind their own blue line were decidedly effective and only some careless shooting and a sensational goal-keeping display by Peg Hurst, particularly in the second period, kept the score from climbing into double figures.

* * * * * *

In winning the first game of the series the Petes played sound hockey, despite unfavorable ice conditions. They checked closely and kept hustling all the way and they were good value for their win. The Kingdon-Tompkins-Heal line carried the brunt of the homesters' effective attacking, picking up five of their team's six goals. Kingdon set the pace by banging in three and assisting in another while Honey Tompkins forgot the handicap of an injured ankle while he scored twice and figured in two more goals. Art Heal did not score but fattened his average with two assists. The other line had their opportunities too but were outlucked repeatedly. A feature was the fact that Kingdon scored the first goal of the game while the Palm Billiards team were a man short and then came right back with another while Whitby had the numerical advantage by reason of a penalty to Don Crowe.

* * * * * *

The second game of the series will be played at Whitby tomorrow night and with their full team available then the Ontario county team are confident they can sew up the round by handing the Petes a trimming. However in the Peterborough camp the feeling is something else again. The local Soldiers are determined to press their advantage by grabbing off the Friday night affair and going two games up on the series and the fact that the Palm Billiards will have Cooper, Gamble, Barnes and Durling added to their roster is not causing the Peterborough outfit to lose any sleep. They feel that even with those reinforcements in action they have enough speed and power to carry them through to a win. It should be a real battle, however for Whitby will go all out to grab off a victory and even up the series. The third game in the playoffs will be staged at Brock St. Rink on Monday night and Palm Billiards will have all hands and the cook here for that engagement. If the Petes pull off a win in Whitby Friday night, Monday's game might settle the whole argument. On the other hand if Whitby earns the nod tomorrow night the two outfits will start Monday's battle on an even footing.

Congratulations

Mrs. C. B. Westbrooke and the members of her rink from the Peterborough Ladies' Curling Club are still being congratulated upon their achievement last week in winning the second consolation event at the big bonspiel at the Seigniory Club, Quebec. To win a major competition at a 'spiel like the Quebec meet which attracts the cream of women curlers from all over the Dominion is indeed a feat that deserves plaudits all around. The Peterborough rink to win out had to overcome the strong Toronto Granite rink skipped by Mrs. Medland and it came through that test with flying colors to take first place in the event. Mrs. Westbrooke herself has visited the Seigniory competition on previous occasions but it was the first trip for the members of her rink, Mrs. Alice Leach, Mrs. Dulmage and Miss Grace Patterson and that makes their victory all the more creditable, especially as it was the first experience the three had had playing with irons instead of with granite stones.

The official averages of the City Bowling League at the Duffus Recreational Academy show that the boys down that way are doing a lot of nice trundling, even if they have not produced a 4,000 team total or a 1,000 mark for a three-game single. The figures show that with two of the three sections of the league schedule completed eleven players in the loop have averages of better than 230. Fred Martin of Jay's team, although he dropped off eight points in the second section is still leading the parade with the handsome average of 255 for 54 games. He was 263 at the end of the first section. The veteran Tom Curvin is holding his own, in second place with 247 and Tommy Miller who has been very hot in recent games is in third slot with 242. Tough luck on head pins and splits have dropped Chief Gimblett and Bert McCarroll but both bowlers are good and likely to come back during the third section.

Dominions Snap Back

The Dominions who started off the City Basketball League race by winning three games in a row and then blew the next two snapped back into form again last night when they knocked off C.G.E., one of the most serious contenders for a playoff berth by a 33 to 21 score. Last time out C.G.E. led all through the engagement to take a fall out of Dominions and they started off in the same way last night, setting up a five point lead half way through the first half and having a 12 to 11 margin at half time. However Dominions opened out a strong offensive after the rest period and outscored their opposition 22 to 9 in the second session. Dominions cashed in nicely on fouls made by their opponents, converting eight free throws out of 11 tries, with Mike Rogow setting the pace in that department by potting five out of six which is a lot higher than the usual local average in free throw shooting.

The Trenton R.C.A.F. team, in whom Peterborough players and fans are always greatly interested because of the frequent clashes between the Flyers and the local Outboard Marines won their 20th straight game last night when they defeated No. 6 Initial Training School in Toronto 37 to 33. Pat Flynn, the tall Vancouver centre for Trenton, the star who won the admiration of the Outboard Marines squad during their last trip to Trenton led the attack for Brian Casey's formidable team by scoring 16 points. Cavanaugh who played for Eglington here Saturday night against Marines was on the lineup of the losers and was picked as one of their outstanding players. He is an American cage star.

To-night, by way of a change, we will hold a 25c bonspiel; draw from the board at 7.15 sharp. The first 56 players who phone in or to be on hand will constitute the draw. Good ice is in on order, so come on out and get in this 'spiel. The first of its kind this season.

Have you made your entry for the Neill trophy yet? Play starts Monday night at 6.45 p.m.

Along about 7.30 o'clock last evening, six rinks from the Oshawa Curling Club paid a surprise visit to our club. Play had begun in some of the schedule games, but the committee soon got together and after a little explanation everything was ironed out. Rinks were soon chosen from the Peterborough curlers present and in a few minutes the boys were out on the ice with everybody happy.

At the end of 10 ends the scores handed in showed the Oshawa boys ahead by 9 shots.

The visitors were later entertained by our club at the Hollywood Cafe.

MacPhail Signs 5 Holdouts, Leaves 5 Behind

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP). — Bustling Larry MacPhail came to terms with five Brooklyn baseball players in a whirlwind series of conferences yesterday, then packed them off with the rest of the National League champions for the Havana training camp.

Left behind were three holdouts —Pitcher Whitlow Wyatt, Outfielder Dixie Walker and Rookie Pitcher John Kraus. None of the three showed up at Miami to talk to MacPhail, the club president.

Higbe Balks

Another stay-behind was Pitcher Kirby Higbe, who balked at the last moment. Club officials said he wanted to take his wife along, but Higbe's only comment was: "I just don't like the place, and MacPhail knows it. Besides the food being terrible, the water is bad."

Players' wives were not asked to make the trip because only limited space was available for the aerial jump.

Asked when he would join his teammates, Higbe said: "I don't know. There's no use thinking about that now."

Lingering at his home in Birmingham, Walker said he "just didn't want to talk to MacPhail about my contract—he's too persuasive."

"That MacPhail is a mighty persuasive fellow," Dixie said. "He can talk you into a lot of things and that's one reason, after having made up my mind that I was asking a fair salary, I decided not to go to Miami without having already signed. I didn't see any reason for risking a trip down there and back in case we didn't get together."

Walker was surprised to hear MacPhail had classed him as a holdout. "I sent MacPhail a telegram this afternoon," he said, "and am hoping I may hear from him any minute telling me to come on down. I don't have any desire to be known as a holdout."

The outfielder said he was asking for a raise that "is about half of what some of the other players are asking."

MacPhail, who flew in from New York last night, rushed over from his Miami Beach Hotel this morning and went to work on the players he had not signed.

Later, after the squad had left for Havana on two chartered Pan American clippers, Club Secretary John McDonald announced these players had reached an agreement on their salaries:

Sign at Havana

The terms were not announced. McDonald said they would sign contracts as soon as they got settled at Havana.

Catcher Herman Franks and Infielder Lester Burge, both already signed, did not accompany the squad today because of illness in their families.

MacPhail indicated that he expects the salary difficulty with Wyatt to be the hardest to settle. The hurler was reported asking $20,000—up $7,500 over his 1941 pay.

"Wyatt is entitled to a raise," MacPhail declared. "But last year was his first big season, and he can't expect to jump over the heads of players who have been up there a long time."

There was no indication of the amount offered Walker, or of the sum he asks.

McDonald said Kraus, who played last year with Durham of the Piedmont League, wants more than offered—"maybe the price of a cup of coffee, but we're not going to bother with him too much."

McDonald said no provision was made for the players' wives because "we're the first ball club ever to train outside the United States during a war, and we don't want to add any complications.

"Besides, we are using planes, and there isn't room for them."

HAVANA, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers, National League baseball champions, took to the air yesterday to get to Havana for a twenty-day training period.

The Dodgers arrived here in two planes, making a brief air jaunt from Miami, Fla., where many of them had concentrated to discuss salaries with Larry MacPhail, the club president.

Hot, sunny weather and a crowd of Cuban sports fans greeted the Dodgers at the airport here. Many Cubans, in cables to Brooklyn last fall, insisted that it was the Havana training that brought the Dodgers their penant.

Real training will get under way today. The first spring training game of the season will find the Dodgers meeting New York Giants here Feb. 28.

Tom Anderson Leads Defence Men In Scoring In N.H.L. This Year

A recent official tabulation of the goal-getters in the National Hockey league revealed this unusual event: a defence player was sixth among the point-makers of the major league.

The player was Tommy "Cowboy" Anderson, one of the rear-guards of the hard-battling Brooklyn Americans. Up to Feb. 10, Anderson had compiled 32 points, consisting of 10 goals, 22 assists, and at that point had 11 more games in which to excel, or tie, the remarkable record set by Frank "King" Clancy, now a referee of the National League. While playing for Toronto Leafs, in 1929-30, Clancy scored 17 goals, registered 23 assists, for a total of 40 points. Next to that comes Eddie Shore's record with Boston Bruins, in 1932-33. Shore had eight goals, 27 assists, for 35 points.

TOMMY ANDERSON

The fact is that, over a period of several seasons (he broke into the National league with Detroit, in 1934-35) Thomas Linton Anderson has been one of the consistently sound and steady players in the major loop.

Anderson is a real Scot, born in Edinburgh, like Charlie Gardiner, the famous Chicago Black Hawk goalie. He got into hockey in Drumheller, Canada, with the team from which the Bentley brothers sprang to stardom with the Hawks.

Tommy was nicknamed "Cowboy" as a result of his broncho-riding in the renowned Calgary stampede. He turned professional hockey player in 1930 with the Philadelphia Arrows in the Canadian-American League and joined the Americans in 1935. Described as the "ideal hockey player" by Manager "Red" Dutton, of the Brooklyn team. Anderson lives up to that tag for his personal habits, easy-going temperament and team-mindedness. He eats and sleeps hockey, and a month before the training season starts each year he goes into a rigid personal training session. Road work and conditioning make up his program, so he is usually top man when the regular training session gets under way.

At the start of the last spring's campaign, Dutton decided Anderson had the qualifications of a good defenceman, and shifted him to the back division. Tommy had campaigned 11 years as a centre and leftwinger and had developed into one of the most robust front-line bumpers in the N.H.L.

Today the "Cowboy" has managed to combine rearguard duties with an offensive whirl that has established him as the outstanding point-collector among the blueline boys. He has left the rest of the defenceman far behind. Only Flash Hollett of the Bruins approaches his mark on points. At the same point in the race, Hollett had scored 13 goals, but in a number of games, the versatile Hollett was used on the forward division.

Best goal-getting by a defence player was Clancy's 17, in 1929-30. In 1924-25, playing for Ottawa, Clancy had 15 goals, and that figure is also the high mark for Eddie Shore, achieved with Boston Bruins in 1930-31.

MAJORS WHIP MARLBOROS 2-1 FOR GAME EDGE IN SEMI-FINALS

Saints Get Back In Running, Shades Weavers

TORONTO, Feb. 19 (CP)—Playing on their home ice Hamilton Majors went ahead one game last night in the four-of-seven game series of the Ontario Hockey Association semi-finals, defeating Toronto Marlboros 2-1. St. Catharines Saints also took advantage of their home rink to upset Niagara Falls Weavers by a similar score, in the other semi-final series.

The standing in the playdowns now is Hamilton 2, Marlboros 1; Niagara Falls 2, St. Catharines 1.

The teams will meet again on Friday night with the Saints travelling to Niagara Falls and Marlboros playing hosts to Hamilton at Toronto.

In the game at Hamilton the Majors jumped into an early lead with Robertson and Runions scoring two goals in the first five minutes of play. The Toronto sextet were held scoreless till the final period when Henderson batted one past Goalie Eley to give his teammates some renewed hope.

At St. Catharines the Saints snapped the losing jinx that had been hounding them on goals by Goble and Mundrick. After both teams had been held scoreless in the opening frame, Goble put his team ahead after 3.52 of the session. Mundrick got another marker halfway through the third period. Eddie Young spoiled a shutout for the Saints less than four minutes before the final whistle blew.

Canada Gives Roarin' Game A High Place

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO Feb. 18 — (CP). — One hundred years ago Queen Victoria and her Consort Prince Albert saw their first curling—on an oak floor at Scone Palace in Edinburgh, with the Earl of Mansfield pushing the stones.

Then, as now, Scotsmen took their curling seriously. Lord Mansfield then was president of the Grand Caledonian Curling Club, formed four years before, and his fellow-members of the club had urged him to commend the game to the Queen and her Prince Consort during a visit to Scotland.

He presented a pair of curling granites to Prince Albert with considerable ceremony and a short time later the oak floor demonstration was given. The Prince Consort consented to become a patron of the club and the following year the Queen gave permission to use the prefix Royal in the club name. The "Grand" later was dropped, and the Royal Caledonian Curling Club today is the governing body for curling throughout the world.

Curling Army.

Canada, with about 160,000 curlers is the most important curling country in the world. About 800 curling clubs in Canada, United States, Scotland, England, Australia, New Zealand, China France, Switzerland and Sweden, are affiliated with the Royal Caledonian. (At least, since there has been no announcement of Germanization of the game in France, it seems safe to assume that the French clubs still maintain allegiance to the parent club.)

Curling rules have been uniform since 1853, when an anonymous curler inserted an advertisement in the North British Advertiser calling for a meeting to be held in the Waterloo Hotel, Edinburgh, to "make the mysteries of curling more uniform in future."

Scottish curlers have travelled to Canada several times and a few Canadian rinks have visited Scotland. Canadians now outcurl the Scots by a wide margin, mainly because Canadian curlers can depend upon several months of curling each winter while the Scots sometimes get only a few weeks.

Irons at First.

Canadian curlers first used irons, molded from melted-down French cannon in the winter of 1759-60 by Wolfe's soldiers at Quebec. But the use of granites became standard in later years and although many Quebec curlers still use irons, they agreed a few years ago to use granites in the Canadian curling championships, which will be held in Quebec this year beginning March 2.

Only once before in the 16-year history of the event have the championships been held outside of Toronto. In 1940 they were held in Winnipeg and in 1943 will be held in Calgary.

Providence Reds Held 3 to 3 By The Eagles

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19—(CP). — Leadership in the western division of the American Hockey League which has changed hands between Hershey Bears and Cleveland Barons several times this season, today is shared by both clubs, and with the regular schedule fast drawing to a close the rest of the league is anticipating a bitter tussle for the top spot by these two teams in the stretch drive.

Last night Cleveland set down the Bears by 4-0 to gain the top rung. Hershey, however, still holds a game in hand over the Barons.

Indianapolis Caps, also bidding for the section lead, fell behind the pace by three points when Washington Lions scored a 3-1 triumph. The victory pulled the Lions a point closer to third place in the eastern section table as Providence Reds were held to a 3-3 deadlock by New Haven Eagles in the other league game last night.

The man mainly responsible in giving Barons their verdict was Goaler Bill Beveridge.

The veteran Ottawan, who has been campaigning in the pro ranks since 1928, was partially brilliant in the third period when he swept aside several threatening Hershey scoring attempts.

Another pair of veterans, Joffre Desilets and Les Cunningham, were in on three of the four goals. Desilets tallied once and got two assists while Cunningham reaped three assists.

Lions Win Out.

Third-period tallies by Georges Mantha and Polly Drouin gave Washington the win over Indianapolis after the teams had battled on even terms over the first two periods. Lions took the lead at 16.54 of the middle session on a goal by Louis Trudel, but less than two minutes later Norm Sawyer took Hec Kilrea's pass to count the equalizer.

Caps put up a desperate bid to overcome the Lions but found Goaler Bert Gardiner in top form.

A pair of youngsters on loan from New York Rangers of the National Hockey League—Norm Tustin and Norm Burns—brought New Haven from behind to gain their 3-3 tie with Providence.

The Reds moved into a 2-0 lead early in the game. Burns got one of these back in the same period but Providence went two ahead again shortly after the third period was underway. Then Tustin banged home a pair of goals within little more than a minute of each other to send the game into scoreless overtime.

Little Gus Mancuso assisted on all three New Haven goals, while leading the Providence attack was Oscar Aubuchon with two goals and Norm Calladine with one, the opener.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP). — You've heard all about those big purses fighters sometimes collect, but do you know the smallest ever earned for a main event in Madison Square Garden?....It was $3.09, collected by Walter Neusel, the German heavyweight, for fighting Ray Impellettiere back in 1933....Paul Damski, Neusel's manager, agreed to take half the receipts and guaranteed Impelliettiere $5,000...The net gate that night was just $10,006.18....Howie Morenz, Jr. will play centre between his Dad's old teammates, Aurel Joliat and Billy Boucher, when the Old Canadiens and the Old Maroons in that big hockey war benefit program at Montreal next Tuesday....Howie Jr., 17 years old, already is on the Canadiens' negotiation list and folks who know say he will be a great hockey player some day.

Jacobs' Beachcombing

When Tony Galento was barred as referee at a Detroit wrestling match, he made a deal to sell popcorn and peanuts in the Arena and to make a speech to the customers...."I will also autograph pictures for nothing," Tony offered....Maxie Berger, who fights Ray Robinson tomorrow, appeared in 16 main events in one year at the Coliseum and drew 167,000 customers—most of whom came to see him licked.

Hard As Ice

Barbara Shaw, the ski star, didn't let a broken leg keep her from watching the Eastern championship races last week. She strapped a ski on her uninjured foot and made her way to the sidelines with two ski poles to help keep her balance.... At that, Barbara had nothing on Blackie Prebonich, the San Diego hockey player....When he was bounced from a game in Bakersfield, Calif., Blackie was so peeved that he didn't even hesitate when he found the dressing room door locked....He went right in, wearing the door jamb like a collar...A few days later the rink sent him a bill for $15 damages.

Chance Of Fifth Spot Tonight For Americans

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.— (CP).— Undoubtedly the least important battle in the world to-day is the one between Brooklyn Americans, Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens for possession of the fifth and sixth places in the National Hockey League.

The stakes are 95 per cent. each and five per cent. prestige. The first six clubs in the league advance into the Stanley Cup playoffs, and the players draw a slice of the post-schedule gate receipts. Therefore, although the chances of Americans, Canadiens or Wings winning the Stanley Cup are about the same as those of the hounds in dog racing, the stretch dash can become quite important to everyone from managers to water-boys on the tail-end clubs.

Both Americans and Detroit play to-night, Americans entertaining the Boston Bruins while Detroit is at home to Chicago. Canadiens, one point back of the fifth place Wings and Amerks (tied), are idle to-night. So are the drooping New York Rangers and zooming Toronto Maple Leafs.

Americans have a fair chance to take undisputed possession of fiftn place, because Bruins are experimenting with numerous rookies in an attempt to fill the hole left by the enlistment of the Kitchener line. But should Bruins take this one, they would be back in first place—tied with Rangers, 'tis true, but with a far superior goal average.

Chicago is charging along in fourth place and has been steady enough to take over one of the first three places, should Rangers, Boston or Toronto falter. Rangers have faltered, of course, losing four straight games. If that keeps up, wtih Boston in its present unsettled condition, Leafs and Chicago may be running one-two within two weeks.

Farr Gives Army Fights, Laughs

(By DOUGLAS AMARON.)

Somewhere in England, Feb. 19—(CP)—Tommy Farr, still the same genial Welshman who won the fans and lost the fights when he tried to climb to the top of the ring ladder, is doing an overtime job for the war effort.

Rejected by the Royal Air Force because of ill-health, the blond boxer from Tonypandy who once lasted 15 rounds with Joe Louis, is spending his days learning an engineering trade so he can become a munitions worker and travelling about the country at night staging boxing shows for the troops.

These three-round exhibitions with men like Sg. George Markwick, British Army heavyweight champion, are serving a double purpose of giving the soldiers first-class entertainment and keeping Tommy in condition.

There was talk not so long ago that Farr was through with the ring because of nose trouble caused by his early years in the Welsh mines. But Tommy is beginning to round into shape and although he won't discuss comeback plans he says he is feeling "1,000,000 times better" than he did.

Special treatment is clearing the poison from his system and if he recovers fully he may be back after the war trying to regain the British and Empire heavyweight titles from PO. Len Harvey.

Host to the Troops

Farr has travelled thousands of miles on his rounds of the camps, paying his own fares and expenses. On Sundays he invites the soldiers to his London flat for tea, frequently entertaining six or seven at a time.

In the ring he combines clever boxing with clowning, giving the troops a good exhibition and a laugh at the same time. He spurns the headgear which his opponents always wear, stands up between rounds and closes the show with a little speech which leaves everyone chuckling.

But he is dead serious about becoming a munitions worker and clocks in regularly every morning at his apprentice bench.

He held out his hands to show a half dozen deep scars where he chipped his knuckles instead of the metal.

"I've banged my fingers in this trade more than I ever did in boxing," he said, "but I'll master it one of these days—if I don't lose a hand first."

Brier '36 Champ Watson Is Back

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19.—(CP).— J. Ken Watson, skip of the Winnipeg Strathcona rink that won the Dominion curling championship in 1936, will represent Manitoba in the 1942 Macdonald Brier tankard Dominion championship at Quebec beginning March 2.

Watson defeated his club mate, Charlie Florence, a southpaw curler, 8-7 in the British Consols final of the 54th annual Manitoba 'spiel here last night to take the provincial title and run his victory string to 14 in 15 games.

Besides Skip Watson, rink members are Jimmy Grant, lead, C. Scrymgeour, second, and Grant Watson, a brother who was with the rink in 1936.

MAJORS WHIP MARLBOROS 2-1 FOR GAME EDGE IN SEMI-FINALS

Saints Get Back In Running, Shades Weavers

TORONTO, Feb. 19 (CP)—Playing on their home ice Hamilton Majors went ahead one game last night in the four-of-seven game series of the Ontario Hockey Association semi-finals, defeating Toronto Marlboros 2-1. St. Catharines Saints also took advantage of their home rink to upset Niagara Falls Weavers by a similar score, in the other semi-final series.

The standing in the playdowns now is Hamilton 2, Marlboros 1; Niagara Falls 2, St. Catharines 1.

The teams will meet again on Friday night with the Saints travelling to Niagara Falls and Marlboros playing hosts to Hamilton at Toronto.

In the game at Hamilton the Majors jumped into an early lead with Robertson and Runions scoring two goals in the first five minutes of play. The Toronto sextet were held scoreless till the final period when Henderson batted one past Goalie Eley to give his teammates some renewed hope.

At St. Catharines the Saints snapped the losing jinx that had been hounding them on goals by Goble and Mundrick. After both teams had been held scoreless in the opening frame, Goble put his team ahead after 3.52 of the session. Mundrick got another marker halfway through the third period. Eddie Young spoiled a shutout for the Saints less than four minutes before the final whistle blew.

Canada Gives Roarin' Game A High Place

By SCOTT YOUNG
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO Feb. 18 — (CP). — One hundred years ago Queen Victoria and her Consort Prince Albert saw their first curling—on an oak floor at Scone Palace in Edinburgh, with the Earl of Mansfield pushing the stones.

Then, as now, Scotsmen took their curling seriously. Lord Mansfield then was president of the Grand Caledonian Curling Club, formed four years before, and his fellow-members of the club had urged him to commend the game to the Queen and her Prince Consort during a visit to Scotland.

He presented a pair of curling granites to Prince Albert with considerable ceremony and a short time later the oak floor demonstration was given. The Prince Consort consented to become a patron of the club and the following year the Queen gave permission to use the prefix Royal in the club name. The "Grand" later was dropped, and the Royal Caledonian Curling Club today is the governing body for curling throughout the world.

Curling Army.

Canada, with about 160,000 curlers is the most important curling country in the world. About 800 curling clubs in Canada, United States, Scotland, England, Australia, New Zealand, China France, Switzerland and Sweden, are affiliated with the Royal Caledonian. (At least, since there has been no announcement of Germanization of the game in France, it seems safe to assume that the French clubs still maintain allegiance to the parent club.)

Curling rules have been uniform since 1853, when an anonymous curler inserted an advertisement in the North British Advertiser calling for a meeting to be held in the Waterloo Hotel, Edinburgh, to "make the mysteries of curling more uniform in future."

Scottish curlers have travelled to Canada several times and a few Canadian rinks have visited Scotland. Canadians now outcurl the Scots by a wide margin, mainly because Canadian curlers can depend upon several months of curling each winter while the Scots sometimes get only a few weeks.

Irons at First.

Canadian curlers first used irons, molded from melted-down French cannon in the winter of 1759-60 by Wolfe's soldiers at Quebec. But the use of granites became standard in later years and although many Quebec curlers still use irons, they agreed a few years ago to use granites in the Canadian curling championships, which will be held in Quebec this year beginning March 2.

Only once before in the 15-year history of the event have the championships been held outside of Toronto. In 1940 they were held in Winnipeg and in 1943 will be held in Calgary.

Providence Reds Held 3 to 3 By The Eagles

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19—(CP). — Leadership in the western division of the American Hockey League which has changed hands between Hershey Bears and Cleveland Barons several times this season, today is shared by both clubs, and with the regular schedule fast drawing to a close the rest of the league is anticipating a bitter tussle for the top spot by these two teams in the stretch drive.

Last night Cleveland set down the Bears by 4-0 to gain the top rung. Hershey, however, still holds a game in hand over the Barons.

Indianapolis Caps, also bidding for the section lead, fell behind the pace by three points when Washington Lions scored a 3-1 triumph. The victory pulled the Lions a point closer to third place in the eastern section table as Providence Reds were held to a 3-3 deadlock by New Haven Eagles in the other league game last night.

The man mainly responsible in giving Barons their verdict was Goaler Bill Beveridge.

The veteran Ottawan, who has been campaigning in the pro ranks since 1928, was partially brilliant in the third period when he swept aside several threatening Hershey scoring attempts.

Another pair of veterans, Joffre Desilets and Les Cunningham, were in on three of the four goals. Desilets tallied once and got two assists while Cunningham reaped three assists.

Lions Win Out.

Third-period tallies by Georges Mantha and Polly Drouin gave Washington the win over Indianapolis after the teams had battled on even terms over the first two periods. Lions took the lead at 16.54 of the middle session on a goal by Louis Trudel, but less than two minutes later Norm Sawyer took Hec Kilrea's pass to count the equalizer.

Caps put up a desperate bid to overcome the Lions but found Goaler Bert Gardiner in top form.

A pair of youngsters on loan from New York Rangers of the National Hockey League—Norm Tustin and Norm Burns—brought New Haven from behind to gain their 3-3 tie with Providence.

The Reds moved into a 2-0 lead early in the game. Burns got one of these back in the same period but Providence went two ahead again shortly after the third period was underway. Then Tustin banged home a pair of goals within little more than a minute of each other to send the game into scoreless overtime.

Brier '36 Champ Watson Is Back

WINNIPEG, Feb. 19.—(CP).— J. Ken Watson, skip of the Winnipeg Strathcona rink that won the Dominion curling championship in 1936, will represent Manitoba in the 1942 Macdonald Brier tankard Dominion championship at Quebec beginning March 2.

Watson defeated his club mate, Charlie Florence, a southpaw curler, 8-7 in the British Consols final of the 54th annual Manitoba 'spiel here last night to take the provincial title and run his victory string to 14 in 15 games.

Besides Skip Watson, rink members are Jimmy Grant, lead, C. Scrymgeour, second, and Grant Watson, a brother who was with the rink in 1936.

Farr Gives Army Fights, Laughs

(By DOUGLAS AMARON.)

Somewhere in England, Feb. 19—(CP)—Tommy Farr, still the same genial Welshman who won the fans and lost the fights when he tried to climb to the top of the ring ladder, is doing an overtime job for the war effort.

Rejected by the Royal Air Force because of ill-health, the blond boxer from Tonypandy who once lasted 15 rounds with Joe Louis, is spending his days learning an engineering trade so he can become a munitions worker and travelling about the country at night staging boxing shows for the troops.

These three-round exhibitions with men like Sg. George Markwick, British Army heavyweight champion, are serving a double purpose of giving the soldiers first-class entertainment and keeping Tommy in condition.

There was talk not so long ago that Farr was through with the ring because of nose trouble caused by his early years in the Welsh mines. But Tommy is beginning to round into shape and although he won't discuss comeback plans he says he is feeling "1,000,000 times better" than he did.

Special treatment is clearing the poison from his system and if he recovers fully he may be back after the war trying to regain the British and Empire heavyweight titles from PO. Len Harvey.

Host to the Troops

Farr has travelled thousands of miles on his rounds of the camps, paying his own fares and expenses. On Sundays he invites the soldiers to his London flat for tea, frequently entertaining six or seven at a time.

In the ring he combines clever boxing with clowning, giving the troops a good exhibition and a laugh at the same time. He spurns the headgear which his opponents always wear, stands up between rounds and closes the show with a little speech which leaves everyone chuckling.

But he is dead serious about becoming a munitions worker and clocks in regularly every morning at his apprentice bench.

He held out his hands to show a half dozen deep scars where he chipped his knuckles instead of the metal.

"I've banged my fingers in this trade more than I ever did in boxing," he said, "but I'll master it one of these days—if I don't lose a hand first."

Chance Of Fifth Spot Tonight For Americans

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.— (CP).— Undoubtedly the least important battle in the world to-day is the one between Brooklyn Americans, Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens for possession of the fifth and sixth places in the National Hockey League.

The stakes are 95 per cent. each and five per cent. prestige. The first six clubs in the league advance into the Stanley Cup playoffs, and the players draw a slice of the post-schedule gate receipts. Therefore, although the chances of Americans, Canadiens or Wings winning the Stanley Cup are about the same as those of the hounds in dog racing, the stretch dash can become quite important to everyone from managers to water-boys on the tail-end clubs.

Both Americans and Detroit play to-night, Americans entertaining the Boston Bruins while Detroit is at home to Chicago. Canadiens, one point back of the fifth place Wings and Amerks (tied), are idle to-night. So are the drooping New York Rangers and zooming Toronto Maple Leafs.

Americans have a fair chance to take undisputed possession of fifth place, because Bruins are experimenting with numerous rookies in an attempt to fill the hole left by the enlistment of the Kitchener line. But should Bruins take this one, they would be back in first place—tied with Rangers, 'tis true, but with a far superior goal average.

Chicago is charging along in fourth place and has been steady enough to take over one of the first three places, should Rangers, Boston or Toronto falter. Rangers have faltered, of course, losing four straight games. If that keeps up, with Boston in its present unsettled condition, Leafs and Chicago may be running one-two within two weeks.

Finance Committee Of Council Has One Go At Estimates But Only Finds $8,250 To Cut

In the secondary stage of determining the amount of money to be collected in municipal taxes this year, the Finance committee of the Council last night erased various items totalling about $8,250 from the incomplete estimates.

The primary phases of this detailed compiling of the estimated expenditures for the year have already been finished. Committees of the Council, Board of Education, Public Library Board and other spending bodies drawing funds from the city treasury prepare separately their requisitions which are then submitted to the Finance committee for review. The session of Alderman Cotton's committee last night was a preliminary canter in the penultimate examination of the progressing budget. All the estimates except those of the Board of Works, and also the civic salary list were scrutinized, and the committee adjourned to meet again two evenings next week. And if definite information is not then at hand from the Provincial Legislature regarding the accustomed subsidy of one mill it is altogether likely that the rate cannot be set at the regular meeting of the Council, Monday, March 2.

Aldermen Gordon and Bradburn led the pruning attack last night, but they and their associates failed to find many protruding items that invited drastic reduction.

The $38,000 estimate of the Police department passed without a word of criticism. The appropriation last year was $34,275 and the year's expenditure was $34,247.37, obviously close financing by Chief Newhall and the supervising Commission. And the estimates for this year include $3,600 for cost of living bonus which accounts for most of $3,725 increase the department is asking for this year.

Nick Fire Estimates

Turning to the Fire department's requisition of $43,935 as compared with $40,625, the only item the committee could make a pass at was $1,200 for fire alarm boxes. And, it is recalled that Chief Gimblett included that extension of the service for the benefit of the new wartime communities at Burnham's Point and the Jackson Park neighborhood.

"I don't think there has been a fire alarm sent in from the box near my place in ten years," Alderman Gordon said. "About five or six years ago an elderly lady put a letter in it, thinking it was a mail box. There are telephones all around that district. Why couldn't we dispense with this $1,200 item for four new boxes by changing the system, so as to redistribute to the new areas boxes that we are not using. Chief Gimblett's report shows they are not used. Nearly all the fire alarms last year were sent in by telephone."

"We have 58 alarm boxes, Alderman Bradburn said, "and the number of calls by that means did not average one for each box."

Alderman Sullivan, the new chairman of the Fire and Light committee, suggested that the item be cut in half, to $600, providing for two new boxes.

"I'd say, take it out altogether," Alderman Bradburn proposed, "and the chairman bring in a report on the readjustment of the present boxes."

"Tentative" elision of the $1,200 item, was the phrasing of Alderman Gordon's motion, seconded by Alderman Bradburn.

Clip Health Board

"These were the first estimates Dr. Avison prepared," Alderman Dutton explained to the committee on behalf of the Board of Health's requisition, submitted by the new Medical Officer of Health.

"Well, we'll try to help the doctor a little," Alderman Gordon jokingly remarked.

The proposed total of $20,453 was reduced to $16,575. One helpful item the committee spotted was $1,200 for an assistant sanitary inspector. It got the finger, and among several others was $200 for office equipment. The council voted $200 for that purpose last year and the sum spent was $170.75.

"They must have all the equipment they need," Alderman Gordon said. "We all get to the point where we don't need any more."

Alderman Cotton turned over a lot of pages of figures before the committee could find another item to pare. In the market estimates, submitted by the Property committee, they managed to squeeze $50 from an amount of $100 that was marked for painting, and the rest room supplies estimated at $600 will have to be kept within $500. That was a total of $150 from the Property account.

Not another offending item could be found to help the cause of a lower tax rate, but the list of special grants was totalled at $7,350 as compared with $10,260 estimates a year ago. Alderman Glover said the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was not asking for the $725 that was listed for 1941, when $706 was spent. The Board intends to carry on the Junior exhibition again this year. The Provincial plowing match cost $1,000, a grant that automatically disappeared from the 1942 total. Other items mentioned as "out" were $35 to the Local Council of Women, $500 to the Children's Aid Society, $100 to the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough War Service Council. The grant of $1,000 to the Peterborough Tourist Bureau was cut to $500.

Other Estimates

Among the other estimates which passed in review during the committee's examination were as follows:—

Administration of Justice, $17,200; last year, $16,310; actually spent, $17,882.

Charity $14,000; last year, $13,980; expended $13,426.

Election and by-laws—$1,300; last year, $1,200 ;amount expended during the year, $1,323.94.

Heating, City Buildings.—The coal bill $500; estimate last year, $350; expended $641.

Interest—To Bank of Montreal, $3,600; estimate last year $4,000; expended $3,666.63.

Legal claims, insurance, damages for injuries—$2,000, the same as last year when the actual cost was $1,588.

Law and legislation, solicitor's disbursement and incidentals—$500; last year, $600; expended $625.82.

Street lighting, etc.—$23,150; last year $23,000; expended last year, $23,087.54.

When Alderman Cotton reached the "light" item, he injected a bit of humor into the search for deductions by looking down to Aldeman Gordon at the opposite end of the Board table saying: "There's an item of $50 for lighting the market clock. What do you say to cutting that out?"

Lighting the city's streets cost $22,451.66 last year. The estimates were $22,400, and for this year $22,500. City Clerk Outram said some new lights had been erected in several sections of the city.

The Manufacturers committee, of which Alderman Bradburn is chairman is asking for $1,750, and that requisition had been carefully gone over in the committee stage. The figure last year was $2,900, of which $1,533.88 was spent, mostly for purposes advertising the city, including highway signs.

Market estimates, $4,850; last year $3,000; expended $3,808.10.

Postage and excise stamps $530; last year $500; expended $560.69.

Reception, $300; last year, $200; expended, $364.75.

Up For A Breather

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil now dispensed by chemists at trifling cost, that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery eczema. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet—others irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottles at McDermid & Jury or any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.—(Advt.)

U.S. Cities Apply British AA Ideas

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP).—United States army fficers are applying the lessons learned from the aircraft defences of Britain to preparations for protection of their country, a British War Office statement said today.

"Now that Japan's fleet of aircraft carriers has brought the great ports and cities of the Pacific coast within range of the bomber," it said, "anti-aircraft problems are assuming more importance in the American army."

The announcement disclosed that the studies began long before the United States entered the war and ranged the whole problem from visits to anti-aircraft batteries and courses in technical schools to the study of morale and physical fitness.

Auxiliary Workers Aid Foreign Missions

NORWOOD, Feb. 19 — (ENS). — The regular February meeting of the United Church Evening Auxiliary was held at the home of Miss Rose Squire. Miss Pauline Weir, the president, was in charge of the meeting and fifteen members answered the roll call.

It was suggested that each of the groups in the Auxiliary adopt one particular United Church Missionary for prayer. Miss Luella Rork formerly of Japan, was selected by one group.

Reports of the annual Presbyterial held in Mark Street United Church, Peterborough, were given by the delegates, Mrs. J. Stewart and Mrs. E. Blodgett. Two prominent missionaries were guest speakers on this occasion, Mrs. Avison, formerly of Korea and Mrs. Mullett whose husband, Dr. Mullett, is now a Japanese prisoner of war.

The group under Mrs. R. Pakenham presented the study book chapter very clearly and concisely. Other members of the group assisting Mrs. Pakenham were Miss M. Marks, Miss Lila Kirk, Miss Pauline Weir and Mrs. K. Edmunds.

After the meeting closed refreshments were served, which included a beautifully decorated birthday cak donated by Miss L. Kirk.

Valentine Social Is Well Attended

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 (ENS). —Though they were forced by the week-end snow which blocked most of the side roads, to postpone for one night their scheduled Valentine Social, members of Tabernacle church Y.P.U. were well pleased with the large number who turned out on Tuesday evening. More than sixty attended the affair which not only included a program and a period of games but delightful refreshments at the close. President Alex. Stephens welcomed the gathering and read the call to worship. Mrs. Edna Bibby and Mrs. Alex. Stephens assisted with this portion of the meeting and so did Isobel Irwin who gave a vocal solo. It was announced the group had accepted an invitation to attend a joint meeting with Zion Y.P.U. at Hoards next Monday evening.

Following the business most of those present joined in playing crokinole and the prizes were won by Ernest Craighead, Audrey Grills and Mrs. Ross Stephens.

Valentine Party Aids War Victims

APSLEY, Pb. 19—(ENS)—A jolly Valentine card party was held Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Roland Tucker, under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Seven tables of euchre were played, with two ladies winning the high prizes, Mrs. Newberry and Mrs. F. Tanner. The consolations were won by Master Gerald Watson and Mrs. Smith. The lucky winner of the door prize was Mrs. C. McColl. Refreshments were served to the guests by the hostess and helpers.

Those from a distance attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brown and children and Miss Beavis of Lakefield; Miss Ashenhurst of Warsaw.

Celebrated 82nd Birthday.

Mrs. W. Hales, who is spending the winter in Peterborough, celebrated her 82nd birthday in the village Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lean, son-in-law and daughter; Miss M. Hales, daughter, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lean, Mrs. J. Buchanan were all guests at the home of Mrs. R. Hales for the occasion. Mrs Hales is still hale and hearty and delights in knitting for war work.

Miss Grant Claricard attended the Normal School "At Home" in Peterborough on Friday.

Car Turns Over.

An accident which might have proved fatal occurred on Sunday on Highway 28, a mile north of Apsley. A motorist coming over a hill top turned sharply to avoid children who were sleigh-riding on the highway, with the result the car turned over on the roadside with the wheels in the air. As it happened, the two occupants of the car were not seriously injured, apart from bruises and scratches, and a general shaking up. The sleigh riders were saved from injury as a result of the driver's timely action.

Mrs. Dafoe, Lakefield, was in the village on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McColl motored to Peterborough on Sunday.

Mrs. Stewart Brown and infant son have returned to their home from Oshawa Hospital.

Salvation Army Quartet Entertains

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 (ENS). Four young Salvation Army Cadets from Toronto who have been here for several days in connection with a special series of programs arranged by the local army head, were guests at a young people's rally at Stephen's church (Hoard's) on Monday evening. These talented men provided nearly the entire program before a gathering estimated at close to one hundred and including members of the two visiting branches from Zion church (Petherick's) and Tabernacle church (English Line), Rev. J. R. Bick, pastor of the Seymour circuit joined with Everett Parr, president of Stephen's Y.P.U. in welcoming the guests of the evening and voiced their appreciation, particularly to the Cadets, under the leadership of Raymond Homewood for their part in the program. Their opening number was a quartette, and following this was a trombone solo by Cadet John Carter; a trombone and guitar duet by Cadets Carter and Johnston Clarke; vocal solo by Cadet J. Clarke; vocal, Cadet James Amos. Following this each of the four addressed the gathering briefly and then Miss Norma Arkles, vice-president of the Petherick's group, led in community singing. Refreshments were served at the close.

WARSAW

Girls Given Talk On Victory Loan

WARSAW, Feb. 19—(ENS).—The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roland Payne, with fourteen women present and the president, Mrs. John Morgan, presiding.

Mrs. H. G. Digweed, leader of Girls' Homemaking Club, was appointed to register all girls wishing to enroll for farm work. This list will be forwarded to the Isstitutes branch, Toronto, for co-operation in their girls' farm workers scheme.

It was also decided that the Homemakers' Club would join the Junior Institute Red Cross branch. Mr. David Miller gave a talk on the coming Victory Loan and a meeting of outside speakers may be arranged for the near future. Mrs. Digweed gave her final report on the project, "Wise buying for well planned meals."

The treasurer reported a balance of $23.87. Miss Jean Payne sang "Blue Birds Over the White Cliffs of Dover." Mrs. Payne served a dainty lunch.

Miss Janet McIntosh, Lakefield, and Miss Belma Northey, Clarina, were recent guests at the manse with the Rev. E. D. and Mrs. Snelgrove.

Mrs. Ivan Payne is a patient in the private patients' pavilion, Toronto General Hospital.

Mrs. Lloyd Hardy, Peterborough, spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Payne.

Pte. Don Sharpe has returned to Kingston after two weeks' leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharpe.

The usual all day work day for the war work will be held in the Institute rooms on Thursday, Feb. 19. Helpers are urgently needed.

Dance Is a Success

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 19 (ENS). —A report of the dance sponsored by Christ Church Men's Club as their initial undertaking since formation, was given at the Monday meeting by President Sidney Hopping. He told members the club had cleared expenses on the affair which was designed primarily as a get-acquainted party, and with members of the parish guild who had been invited to be guests of the evening the attendance had run to over sixty. Motions of thanks were tendered to Mr. F. G. DeCarrol for the loan of a radio, to Mr. Ernie Archer who arranged the music for square dancing by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Archer, and to Mr. Frank Champman who supervised the decorating. Remainders of the meeting was devoted to a social time with H. Beatty and F. Chapman captaining two teams for a quizz conducted by Sid Hopping and Adam Yearwood.

Suit "Scare" On

Toronto, Feb. 18 (CP)

An official of a large clothing manufacturing firm here today said the purchase of men's clothing in Toronto have reached "scare" proportions following an announcement by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that style alterations are under consideration.

This official said the buying wave could upset the industry seriously if "foolishly continued." He repeated the opinion of other manufacturers and tailors that style "simplifications" will mean few if any radical changes."

Women's Institute Names New Officers

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 19. — (ENS).—Mrs. Harry Freeburn entertained the Women's Institute of the Young's Point United Church at her home on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. H. Freeburn, was in the chair, and took the devotional period. Various business matters were discussed, with a motion being moved and carried that the hour for church service be 2.30 p.m., D.S.T. The treasurer reported that a basket of fruit had been sent Mrs. C. Pelton while she was confined to Nicholls Hospital. It was decided upon to have the lunch fee for the afternoon meetings raised.

The election of officers for 1942 followed: President, Mrs. Roy Kidd; Secretary, Mrs. Herbert McIllmoyle; Treasurer, Mrs. Oscar Reid.

The hostess, Mrs. Freeburn, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. P. Godfrey, served afternoon tea and a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. O. Reid invited the Institute to meet at her home for their March meeting.

Last Card Party.

Mr. Mary's Roman Catholic Church held their last card party for the season on Thursday evening last in St. Aidan's Parish Hall. Six tables of progressive euchre were played, prize-winners being: Ladies, first Miss B. Walsh; gentlemen, first, Joseph Benoit; consolation, Jack Young; door prize, Mrs. L. Wilson.

Mrs. Victor Young and Miss Irene Young, together with their committee, served delicious sandwiches and tea, which brought to a close a pleasant evening.

The children of the Young's Point School, together with their younger brothers and sisters, as guests for the afternoon, enjoyed a jolly Valentine party on Friday afternoon in the school. Valentines were exchanged and the teachers, Miss M. Martin and Miss O. Neal, served the kiddies cookies and candy, which delighted all the children.

Mexican Rubber Forlorn Hope

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—Mexican crude rubber will go into very few American tires, either now or in the near future.

Despite the recent flood of optimistic reports on rubber production potentialities south of the border, the harsh fact remains that Mexico at present does not produce enough crude to supply her own rubber factories.

The land's adaptability to production of either wild guayule or cultivated Brazilian crude rubber is heavily offset by legal barriers. Mexico's land laws and their present interpretation tend to discourage any large-scale agricultural production, rubber included.

Reaction here to American optimism over Meixcan rubber was revealing. At the moment great plans were being aired in the press for using native Mexican crude rubber in United States defence production the Federal Government banned exports of all nationally manufactured tired and tubes, as well as rubber scrap.

Since that time, both Government and producing circles have been concentrating on means for stepping up production to meet national needs. There has been little local talk of export.

Nationally, at least, the threat of a rubber shortage seems to have faded into the unpredictable future. One of the country's two large tire manufacturers, basing its estimate on present stocks and expected production, has publicly promised that normal production at present prices could continue for at least another year.

In recent years Mexico has been producing some 7,000 tons of crude rubber annually, or about 3 per cent of the world production. This crude comes almost entirely from guayule a bush or plant which grows wild in Northern Mexico and in the United States South-west.

Guayule, by itself, makes poor grade of manufactured rubber but when mixed with small quantities of crude from Brazilian rubber tree, a satisfactory product results.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tinney have returned after spending a week with friends in Toronto.

On Wednesday evening Mr. D. Tinney, Mrs. Oakley Carley, Miss A. Tinney and Mrs. D. J. Hunter motored to Peterborough. Mrs. Hunter and Miss Tinney attended the travelogue, "Thirty Moons Around the World," presented by Douglas M. Carr of Ingersoll, in George Street United Church. The pictures illustrating scenes in the war zone were very interesting. He had only one picture taken in Russia. It being just before war broke out in that country, his camera and notes were confiscated. He had many interesting pictures from India.

Hastings Pupils Making Afghans

HASTINNGS, Feb. 19—(ENS). — Pupils of the Hastings Public School, under the direction of their teachers, Grant Sine and Miss Jessie Lamb, are engaged in a series of war activities.

The pupils hope by the end of the week to have completed the second of two large afghans to be donated to the local Red Cross.

Not only the girls, but also the boys are taking part in this work, and Miss Lamb told The Examiner that the latter have become almost as proficient as the fairer sex as needle-wielders.

Donation to Kitchen

In addition, a record is kept of the War Savings stamps purchased by each student. Salvage, including a large amount of waste paper, has been collected and the public school boasts the first donation to the district inspectorate's mobile kitchen fund.

Crokinole Party

An enjoyable crokinole party was held Monday evening in the basement of Trinity United Church, under the auspices of the Young People's Association.

In addition to the crokinole, several tables of Chinese checkers were played. Inclement weather prevented a larger attendance.

Prizes of War Savings stamps were won by June Scriver and Harold Fife.

Following the games a lunch was served. The conveners for the evening's entertainment were Leonard Metcalfe and Cecil Oliver.

See Challenge on Point of Order

Like the Conservative and C.C.F. motions, Mr. Pouliot's sub-amendment, if adopted, would amount to a want-of-confident vote against the government. It was understood, however, that the sub-amendment would be challenged on a point of order on the ground its reference to the government contemplating a reversal of policy is not justified.

Conservatives, Liberals and Independents joined in defeating the C.C.F. sub-amendment which, however, drew the support of the New Democracy group and of Mrs. Dorise Nielsen (Unity North Battleford).

The C.C.F. group was reinforced just before the vote by arrival of its newest member, J. W. Noseworthy of York South who defeated Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, in last week's by-elections.

Mr. Noseworthy was the first of four members elected in the Feb. 9 by-elections to take his seat and received applause from all sides as he was escorted in by the senior members of his party.

Opposes C.C.F. Idea.

Making his second major speech of the session Conservative House Leader Hanson put his party squarely behind the Victory Loan and registered his opposition to complete nationalization of industry, which, he said, was implied in the C.C.F. sub-amendment.

"Let me make my position and the position of the Conservative party clear on that issue. Notwithstanding our disapproval of the goverment's (plebiscite) policy, notwithstanding our belief that it is a policy of evasion of responsibility and the negation of responsible government, we believe that the Loan should and must be supported to the limit and I appeal here and now to the great army of loyal Conservatives in this country, as well as to the great mass of our citizens, to rise over the situation which the government has created and which they abhor and put this loan over."

For the future Mr. Hanson assured the government of co-operation and constructive criticism in everything pertaining to the effective prosecution of the war. He said the government's proposals for taking the plebiscite, when disclosed in detail, should be examined judicially.

When they were presented and examined, he said, he hoped to have "crystallized my views on what I think I should advise our people to do."

Wholesale Bribery Appeal

Mr. Hanson charged that in the February 9 by-election in Welland, Ont., where Labor Minister Mitchell was elected to the Commons, there was the "most brazen appeal in the way of wholesale bribery to a constituency that we have witnessed in many a long day."

"We had the spectacle of a minister of the Crown and perhaps his most outstanding executive, telling the people of Welland that if the Minister of Labor was elected, new war plants would be established in the community," said Mr. Hanson.

"That is a shocking thing to happen. It is reprehensible in peace time although it is a well recognized election technique of the Liberal party.

"But what shall we say of such practices in war time?.....It is enough to make one despair of the future of democracy. Surely that is not what we are fighting for!"

Mr. Hanson did not name the minister, but Munitions Minister Howe, who on February 6 gave an address at Welland in support of Mr. Mitchell, rose to say:

"That's absolutely false."

Mr. Hanson said he was bound to accept Mr. Howe's word.

Mr. Hanson, taking part of the second time in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, forecast an early attempt at invasion of Great Britain and applauded the Government's proposal to enlarge the Canadian forces there.

(The Canadian forces overseas, it was announced some time ago, will be expanded from a corps to a two-corps army).

He criticised the statement made earlier in the debate by Dr. C. J. Veniot (Lib., Gloucester) that compulsory service overseas would always be a racial issue.

A Dangerous Speech

"I deny that allegation categorically," Mr. Hanson said. Dr. Veniot's speech was one of "the most dangerous speeches" made during the debate.

He believed, Mr. Hanson said, that French Acadians in New Brunswick, his own and Dr. Veniot's province, would have accepted compulsory service without demur "if their leaders, including the honorable member of Gloucester, had shown the way."

During the long debate on the address the war had gone from bad to worse in every theatre except Russia, Mr. Hanson said.

"Never since Dunkirk have I felt so upset as I was Sunday when the fall of the great bastion of Singapore was announced by Mr. Churchill," said Mr. Hanson.

"I drew certain conclusions. If we do not face realities we may lose this war. We have a just cause and the intentions of all of us, the government included, are of the very best.

"But we cannot win this war with good intentions and a just cause."

Great strides had been made in Canada in organization and production but "do not let us be lulled into a false sense of security," Mr. Hanson said.

"That, I fear, is what is happening and what has happened all along.

"I sometimes wonder if the Canadian people will ever wake up to a knowledge of the life and death character of this struggle—and for us here in Canada.

"Sometimes I despair. Can it be that nothing but a blood bath, perhaps at our very doors, will awaken us to realities?"

Mr. Hanson said the Conservative amendment had been criticized because it did not specifically urge conscription. (The amendment opposed the plebiscite, proposed total war effort "without any limitations," and regretted that no post-war plans were announced.)

Conscripion of Everything.

"Call it what you like—it means total and complete effort and, if you like to so describe it, conscription of everything—wealth, resources and man-power," said Mr. Hanson.

"For that is the price we shall have to pay for victory."

Mr. Hanson said he had "nothing but praise and commendation" for the government's plan to give $1,000,000,000 to Britain, and to help in other ways.

But this would be a gift from the people, not the government, with a sense of gratitude for favors yet to come and, "for services already rendered to us and ours—for value received over a long period."

Mr. Hanson quoted from the speech of Henri Bourassa, veteran Montreal leader of the Quebec Nationalists in Montreal last week, condemning the plebiscite and warning that conscription would be imposed at the dictate of Washington.

"To me one of the most striking of his statements and one with which I fully concur, was the declaration of his belief that Sir Robert Borden and Mr. Meighen (Conservative Leader, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen) were more honest in their attitudes than the present ministers," Mr. Hanson said.

"What an indicament."

Whatever can be said of the Conservative Party "it cannot and never shall be said that it ever failed at any time to give adherence to the British Crown and the principle of British connections."

He described Prime Minister Mackenzie King as "isolationist" in the "not far distant past," and said the same was true of War Services Minister Thorson and other ministers who were not only isolationists "but positively for neutrality" in Britain's struggles to preserve peace.

Some Praise for Ilsley.

Mr. Hanson praised parts of the speech of Finance Minister Ilsley, in the debate, but suggested he must have been "unhappy" in his Cabinet associations. Mr. Ilsley had given "an intelligent defence of an indefensible project" when he defended the plebiscite.

"I put the question squarely to him (Mr. Ilsley): If the testing time comes will he support the principle of compulsory military service?....

"And if the plebiscite fails to carry—what then will the minister do?

"Will he say 'I bow to the will of the majority no matter if I disagree on a great matter of principle?'

"If I apprehend the minister's position aright, as disclosed by his speech, he will resign, and he will be right and his people will applaud him."

require wide study.

"There will be enough here to occupy the attention of the individual members for the next couple of weeks," he said "For that reason I most certainly object to an adjournment."

During his explanation of the tax transfer proposals, Mr. Conant said he was "astounded" to learn last Friday in Ottawa that the Federal government did not contemplate legislation to validate the transfer agreement, but would depend on the Appropriation Act to provide for payment of the provincial subsidies in lieu of the transferred taxes.

(Finance Minister Ilsley said in Ottawa today that when Mr. Conant questioned the adequacy of the appropriation act's authority with regard to the tax transfers, he told Mr. Conant he "would consult the Department of Justice and that if a further act of the Dominion Parliament were required it would be introduced this session." Mr. Ilsley added that the question was being considered by the Department of Justice).

Definition Differs.

Mr. Conant also said that while the subsidy provided for Ontario was fixed at $28,961,488, the construction of the agreement was not in a correspondingly definite form. He said the Federal Finance Department's definition of corporation taxes differed with the Provincial Government's interpretation of the term.

Under the proposed agreement it would be impossible to plan the province's future financial structure, and he said Ontario's budgetary position would be unstable until a more concrete agreement were drawn.

Col. Drew, rising after Mr. Conant, said the proposal of separate agreements for the various provinces was dangerous. The Dominion might use the money collected in one province for distribution in another.

It had been said the proposed agreement was a war measure, he said.

"I've seen no suggestion as to why as a war measure the province couldn't continue as the collector of these taxes and hand the money over to the Dominion government. In thus doing we could retain our same constitutional status as before."

Mr. Cross declared that if the constitutional aspect was at stake, it lay within the power of the province to repeal any act and stand on the constitutional rights after the emergency had passed.

"After all the country is at war," he continued. "This government should go to Ottawa in a spirit of conciliation and endeavor to arrange the transfer.

"If this was done it would be only a matter of two weeks before things were disposed of. However, from the spirit emanating from the reasury benches I don't think we'll ever get an agreement."

Forced On Ontario.

Premier Hepburn said the proposal was forced upon the province.

"We were clubbed into it under the threat of double taxation," he charged.

He said he was concerned principally with terms regarding cessation of the agreement.

"I want to say that the whole matter rests with the Dominion government in this respect. The Dominion government is to be the judge as to when hostilities have ceased. I am rather of the opinion that the Dominion government intends to come into this field and stay in it, and has pushed us out for good. We're powerless."

Premier Hepburn said there was no hostility from the Provincial House, "but there has been from the other camp."

Cheesemen Ask Minimum Price

TORONTO, Feb. 19—Members of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, at their concluding convention session here yesterday, passed a resolution urging the Government to establish a minimum cheese price of twenty-five cents per pound, plus a premium for quality, in order "to ensure maximum production for 1942."

J. H. Ebbs of Perth was elected president of the organization at the concluding session and W. H. Montgomery of Carrying Place, was named vice-president. S. L. Joss of Belleville, was re-elected as secretary-treasurer and the board of directors will consist of J. J. Poole, Salford; J. D. McCaffery, Stittsville, and H. S. Marjierson, Apple Hill.

Regional directors for the coming year are: J. F. Bertrand, Hammond; G. A. Elliott, Norwood; W. O. Coon, Elgin; Mr. Marjierson; C. E. Harkness, Iroquois; Harold Halpenny, Easton's Corners; C. P. McAllister, Pendleton; J. L. McDonald, Harrison's Corners; Mr. McCaffery; Emmerson E. Elliott, Renfrew; Urban Warren, Lansdowne; Mr. Ebbs; J. B. Webb, Mount Chesney; J. E. Miller, Odessa; E. J. Pyear, Stirling; Mr. Montgomery; Hector Arnold, Warkworth; Arthur Moore, Kingsmill; G. L. Shackleton, Mossley; J. W. Dickson, Atwood, and Mr. Poole.

The association also decided to petition the Dominion Government to accept an association representative on the Dairy Products Board.

Red Cross Workers Finish Four Quilts

GORE'S LANDING, Feb. 19. — (ENS)—The members of the Red Cross unit met in the Library on Friday afternoon and quilted 4 quilts. 24 ladies were present and the quilts were competely finished and wool was wound and given out. Miss Flora MacDonald won the draw for the war savings stamp.

Slips were given out to the various ladies and numbered with questions regarding Prisoners of War and supplies of food, etc. sent them. Mrs. Meggs read the answers to the questions.

Finished articles turned in to the convener, Mrs. Hastings, to be taken into the Cobourg Red Cross rooms included: 1 sleeveless sweater; 1 lady's blouse and skirt; 2 girls' jumpers; 4 quilts; 8 pairs socks; 2 aero caps; 1 pair pyjamas; 4 sleepers; 1 pair sockees; 1 turtle neck sweater.

A silver collection was taken and tea was served to end the afternoon.

Snipers Taking Great Toll.

A sniping contest is under way in the army itself. Individual marksmen already declare they have killed as many as 160 foemen this month. Some infantry companies are pledged to slay at least 500 Germans in the three weeks ending Sunday.

After five months in a fighting retreat, in which Premier Joseph Stalin assumed supreme command, Soviet forces wrested the initiative from Hitler's troops in December snows and struck back toward the west. Artillery superiority was exploited; German tactics of encirclement and extermination were adopted with widespread use of cavalry, skiers and parachutists.

Disengagement of Leningrad on the northern front, recapture of Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow and liberation of Kharkov, major city of the Donets Basin are among the current aims.

Russia announced an edge of almost four-to-one in destruction of planes yesterday — 35 German against nine Soviet machines — and announced that the Red Army had levied a heavy toll on German soldiers and material aground.

United Nations' fleets from that area of the Pacific. Rear-Admiral P. E. McNeil, engineering chief of the Australian navy, left for the west coast port of Perth, on the Indian Ocean, early this month to direct work which had taken the Prime Minister himself there.

Darwin actually is little more than an outpost, 3,000 miles from Southren Australia and without direct rail connection with the industrial southland. The railroad from Darwin ends at Birdum, 300 miles to the south, and is linked with another connecting with the main federal railroads by a new 600-mile-long highway built in 93 days during 1940.

This was the result of swift expansion following the outbreak of war in 1939 which converted Darwin from a frontier town of cattle raisers and pearl fishers to an important military establishment and a port of modern, military design.

Infantry On Guard

Infantry forces stationed at Darwin are charged with guarding the port against surprise attack by land, a threat because the coast is uninhabited for long distances to the east and west.

Although there never was a large Japanese population in the whole, vast northern territory, most were in or near Darwin and many supposed Japanese pearl fishermen in recent years were suspected of taking soundings to supply Japan with important navigation data concerning Australia's north coast.

"Australia has now experienced physical contact with the war," the prime minister said.

"Total mobilization is the government's policy for Australia. Until all necessary machinery has been put into effect all Australians must voluntarily answer the government's call for the complete giving of everything to the nation."

School Prizes In War Stamps

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 19 — (ENS). —War Savings Stamps to the value of ten dollars will be given as proficiency prizes and in the event of not being able to purchase suitable traphies for field day prizes, War Savings Stamps will be substituted to the value of eight dollars for prizes and awards at the annual High School commencement. This matter was decided at the regular meeting of the Lakefield High School in the Memorial Hall on Monday evening.

Members present included B. F. Blake, B. Q. Dench, and J. W. Ridpath. A ballot was taken and resulted in the election of J. W. Ridpath as chairman. Miss Grace Yonge was re-appointed secretary-treasurer of th Board for 1942 at a salary of $160 per annum.

The Finance Committee will be composed of F. L. Erskine and B. F. Blake the first-named to be the chairman.

Correspondence received included: Department of Education re cost of living bonus, Department of Education re grant, Department of Education National Defence Tax, Miss J. A. Batten re county appointees, R. H. Wallace, inspector's report, Ontario Safety League re talking pictures. Frank A. Payne auditor's report.

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Hard To Beat

Very Easy to Make. No Cooking. Saves Big Money.

No matter what you've been using for coughs due to colds, you'll be the first to admit that this surprising relief, mixed in your own kitchen, is hard to beat, for real results.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking is needed—anyone can do it.

Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really excellent cough relief—about 4 times as much for your money. Tastes fine—children love it—and it never spoils.

You can feel this home mixture taking right hold of a cough. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases soreness and difficult breathing, and lets you sleep. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Just try it, and if not satisfied, your money will be refunded.

BRADBURNIAN MOTTO

"Don't budget for a surplus," was the recommendation Alderman Bradburn made to the finance committee Wednesday night. "Suppose we do have a deficit at the end of this year!" The significance of the idea was that the ratepayers should not be asked to pay any more money than was needed this year. Make the estimates fit the actual needs as closely as possible. When the council shows a surplus of $15,000, for example, they should not expect much credit for some outstanding financial performance. As a matter of fact they took $15,000 out of the ratepayers pockets by over-estimating the year's needs. Of course the surplus carries into the next year; but like the figurative tub, let that year stand on its own bottom.

GET A TICKET

A report from Guelph reveals that the Victory Loan Revue, "Pull Together Canada" played to a packed house at the Palace Theatre in that city on February 17, and the patrons were clamoring for a hold-over, but it could not be arranged. All service club members or the Victory Loan office can supply tickets to this revue which comes here on February 26, at the Collegiate auditorium. It is a musical revue with a definite plot, and from the first scene to the last indicates the need for unity in Canada today, while providing wholesome entertainment at the same time.

The canvasser was inclined to believe she was doing her bit, considering there was rent, fuel, clothing, food, insurance, etc., all out of her allowance, but the woman asked that he call back as she hoped to re-arrange her budget so that she could purchase a $50 bond on the instalment plan.

Use Army Tank To Wreck Old Bandstand

A wild charge by a heavy army tank may end the days of the band stand in Victoria Park, if plans can be made with the officer in command of the big military convoy due in this city on Saturday, February 21.

Ever since news of the convoy's visit reached this city, officials have been searching for some object which the tanks could batter, and now it is understood that city and county officials have no objection to sacrificing the rickety bandstand to the cause. The only obstacle now is the officer commanding the convoy, because should he refuse to carry out the suggestion, the show is off. However, as a further attraction, Major R. J. Bolton, adjutant of the Prince of Wales Rangers, has procured an old car, which one of the tanks will ram, just to show what happens when a car disputes the right of way with an army tank.

The armored convoy consists of 6 reconnaissance cars, 6 motorcycles, 6 eight-cwt. lorries, 6 Bren gun carriers, 4 twenty-five pounder artillery pieces, 2 two-pounders, 2 mobile searchlights, 3 Valentine tanks, 2 Ram tanks, 4 thirty-cwt. lorries, 2 ambulances, and two public address systems.

The convoy will approach the city over Highway 28 and will arrive at Monaghan Road at 12 noon, proceeding north on Monaghan Road to Weller street, out Weller to Park, south on Park to Lansdowne, across Lansdowne to George up George to London, from London to Aylmer, south on Aylmer to McDonnel, east on McDonnel to George, south on George to Murray.

The convoy will park for public inspection on McDonnel, George and Murray streets from 12.45 to 2.30, and at 2.30 the convoy moves off out McDonnel street en route to Lindsay.

During the time that the vehicles are parked, it is hoped that the tank display mentioned in the foregoing may be staged, and should this happen, the citizens will get a thrill.

The convoy will have two public address cars which will take up positions ahead of the parade to explain various types of vehicles.

School Children At Norwood Help War Fund

One of the nicest contributions to come in to the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund from school children since the turn of the year came to hand on Wednesday from D. B. Cutcliffe, fund representative at Norwood.

For some years it has been customary for the children of the Norwood Public School to purchase and exchange Valentines among themselves, but this year to their credit, on their own initiative, they decided to forego this pleasure, and instead, give the money thus saved to some worthy object for which they decided to take a vote.

Three different funds were proposed, and by a very large majority this fund was the one chosen, and they can be assured that every cent of the money thus forwarded will go to Britain to use for the purpose for which they gave up their fun and pleasure.

True to the principles which govern all teachers who seek to advance their pupils on the road of well-doing, Mrs. Reta Pakenham, the principal, gave every encouragement and direction to the scholars in their laudable effort which today enriches the fund by $14.00.

Two penny box collections are listed, that at Payne's Drug Store being credited with $2.25 and the one at the Utilities Office on Simcoe street adding a further $2.20.

Range Pals Sponsor Draw

The Range Pals Club has given good support to this fund on previous occasions, and now they are at work once again with the object of giving further help to the people of Britain.

Right now they are sponsoring the sale of tickets for a draw to which there will be three prizes, a bed-spread donated by Mrs. R. Dyer, and a shawl which comes from India and an embroidered framed motto donated by Miss Elizabeth Smith. Tickets for a chance to win any one of these three prizes can be obtained from the club members at 15c each or two for 25c. This week's meeting of the club will take place at the residence of Audrey and Norma Timlin.

Loan Canvassers Get Slow Start

Peterborough's total subscriptions in the Second Victory Loan have not topped the $200,000 mark as yet and adverse weather conditions are believed to be hampering the work of the army of canvassers, particularly in the suburban and rural areas.

According to W. C. McBride, one of the local organizers, a total of $184,950 has been obtained from private subscriptions throughout the county, and one a percentage basis, the village of Lakefield is heading the list having secured 16 per cent of the $60,000 total or $9,500. Peterborough city with an objective of $1,350,000 to reach has produced $148,400 so far without any report from the Special Names Committee which has an objective of $1,000,000.

The itemized account for the entire county is as follows:

Big Beacon Fire Set For Friday

A nation-wide call invoking the help of Almighty God to move the hearts of Canadians in supporting the Second Victory Loan, is the idea behind the "Beacon For Freedom" services that are being held across the Dominion, and which Peterborough will take part in on Friday evening.

Weather conditions do not permit an open-air service, and therefore officials of the George Street United Church co-operated wholeheartedly with Victory Loan officials in permitting them to use the church for this civic undertaking. A capacity crowd of 1,200 people will do much to counteract the general belief that Canadian are complacent and indifferent to the great danger that exists, and to the outstanding need for more and more money to finance the war.

His Worship Major James Hamilton has appealed to the citizens of the city, and extends his invitation to those living beyond the city limits to take part in this community-wide expression of loyalty to Canada.

Captain, the Rev. George S. Easton will address the gathering, and there will be short addresses by His Worship the Mayor and other well known personages. The band of the Prince of Wales Rangers will provide band music for the singing of hymns and stirring folk songs of Britain and Canada by the congregation. The program is non-denominational and all creeds are invited.

C. W. McBride, one of the local organizers of the Victory Loan is having several copies of the program printed, and on Friday morning a copy of the program will be in every school in the city.

Particular stress has been placed on the importance of every service, fraternal and other similar organizations to be well represented at the church.

To carry out the "Beacon for Freedom" theme, a tiny beacon will be kept burning in the church, and as the program nears its close, city firemen will touch off a huge pile of inflammable materials on top of Armour Hill as a signal to the entire county that the enemy is nearing our borders and all must gird themselves to repel him.

Omit Salaries Auditor's Report

Mayor Hamilton persuaded the finance committee last night to direct omission of civic salaries from the auditor's report. His motion was seconded by Alderman Sullivan.

"I have looked through the printed reports from other cities and I notice that they don't publish the list of civic salaries, and I cannot see that it serves any purpose. It just make a country town of our auditor's report. If anybody wants to know what the salaries are we can have a complete copy kept here in the clerk's office, and it will be available to any enquiring citizen."

Mayor Hamilton told the committee that the salaries of the council's employees and of the teachers engaged by the Board of Education were published, but the Utilities Commission did not conform with that practice, and, therefore, the auditor's report was not complete.

Orono Farmers Capture Youths

ORONO, Ont., Feb. 19.—(CP)— A posse of 25 Orono farmers armed with shotguns and rifles, captured two Oshawa youths charged with reckless driving last night. The pair, Mike Zarakow, a member of the Canadian Active Army, and Fred Cowle, were taken into custody by provincial police after an 85-mile-an-hour chase from the outskirts of Port Hope to a farmer's barn a few miles north of Orono.

Several miles north of Orono the fugitives "ditched" their car. The posse, led by Peter Mercer, Orono garageman, cornered both youths behind a pile of hay in the barn.

Farm Management Course Is Planned

Seventy-five farmers attended a recent course in farm management at Owen Sound. F. C. Paterson said this morning he hoped the attendance at the two-day sessions next Tuesday and Wednesday would be so large that they would have to be transferred to the Co-op Hall.

The speakers will be H. R. Hare, B.S.A., senior assistant agricultural economist of the marketing service of the Department of Agriculture, and R. M. Miller, B.S.A., M.S.A., a practical farmer from Markham who obtained his Master's degree in the Science of Agriculture at Cornell University.

The first session will begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday morning with talk on "The Farm Business in War Time" by Mr. Hare, followed by Mr. Miller's subject "A review of Successful Farm Business."

The afternoon meeting begin at 1.30 o'clock each day. All those who attended the course last year are urged to return for these sessions, and those who are attending for the first time are especially asked to be on time for the opening session and to bring note books.

The course has been planned to be of practical value to every farmer in emphasizing basic factors of agriculture; costs, prices and farm practice; farm business turnover; planning for 1942, and so on.

60 Business Men Hear Ace Bailey

Peterborough missed the boat after 1926, when the sportsmen failed to follow up the winning of the senior Ontario championship by building an artificial ice arena, Irven "Ace" Bailey, former star of the Maple Leafs, told a gathering of 60 prominent business men and professional men in Toronto Wednesday evening.

The local men were guests of O'Keefe's Beverages on a sight-seeing trip to Toronto and enjoyed a chicken dinner at the Quigley Hotel on Danforth avenue as guests of the company. Mr. Bailey, who played with the Peterborough team that brought hockey honors to Peterborough back in 1926 is now associated with this company, and addressed the gathering following the dinner.

Nowadays, sport is a career, and a young man has every chance to make a fine living in professional hockey, baseball or rugby. Still the boy in the small town, rarely attracts the attention of the scouts, because his team plays on natural ice, and the short season does not give him an opportunity to show his stuff. At least not to the same extent as in the artificial ice centres, where a longer season gives more training opportunities and usually results in producing championship teams."

He went on to say that while he called Bracebridge his home, nevertheless Peterborough was the place where he would prefer to live. "There is a friendly, neighborly atmosphere in the Lift Lock city, that is not found any other place," he added.

He urged those present to keep trying to sell the people of this county on a new arena and while he observed that the war financing takes priority at present, it might well be a live thought for the future.

Short talks were given by Mr. James Bruce and Robert Anderson, assistant sales manager of the O'Keefe's organization.

Polish Deserter Peck's Bady Boy

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (CP)—Police said today that 16-year-old Murray Kadisch of New York, who deserted the Polish armed forces in Canada five days after enlistment, now is in the New York State Training School, a correctional institution at nearby Warwick.

Police started search for the boy last Friday on receipt of a letter from Maj. Bronislas Lozinski, commanding officer of the Polish forces with headquarters in Windsor, Ont. Major Lozinski said he wasn't interested in return of the soldier because of his conduct, but pressed for recovery of the uniform and equipment. At the major's request the articles were mailed to him yesterday.

The youth, referred to by police as another "Peck's Bad Boy," enlisted in the United States Army May 5, 1941, and, according to police, deserted Sept 14 from his regiment at Fort Jay, New York. The army sought the deserter but upon learning his age promptly forgot about him.

Kadisch enlisted with the Polish forces Oct. 1 and on arrival home a few days later told his parents he was on furlough. He then admitted he had deserted and his mother took him to the Bronx Children's Society. At his mother's request the boy was sent to the institution.

Says Allenru Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatic Aches--Pains

For many years James H. Allen of Rochester, N. Y., suffered from Rheumatic Aches and Pains. Many times these intense, insistent pains left him almost helpless and unable to work. He consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded this splendid remedy which he called ALLENRU. He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with remarkable success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

So don't feel dispirited any longer; don't give up hope of getting real relief. Allenru acts and acts fast and in three distinct ways: 1) to relieve the pain; 2) as a diuretic for the kidneys to flush out excess acids and 3) to arouse the bowels to normal action.

McDermid & Jury and all good druggists have been instructed to dispense ALLENRU with the understanding that if the first bottle does not give you the relief you want and have a right to expect, he will gladly refund your money without comment.—(Advt.)

Kings Row . . . .

By HENRY BELLAMANN

STRANGE FRIENDSHIP

CHAPTER VII

Parris told his grandmother the story that evening after supper. She was indignant. So they met on the bank steps next day.

"Hear you're keeping Parris out of school, Marie. Mighty fine idea, too. Public school's full of ruffians like that Green youngster. Send your boy to public school and he rubs against all kinds. That's democracy for you!"

"Are they going to do anything about the Singer boy, Colonel?"

"Not now, but somebody will aggravate that boy until he does something desperate. 'Twon't be his fault, but they'll blame him, and he'll be in serious trouble."

"Don't you think it would be a good idea to get some sort of employment for him—out of the way somewhere?"

"It would, ma'am. A mighty sensible one. I don't suppose you could take him on your place, could you?"

"I've got more help of that kind than I can use, but if you can't find anything else, let me know. I'm sure he doesn't belong in the asylum, as people are saying."

Colonel Skeffington flared above his shining red beard. "There you are now! Did you ever notice, Marie, how in this town everybody's always ready to send somebody to the asylum? It's a fact. I think it's a bad thing to have a lunatic asylum in this town. Keeps it in everybody's mind. Probably a lot of people go crazy just because the building stands out there at the end of Federal street. Too confounded convenient." He chuckled and clawed his beard. "What's more, if you'd turn all the lunatics out and put the rest of us in there, I doubt if you could tell any difference."

Colonel Skeffington bowed deeply and turned to go. Then he took off his hat again. "I think the Greens are trash."

"You're a cynical old sinner, Colonel."

"Not cynical, ma'am, just a sinner. Had a happy career at it, too." He laughed and hobbled up the steps.

"Don't pay any attention to what Colonel Skeffington says, Parris. He's a good man, a very good man. I wish there were more like him."

* * *

Tom Carr moved into the overseer's cottage the following week. Parris went down to watch the men unload the household stuff. Mr. Carr was the most extraordinary-looking apparition Parris had ever seen. A cyclone of snow-white hair and whiskers enveloped his massive head. Only his eyes showed — the brownest, merriest, kindest eyes imaginable.

Mr. Carr was so lively and said so many funny things that Parris laughed. He realized he hadn't laughed much in a long time.

The last thing taken from the wagon was an old square piano with an extremely scarred and battered case.

"Oh, you've got a piano!" Parris exclaimed. "Do you play?"

"No, my wife plays. It was her piano when she was a girl. I brought it out from the East with us. Years ago." He added the last two words a bit sadly.

"I'll see you later, Sonny; you must come down often and play for Lucy. She's always been a great lover of music."

Parris grinned. Decidedly Mr. Carr was a very different sort of person from Sven Gyllinson. The thought of Sven made him "go goose flesh" all over. His eyes filled with tears, but he dashed them away. He wondered where Renee was and what she was doing this very minute. There was such a lump in his throat that he could hardly breathe.

It was nearly dark when Tom Carr's horse and cart came in sight again, creaking and creeping along the sandy road. In it was the fattest woman Parris had ever seen. The cart sagged on one side until the springs buckled.

Lucy Carr wore a dress trimmed with many colors. Innumerable strings of beads lay about her neck, and many cheap rings shone on her tiny hands—deformed-looking, helpless little hands—so tiny that they seemed like doll hands attached to her enormous arms. She wore a large round hat perched precariously on a lopsided bunch of false curls.

The cart rolled into the back yard. Tom Carr hopped out gaily, detached a little ladder, and set it close to the wheel. "Now, then, sweetheart, here we are. Give me your hands. Upsadaisy!"

Lucy wheezed noisily. She said "Ha!" once or twice, and then "Ho! Ho! Ho!"

All at once Lucy became very gay. She took a tottering step forward and held out her hand. She nodded her head with a certain graciousness.

She leaned so heavily on Tom Carr that he almost carried her. At the door she turned her ponderous weight slowly. She gasped out some words. "Glad, Sonny, glad."

Tom Carr had proved to be a valuable man. Madame was delighted. Parris went to see the Carrs two or three times a week. Lucy always made him play for her. Sometimes she struggled to the piano and played for him. Her little hands flew back and forth across the keys in obedience to some automatic memory. The sounds were as mad as Lucy Carr herself.

Mr. Carr talked once or twice of Lucy to Madame von Eln. "She was a pretty girl, Mrs. von Eln, and a happy girl. A proud girl, too. When we ran out of money it seemed she just couldn't stand the snubs she got here in Kings Row. She just went out of her head. Then she was happy. I made up my mind she should stay happy. You know, she's like a child. I had to put rockers under her bed—like a cradle. Every night of the world I sing to her and rock her to sleep.

Madame von Eln stared.

"Lucy likes your boy, Mrs. von Eln. I've never seen her take to anyone so before."

Madame shook her head sadly as she watched the white-headed old man trudging home. She passed her fingers slowly across her eyes.

A strange friendship sprang up between Lucy Carr and Parris. It had begun a few days after the Carrs arrived. Old Tom saw Parris and hailed him.

"Hey, Sonny!"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you busy right now?"

"No, sir."

"Well, Lucy's been asking about you. Wants to see you."

"Me?"

"Yep. Took a fancy to you right off. Tell you what you do. Go down and see her. Let her talk to you for a little while. She gets pretty lonesome, you know. Don't be afraid, son, she won't hurt you. Wouldn't hurt a fly—my Lucy wouldn't. Likes to talk, though."

The mind of Lucy Carr was like something flying in dizzy circles. It darted in and out of the darkness that encompassed her, that pressed always closer as though waiting to engulf her. Parris felt sometimes that if he could only seize her flickering attention and fasten it down, she would suddenly become herself. But that bright spot of lucidity and sanity was now here, now there, hovering for a moment and then gone from sight.

Her helplessness appealed to his sympathy. He aided in many small ways, but most of all he talked. He discovered the kind of news that interested her and learned to tell it bit by bit. She could not follow a long story.

"I used to take Lucy to the circus," Tom Carr told Madame one day in late spring. "If you don't mind, I'll take tomorrow off, ma'am. I thought maybe she'd enjoy it again. It's been years since she's been to town."

When Parris and his grandmother returned that afternoon, they say Tom's cart before the cottage. He asked to have Uncle Henry fetch the doctor. They had been mistaken, he explained, for part of the parade. He had brought Lucy home and put her to bed.

"Excitement," said Dr. Gordon, giving Lucy a sleeping powder.

Later Parris went down to the little house and tiptoed into the front room. Lucy Carr lay on the bed and Tom was rocking her gently, crooning in his deep bass voice.

Lucy saw him. "Look, honey, it's Sonny. Glad, Sonny."

Parris sat down on the edge of a chair and waited. She closed her eyes and slept for a while. Her breathing was louder than he had ever heard it, though she always struggled to get air. From time to time a loud strangled breath came and went roughly. It sounded like the turn of a rusty wheel.

"Is she better?" he asked.

"Yes—much better."

Lucy opened her eyes after a while. They seemed to roll loosely in her head. "Sonny, play," she gasped.

Parris sat down and began to play. The weird sounds jingled and crackled under his fingers.

He played on and on. He heard her breath come more and more slowly, but he thought the awful cranking sound was more frequent.

The afternoon light faded, and the still spring twilight came on gradually. Still Parris played on and on. He thought Lucy must be falling asleep. He could scarcely hear her. The insane witches' music that came from the piano was beginning to make his head ache. The creak of the rockers on the floor slowed and stopped.

Tom Carr laid a hand on his shoulder. "That will do now. Thank you, Sonny."

"Is she asleep, Mr. Carr?"

Tom Carr shook his head. "She's dead. Will you tell your grandmother, please? And—thank you again, Sonny."

The death of Lucy Carr made Parris think about God more definitely than he ever had before. It seemed to him if there was a God who looked after everything and everybody, that events were strangely ordered. Things didn't seem right—or fair. He thought about Renee and the memory was stony hard in his breast. That wasn't right, or fair, either. He was bitterly resentful.

He brushed his hand across his eyes with a gesture he had borrowed from his grandmother. It was not a childish gesture.

Second Victory Loan Drive Of $145,800 Being Pressed At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Feb. 19—(ENS). — Promptly on Monday morning, the collectors for Cavan and Millbrook in connection with the new Victory Loan were on their rounds, early reports showing interest of a practical character. Ivan L. H. Gray is covering the village, and for the township James Roddy and L. H. Winslow have the territory, each with seven concessions to go over.

The objective for the two municipalities is set at $145,000; forty thousand of this is for Millbrook to subscribe, and $105,000 for Cavan. Dr. H. A. Turner is chairman for the district, and Percy Hamilton chairman of the Publicity Committee. Moving pictures relative to the war, in aid of the campaign, will be shown in the Town Hall on Saturday evening.

The regular weekly Y.P.S. meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. was in charge of Mary Dawson, who is acting president during the period Mr. Might is taking military training. Assisting with the opening worship service were Rosemary Stinson who read the lesson; Marian Seymour who gave the worship poem; the leader giving the talk; and Jean Burnham who offered prayer.

The guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. Franklin Bannister, who gave a most informative talk on the life of Dr. Barnardo, and the excellent work accomplished, and still being carried on, by the homes he established for the waifs of London.

"There are three dozen of these centres in England today, and the motto over each Home is 'No destitute children ever refused admission.'" Almost every business and profession is now adorned with men and women who in early years passed through these Homes, and two per cent of those of British birth in Canada, or their descendants, came here as children from the Barnardo Homes."

2 Officials Escape

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 19 (CP).— Word has been received at the Ford Motor Company of Canada headquarters here that two officials of the company at Malaya and three wives of Ford officials were able to reach Java in the Netherlands East Indies before the Japanese captured Singapore.

The officials who reached safety are C. R. Michels, managing director of the Malaya company, and Fred Hildreth, formerly of the service staff at Windsor. Mrs. Michels, Mrs. David Milne and Mrs. Arthur Thompson also reached Java.

20,000 Extra Men

OTTAWA, Feb. 19 (CP) — External affairs department officials said that discussions are continuing with the United States on arrangements under which Canadians called for service in the American army may elect to serve with Canadian forces instead.

It was considered likely in some quarters that from 20,000 to 30,000 Canadians of military age resident in the United States would be affected.

Gradual return to the United States of American volunteers serving with Canadian units has been provided for.

Definite Scarcity of Fish Especially of Sea Variety

By MARY MOORE.

The Canadian fishing industry is made possible by an army of noble men (I should say "navy", who still venture into submarine-infested waters to catch the fish to earn their livings.

Our own local fish dealers say there is a definite scarcity of fish, but the most plentiful in a war-time market are fillets of cod and haddock; then comes cod steaks and fillets of sole. Smoked fish and frozen fish stocks are practically nil.

Of the lake fish a large supply comes from Winnipeg and compared to sea-fish are plentiful.

We plan to give you plenty of new and interesting Lenten dishes but would like you to clip this fish piece because if you have the habit of planning your meals weekly you can refer to this handily and make the meals for the whole 40 days' run smoothly.

As usual I have tried all these dishes—and am giving you the ones that received the best praise and were the most practical to make and serve to the majority.

Boiled Cod With Quick Hollandaise.

Wash and wipe dry a 2-lb. piece of cod from the thick part of the fish when possible, and wrap in cheese-cloth to make it easy to handle. Have water boiling in kettle with rack or plate in bottom and put in wrapped fish. Add 2 teaspoons vinegar or lemon juice to keep fish white, and 1 teaspoon salt. Boil about 25 minutes or until just done to centre—do not overcook. Lift out on hot platter and leave wrapped until sauce is ready:

Quick Hollandaise (to serve with boiled fish): Two tablespoons butter, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup boiling water, or fish liquor, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon paprika. Cream butter, add egg yolks. Beat well. Add cornstarch mixed with lemon juice. Just before serving the sauce, add the hot water or fish liquor very slowly. Stir over hot water until sauce thickens, add seasonings. This sauce is also good where genuine hollandaise is called for but you are too timid to attempt it.

Haddock Fillets With Tomato Stuffing.

Two or 3 haddock fillets, tomato stuffing (see below), salt and pepper. Place fillets in buttered or oiled pan, spread with tomato stuffing, season and make at 500 deg. Fahr. for about 12 or 15 minutes. If you make these at right temperature they are perfectly delicious.

Tomato Stuffing.

1 tablespoon chopped onion, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 cups soft bread crumbs, 1 cup well-drained canned tomatoes, ¾ teaspoon salt, paprika. Cock the onion until soft in 2 tablespoons butter. Add bread crumbs and brown slightly, stirring. Remove from heat, add tomatoes, and ½ teaspoon salt and mix well. Spread the stuffing between the slices or fillets of fish, or on top of them.

Fillets of Sole, Parmesan

Many of you discerning cokks will have noticed that I avoid giving you recipes that are so expensive that they are out of the question for most of us. But Lobster Bisque and Sole Parmesan are classic dishes that many of us would make (and balance the budget by serving beans the next day!) if we knew how. It is impossible to buy Parmesan now because it is an Italian cheese, but a mild quality of well-dried Canadian cheddar is a good substitute.

One cup grated dried mild cheese, 2 egg yolks, beaten, 4 to 6 fillets of sole, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1⅓ cups milk, 1 tablespoon heavy cream, 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Mix ½ cup grated cheese with beaten yolks. Sprinkle fillets of sole with salt and pepper. Spread with the cheese and egg mixture. Lay fillets on greased pan an cover with greased paper or moistened cookery parchment. Bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes. Melt butter in top part of double boiler. Add flour and blend thoroughly. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until it thickens, stirring occasionally. Add heavy cream and lemon juice. Remove paper from top and pour the sauce over. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup cheese over fillets, and return to oven to brown for about 5 minutes—no longer or sauce will separate.

Canned Fish

You can see where the good old can of salmon or sardines is going to be used even more than ever. One good way with salmon that is not well known is to slip it out of the can keeping its shape as much as possible, and pour over it sour cream or milk, sprinkling with paprika and baking just long enough to heat through, and to make the sauce bubbly. My nicest way to serve sardines hot is to crumb them and fry quickly in butter (about 2 minutes in pan is plenty) and serve each sardine on a strip of toast with a wedge of lemon.

If any of our readers would like other methods of serving canned salmon or sardines please write me.

Lobster Bisque

This is another seeming extravagance, but I bought a 28 cent can of Canadian Lobster and used half of it for a Bisque and the other half for sandwiches for lunch the following day. Melt in top of double boiler 2 tablespoons butter, and add 2 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1½ cups rich milk—using top milk or breakfast cream—and stir until thickened, then add ½ can of lobster into about ½-inch pieces. Add salt and pepper and ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Serve in small bouillon cups with sprinkling of paprika. Some bisques contain crumbs, and yolks—but unless the nourishment is desired I think they are superfluous.

By MARY MOORE

Question.—I tried last week's "All-in-One Casserole" dinner and it was a treat for the whole family. I am enclosing a recipe for a very good rice pudding which is economical.

Rice Pudding (without eggs)

Contributed by Mrs. Mae Williams.

Three-quarters cup rice, ½ cup sugar, 1 quart milk, 1 tablespoon butter, salt and nutmeg. Wash rice well. Put in casserole with other ingredients. Bake 2½ hours. Serve with milk or cream. Real good.

Answer.—We are glad you liked the "All-in-One Casserole" and thank you for the Rice Pudding which I think is improved if stirred several times while baking—don't you? Write again whenever you can send such fine ones—or when we can help you.

Question.—Have you a recipe for potted beef? Years ago my grandmother used to make it with shredded beef. I don't remember the recipe, but know gelatin was never used. Also would like your recipe for headcheese. Thanking you, Mrs. George H. Burnett.

Answer.—Your request is very interesting. I think I have a recipe that will give you the principles of the potted beef—if the flavorings do not suit you, you may want to change them.

Spiced Potted Beef

Two pounds round steak, 1 veal knuckle, cracked, 1 tablespoon each chopped onion and celery, 1 tablespoon vinegar, water, 1 teaspoon salt, dash of celery salt, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon allpice, ½ teaspoon cloves, ¼ teaspoon mace. Cut the steak in 1-inch cubes and place in large kettle with bone, onion, celery and vinegar and add just enough water to cover, bring to boil and simmer covered for three hours, or until meat is tender. Allow meat to partially cool in stock; remove meat and cut or chop or shred as you like. When stock is cold, skim fat from it and strain. Add seasonings and spices to stock and bring to boil, add meat and heat thoroughly, then chill. When slightly thickened, stir to distribute meat, turn into mould and chill until firm. To serve unmould on serving platter, and garnish with fancy cut dills, or quartered tomatoes, etc.

Never-Fail Headcheese

One small hog's head with ears and tongue, water, salt, onion, 3 whole cloves, 1 tiny bunch mixed herbs—paprika, sage, cloves and allspice—⅛ cup vinegar. Have butcher scrape and clean the head, split and remove eyes and brain; then scrape ears, scrub tongue and rinse all very well. Cover with cold water, add 1 tablespoon salt, onion, stuck with whole cloves, and herbs, bring slowly to a boil and simmer, covered, for 3 hours or until tender; cool in stock in which is was cooked. Place cooled meat in colander to drain; strip meat from bones, cut ears in slices and tongue in pieces. Season meat to taste with the salt, paprika, sage, cloves and allspice and

Lace Goes Tailored

By PRUNELLA WOOD

ALWAYS a fabric symbolic of luxury and elegance, lace sees no reason to withdraw from the fashion picture just because formality is going to be so much less in evidence for the duration. Instead, adapting itself to the trend of the times, it assumes a character in keeping with current needs.

Since suits of all types will be specially important this spring, here's one for a festive occasion in corded Alencon lace of pale blue. A three-piece outfit, the skirt has kick pleats back and front.

Blue taffeta to match the suit lines its jacket, worn here over a short-sleeved vest. Gloves of the same blue lace give the costume its finishing touch.

Canada to Get British Wools Liked by Duchess of York

LONDON, Feb. 19.—(CP).—Tailored, woollen dresses like those chosen by the Duchess of Kent are among models on their way to Canada.

They are from a selection of new models, each made with two and a half yards of cloth, the quantity to which designers limit themselves because of the war.

One model has rour double kick-pleats back and front. Just over an inch in depth and stitched at the edge, their number and closeness give full play and the appearance of depth. The model has short sleeves, a Peter Pan collar and an original deep-squared yoke set in the middle of the front from the shoulder seams, with two small pockets directly in the middle.

Another dress in peasant style, has extra-wide shoulders, apron skirt shirred into the waist belt and round pockets set in the fullness at the sides.

Another Selection.

The Duchess selected a fine, black wool frock buttoning from shirt collar to hem. Fashioned with long, bell sleeves, a sash tie belt, two patch pockets on the skirt and one left-hand breast pocket. It was simple but well tailored and flattering.

The Duchess of Kent's daughter, Princess Alexandra, is following in her mother's footsteps as a director of fashion. Her little frocks are copied from photographs by women buying or dressmaking for their evacuated children.

The Princess' clothes are bought in one of London's big shops, and

To Be Married in Trinity Church

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Campbell and Adolphe M. LeClair, R.C.A.F., whose engagement has been announced, will marry on February 21 in Trinity United Church. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. W. S. Campbell, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, and the late Mr. Campbell. Her fiance is the son of L. J. LeClair, Peterborough, and the late Mrs. LeClair.

Percy Grainger Delights Large Concert Audience

It is doubtful if any other artist has held a Peterborough audience so completely under the spell of his artistry and personality as did Percy Grainger, in the Collegiate Auditorium on Wednesday night. From the moment his fingers caressed the keys, until the last graceful gesture of finality, each piece was accorded the rapt, unswerving attention of the listeners.

At times, so profund was the spell of the music, the eyes fixed themselves on its source, the white keyboard, and the wizard hands that coaxed, cajoled, commanded music from it. At others, his whole body seemed to become a part of the music, bending, swaying and straightening to every change of mood, rhythm and tempo. If, when people speak of a Grainger concert, it is the artist, rather than the art, of which they speak, it is not because his personality has overpowered the music, but because Percy Grainger becomes a part of everything he plays.

As for his technique, that is perhaps not for comment from an amateur, but never has this reporter heard a pianist with such faultless clarity of performance. It was as if each note were a jewel, falling separately into its appointed place in an exquisite mosaic. Grainger possesses to an amazing degree the ability to make his instrument sing, which is perhaps the secret of his fine interpretation of folk music. "Cradle Song" by Brahams, played as an encore, was a lovely example of this.

The program was a judicious selection of familiar friends and not so familiar acquaintances. Two compositions by Bach opened the program; the first, one of Bach's organ pieces, arranged for piano by Busoni "Prelude and Fugue in D Major"; the second, the "Partita No. 1 in B flat Major." These were followed by a set of symphonic studies, Opus 13, of Schumann, an exquisite flow of lovely melody. Next came a set of Norwegian folk tune, the songs expressive and melodic, the dances gay and spectacular. Litszt's familiar "Liebestraum" was still "Liebestraum", made new and more lovely by the touch of the master. "Islamey," an Oriental phantasy by the Russian composer, Balakirev, brilliant, moody, colorful, was played with dash and style.

For encores, Mr. Grainger played, besides the well-loved "Cradle Song," his own arrangements of three English folk tunes, the familiar Morris dances, "Shepherd's Hey" and "Country Gardens," and "The Sussex Mummers' Christmas Carol." He also played the gentle, "Irish Tune from County Derry," known to some of us as "Danny Boy," and to others as "Londonderry Air."

St. Paul's Friendly Group

Mrs. A. McIntyre, 207 Brock Street, was hostess on Tuesday evening to the Friendly Group of St. Paul's Church.

The leader, Mrs. W. Moorhead, presided, and devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Coleman, Sr.

A duet by Mrs. A. Bennett and Mrs. F. Board was much enjoyed.

Letters were read from the boys overseas, thanking the ladies for cigarettes sent, and six boxes were packed ready for mailing to soldiers at the front.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the social committee.

This Is Everybody's War

It's a good idea to put your salvage out on the verandah for the collectors to pick up, but be careful. Once the ladies who were sorting came upon three cartons containing a complete set of pyrex ovenware new and unused. After much inquiry and cudgelling of memory, the cartons were traced to a house at which the truck had been instructed to pick up salvage from the verandah about three days before. The collectors had arrived, picked up some cartons, and departed; but instead of salvage, they had picked up a wedding present, which a delivery man had left sitting on the doorstep....Winner of the Examiner afghan is Mr. John Breckenridge. The raffle raised $52.15 for the British War Victims Fund.... The Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. is holding a bingo on Friday night at the Legion Hall to raise funds for War Work. Prizes are coal, groceries, hams, chickens, etc. Maybe you'll be lucky this time....Stamps are collected in Peterborough for the dyes which are extracted and used over again; but in Toronto some organizations sell them by the pound to stamp dealers. Even the humble ones, twos and threes can bring in quite a tidy sum. At least one small club has financed its war work in this way. The stamps need not be soaked off the envelopes, but they must be sorted. The sorting takes time, but those who do it say the results are well worth while.... Did you know that all the tiny ends of wool you cut off your darning and knitting should be saved. Woollen mills will buy them back for shoddy. Of course one person's cuttings don't amount to much, but if everybody does it.....A new war work organization, to take care of Peterborough's boys in blue, is being formed. It is the Women's Auxiliary R.C.N.V.R., and there will be a meeting on Monday afternoon at the Y.M.C.A. Every nice girl.. ..The pupils of Marion Perry Laird are grand little troupers if ever there were any. They've done great war work, helping to entertain soldiers and performing at teas, garden parties etc., where funds are being raised for war work.

Trinity W.M.S. Hears of Work On Peace River

The February meeting of Trinity W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon in the church. Mrs. Harold Rehill thanked the many who were present for their loyalty in attending despite the weather.

Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. A. Legon read extremely interesting reports of the Presbyterial in Mark Street Church.

It was announced that March 15 would be W.M.S. Sunday.

Mrs. L. E. Stenson invited all to look at the books in the W. M. S. library, suggesting that we would be surprised at the wide and interesting variety of books, especially the new ones which are adapted for reading to children.

The devotional period opened with the familiar hymn, "Oh, Master, let me walk with Thee." "Put on the whole armour of God," was the text, the reading of which was followed by prayer.

Miss Isobel Connolly gave us an insight into her personal experiences last summer in the Peace River district. She spoke of many workers in that country who were well-known to Peterborough, and stressed the fact that in the great North there seemed to be so much co-operation between the different church denominations.

C.G.E. Employees Enjoy Party At Kawartha Club

The Kawartha Golf and Country Club was the scene for the second monthly party of the Payroll, Wage Rate and Planning Departments of the Canadian General Electric Company.

About 40 couples were in attendance and were received by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whatley.

The program consisted of several quiz contests which were won by B. Geraghty, Thelma Dowd, W. Hillier, Bunny Daynes, A. Raymond and Doris Williamson.

Following this very enlightening contest, Miss E. Robson, A.B.C.D., held an I.Q. test, won by Ruth Carter, representing the Wage Rate Department; Ken Gibson of the Planning Department, and A. Raymond of the Payroll Department.

At the close of these contests, dancing to the music of Benny Barrett's orchestra was enjoyed.

After winning the spot dance, Miss V. Mills and Mr. J. Betts favored the less fortunate with a solo dance.

The birthday dance was won by Miss E. Jobbitt and Mr. A. Thomson.

During the evening refreshments were served.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. D. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Whatley, Mr. and Mrs. H. Darling, Mr. and Mrs. C. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Copping, Mr. and Mrs. Murray.

Employers, superiors and other influential personages may be disposed to co-operate and there may be surprising benefits. Travel, change, professional matters may thrive but be prudent in all relations and changes.

Those whose birthday it is should have excellent auguries for definite progress in many lines of endeavor, with high achievements in finance as well as professional, business and cultural lines. Advanced goals in such direction are encouraged although there is hint of want of approbation or assistance if not decisive opposition from public, group or organized bodies. However, good friends and supporters of influence are at hand, and probably offer surprising co-operation.

A child born on this day while having excellent judgment, noble ideals and aspirations supported by practical constructive abilities yet may suffer from annoyance or antagonism from public or organized bodies. However, it should have much progress, versatility and good fortune, reaching possibly influential position.

HATS GO SOUTH

By ALICE ALDEN

EVEN THOUGH bathing suits and cabana costumes are in the fashion spotlight at southern resorts, well-dressed women invariably top off their most successful outfits with the right hat. Of course dressy hats aren't so much in the fashion scene, but sartorial honors go to handsome topknots like the model shown here. It is worn by lovely Susan Brewster, one of the country's most famous models who cheerfully admits that she is mad about hats. White hand-woven straw, with colored silk and yarn threads is used for this Russian style hat.

WHITE WITHOUT BLEACHING!

OXYDOL — Electric Eye Proves Oxydol Washes Whitest. The whiteness of clothes washed by different soaps is now measured by Electric Eye. And Oxydol wins for whiteness! Clearly outwashes other Canadian soaps — including soaps in wide use, priced the same as Oxydol.

New OXYDOL Guarantees: The WHITEST WASH EVER —Or Double Your Money Back!

The busier, livelier suds of New OXYDOL do more—wash clothes white without bleaching, even in hard water—except stains, of course, or unusual pieces. Yet New Oxydol is milder! Safe for washable colours and rayons, too!

If you don't agree it's the whitest wash ever, simply return unused portion of package with name and address to OXYDOL, Montreal, and twice the purchase price will be refunded. This offer expires December 31, 1942.

DOROTHY DIX

DON'T LET INFATUATION FOR CHILDREN SPOIL TRAINING

Parents Should Exercise Equal Supervision and Discipline of Their Offspring.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have a son five years old whom I love very much, but my wife does not permit me to take any part in his training or try to help make a man of him. Ever since he was a tiny baby it has been the same way. My wife has never allowed me to play with the child for fear I might hurt him, break a bone or something, though Heaven knows I touch him gently as if he were made of glass. If I even suggested correcting him, his mother went into hysterics and accused me of trying to kill him or maim him, and screamed that I didn't love the baby, and that has made him a little liar who runs to her and says that I hit him in the stomach or somewhere when I haven't even touched him.

The result of all this is that the child is spoiled rotten, that everybody dislikes him, and that he won't mind either one of us. He tells us that he doesn't have to do what we tell him to do, and that he is going to do what he wants to do and nobody can stop him and that if we try to he will slap us in the face.

The boy is unusually intelligent and has the making of a fine man in him, but his mother is ruining him and it is breaking my heart. I don't know what to do. Sometimes I think that it would be better for me to leave her alone and give up trying to save the boy rather than be in a perpetual row with her. But what will become of my boy if I do? I am heartbroken over the situation. R. D.

ANSWER: No other letters that come to this column, where so many men and women pour out their griefs, are so tragic as the ones that I get from fathers like this one who see their children being ruined by fool mothers and are powerless to save them.

And there are so many of them. For it is a common thing for a mother to be so obsessed by her infatuation for her child that she seems to lose every particle of intelligence that she has and to be incapable of realizing the crime she is committing, not only against the child whom she is ruining for life, but against the child's father.

It is easy to see what motivates such a woman. Primarily it is jealousy of her husband. She wants the exclusive possession of the child's love and of the child's person. She doesn't want the father to have any part in him at all and so she shuts him out of the nursery. The baby is always asleep when the father returns from work and wants to see him and he mustn't be waked up. The father mustn't play with him because he is too rough and excites him. The father can't be trusted to ever take the little fellow out alone because he might give him the wrong thing to eat, or let him be run over by an automobile or something.

And so the child never gets acquainted with his father and grows up like the little boy who asked his mother who was that strange man he saw around the house on Sundays?

This Teaches Hatred

And the mother teaches the child to hate his father by always making the father do the punishing, if any ever is done, and always threatening the child with the father's vengeance until she forms in the youngster's mind a picture of father as a cruel man who hates him and who is always trying to hurt him.

And if the father tries to correct the child's manners, the mother nullifies his every effort by pitying the child and making him feel as if he were a martyr; by doing herself the tasks father sets for him to do and by giving him money on the sly to have the indulgences the father has forbidden.

The father, knowing the world and having seen the failures in life that these spoiled brats are bound to be, breaks his heart over the fate that their mother is preparing for them, but he is powerless to avert it. For his wife is deaf to his entreaties and prayers to use some reason in bringing up their children and when he remonstrates with her the only result is scenes and recriminations and the charge that SHE is the only one who loves the children, and that he is mean and cruel to want to make the poor things behave.

The only thing that a man can do that is cursed with such a wife is to separate his children from her as soon as it is possible by sending them off to schools and camps in the hope that in such places they will get the discipline they have never had at home, and that a stranger may undo some of the evil that their mother has done.

But many fathers are not able financially to send their children away from home. Many others lack the courage to go through the fight they would have to make in forcibly separating the mother from her idol. And many others realize that nothing can ever undo the harm the mother has done to the child during the early plastic years of its life. And these things add to the tragedy of the situation.

A man's one and only chance to have any control over his children and any hand in their upbringing is to take a firm stand on his rights to an equal partnership in the baby on the very day it is born. If he doesn't do it then, it is forever too late, for once let the mother assert her right to the monopoly of the infant and no sense of justice or fair play or consideration for her husband, or even the child's welfare will break it.

They're In The Army Now

Although more than 18,000 women in Canada are anxious to join the Canadian Women's Army Corps and the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force, it is not yet known how many of them will meet the army and medical requirements. Already more than 1,000 women have been recruited in the C.W.A.C. and 900 in the C.W.A.A.F. ABOVE two members of the C.W.A.C.S. in their smart khaki uniforms and beach brown neckties, are shown filling a kit bag with the equipment supplied to each recruit Children's Models.

Recently, the Duchess bought a little whipcord flared skirt with crossed straps for the Princess, and similar models have been shipped to Canada in the children's group of an export collection.

The skirt-and-jumper idea with panties matching the skirt is the most popular wartime fashion for little girls. Skirts are usually pleated, with box pleats or a multitude of inch peats that flare out perkily almost straight from the waist. The most popular material is grey flannel.

Smocked dresses are also in the youngsters' collection. They are of fine wool, with lighter touches of smocking than in the past and have Peter Pan collars and short or long sleeves. They are also made with wide hems and turnback cuffs, a boon to any mother who has an eye on the family purse.

add vinegar, mixing well. Pack tightly in moulds or bowls, interspersing layers of meat with slices of ears and bits of tongue; cover with rinsed plate or cover and place heavy weight on top. Let stand for at least two days in very cool place.

Serve sliced thin with chili sauce or mustard pickles.

Question.—I have read with interest your Saturday page and am wondering if you can tell me where good whole wheat flour for bread can be bought, by the cwt., I mean. I have tried all over and can only fine it done up in very small amounts, and this is too expensive for bread.—Mrs. F. W. A.

Answer.—Telephone your local milling company; it is their business to sell you whole wheat flour in any quantity you want it. I have written to you privately on this subject.

MARTHA'S CHILDREN

Before her marriage to the first president, Martha Washington had four children by her first husband. Two died in infancy.

FASHIONS

PATTERN 9978

Youth and slimness on a limited budget is yours if you make up this Marian Martin at-home frock—Pattern 9978. It will fit better, look smarter, stay in style longer because it is designed especially for the larger figure. That unusual dipping yoke has a youthful effect on your "throatline" and the side sections are cut in-one from neck to hem for long slenderizing lines. Darts fit the waist and a sash may begin here at either side or go all the way around. The back is also fitted by darts. See how quickly you'll stitch up this model All you need is a gay cotton print . . . a bit of lace to outline the yoke and the pointed sleeve bands.

Pattern 9978 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards 35-inch fabric and 2⅞ yards lace edging.

IN MEMORIAM

WINDRIM.—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Alexander Windrim, who was called home February 19, 1941.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one gone to rest;
In memory's frame we will keep it
Because he was one of the best.
Our lips cannot speak how we miss him,
Our hearts cannot tell what to say,
God alone knows how we miss him
In our hearts that are lonesome today.
To those who have their father:
Cherish him with care,
You will never know his value
Till you see the vacant chair.

Sadly missed and always remembered by his loving Wife and Family.

Young People Enjoy Valentine Party

HAVELOCK, Feb. 19 — (ENS).— The regular meeting of the Young People's League was held Monday evening in the United church with a good attendance. Plans had been carefully made for a Valentine party and the entire evening's entertainment was conducted backwards. Every member wore some article of wearing apparel backwards, which caused much merriment. The meeting opened with refreshments of candy and nuts. Rev. Mr. Wilkinson led in prayer. Short humorous poems dealing with St. Valentine were read by Betty Clarke, John Wilkinson, Glenn Price and Evelyn Iles. The scripture lesson was read by Ruth Peters.

Each member donated a Valentine with their own name on it, which were sold at auction, with Miss Eileen Brisbin acting as auctioneer and Margaret Anderson as cashier and $1.09 was realized from same.

Raid North Germany

LONDON, Feb. 19 — (CP). — British bombers attacked objectives in North-west Germany on Tuesday and returned safely from the operations, Air Ministry said yesterday.

The Ministry announced, however, that two coastal command planes are missing from the patrol on Tuesday.

It was announced a German fighter was destroyed by planes of the fighter command off the south coast of England on Tuesday.

Liquid Diet Starts Get-Slim Regime

Easy to Lose Two Pounds a Week

Mrs. Plump declares war on surplus poundage!

Good general that she is, she starts her campaign with an appetizing liquid diet that cleanses her system, perks up her appetite for the healthful low-calory meals to follow.

Her strategy includes arranging housework and social activities so she can take things easy until she's back on solid food.

Then she settles down to a refreshing three-day regime of fruit juices — orange, pineapple, grapefruit, tomato, prune—hot tea and coffee totalling less than 1,000 calories a day.

Next come several weeks of delicious energy-giving meals like this typical dinner of only 495 calories: Two broiled lamb chops (lean), ½ cup string beans, one teaspoon butter, ½ white potato, lettuce salad, one teaspoon French dressing, one canned peach, tea with lemon.

No need for starved, dragged out days when you reduce the modern low-calory way. In our 32-page booklet an expert dietitian gives "liquid diet," 42 tasty and healthful reducing menus. Has a calory chart for everyday foods; also tells how to gain.

For your copy of "The New Way to a Youthful Figure" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

ASSURE YOUR CONTRACT

GOING AFTER extra tricks is all right if it doesn't risk your contract. It is all right even then, if you are taking your chances between two risky ways of making it, one of which barely makes your contract and the other of which gives you more tricks. But when your contract is positively in sight by one method, and another risks it, the reward of the additional tricks is seldom worth the hazard.

North: ♠ 7 2 ♥ K J 10 5 3 ♦ A K 2 ♣ Q 10 5

West: ♠ A Q 9 6 4 3 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ 10 8 4 ♣ 7

East: ♠ 8 5 ♥ 9 8 7 4 ♦ Q 9 7 ♣ 9 8 3 2

South: ♠ K J 10 ♥ 2 ♦ J 6 5 3 ♣ A K J 6 4

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1♣	2♠	3♥	Pass
3NT

That was funny bidding by West, with a double purpose, to get his side into a game contract at spades if his partner had anything worth while, but more important to impede the opponents and perhaps crowd them into the wrong contract. As it happened, West did not accomplish either of these objects with his odd call, but he did encourage South into spilling his own apple cart.

The opening lead was the spade 6, which rode to the J. With eight tricks in sight, South needed to build only one to be sure of his game, and he judged the best try was to build a heart trick at once, by leading the 2 toward the K. West came in with the A and, hoping South possessed a singleton, so he could not lead the suit again to finesse against the heart Q, returned his diamond 4.

Seeing a possible chance, with nine tricks now sure, to gain an extra one if West had the diamond Q, and realizing the value of extra tricks in a duplicate, South called the diamond 2 from dummy, expecting thus to score his J. Even if East had the Q, as he did, South felt that he would be unable to lead back a spade, as the 2-Spades jump by West undoubtedly betokened a seven-card suit. But East did have another spade, so that West took five more spade tricks, setting the contract three tricks.

If South had come up on that diamond trick and then led his clubs, any discards made by West would have raised so much trouble with him that South could have made an extra trick by tossing him into the lead at the end. But the main point is that, with nine tricks sure, they should not have been jeopardized in order to try for a tenth.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ J 8 4 ♥ A K 7 3 ♦ 10 7 ♣ A 10 9 5

West: ♠ 10 7 ♥ J 9 4 2 ♦ 9 5 2 ♣ Q 6 3 2

East: ♠ A Q 9 5 3 2 ♥ None ♦ K Q J 6 4 ♣ 8 4

South: ♠ K 6 ♥ Q 10 8 6 5 ♦ A 8 3 ♣ K J 7

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

With normal bidding by all concerned, how should South plan his play for 5-Hearts on this deal if East wins the first trick with the spade A and then leads the diamond K?

Toy Set Of Type Gives France 1st Free Paper

(By WILLIAM STEWART.)

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP).—A toy set of rubber type gave a start to one of the first clandestine newspapers to appear in France after the German occupation.

The printers were four men and a girl, joined in what they called the "groupe de resistance." One of them, Paul Simon, veteran of the First Great War and holders of the Medaille Militaire, has reached Britain after eluding the Gestapo.

He said the secret paper was called "Valmy" after the first victory of the French republican army over the Prussians in 1792. It was printed in Paris in the dining room of the Simon home.

Weeks before the first edition was printed and distributed, Simon and his companions had stamped out posters with their rubber type set.

"Our first poster slogan was: 'One single enemy—the invader'," said the 40 year old businessman. "We printed 40,000 copies on strips of gummed paper used to protect windows against bomb blast. We stuck them on walls, lamp-posts and doors, on German automobiles, anywhere we could.

"Another poster slogan was: 'The biggest tyrant in the world is Hitler.' This one was reserved for Nazi cars and restaurants frequented by German army men. We printed about 40,000 copies of it too."

1st Edition Took a Month.

The success of the posters gave the "Groupe de Resistance" the idea of the paper. The name was chosen and the first edition featuring BBC news took a month to produce. The first edition consisted of 50 copies.

Another month's work at night by lamplight resulted in 100 copies of the second edition.

The amateur printers managed to get a larger stamp and their output grew.

The editor of another underground paper, "Pantagruel," was discovered and executed.

Then Simon found out the gestapo were on his trail and decided it was time to start for Britain.

He said the Nazi campaign forced many secret publications out of business but one, "Liberation," still appeared regularly despite all the Germans could do.

When he left France, Simon estimated 80 per cent of the people in the occupied area were pro-De Gaulle— "the rest think Petain is playing a dual game."

Sailing Against The Japs

This photograph was made from one of the raiding vessels as the American raiding fleet sailed through Pacific waters toward Japanese held Gilbert and Marshall Islands—objectives of dashing raid. A line of the warships which inflicted so much damage on the Japs can be seen here with the aircraft carrier which played a major role in the centre of the line.

Apology Is Given Scottish Duke In Hess Episode

LONDON, Feb. 19 — (CP). — Libel actions brought by the Duke of Hamilton aagint the writers of a pamphlet and an article on Rudolf Hess's flight to Scotland were settled in court to-day when the authors apologized and agreed to pay costs.

The litigation arose out of statements contained in a leaflet entitled "Why Is Hess Here?" and an article in "World News and Views."

The Duke, who is a Royal Air Force officer, was one of the first to see Hess after the German deputy Fuehrer parachuted from his Messerschmitt plane in Scotland on May 10. The Duke denied he was an acquaintance of Hess.

"There can be no doubt that the statements are libellous," said Valentine Holmes, K.C., counsel for the Duke. "The Duke's case is that they suggested he was a great friend of Hess and approved" of the activities of Hitler and Hess. Counsel's statement told for the first time details of the Hess flight.

The Duke was on duty in an R.A.F. operations room the night the Hess plane was sighted off the coast of Northumberland, counsel related. Later, when the plane crashed and the pilot was reported captured the Duke left for home, but was recalled an hour later.

"He was informed that the pilot who bailed out, had given his name as Alfred Horn and had told the Home Guard and the police that he was on a special mission to see the Duke and had intended to bail out over Dungavel, which is the Duke's home," counsel went on.

Upheld By the Premier.

"The Duke had never seen the prisoner before, but when the prisoner learned he was the Duke of Hamilton he asked to speak with him alone. The prisoner said: "I do not know if you recognize me, but I am Rudolph Hess,' and he made certain statements as a result of which the Duke considered that steps should be taken at once to verify the truth of the prisoner's statement."

He said the Duke immediately got in touch with the authorities concerning the story and was summoned by Prime Minister Churchill to make a personal report.

"It might be added," counsel said, "that the Prime Minister had intimated the plaintiff's behaviour in the matter had been entirely honorable and proper."

Gerald Gardiner, for the defendants, said the authors "believed the purpose of the Hess visit was to propose to the government through channels which the Nazi regime expected to be available for this purpose, an armistice or peace between Hitlerite Germany and Britain on the basis of an attack by Hitlerite Germany on the U.S.S.R. The defendants considered it a public duty to point out that Hess was an utterly depraved and vicious character.

Counsel added that defendants' statements "were directed solely against Hess and the political tendency to welcome Hess" and had no intention of impuning "the character or loyalty of the Duke."

The defendants were Harry Pollitt, whose disclaimer of participating in the writing was accepted by the Duke, Ted Bramley, member of the London district committee of the Communist party of Great Britain, H. Goodman, publisher, and Ivor Montagu, author.

Bancroft Lodge Sponsors Party

BANCROFT, Feb. 19 — (ENS).— The ladies of Bancroft O.E.S. No. 157 held a Valentine party in the Community Hall, Bancroft, Friday evening. The hall was very appropriately decorated for Valentine's Day in red and white, with many symbols being displayed about the room. There were thirteen tables of bridge and euchre.

After cards were finished about eleven o'clock dancing commenced to the strains of the Troubadours. A dance program was arranged for the remainder of the evening which was enjoyed by all.

Those winning prizes for cards were: Bridge, Mrs. J. F. Follis and Mr. W. A. Dillon; euchre, by Mr. and Mrs. H. Strudwick.

The Girl Guides held a very successful afternoon tea and sale of home cooking in the basement of the United Church in Bancroft on Saturday afternoon, netting some eighteen dollars for their efforts.

Mr. G. P. Wells of Frankford spent the week-end with his family in town.

Mr. Ross Viscoff of Belleville was in town over Sunday.

Miss Dorothy Hagerman of Toronto arrived in town Friday evening, remaining with her mother and sister until Monday.

Due to the uncertainty of the weather and road conditions, police court in Bancroft was postponed for one week.

St. John's Anglican Church held its regular Shrove Tuesday pancake supper in the Community Hall, Bancroft, Monday evening. There was a very good attendance for the supper and following cards were indulged in for the rest of the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. L. Rupert, Mrs. R. W. Blatherwick, Mr. W. A. Davy and Mrs. Bruce.

Lieut. and Mrs. Clifford Broad of North Bay spent over the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Broad, of Town.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Wiggins in the Bancroft Red Cross Hospital, Friday, February 13, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kavanagh, Miss Alice Kavanagh and Mrs. E. George motored to Belleville Monday.

Mr. P. A. Kellar of the village is confined to his bed with a very heavy cold.

A heavy snowstorm descended upon Bancroft and district Monday, followed by rain, which fell most of the night, making roads quite hazardous.

Dispute Claim Americans Left At Penang

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP).—Harold MacMillan, Under-Secretary for Colonies, speaking in the House of Commons, said today that information the Government had received from Malaya "did not confirm" criticism by Elliott H. Simpson, United States importer, who said Americans were not considered in British evacuation plans at Penang.

He added that the known casualties among European civilians in Malaya up to February 14 were 15 killed or dead of wounds, 17 wounded, missing, including 35 known prisoners—a total of 105.

He suggested there might be other Europeans among the 2,170 killed and 3,955 injured in Malayan air raids up to February 13.

Cmdr. Robert Bower, Conservative member of parliament for Cleveland, suggested yesterday an official investigation into criticism of British arrangements for removing civilians from Penang but the spokesman said it "would be quite impracticable."

Simpson, who arrived in Jersey City, N.J., last Friday from Singapore, said he would report to the State Department in Washington concerning alleged negligence in arranging for the departure of civilians from Penang. He declared British authorities ordered their own women and children to leave Penang but "never notified the Americans to leave." He said they heard of the withdrawal by accident and fled four days after British nationals had left.

Sticking Wheel Nets Hun Plane

LONDON, Feb. 19—(CP Cable).—Flt.-Sgt. R. L. Emburg, Montreal, has a Messerschmitt 109 to his credit today because the undercarriage of his Hurricane wouldn't fold up.

The wheel became stuck when Emburg and two other members of his Hurricane bomber squadron were flying from one airdrome to another yesterday. The Montrealer, forced to lag behind, decided to fly out to see and take a short cut across a bay when he spotted a German plane.

He held his fire until he was 100 yards from the Messerchmitt, and with three bursts sent the enemy fighter rolling over into the sea.

Two other Messerschmitts were on his tail, firing at him with tracer bullets. The trailing wheel prevented Emburg from climbing into the clouds so he dived toward the sea and zig-zagged his way to land until the attackers were thrown off.

Federal Policy On Ex-Army T.B. Cares Scored

TORONTO, Feb. 19 — (CP). — Premier Hepburn read and tabled in the Ontario Legislature yesterday a letter from his Deputy Minister of Health, Dr. B. T. McGhie, which said that notwithstanding the province's offer to treat tubercular and mental cases among Ontario soldiers no adequate provisions has been made by the Dominion Government for the care of these men upon their discharge. The offer applied to men who became ill within 90 days of enlistment.

"As a matter of face," the Premier read from the letter, "in some instances where we have accepted soldiers in uniform into mental hospitals to diagnose and report on their mental condition, they have immediately been discharged while still in our care and left in our institution even though they have originally been a resident of another province.

"For this reason we...also have had to refuse Ontario citizens discharged from the army on return from overseas because of mental disease because of the fact the Federal authorities had made no arrangement for paying the maintenance of these ex-soldiers in Ontario institutions.

"In the case of those ex-soldiers discharged because of tuberculous disease, where the Federal Government does not award a pension or dependent's allowance, the Provincial Government places the wife on mothers' allowance.

The letter, Mr. Hepburn said, was tabled for the information of the press.

JAPS JUMP BALI, TIMOR FEARED BY-PASSING JAVA

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 20—(AP)—With invasion today of the Idyllic Island of Bali (and Timor, according to an additional Tokyo claim), Japan's multiple front offensive in the southwest Pacific took ominous form as a threat to isolate the United Nations forces in Java if not to by-pass that stronghold for a direct attack on Australia. The waters around Bali, a Netherlands colonial paradise where war had been little more than a fable of the white men, were threshed by the torpedoes, bombs and shells of warships and warplanes as the United Nations closed in an apparently unsuccessful battle to bar the strong sea-borne invasion force from the gleaming beaches of Bali.

The defenders again were exacting a heavy price for the Japanese attack, but evidently not heavy enough. Japanese landing parties swarmed from their transports and cut through the surf with their landing barges, despite the counter-blows of Allied air and surface craft and submarines.

The defenders scored direct bomb hits on one or more Japanese cruisers and three transports and eight near misses on a destroyer, according to an early communique of the United Nations. Four Japanese fighters were shot down and the defending air force returned to base intact.

United Nations warships and submarines had opened the counter-attack last night on the invasion forces concentrated in waters around Bali. The 2,095-square mile island is separated from easternmost Java, at its nearest point, by a mile-wide strait. It is about 120 miles from Bali to Java's big Curabaya naval base.

A Netherlands communique said succinctly: "In connection with enemy action directed against Bali, vital points on Bali have been destroyed and naturally strong action is being taken against landings which the enemy is carrying out."

(Imperial headquarters at Tokyo reported that Japanese troops landed at dawn today on the Portuguese-Netherlands island of Timor, east of Bali, at the end of the southern chain of islands and just northwest of Darwin, Australia, which Japanese planes have raided intensively.

(Tokyo said that the Timor expedition had been ordered to oust Australian and Netherlands troops in the Portuguese half of the island. These Allied forces had taken positions in Timor early in the war in anticipation of Japanese attack. Tokyo sought to assure Portugal that the Japanese would be withdrawn when (and if) the United Nations troops were expelled.

(Summarizing results of their assault yesterday on Darwin, Japanese claimed that a 6,000-ton Australian auxiliary cruiser, two destroyers, a sub-chaser and nine transports were destroyed and, in addition, that another destroyer was heavily damaged. The Japanese also claimed destruction of 26 planes along with military and naval establishments.

(The Australians have announced considerable damage to ships, buildings and airdromes, along with casualties of 15 dead and 24 wounded. Six of the 93 Japanese fighters and bombers which delivered the third raid yesterday in two waves were shot down and the bombing accuracy of the others was impaired).

The news agency Aneta said that "the presence of the Japanese warcraft and troopships off Bali may indicate the expected enemy attempt to invade Java."

If it was not that, or at least a feint to facilitate attack in another quarter, it suggested (especially in conjunction with the Timor operations) a bold attempt to outflank Java for an invasion lunge at Northern Australia, centering perhaps on Darwin, naval base-capital of Australia's northern territory.

Coinciding with the heavy raids on Darwin, the Japanese struck at Java's naval base and air fields. Ten Japanese planes—five bombers and five fighters—were shot down during Wednesday's and yesterday's raids on Surabaya, it was announced by the United Nations headquarters for the southwest Pacific which is situated somewhere in Java.

Expeditionary forces of the United Nations, including American and Australian troops, have moved to battle stations in that rich, central island of the N.E.I.

The daily Indies communique said that results of Japanese air raids yesterday on several parts of Java were "inversely proportional" to the efforts expended and "on the whole material losses were unimportant and very few persons were killed." The Japanese appeared to have concentrated on airdromes, the tactical preliminary to invasion.

In defence of airdromes near Buitenzorg and Bandoeng, the communique said, four interceptor planes were shot down by the Japanese but only one of the pilots was killed. One Japanese plane was downed for certain and two others were probably destroyed.

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 20 (AP)—British and Indian forces are counter-attacking repeatedly in attempts to hold their hard-pressed line on the west bank of the Bilin river, an army communique declared today.

The War bulletin said "fierce fighting has continued during the past 24 hours behind the Bilin river."

"Successful air action yesterday had a considerably heartening effect on our troops," the communique added.

Rangoon, which normally has 500,000 inhabitants, was half-deserted as evacuation continued.

Brazil Skipper Called Aboard For Quiz; U-Boat Aces On Job

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 20—(AP).—The 4,080-ton Brazilian freighter Olinda was sunk by an Axis submarine off the Atlantic coast Wednesday afternoon, the 5th naval district announced today, and crew members landed here declared the submersible was "pocket size."

The crew of 46 was picked up from two lifeboats by a rescue ship after drifting and rowing for 20 hours.

Francisco Nogueira, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, said that he and Capt. Jacob Benemonde were ordered aboard the submarine by its commander and were questioned concerning the nature of their cargo, where they were from and their destination.

The submarine, which fired "17 or 18 shells—more or less"—at the ship before the crew abandoned her, sent a torpedo into the Olinda about amidship after the crew had taken to the boats, Nogueira said, adding that the freighter went down about an hour and a half later.

Nogueira said the undersea raider was "small enough to put in my pocket." The submersible had one deck gun and two machine guns.

Crew members said that U.S. naval planes were sighted approaching while the submarine was still on the surface and that the submersible crash-dived.

The Olinda was out of Bahia for New York with a cargo of cocoa and castor beans.

Reds Suggest Hitler Covering Up

New Push Doomed; Allied Resources To Swamp The Axis

(By EDDY GILMORE.)

MOSCOW, Feb. 20—(AP).—Red Star declared today that the fighting coalition of the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia is stronger than Germany in resources and reserves, and predicted the defeat of Hitler's Spring campaign and the crushing of his armies this year.

"Economic resources will mean the final decision," said the journal of the Red Army. "Soviet Russia, Britain and the United States are producing 28 times as much gasoline as Germany together with her vassals and occupied lands."

The United States turns out three times as much steel as Germany, Red Star said. It declared that in manpower reserves the United States, Britain and Russia were far ahead.

"The help were are receiving from our Allies is growing continuously," Red Star said, "and no doubt simultaneously the military efforts of our Allies will grow."

The Red Army organ said that in his efforts for a quick victory over the Soviet Union Hitler lost 6,000,000 men in the first five months of the war. Since then the rate of loss has been ever greater, the newspaper asserted.

Best of Army Gone

Germany cannot replace her lost manpower; the main mass of the regular German fighting force already has been destroyed or incapacitated, Red Star said.

It added that "Germany will be weaker in manpower this Spring than she was last Summer."

Red Star raised a question whether Hitler's talk of a great spring offensive is not intended primarily to raise the spirits of his troops and

His Ship Sunk McDaniel At Batavia

Last From Singapore Writer Sails Junk, Treks Jungles

BATAVIA, N.E.I., Feb. 20—(AP)—C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press correspondent who was the last American newspaperman to leave Singapore, arrived in Batavia this morning after a hazardous week-long trip in which his ship was bombed and sunk shortly after it sailed from the British base.

In London, Reuters reported today from Batavia that McDaniel had arrived in the Netherlands East Indies.

(The last message received from McDaniel by the Associated Press in New York was filed from Singapore at 4:45 a.m. EDT February 12, and said he was aboard a ship at Singapore Harbor under heavy attack by Japanese planes.)

The Reuters despatch said McDaniel was among a party of newspapermen who had "just turned up in the N.E.I."

McDaniel's party left Singapore on February 13 Reuters said.

"The party managed to find their way in one of the ship's boats to a small tropical island," Reuters said. "There they got a junk and sailed toward Sumatra.

Canada's Pleasure Car Days Numbered

By JACK WILLIAMS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

OTTAWA, Feb. 20 — (CP). — Pleasure driving is expected to end for many Canadian motorists by the end of the summer and most private automobiles probably will be jacked up in garages, without tires, before the war ends, an informed source predicted to-day.

The rubber situation has in recent weeks far outranked any likely gasoline shortage as the condition likely to result in a complete tie-up of non-essential motor vehicles, in the view of many observers.

And yesterday in Toronto Supplies Controller A. H. Williamson gave official confirmation to this belief when he announced plans are being formulated to restrict retreading of worn tires.

In his speech the Controller stated bluntly "the rubber shortage is so serious that our ability to fight an all-out war is imperilled," and he mentioned a plan to collect every available piece of rubber in Canada.

Sale of new tires already has been restricted to a small group of essential users and restrictions have been placed, too on purchases of used tires. They will be tighter yet when the new regulations are issued.

Gasoline rationing, of course, is going to have its effect on pleasure motoring. Ration coupons have been printed and will be distributed next month, limiting private motorists to about 5,400 miles a year.

This allowance may be cut at any time. There have been reports pleasure driving may actually be limited to about 4,000 miles instead of 5,400. There has been no official announcement yet, other than Munitions Minister Howe's comment this week that tanker losses have made Canada's gasoline situtaion "more serious than ever."

But the tire situation seems certain to have a more drastic effect than gasoline on non-essential motoring. Even if gasoline is available, the owner of a car without tires will be unable to use it.

Mr. Williamson has given clear cut warning that there is not sufficient rubber for all motorists to have their tires retreated. A general supply of rubber for this purpose "connot continue" he said yesterday.

"The ordinary car user will have to get along on his own tires, when these are worn out lay up his car for the duration," Mr. Williamson stated.

A large-scale synthetic rubber program is being undertaken by Canada and the United States, but it will be next year at least before production is possible and the output will then barely meet essential war needs.

Non-essential bus services would have to be eliminated and long-distance trucking halted to conserve rubber supplies.

Mr. Williamson announced new emphasis on the collection of scrap rubber. Under his authority as Controller of supplies he is empowered to take for the Government any available rubber and there is no doubt in official circles that worn out tires from cars which are laid up will have to be turned in for reclaiming purposes.

Half-Session Pay Refused

Most Of Ontario Tories Turn Down $1,000

TORONTO, Feb. 20 (CP)—It was reported at the Provincial Legislative Buildings Thursday that almost all Conservative members of the legislature had declined to accept the $1,000 half-sessional indemnities which the government announced yesterday would be paid to members for the session which opened Feb. 11 and which adjourned indefinitely yesterday.

It was said that some members refused the indemnity because, they said, such a move was illegal in that the provincial statutes provide that indemnity shall be paid at the rate of $20 a day for a sitting up to 30 days and a full indemnity for a sitting of more than 30 days.

Premier Hepburn said the government moved to pay half indemnities now because the adjournments is indefinite, because members are trying to pay their income taxes and because they are buying Victory Bonds.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS BECOMES THE HOUSE OF COMMONS LEADER

Beaverbrook Takes Post In U.S.

Attlee New Voice For Dominions; 2 Members Dropped

LONDON, Feb. 20—(CP).—Prime Minister Churchill answered his critics today by pruning his war cabinet from nine to seven members in a swift shakeup from which Sir Stafford Cripps, former Ambassador to Russia, emerged as the outstanding new figure in the government.

Sir Stafford, a dynamic personality who advanced ideas once gave him a reputation as a radical, was named Lord Privy Seal and House of Commons leader—a dual post which many political observers believed would make his second in importance only to Mr. Churchill himself.

At the same time Capt. Oliver Lyttleton was appointed Minister of State in Charge of Production, replacing Lord Beaverbrook, who will go to the United States shortly to co-ordinate pooling of the United Nations' resources.

An announcement said Lord Beaverbrook had declined an invitation to join the new war cabinet on "grounds of Health." Two other veterans—Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the Exchequer, and Arthur Greenwood, Minister without portfolio—simultaneously relinquished their places in the inner cabinet.

The only other change in the war Cabinet involved Clement Attlee. He surrendered the post of Lord Privy Seal to make way for Sir Stafford and was named Dominions Secretary, succeeding Viscount Cranborne. In a manner of speaking, he will represent the Dominions in the War Cabinet.

Churchill Holds Back Posts

Prime Minister Churchill himself retained the portfolios of defence minister and first lord of the treasury.

Fleet, informed sources said today.

These sources declared that early in February no less than 34 U-boats were known to be at sea in the North Atlantic. This probably means, they added, that actually there were three times as many operating in this area at that time.

Japanese demands for naval co-operation were said to have been made at an Axis conference in Bavaria early in January. Vice-Admiral Karl Doenitz, in command of the U-boat fleet, was said to have told them he would use "pack tactics" on the sea lanes near Europe while his largest submarines and best crews would range the North American coast.

Hitler was said to have given Doenitz the same latitude which the Kaiser gave Admiral Von Tirpitz in the Spring of 1917, when the Germans announced the opening of unrestricted submarine warfare.

The attacks on Allied tankers moving out of Aruba in the Netherlands West Indies and along the eastern coast of the United States were seen as designed to cripple the world's dwindling tanker fleet.

Raider After Refineries?

British sources predicted that the Germans, after three months of the heaviest U-boat offensive ever seen, might gamble on sending one of their larger warships into the Caribbean to attempt a knockout blow at Aruba and its refineries.

By then, according to this plan, the submarines already would have forced the Allies to disperse their heavier surface ships and such an operation might be executed successfully.

The informants said that among the submarine commanders operating in the Western Atlantic are Capt. Hardegen, directing operations of a flotilla off the coasts of the United States, and Capt. Von Tiesenhausen, credited with the sinking of the battleship Barham in the Mediterranean last November.

The flotilla headed by Hardegen was credited in a recent Berlin communique with the sinking of eight ships, "including three tankers in the immediate vicinity of New York harbor."

City Employees Favor Payroll Plan

F. D. Kerr, K.C., addressed more than two hundred city employees, from the Utilities Commission, city building staff, and the various other departments at a special meeting arranged by His Worship Mayor James Hamilton this week, and the meeting was held in the Lyceum on Simcoe street.

Mayor Hamilton was chairman of the meeting and invited all the employees in order that they might be better informed on the great need that exists for the success of the Second Victory Loan. The payroll deduction plan has been introduced in the city departments and the various sections are highly organized for an internal canvass, in brief every opportunity is being given the employees to purchase the war bonds.

Mr. Kerr's address was inspirational and was an earnest appeal to the individual to put his own house in order before he expects any improvement in world affairs. He stressed the importance of maintaining and protecting the Christian way of live, and he referred to the Cross on Calvary, the cross of sacrifice, and the three crosses, all used to make up the Union Jack.

It was explained to the employees that they could purchase the bonds for cash through the city offices or they might use the payroll deduction plan if this was more convenient.

Mothers Urge Bonus To Kill Wolves

Residents in the Mount Julian area claim that introduction of daylight saving in the rural areas has brought the wolf menace home to the settlers and farmers of the north country, as children leave for school so early in the morning they are seeing more of the animals.

The fact, too, that many of the men who normally roamed the woods of the northern townships during the winter trapping, have enlisted or are working in the cities, means that the wolves are not molested nearly so much as before. The trappers were always on the alert to pick up an easy $25.00 by bagging a wolf, and they carried rifles and were ready for any eventuality.

Now, the north country folk are clamoring for an organized wolf hunt, but experiments along that line have indicated that this system of hunting wolves is quite ineffective. In Mara ownship and at Apsley organized hunts have been carried out, but no wolves were even seen, let alone shot.

The belief is growing that extra inducements in the way of prizes, or a special county bonus should be arranged to induce the north country people, or city sportsmen, to get busy and bag a few of the wolves, and this plan may be introduced soon.

Children living a distance from school have to leave home on daylight saving time and many mothers do not consider it safe for children to walk to school without an adult accompanying them. While taking children to school with horses and sleigh on Monday morning one northern resident saw a wolf quite close to the road. A search was later carried on but owing to poor visibility in the snowstorm the animal made a get-away.

Men cutting wood say that wolf tracks are often made across the woodsmen's path while the men are in for meals. A deer was pulled down and partly devoured in a field not far from Haultain. It is reported that wolves frequently cross Little Cedar Lake as well as the Mount Julian side roads.

3rd Alarm, 2 Days Screams Over Darwin

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 20.—(CP)—The third-air-raid alarm in two days screamed today for the lonely little naval harbor of Darwin, which has been catapulted into sudden, vital importance to the United Nations by the loss of other naval bases.

No bombers appeared but this may have meant only that the Japanese were scouting the effects of their two destructive air smashes yesterday or feeling out the defences of Australia's far northern coast for more forays on the town and its valuable harbor.

Australian fighter planes and anti-aircraft guns gave battle to the 93 Japanese bombers and fighters which roared over in two waves to put the Australian mainland under an invaders' steel for the first time in its history.

They shot down six but were unable to stave off considerable bomb damage both ashore and in the harbor, and casualties including 15 persons killed and 24 wounded.

With some presumed operating from an aircraft carrier, the first wave of 72 planes, twin-engined bombers convoyed by fighters, split into two groups. One smashed at the wharves and shipping. The other attacked inland. A second wave included 21 bombers.

Ships, Wharves Damaged

Several ships were hit, wharves and building were damaged—among them several service and civilian hospitals which were bombed and machine-gunned—but no vital services were destroyed, a communique said.

It announced, however, that some Australian planes were damaged on the ground and that some damage, although not serious, was done to airdromes.

Among the casualties, Postmaster General W. P. Ashley announced, were nine postal employees killed and 11 injured when a direct hit was scored on a trench shelter in which they were refuged.

Although Australians were surprised the enemy had been able to muster such air strength off the northern coast, Australians had recognized the probability of an attack on their home soil and took the news calmly.

Prime Minister John Curtin frankly called it "a severe blow" but he asked Australians to "vow that this blow at Darwin and the loss it has involved and the sufferings it has occasioned shall gird our loins . . ."

the area of the great oil refinery here at dawn yesterday.

United States bombers already were aloft patrolling, and unloaded explosives so quickly that one pilot was confident the U-boat had been damaged.

The submarine's shells hit only unessential targets, without exploding, and Aruba's two great refineries—one of them reported to be the world's largest—was untouched.

Off the island, however, and within 70 miles of the Panama canal, a tanker flying the flag of Panama, was torpedoed and two ships at anchor in the gulf of Paria, off Port of Spain, Trinidad, were damaged Wednesday night by explosions presumably caused by U-boat attacks. The two vessels remained afloat.

These raised to 10 the toll of shipping in these Southern Caribbean waters. Seven tankers were sunk or damaged Monday off this island and Curacao.

Besides the soldiers guarding Aruba, its civilians—most of whom operate the great refineries — are eager for a chance to avenge the 50 or so fellow workers who are dead or missing in the raids on the little, shallow-draft tankers carrying crude oil from Venezuela.

Troops Land On Timor Tokyo Claims

Japs Seek To Drive British Force From Portuguese Island

TOKYO (from Japanese broadcasts), Feb. 20 (AP) — Japanese headquarters claimed today that troops had landed at dawn on Timor and the government information bureau said they had been directed to oust British-Netherlands troops which occupied the Portuguese section of the island last December. (This claim lacks confirmation.)

The landings were effected under the guns of Japanese warships, the announcement claimed, near Dilli and Koepang, which are respectively the capitals of Portuguese and Netherlands Timor.

The information bureau said the Japanese troops would be withdrawn from Portuguese territory as soon as they had succeeded in expelling the British and Indies forces, which they said had moved in without the consent of Portugal and in violation of international law.

The Japanese government the bureau added, is prepared to respect the territorial integrity of the Portuguese colony if the Lisbon government maintains an attitude of neutrality toward Japan.

A communique said:—

the Russians credited their artillery with destroying a German railway train and dispersing two companies of troops.

Soviet guerillas, operating in the Kursk region some 125 miles north of Kharkov, Donets Basin centre, ambushed a German transport column and captured three field guns and 27 cars loaded with supplies.

"A rifle unit commanded by Comrade Glat in the last week of fighting with the enemy captured seven German tanks and 26 guns," a communique said. "The enemy lost more than 2,500 soldiers and officers."

(Even Soviet Generals are often identified simply as "comrade." A rifle unit might be any formation from a squad to an infantry division).

Gas Train Blown Up

A Tass dispatch broadcast by the Moscow radio said Soviet artillery had destroyed two heavily-armored trains—one of gasoline tank cars and the other bearing war materials—as they approached a German-occupied railway station on the southern front.

Shipments of medicine, clothing, chocolate and other gifts from the United States, authorities announced, have arrived in Kuibyshev, the secondary capital of the lower Volga, and the Arctic port of Murmansk for distribution to the Red Army and Russian war refugees.

The government newspaper Izvestia said strong reinforcements from Russian reserve armies which "embrace millions of people" were ready to march to the front soon.

Praising the decision of Premier Joseph Stalin to build up huge reserves through compulsory training, Izvestia said many had already completed the rigorous course and were proving their worth in the field.

Cripps Speaks Sunday

Highlight of the Victory Loan workers' program for this weekend will be the radio address from London, Sunday at 7.30 to 8 p.m. E.D.T., by Sir Stafford Cripps, new Lord Privy Seal in the British cabinet and former British Ambassador to Moscow.

The committee said reports of the employee canvass for the Victory Loan were encouraging. Nearly all of the 1,800 employees of Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., in the Halifax and Dartmouth plants have bought bonds. At Dartmouth, 454 out of 467 are subscribers, and at Halifax, 16 out of 17 departments are signed up 100 per cent.

First town in Nova Scotia to win a pennant for achieving it quota was reported as New Waterford, which claims that in the last war it enlisted more men per capita of population than any town in the British Empire.

10 Quebec Liberals Swing Away Over Conscription

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—(CP).—With the first milestone of the session passed and the Government victorious on five successive recorded votes the House of Commons today turns to some of the sessional legislation and preparations for a secret sitting on the war situation and home defence.

The four-week debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne ended yesterday in a splurge of voting as successive amendments were voted down. The final vote on adoption of the address, which includes endorsation of the government's proposed plebiscite to seek release from pledges against overseas conscription, was 144 to 61.

On that division the opposition parties lined up solidly against the administration and were joined by 10 Quebec Liberals who are opposed to compulsory service overseas. The only non-Liberal to vote for the address was Mrs. Dorise Nielsen [illegible]

Destroyer Takes Torpedo For 1,000 Pilots

"The U-boat fired a torpedo. It missed. It fired another. That also missed. A second later it fired a third torpedo. This time it was on the mark, heading for the belly of the ship.

"The destroyer came between the torpedo and the liner. There was a terrific explosion as the torpedo tore into the destroyer's plates. Smoke towered up in a sacrificial pal. Debris rained onto the liner's decks and into the sea.

"And when the smoke cleared watchers on the liner saw there was nothing except a patch of oil and a few spars. A hundred sailors and an old destroyer for 1,000 pilots and a fast liner.

"That liner had to sail on. It could not pause to pick up survivors while the submarine still lurked. Only seven men were saved, snatched from the sea by a corvette. The voyage continued.

"Later the alarm bells rang again, signalling another submarine. The R.A.F. men were ordered below. When they came back that submarine had been 'dealt with.'

"The liner reached her Scottish haven safely."

Gasoline Theft Brings Stiff Jail Term

COBOURG, Feb. 20—(ENS).—Appearing for sentence Thursday afternoon, Clarence Beebe and Joseph Vitali of Campbellford, were sentenced to 30 days in jail on charges of theft of gasoline. Magistrate R. B. Baxter soundly reprimanded the boys for the theft of the gasoline, pointing out that such an offence was particularly out of place with restrictions on gasoline as they are. Vitali paid $10 and costs for having liquor in an illegal place. As Beebe has been in jail ever since his arrest about a month ago, his term dates from that time. Vitali has been out on bail. They were charged with stealing gasoline on January 24 from a car owned by Frank Taylor at Hastings. Beebe was found to have been driving a car while his licence was still under suspension and for that offence paid $1 and costs at a previous hearing to Thursday's court appearance. Harry Deyman acted for the Crown and T. F. Hall, K., appeared for the defendants.

At an earlier court appearance on the gasoline theft charge, the complainant told the court that he was in Hastings visiting a friend and had left his car parked out on the street. Hearing a noise he ran out and saw a car about to move off with a man whom he recognized as Beebe at the wheels. He took the licence number and then went over to examine his own car, where he found that five gallons had been taken from the tank. He got in touch with Chief of Police William Wellman of Hastings, and supplied him with the licence number.

Chief Wellman related that on the same evening, Beebe came to see him and admitted the theft. Both Vitali and Beebe were taken into custody and a statement was given by each to provincial police. In the signed statements, the two youths told of deciding to siphon some gas from Taylor's car as their own supply was running low. A five-gallon can and a length of rubber hose was found in Beebe's car.

Lions Are Urged To Boost New War Loan

PORT HOPE, Feb. 20—(Special).—Delegates from Peterborough and Bowmanville Lions' Club attended a Zone Council meeting at Port Hope on Thursday night, when club officials reviewed the progress being made by the various club units in war work.

About 45 Lions from the three clubs sat down to dinner at Seaton Hall, and following the banquet were addressed by Deputy-District Governor Ab. Lent, president of the Port Hope club, who told the members to "roll up your sleeves, pull in your belts, and put this Victory Loan over the top, and when that is done, our own war effort, aid for the child bomb victims in Britain must be stepped up into high gear."

For the past few weeks, news pictures from England have been on display in Hynes' drug store window, and they show the fine work being done by the money supplied by the Lions' Clubs of Canada. Already almost $50,000 has been sent over to provide food, clothing, shelter, nursing and medical care for the children, many of whom have not only lost both parents but have been injured in the bombing as well. The money supplied by the Lions' Club is turned over to the Waifs' and Strays' Society to administer.

In the delegation from the Peterborough club were Jack Armitage, Bruce Sargent, Stan Darling and Fred Cripps, and the last named won two tickets to a National League hockey game in a raffle conducted during the meeting.

Obituary

JOHN EDWARD DAINARD.

HASTINGS, Feb. 20 — (ENS).—John Edward Dainard died here after a lengthy illness on Thursday, in his 72nd year. Mr. Dainard, who was born in Prince Edward County, has resided in Hastings for the past 55 years.

During that time he was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Breithaupt Leather Company, and for some years he operated a butcher shop. For the past few years Mr. Dainard tended a large vegetable garden, in which work he was greatly interested.

Surviving are his wife, the former Elizabeth Johnston, two daughters, Mrs. Harold Stuart of Foxboro and Bernice of Belleville, and four sons, Robert of Lindsay, Clifford of Toronto, and Wesley and Nicholas of Hastings. Mr. Dainard is also survived by four brothers, Samuel, George and Jacob of Melford, and Nelson of Belleville; and four sisters, Mrs. Fred Pelling, Mrs. H. B. Rusaw, and Mrs. L. Rusaw, all of Picton, and Mrs. Jacob Wannamaker o Demersville Ont.

Funeral services will be conducted on Saturday at 2:30 by Rev. A. C. Herbert, in St. George's Anglican Church, of which the late Mr. Dainard was for many years a member.

Interment will be made in Trent Valley Cemetery Hastings.

Two Suspects In Cobourg Jail

COBOURG, Feb. 20— (ENS). — Captured at Orono late on Wednesday night by an armed pose of farmers, Mike Zarakov and Fred Cowle of Oshawa are in Cobourg Jail on a reckless driving charge while police are making investigations which they say may result in car theft and breaking and entering charges being laid against the two. Police suspect that they may have been implicated in a number of break-ins throughout the district in the past several weeks. Their cars had been spotted in Newcastle some time before their capture, by Provincial Constable Thompson, and when it was learned that they had headed for Orono the Orono telephone operator, Gloria Richardson, notified farmers in that area who organized a posse and intercepted the car. The two men abandoned the car and went off on foot, but were later trapped in a barn.

Knitting Group Aids Red Cross

PORT HOPE Feb. 20—(ENS-. —The knitting group Marathon met at the home of Miss Phyllis Smith, on South Street, on Wednesday evening, with almost all of its 34 members present.

This knitting group was convened by Miss Hagerman and Mrs. J. Sheehan, with Miss Kay Staples as treasurer. At last night's meeting it was announced that there was $119.50 to be handed into the Red Cross treasury.

A great quantity of lovely work has been done by this group of ladies for different organizations through the winter and at the meetings every second Wednesday since November each member paid 50 cents and thus the $116.50 was acumulated.

Campbellford Co-op.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 20 (ENS)—The Campbellford and District Co-op met here last night. A number of items of business pertaining to the organization were dealt with, but of principal interest to the group was the announcement made by the president, George Airhart, that they had now reached their quota of members. Although they are still endeavoring to build up their membership, he pointed out they now had fifty paid up members and this was regarded as the necessary number to assure the successful operation of the co-operative.

Utmost Preparation Needed

Perhaps it is just as well not to anticipate events too much with respect to the war but at the same time there is less of a shock when a misfortune or reverse does come if we have had a warning about it as a likely happening. The two points in mind are the Northern Pacific and North America.

* * *

It must be evident to even a casual reader that with the success which the Japanese have had so far, in establishing bases in Far Eastern waters for example, in taking Malaya, Hong Kong, Singapore and in entrenching themselves on Sumatra, it must be evident in view of these facts that the Allied nations are going to have a tremendous task to stem the onrush of Nipponese forces elsewhere. A member of the Netherlands Indies Council has told the 40,000,000 population out in Java that the enemy is at their gates there and that only the most stubborn and courageous resistance can save the area from conquest.

The battle which the Japs will put up for Rangoon, because of its great strategic importance, will no doubt be terrific. Their military numbers and strength is prodigious. The Chinese troops in Burma are moving southward to help ward off the enemy's blows, but if it is true that the Japanese are using upwards of 70,000 men in that struggle alone, the job of holding them is going to be staggering.

It would seem that only a miracle could stop their onward march to victory. Perhaps that miracle will develop, but certainly there need be no surprise if their superior numbers and powerful equipment wins through. Later in the war no doubt conditions will be quite reversed. As the picture now unfolds itself, however, the scene is not bright for the defenders of those places.

Here in North America, President Roosevelt has told the public that it is quite possible under certain conditions for enemy ships to shell New York or for enemy planes to drop bombs on Detroit or any other inland city. In fact he could give no assurance that an attack on Alaska was not possible under any plan of enemy operations. Here in Ontario Premier Hepburn warned some time ago that planes might come down in flight from the northwest and drop their death-dealing missiles over our own cities.

Nevertheless, despite all these signs of what can, and may, be done, Governor Lehman of New York State, speaking in Montreal at a Victory Loan gathering there, frankly said that the people of his nation were yet far too complacent and apathetic. They still do not seem to realize the seriousness of the situation. And, while he is saying that, no doubt much the same could be spoken about many people in Canada. All that leaders can do is to warn people. Then, if the worst comes and the population is not ready to meet a disaster, they have at least been advised to get ready.

Fatalities Still Go On

Well may Chief Constable Newhall appeal to motorists to obey rules when his annual report, made to the police commissioners, shows that Peterborough had 587 traffic accidents during the past year. These mishaps resulted in the death of three persons and injuries to 153 others. Furthermore, a property damage amounting to over $15,000 was caused by 143 of the more serious of the road disagreements.

The old law that two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time holds as much today as it ever did, and yet people seem to go on driving mechanical creations whose weight and power may be destructive—driving them as though there must either be two things in the same space at the same moment or the one must be violently knocked out of the road by the other. This craze for running on wheels at a rate, and under conditions, that are likely to lead to trouble, though generally that trouble is avoided sometimes by a hair's breadth, should be sternly repressed in any way the authorities can employ. It is a phase of inhumanity, yes, of [illegible] immorality, this disregard for [illegible] and property of one's fellow beings. But even though police commissioners, constables, newspapers, ministers, speakers and countless other persons write, talk and implore, the accident and death and injury story goes on just the same from year to year not only in Peterborough of course, but all over Ontario.

It is time the legislators of the country took a much more serious view of traffic fatalities and imposed laws which would be severe enough to sharply reduce the number of those who are killed or injured.

Chief Constable Newhall's appeal is made in the interests of the public at large but it is rather a vain hope that it will have the slightest meaning to many persons who can get behind a wheel and turn on the gas. Stern orders and heavy penalties are about the only way that a percentage of people in every community can be made to be cautious and sane.

Coveted By The Japanese

Whatever apathy or complacency existed in Australia before the fall of Singapore, it must be gone now. The possession of that great Far Eastern naval base by the victorious Japanese places our sister Commonwealth in the gravest danger and Prime Minister John Curtain is taking measures to prepare for the worst. He states, in fact, that with the loss of Singapore the battle of Australia has actually begun, though not in any active way as compared with what is going on in the Philippines, in Sumatra and elsewhere. Nevertheless it has been bombed.

* * *

In view of the likelihood of a big push on the part of the yellow men to take Australia—which is the largest island in the world and is sometimes called a continent—one is curious to know about it in a more intimate way than war despatches can give. We in Canada think in terms of vast areas but do not realize, perhaps, that Australia is 2,400 miles long at its greatest length and from 1,700 to 1,900 miles in depth. If by some magic it could be picked up out of the ocean and put down on Canada, it would cover most of our own country.

A feature about it is that it is divided into two unequal parts by the Tropic of Capricorn and consequently belongs partly to the South Temperate, partly to the Torrid Zone. This big Commonwealth is, of course, a part of the British Empire, and because of its size and natural resources, it is a plum much coveted by the Nipponese. It is composed of six original states and two territories and has five or six quite large cities such as Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Brisbane and Perth, with Canberra the capital. There are few remarkable indentations on the coasts, but nevertheless there are numerous spacious harbors.

* * *

The interior of the island, so far as explored, is largely composed of rocky tracts and barren planes, with little or no water. A vast quantity of mineral wealth is one of the features of the Commonwealth. It has rich and extensive deposits of gold and possesses also silver, copper, tin, antimony, mercury, zinc, lead and so on. The vine, the olive and mulberry flourish there and quantities of wine are now produced. Agriculture is a general and productive industry. Aboriginal tribes of low intelligence still roam here and there, back from the civilized areas, there being as many as 80,000 or 90,000 of them. The population of Australia as a whole is not great, being upwards of 7,000,000, but the country is progressive, prosperous and recognized as being advanced in social legislation.

It can be easily understood why the Japanese who are bent on conquering all the lands in Far Eastern waters, both in the north and south, will want to capture that vast, important territory. As Premier Curtain has said, "the fall of Singapore can be only described as Australia's Dunkirk." But realizing there is only one way to combat the enemy, he and his government have passed measures that make every man and woman a defender of the State.

Loyal Friends

The death in New Jersey of Albert Payson Terhune, whose stories about dogs won him international fame, brings to mind how great writers have often adorned their work with word pictures of "man's best friend." Indeed, most men of strong, robust character are fond of dogs and have them about if conditions permit. Sir Walter Scott, for instance, was a lover of these faithful animals and kept some fine types on his estate. Thomas Hardy, the celebrated English novelist, one of the greatest of the post Victorian period, also was so attached to one of his pets that he wrote a fine poem about it. Two of our own distinguished Canadian authors have paid great literary tribute to the beloved quadruped, namely, Miss Marshall Saunders, who wrote the internationally known story, "Beautiful Joe"; and Miss Mazo de la Roche, famed for her "Jalna" series of works.

The list could, of course, be greatly extended. The fact that Terhune based his writings almost entirely on his devoted canine companions gives unusual evidence of the universal interest in this particular animal. Not only has a dog a high degree of intelligence but its quality of loyalty never varies or departs if even reasonable consideration is shown.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A thirty-five year "courtship" has ended up in "court," out Sarnia way. Kind of a natural association of ideas, all except the "ship" which seems to have gone on the rocks.

The police dog with a nose for liquor which helped the Royal Canadian Mounted Police locate a still, must have been sired by the pedigreed dog registered as John Barleycorn.

A little spark may lead to incalculable trouble, as in the case of the great luxury liner "Normandie" at a New York dock. Another warning to young men not to do too much sparking.

Dr. Hogg, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, says that the supply of electricity is to be sharply curtailed to provide for increasing war industry demands. No doubt much can be saved by domestic consumers alone if they learn to turn off lights that are not necessary.

Apparently Toronto does a good deal of talking. It has more telephones per hundred inhabitants and better long distance facilities than any other city in the British Empire, according to the general manager of the Bell.

Boredom is said to be worse than bombing in Malta, that rocky island in the Mediterranean which has been raided 1,579 times. Of course that can be understood for the novelty of air attacks will have worn off by this time.

The war plants of Canada are certainly getting "in high." According to official returns they are speeding up at such a clip that men and women with technical skill, or some other special training, are needed by the hundreds to meet the requirements of industries in different parts of the Dominion.

The demonstration in Montreal of a few students and other inflamed irresponsibles over the possibility sometime of conscription should not be taken too seriously by people elsewhere. Premier Godbout properly rebuked them. A soda fountain is made of solid material but the effervesence is what makes the noise and the bubbles.

The Magna Carta, which was shipped to the New York World's Fair and later put on display in the library of Congress at Washington, has been hidden in a bomb proof repository along with the U.S. Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution. But though they are put away in the dark, their light continues to shine and it is of special interest to note that the two — one representing hard won liberties in England and the other in America, repose now together.

EQUALITY OF SACRIFICE

(Victory Loan, 1942)

Equality of sacrifice! How can that ever be
When I can only labor give while others die for me?
While kinsmen upon wings of death to heights of valor rise,
Or die upon Malayan shores or 'neath hot Libyan skies!

Equality of sacrifice! When Hong Kong's gallant band
Had raised a torch on high to set a standard for our land!
And while Canadians bravely dare the challenge of the seas,
The death that lurks beneath the wave and rides upon the breeze!

But what know I of sacrifice who am but asked to spend
A little less on my desires, and to my country lend—
At well-paid rate of interest—the money that will buy
The implements of battle for the men who fight and die?

Equality of sacrifice! Dear God, so little asked
Of one who in security and comfort long has basked!
Equality of sacrifice! Dear God, so let me give
Of all I have unstintingly that Liberty may live!

Military Expert Answers Hepburn's Talk

By FLETCHER PRATT
New York Post Military Expert

IT COULD BE called sheer tough luck for Premier Hepburn of Ontario to get himself crowded from the front pages by the details of the Marshall Island raid, in which the U.S. Navy found the enemy successfully, and the action in the Straits of Dover in which the British found their half of the enemy with a conspicuous lack of success.

Actually the matter is by no means as simple as this, and a lot of people are going to keep on believing Hepburn, or suspecting that there is something in his imputation of a kind of cowardice to the American naval leaders.

In the last war the Germans similarly avoided risking their ships and so missed golden opportunities; and one of the reasons the Japs have been going ahead is that they have been treating ships as expendible material, which can be lost freely to achieve a strategic gain. But the strategic positions are not the same and should be understood.

TWO SIMILAR CASES

The Japanese fleet, says Hepburn, is "right at Manila, at Singapore and Shanghai." Why doesn't our navy go get 'em? Well, Mr. H., what about the famous Canadian army, and why doesn't it go get Germans? We can tell where they are; they are right across the Channel, 50 miles away from those Canadian divisions encamped in England.

The case is exactly similar: the enemy has superiority within his present sphere of action, due to the fact that he has more base points, can assemble more force and supplies within that sphere of action than an expeditionary force could take with it.

When it attacked the Marshall Islands the U.S. fleet was acting at very nearly the limit of its effective radius—unless it took fuel-carriers along, and an admiral who takes tankers with him into enemy waters must always think first of protecting them and only second of fighting the enemy.

The next push of our sea forces down in this part of the world may conceivably reach a further objective; with the establishment of the outpost along the Pearl Harbor-Wellington line, we have gained fueling points that extend our objectives in Jap-held territory.

BRITISH CAUGHT NAPPING

But the accomplishment of really great results, the seizure of territory from the Japs, must wait on the construction of enough airplanes, the training of enough troops, to enable us to do what the Japs are now doing among the Dutch islands.

The escape of the three German ships from Brest is quite a different matter. Strategically, the British were caught napping again—overconfident, unorganized, unready, one more example of the thoroughly bad sea strategy that allowed Vichy France to hold Dakar, and the Repulse and Prince of Wales to be lost for no purpose.

The blame rests in London, which in each case has failed to give gallant and capable seamen on the spot the means of victory; and if Winston Churchill is "alone responsible" as he says, it is full time to consider replacing him with some one who has more military sense. A commander who leads his nation inspiringly from one defeat to another is great only in the pages of a romantic novel.

NAZI SPIES—THE ANSWER

The British were overconfident; they assumed that the repeated bombings of the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at Brest had ruined those ships. (Incidentally, the performance of the three German vessels is the best of all proofs, if it were needed, that the airplane still has a long way to go before it drives the battleship from the sea.) They were unorganized; the attacks on the three Nazi vessels seem to have been made only by Channel patrols of light craft, with bombers of the R.A.F. bomber command.

Worst of all is the British failure to get into action with heavy gunnery ships. There are at least three vessels in the British navy that had both the speed to catch the Germans and the guns to sink them. The distance from Brest is long enough to have given them plenty of opportunity to join the fight if they had been anywhere around at all.

And perhaps this is, after all, the answer. The German espionage system was functioning full blast; it learned where the fast, heavy British ships were, and the moment was chosen so the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau would not have to meet them. British intelligence seems to have been asleep once again.

WAR LITERATURE

SEED catalogues are coming, never more appreciated than in this year of war literature. Zinnias and marigolds. Snapdragons and verbena. Sweet peas and morning glories.

Wistfully we turn the pages until, like a challenge, here we read, "New and Better Vegetables." Red cabbage. Long orange carrots. Plume celery. Golden Bantam corn. White spine cucumbers. Scarlet Globe radishes. Blue Hubbard squash. Break o'Day tomatoes. Just as enticing. Just as colorful. And the world's at war.

"Maybe," we say slowly, as we turn over more pages of profitable possibilities, "we better this year raise vegetables." Who says a seed catalogue is not war literature?—Christian Science Monitor.

• Darwin Blow Java-Aimed

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Japanese air attacks on Port Darwin look like an attempt to isolate Java for attack rather than a prelude to an invasion drive at Australia. They are aimed both at impeding American - Australian reinforcement of Java and at stirring popular clamor in Australia against further weakening of home defense forces.

The scope of the bombing raids is significant. Port Darwin is an essential advance operating base for Allies in the Netherlands, a Pacific supply line pivot. In no other case except the Pearl Harbor, Singapore and Manila surprise attacks has such an enemy air fleet been concentrated as at Port Darwin.

More than seventy fighter-escorted bombers made up the first wave. Four of twenty-one ships in the second wave were downed. Whether any first-wave craft also were knocked out has not been stated.

That gives an impression of a successful surprise attack. Lacking word as to damage wrought, its effectiveness cannot be gauged. If the port was crowded with Allied combat and troop supply ships, it could prove a heavy blow.

HUNT FOR CARRIERS

The nearest Japanese-held land bases for the big bomber flight over Port Darwin are 600 miles and more away, about their distance limit. The fighter escorts must have been picked up at sea from carriers. The hunt for those carriers must be on by Australian and probably American planes. Their elimination would go far to protect Port Darwin from further large-scale air attacks.

In any event sustained bombing of the port seems improbable owing to the distances involved and also to the fact that Japanese air power will have to concentrate against Java if a quick kill there is to be attempted. Yet the raids may have forced reassignment to the Port Darwin area of Australian and American units intended for the Java front.

The strength of the first-wave flight over Port Darwin is all the more significant because it was a departure from the general rule. Except in the initial Japanese surprise attacks that started the Pacific war, only a dozen or two planes have been counted by Allied observers. Once or twice from thirty to forty have been noted. That does not apply, of course, to covering operations for land battles in Malaya and Luzon.

AIR POWER STRAINED

Those small raiding groups mean just this: Japan's air power is strained heavily to meet all the requirements of the vast and distant battle front she has created.

There are no authentic figures on her plane casualties thus far in the war, but they have been heavy. Japanese plane production capacity is estimated by some authorities at not more than 500 a month in all types. The active fronts in the Indies and in Burma are many days from Japan by steamship. Filling the casualty gaps must be an increasingly difficult task.

In some degree air attrition and waning oil reserves must be sapping increasingly at Japanese striking power. Accelerating and vast expansion of American plane production is certainly bringing closer the hour when the Japanese will lose control of the air in vital Pacific areas.

Desperate Tokyo efforts to clinch previous victories by cracking the Java defense bastion before the United States war effort can attain full scope underscore the Port Darwin raids. The Indies are the economic plum for which Japan is fighting. Loss of time in seizing Java could be fatal to her, as fatal as an Axis failure to strike soon somewhere in Europe to hamper United Nations' efforts in the Pacific.

WE'RE TOO COMPLACENT

THIS is a greater war than the last war, but the last war was not called the Great War without reason. When we think of it today we are apt to forget that it was a long and desperate struggle. Because we were the winning side, we tend to think of it as a series of victories. It was nothing of the kind, and the Germans do not forget the bitterness of the conflict. They remember only too well the successes that nearly carried them through, and the humiliation of their ultimate defeat. More than anything else in the world they dread another beating. And they will sacrifice themselves without stint and fight ferociously—and so would we in their place—to avoid it.

We, on the other hand, are not sufficiently afraid of defeat. We are too complacent. This mood persists, in spite of many setbacks. In spite of many setbacks, we still think we shall have another series of glittering triumphs—forgetting that last time there was no series of glittering triumphs, but a gain here, a loss there, and buffets and bludgeonings amany.

Let us remember—and let us remember it not so much as an antidote to alarm but rather as a spur to audacity and capacity—that at one period in the last war the enemy was in control as far south as the eastern frontier of Egypt, as far east as Mosul, of Belgium and a large chunk of France, of the whole of Poland and much of Western Russia, and of the whole of the Balkans except a fringe of Greece.—Johannesburg Times.

NORWAY'S TWO WORTHY

Norway has two great objects in this war. One is to free itself. The other is to erase the blot on its escutcheon. The blot is Quisling. It is a question whether or not the Norwegians regard the second named object as the more important. If they extirpate Quislingism, they will remove the tarnish on their name and, by that fact, free themselves.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

To The Editor . . .

JAPS A MIXTURE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In a Saturday editorial, you refer to "two yellow races—Chinese and Japanese." About the time Japan came into the war, a Toronto paper observed that now people should find out the racial origin of the Japanese.

Apropos of this I quote the following from "Foreign Lands and Peoples" by J. Russel Smith: "We might say that China is Japan's mother country. Long ago Chinese people migrated into Chosen (Korea). From Chosen they migrated into Japan. But there were people in Japan already; perhaps they were Malays from the South Sea Islands. These native brown people mixed with the Chinese who came. The Japanese are therefore not altogether like the Chinese people, although in some respects the two peoples are similar."

The Japs are apparently not, to quote Hitler, "a pure yellow Aryan race," but a mixture of the yellow and brown races.

A Bible Message For Today . . .

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Send thou men, that they may search the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel....

And they returned from searching of the land after forty days....And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, through which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of great stature.—Num. xiii, 1, 2, 25, 32.

And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and against Aaron: and the whole congregation said unto them, Would God that we had died in the land of Egypt! or would God we had died in this wilderness!....

And Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, which were of them that searched the land, rent their clothes: and they spake unto all the company of the children of Israel, saying, The land, which we passed through to search it, is an exceeding good land. If the Lord delight in us, then he will bring us into this land, and give it us; a land which floweth with milk and honey....

And the Lord said unto Moses, How long will this people provoke me? and how long will it be ere they believe me, for all the signs which I have shewed among them?....Because all those men which have seen my glory, and my miracles, which I did in Egypt and in the wilderness, and have tempted me now these ten times, and have not hearkened to my voice; surely they shall not see the land which I sware unto their fathers, neither shall any of them that provoked me see it; but my servant Caleb, because he had another spirit with him will I bring into the land whereinto he went; and his seed shall possess it.—Num. xiv, 2, 6-8, 11, 22-24.

TWILIGHT OF THE GODS

IT isn't funny any more, but merely a little sickening, to read of Berlin radio broadcasts beamed for East Asia telling how Wotan, the German pagan god, is one with the Japanese god of the sun and the winds as fellow-symbols of pure Aryanism, linking Germany and Japan in a supernatural bond.

The appalling thing about all this twaddle is not merely that it is irrational, silly, and impudently faked. It is that millions of people have been induced to act on the orders of the kind of mind that produced it.

That, too, is what we are fighting.—Kitchener Record.

Marmora Lady Wins Prize For Pickerel

TORONTO, Feb. 20. — Speckled trout weighing better than seven pounds; one muskellunge weighing in at over 46 pounds; a bass tipping the marker at nearly seven pounds; one lake trout of 45 pounds, and a pike weighing 24¼ pounds, and pickerel going 11½ pounds brought major honors to fortunate fishermen—and women—in the Morley E. MacKenzie Angling Contest according to results published to-day. Mr. MacKenzie, well-known Toronto sportsman, sponsored the contest some years ago and announced today it would be continued this year.

Winners will each receive silver cups standing nearly three feet high, while runners-up will also be suitably rewarded. The cups will remain the property of the fortunate anglers.

The Nipigon River, as usual, scored heavily in the speckled trout classes, with John Nixon, Fort William, taking first prize in the "caught on fly" class and second prize in the "caught with bait" class. Using a home-made streamer, Mr. Nixon took one fish weighing 7 pounds 6 ounces, while with bait he landed another which weighed 7 pounds 4 ounces. R. H. Adams of Prophetstown, Ill., took a 7 pound 10½ ouncer to take first place in the bait class. Hiram A. Lyke of Oconomowoc, Wis., took the second place in the fly class with another streamer-caught Nipigonner.

The big muskie fell to the rod of Mike Ament, Vermilion Lake, near Hudson, Ont., and weighed 46 pounds 2 ounces. Mr. Ament's fish was caught on a bait of his own invention. Second prize in the muskie class went to Walter H. Brown, Floral Park, N.Y., with a fish weighing 39¾ pounds, and was caught in Crowe Bay, Trent River.

Again as was the case last year, women took two out of the first six places. Mrs. Hazel Manning, Syracuset, N.Y. with live bait at Fernleigh Lodge, Long Lake, took 6 lb. 14 ounce small-mouth black bass, while Mrs. A. M. Dennis, Marmora, Ont. took the pickerel prize with an 11½ pounder taken while trolling in Crowe Lake, near Marmora.

A monster lake trout weighing 45 pounds was taken by Bert Ashkewee, Cape Croker, off the Bruce Peninsula, to take major honors in this class, while second place went to Clifford D. Irvine, Empire, Ont., for a 36½ pound trout taken in Lake Nipigon.

Arthur A. Johnson of Leaside, Ontario, kept himself in the running with a small-mouth black bass weighing 6 pounds 8 ounces, taken from Green Lake, Matawachewan, for which he was awarded second prize.

Sturgeon Falls, Ontario provided two pike to take the first two places in this class. Simon Gratton, with a 24¼ pound pike, won the cup with a 24¼ pound pike, won the cup, while the consolation prize went to Paul Patenaude of the same town, with a 22½ pounder caught in Lake Nipissing.

A 10 pound 7 ounce pickerel brought the consolation prize to Gordon F. Becker, Kitchener Ont. Mr. Becker caught his fish with a live minnow on Lake Narbonsing, near Corbeil, Ontario.

Scores In Trial Heat But Fails In Finals

Charles Hlad, of Michigan normal, sets a brisk pace over the timber as he wins his heat in running of the 60-yard high hurdle event of the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden, New York, in world record breaking time of 7.2 seconds. But in the finals of the event Hlad could do no better than finish third behind Fred Wolcott, unattached, and Bob Wright. Others shown in the heat are: Joseph Pausha of Manhattan, John J. McKinley, Jr., of Harvard, and Robert Wright of Ohio State.

Marlboro Aces Fail To Score In 3 Playoffs

TORONTO, Feb. 20 — The disturbing question before the house this morning is "What's wrong with Grigor, Farrant and Stewart?"

Just in case you don't know—the three guys in question are George Grigor, Whitey Farrant and Gaye Stewart (little has been heard of them lately), formerly the ace attacking trio of Marlboro Seniors.

Marlboros have engaged in three playoff games with Hamilton and the so-called "Big Three" have failed miserably on the attack. In fact they cannot lay claim to one goal-scoring effort among them. Many reasons have been advanced for the sudden downfall on this threesome—but the most important, probably, is that they're just not playing the hockey they're capable of playing.

Far Below Form

Nobody will ever argue that Grigor lacks fight. He's scrappiest of all probably on the team, but the popular centreman has not been performing up to his former standard. Farrant has been completely off. He's "blown" several glorious scoring chances, maybe through over-anxiousness. And Stewart, while giving his all, has been away off the brilliant stride he displayed during the closing games of the schedule. Possibly Gaye has been worrying a little too much about his checks, and passing up chances that ordinarily would produce almost sure-fire tallies.

At any rate the 'Big Three' have not produced so far in the series and the future hopes of Eddie Powers' club rests entirely on their shoulders. Let's hope they "find" themselves shortly.

Tonight, the Dukes will step out on the Gardens ice for their fourth argument with the Majors. A win will square the series at two victories each—but a defeat will shove them on the brink of elimination. The following game is carded for Hamilton ice next Monday.

Use Same Lineup

Powers announces that his lineup will be the same as that which played in Hamilton Wednesday. Jimmy McKelvie, Obs O'Brien and Eddie Shamlock, who have carried the brunt of offensive power, will be on one line, with Grigor, Stewart and Farrant the other trio. Bastien will be in the net, with Elwyn Morris, Murray Henderson, Bob Copp and Walter Murray, all of whom have played stellar hockey in this series, on the defence again. Primeau will be the extra forward.

The fast-skating Majors have been full value for their edge on this series, outplaying Marboros in all three games. But staunch supporters of the Dukes believe the locals will "snap out of it" tonight and perform in the manner that stamped them as the "team to beat" before the playoff series got under way.

The other half of the semi-final bracket shifts to Niagara Falls' ice tonight, and St. Catharines must come through with a win, or also face elimination in their next engagement at home next Monday night. The Weavers will have speedy Hal Cooper on deck for the game. The right-winger suffered a charley-horse in the last game in St. Kitts, but was pronounced last night fit enough for action.

Dim Track Ghost Is Greg Rice KeepingInShape

(By GAYLE TALBOT.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20—(AP). — Word that Gregory Rice, the greatest distance runner the United States ever has produced, was to be seen every night racing around a pitch-black track up at Columbia University all by himself, no matter how cold it got, was sufficient to haul this observer out of a warm room last night to make a personal check.

Well, it looked for a long time as if nothing was going to happen. The track was here, all right, and a biting wind, but no Rice. And then out of the gloom came a little guy bundled to the ears, filled with apologies. It was Rice.

"I'm awfully sorry I can't work out tonight," he said. "But I fell down a few steps a couple of days ago and sprained my knee. It isn't much. I'll be all right for the meet in the Garden Saturday night, I think; but it might do more harm than good to run tonight. You see, I haven't got a coach to tell me these things nowadays."

In normal times this athlete would have been famous about now. In him the United States finally has produced a distance runner who could run the heels off the Finns, including the fabulous Paavo Nurmi and Taisto Maki. It is time for his "world series," but there won't be any this year.

Instead, Rice is putting in a full day working for a toy manufacturer on Fifth Avenue, and then taking the subway up to Columbia and working out by himself. He goes 'round and 'round the track, with only a dim light down at one end. On Saturday nights he gets out and runs two or three miles here or in Philadelphia or Boston against the best opposition they can gather, but as a rule it isn't much of a race. Rice always wins. At least, he has won his last 41 races, indoors and outdoors.

The little fellow with the big chest tried to get into the army, but they turned him down. He has a double hernia, which causes him to wear a brace around his middle.

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. —(Advt.)

Minor League Plans Finals

The South-end Minor Hockey League completed its 1941-1942 schedule last night at the Sacred Heart Rink. Only two games were played, and in each, there was but little doubt regarding the ultimate verdict from the opening bell, the first ending in a 12 to 3 trouncing, the second in a 4-0 shutout.

The Bantams opened the night's play, with the Westenders displaying far too much class for the Canucks, and finishing their complete schedule without a single loss. Darling with six goals and McDougall with four were the big guns for the winners, with McNaught and Williams checking in with single markers. Masters, Peel, and Connelley, each scored once for the losing Canucks.

Canucks—Payne, Post LaPlante, Masters, Peel, Connelley, hillips.

Westenders—Zavotz, Frise, Harding, McDougall, Darling, McNaught, Giardino, Williams.

The other contest of the evening was in the Midget division, and the Colts were returned the victors over the Canucks by the shutout route 4 to 0. Jones and Murphy divided the scoring for the winners, each with two smart goals, while Post in the Canucks' nets was the losers' shining star. The Colts had but a single tie to mar their otherwise perfect record for the entire season, and are the tea to beat for Midget honors.

Colts — Dorsett, White, Edgar, Beatty, Murphy, Dundas, Jones, Menzies, Outram.

Canucks—Post, Giardino, Duggan, LaPlante, Daley, Lavoie.

Due to the uncertainty of having ice on outdoor rinks at this time of year, it is the decision of the league executive that the play-offs will this year be a single sudden-death game between the top two teams in the regular schedule. The final playoffs have been set for next Tuesday, and the following is the schedule for the play-offs: 6-7, Westenders vs. Spitfires; 7-8, Colts vs. Canucks; 8-9, Churchills vs. Canucks.

Stirling Whips Tweed Juveniles

TWEED, Feb. 20.—(ENS)—In a game packed with thrills for everyone on Wednesday night, Stirling Juveniles trounced the Tweed boys at Stirling by the count of 5-3.

Vandervoort opened the scoring on a pass from Bastedo. Connor tied it up five minutes later. Patterson put the locals in front on a solo effort, and Meraw got the equalizer, with only a minute of the period left. MacIntosh got the next tally for Stirling in the second with Vandervoort assisting and Meraw again tied it up. In the last period Vandervoort scored from Bastedo and McIntosh alone to end the game and the scoring was Stirling 5, Tweed 3.

As a result of the game, Stirling ended three points on top of the nearest rival Tweed, with Campbellford third and Frankford away down in the heap.

Lineups:

Tweed: Goal, Wagar; defence, D. Connor and F. Hayes; centre, Price; wings, Meraw and Rivers; subs, Thompson, G. Connor, C. LaVallee, Shannon.

Stirling: Goal, D. Bastedo; defence, Wright and MacIntosh; centre, Bastedo; wings, Patterson and Vandervoort; subs, Utman, Jackman, Scrimshaw, Tullock.

Referee—Elsbury, Tweed.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Peterborough Soldiers are in Whitby tonight, battling the Palm Billiards team in the second game of the group playoff series. It should be a tidy argument. The Petes will be facing a Whitby team at full strength but on the other hand fast ice is assured and on going to their liking the Scates-Ellis gang are confident that they can handle the best Whitby can toss out against them and get a hammerlock on the series by picking off their second straight win. Barnes will be back on the Whitby defence and Cooper at his left wing post on the first line, leaving Heard to centre Gamble and Brown on the second line. That will be a stronger team than the Petes defeated here Wednesday night but the Soldiers claim that it will not be strong enough to prevent them from earning another win, although they would have preferred to have played at the Oshawa Arena, rather than on the Whitby cushion. However the Oshawa facilities were tied up with a skating carnival and the game had to be staged in Whitby—The Petes have played two games in Whitby this season, winning the first fixture 7 to 1 and losing the second 4 to 3 in ten minutes' overtime.

* * * * * *

Whitby will be back here Monday night for the third game of the series and on that occasion, too, will be able to ice their strongest lineup as there are no Toronto engagements for five or six Whitby players who double in brass in the Queen City loops. That means of course Jerry Cooper will be here to team up with Covert and Dafoe on the first line. That has been a potent scoring combination all season, although there are signs that the players have been over-worked. Doc Dafoe looked as if he were playing from memory in Wednesday night's game and Covert, although he tried hard was no ball of fire. He has been playing four or five games a week and admitted before the game here that he was "punchy" as a result of the tough grind he has been going through for weeks. Monday's game should be about the highlight of the season, regardless of what happens tonight in Whitby and reserved seat tickets are in keen demand. The biggest crowd of the campaign will jam the rink for the third meeting between the rival teams in the playoff series.

Looking back sadly at the ruins of Belleville's hockey season Scribe Ken Colling gloomily remarks that there was "not a single Belleville boy or product of local minor hockey" on the Reliance team this year and then stresses the need of developing young players. At that he is dead on the target and what he says applies here too. Here it is: "Two years ago a four-teamed juvenile league was operated in Belleville with something like 75 teen-aged boys. There are as many boys in Belleville today anxious to play hockey, but can't be expected to assume the business or management end of a club that is to compete in provincial playdowns. From the ranks of St. Mikes and B.C.I., alone a strong Belleville juvenile squad could be selected, to say nothing of the dozens of teen-aged boys who are not attending secondary schools but who might develop into future stars if given an early hockey education. In the final senior "B" O.H.A. game played in Belleville this season not a single Beleville boy or product of local minor hockey groups was included on the team, which does not speak any too well for a city of 15,000 population. Now that war activities assume the attention of adults, the time is ripe for sponsorship of sports among the minors, thus preparing for the post-war period."

* * * * * *

Today, February 20, is rather an important date in Peterborough hockey history. A number of memorable games were played on that date. Thirty years ago for instance, the Bear Cats, with Joe Dwyer playing his first season as goalie, had a great battle in Orillia in the O.H.A. junior semi-finals. Orillia had beaten the Peterborough kids 8 to 2 in the first game on local ice a few years ago tonight and gave the Cook-Jupp gang a real tussle before they finally were nosed out 9 to 8. And 25 years ago tonight Peterborough's soldier team, the 247th Battalion outfit met Oshawa here in the second game of a third-round series. Oshawa had surprised the hockey world by handing the soldiers their first defeat of the season in Oshawa by 9 to 5 and the Peterborough gang were badly worried. But they needn't have been for they smothered the visitors 7 to 0 with Bobby Armstrong and Detroit's Jack Adams each shooting three goals. The Oshawa supporters lost hundreds of dollars betting on the round and to make their cup of woe full, the Peterborough police raided a local cigar store after the game and a number of Oshawa fans were fined for being frequenters of a common gaming house.

* * * * * *

In addition to the basketball marathon at the Collegiate gymnasium tonight which finds senior and junior teams from five Collegiates hooked up in a tournament which starts tonight and winds up tomorrow, there is a bargain program at the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium where the Ladies' Basketball League offers a three-game card, without a dud on the bill. The Generals clash with Westclox in the 7.30 game and it should be a honey of a ball game, with both teams fast and powerful and both wanting that win. Quakers and Y Gym clash in the 8.30 fixture and it will be another hard-fought contest. Both teams are still very much in the running and a victory tonight would be a big help to either of them so they will undoubtedly turn on the heat early. The third fixture on the program brings together the Electrics and the much-improved Normalites who were beaten by a single point in their last game and hope to break into the win column at the expense of the Electrics tonight. Of course the Electrics have other ideas.

Almost as interesting as the fight for top spots in the N.H.L. race is the battle between Canadiens, Detroit Red Wings and Brooklyn Amerks for the last couple of positions in the playoff bracket. Canadiens gained considerably over the week-end when they beat Rangers twice but last night they slipped back again when their two closest rivals each won and increased their margin over Canadiens to three points. The Amerks toppled the Boston Bruins in a high-scoring game in New York 6 to 4 while Red Wings gave the Black Hawks one of their worst trimmings of the season at Detroit, winning 6 to 1. All three bottom teams have each played the same number of games so that with nine games left to play the Canadiens are in arrears by three points. It will be a merry old fight almost to the wire between the three clubs to see which one will be finally eliminated.

* * * * * *

The versatile Flash Hollett of the Boston Bruins stepped up to the forward line last night and came through with a four-star performance by scoring two goals and assisting in another but even that fine achievement could not save the shattered Bruins from defeat at the hands of the Amerks. A win would have tied Boston with the Rangers for first place and they tried hard to come through, setting up several early leads only to be finally passed by the battling Amerks who won 6 to 4. Meanwhile at Detroit the Red Wings after a scoreless first period, opened the throttle wide in the second session to rattle three goals past Sam Lo Presti and came back in the final twenty minutes to score another trio. The final score was 6 to 1 for Detroit and one remarkable thing about the tussle was a different Red Wing scored each of the six Detroit goals which is surely spreading the power around.

Doug Abraham, Tom Curvin Lead Bowlers

Tom Curvin and Doug Abraham rolled 816 and 814 scores to lead the City League men bowling at Duffus Alleys last night.

Second place in the league standing changed hands when Joe Dean's Capitols won an easy 4 to 0 victory and second place from the Freeman team. The latter outfit, noted for steadiness had a really bad night. Jay's, Royal Yorks and Old Timers defeated Dunn's, Huffman's and Big Five in 3 to 1 order while the Outlaws' big team score was too much for the Quakers.

A run of strikes to the seventh frame gave Bill Milliken the evening's high single 348. Doug Abraham trailed him with 343, Bud Weese hit 331, Tom Curvin 319, Frank Shine 318, Fred Martin 314 and Vince Anthony 302.

In scanning the score sheets the odd good 300 game is missed. This was the case the last two week's when Bun Rose failed to get credit for two good 300 efforts. We are recording them now.

The standing: Jay's 57, Capitols 44, Freeman's 43, Outlaws 43, Dunn's 42, Old Timers 39, Royal York 37, Big Five 34 Huffman's 26, Quakers 15.

JAP'S SAFETY BELT

Japanese soldiers wear belts known as sennin-bari, which are believed to protect the wearer from harm.

Skiing conditions are all that can be desired, and those who made the trip to Bethany last week-end found the skiing at its best. Over 500 skiers from Toronto, Collingwood, Whitby, Oshawa, Lindsay and Lakefield joined the Peterborough Ski Club members for the best skiing this year.

With the thermometer behaving many spectators were on hand to watch the skiing. Our good friends of Bethany were kept busy all week-end driving sleigh loads of people to the Peterborough Ski Club property.

There is much interest on every side in our activities and the prospects for new members are most encouraging. May we remind those of you who have not sent in your application forms to hurry them along.

Welcome to all the new members who have joined our club this year for the first time, the old members offer a sincere welcome, with hope that your association with the club will be of mutual enjoyment and benefit.

Big Club Meet

Well folks, here is news of the Big Event of the year. With all this grand snow we hope you have been doing a lot of practicing, for we are now able to announce the Club meet. Only resident club members can enter these events.

Senior and Intermediate Men's Downhill and Slalom races—to be run off on the week-end of March 1st at Bethany. Jumping, at Nassau on February 28th.

Senior Ladies Downhill and Slalom races—to be run off at Bethany the week-end of March 1st.

The Board of Directors at their last meeting voted $20.00 towards expenses to send 4 skiers to Limberlost to compete in the Junior meet which is to be held the week-end of March 7-8. Members of this team are going to be determined by the results of our own Club championships.

Juniors your big event of the year is scheduled for March 7. Plans are under way to have the Junior Ski train and races on March 7 at Bethany. This date is indefinite so watch for news of this annual event in next week's paper.

Free Lessons

Instructions for Juniors are held every Saturday afternoon at Jackson's Park. Al Marshall as instructor will be on hand to give the Juniors instructions this Saturday

Class instructions as usual Thursday night at Victoria Park. Free to members only.

Don't forget skiers the special offer to operate the Ski Tow at half the prices on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons for the next two weeks. It takes at least 30 skiers riding the tow to make it possible to operate the tow on these days. It is up to skiers to co-operate with the Club to make it a success, so we can continue for the rest of the winter with this reduction on these two days.

Fort William Ski Club

The second International Meet and Ski Party under the auspices of the Duluth Ski Club and Fort William Ski Club will be held at Fort William, Ontario, February 28 and March 1.

Under ordinary circumstances this meet would have been held in Duluth. However, with war-time regulations preventing Canadians from visiting the United States, and with the feeling that the idea behind the International meet should be kept alive, the Fort William Ski Club is again undertaking the job.

So long folks, see you at Bethany this week-end. We are expecting a crowd as usual from other clubs so if any want to watch some real skiing, come on out this week-end and get in on the fun.

Bus leaves as usual at 10.30 for skiers. Be on time. VI.

Kimball Named Dodgers Fourth Starter

HAVANA, Feb. 20—(AP).—Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn Dodgers believes he has found that fourth starting pitcher he needs to help his club defend its National League championship.

He is Newell Kimball, big, blond right-hander, who is getting ready for his third season with the Dodgers.

"I told Kimball he has a job on my staff," Durocher said after the Dodgers hustled through their first sprir workout yesterday.

"I told him I'm going to pitch him in exhibition games right behind Wyatt and Higbe. I believe he can make it. If he has as much confidence in himself as I have in him, he'll be all right."

The 27-year-old 200-pounder has a better-than-average fast ball, a fair curve and fine control. Although he was with the Dodgers from May 15 to the end of the season last year, Kimball pitched in only 57 innings and won three games and lost one.

Durocher disclosed that Hugh Casey will be his No. 1 relief pitcher again, with Freddy Fitzsimmons and Johnny Allen being manipulat- for certain spots.

Neither Wyatt nor Higbe is here with the squad and both may remain on the mainland until the Dodgers return.

New or Additional COST OF LIVING BONUS PROHIBITED WITHOUT PERMISSION

Order of National War Labour Board to Employers and Employees:

An employer who was not paying his employees a cost of living bonus prior to February 15, 1942, may not start to pay such a bonus on or after that date, nor may an employer who has been paying such a bonus now increase it unless he has specific permission from a War Labour Board.

Whether in the future a bonus may be paid or changed in amount will depend on the National War Labour Board's announcement in May 1942, with respect to any change in the cost of living index between October 1941, and April 1942, unless in a particular case a War Labour Board has given specific permission to do otherwise.

BRUINS FUMBLE A PAIR TO GIVE AMERICANS A 6 TO 4 VICTORY

Red Wings Lace Black Hawks By 6 to 1 Score

(By SCOTT YOUNG.)

Late February is no time to be rebuilding a hockey team. This is a well-known fact, but Boston Bruins are giving it increased emphasis with every outing.

Boston fumbled away a chance to move into a first-place tie with New York Rangers last night, feeding Brooklyn Americans three goals to lost 6-4 in New York while Detroit drubbed Chicago 6-1 in Detroit to remain tied with the Amerks in fifth place.

Brooklyn's winning goal was due to faulty defensive work, and the clincher was scored by a Boston player, Dutch Hiller. An earlier Brooklyn goal—the third—was another direct result of a Boston misplay. Desse Smith cleared a puck across the Boston goal-mouth to Mel Hill, who cleared it right back through the goal-mouth past Frank Brimsek.

Bruins led 4-3 going into the third period, then Jack Church scored an honest goal on a play with Murray Armstrong at 5.27. About five minutes later, Murph Chamberlain beat a couple of drowsing Beantowners to a loose puck and rapped in the winner. And in the 17th minute of play Hiller knocked the puck into his own net, with Bill Benson getting credit for the goal.

Ross Doing Some Digging

Trouble with Bruins is the new talent hasn't been shaken properly into the old machine. Art Ross is trying to replace five of the best hockey players in the world with several guys named Joe, and the plan is economically and physically unsound. Since the Kitchener line returned to amateur ranks with the R.C.A.F., and Dit Clapper and Bill Cowley went out with injuries, Ross has been forced to dig around plenty in the hinterlands. Some of his rookies are good. Jack McGill, who got two assists last night, seems the best of them. But even the best of rookies can't replace what Boston has lost.

In addition to scoring one goal for Americans, Hiller scored one for Bruins. Flash Hollet had two and Harvey Jackson one. Other Brooklyn scorers were Pat Egan and Murph Chamberlain, who had two for the night. Everyone but the the official scorer thought Chamberlain should have been credited with the goal Hiller knocked in, but officialdom prevailed, as usual.

Chicago's loss to Detroit was its eighth on Detroit ice since March 15, 1940, and was one of the most decisive. After a scoreless first period, Don Grosso, Jack Stewart and Gerry Brown scored in the second. Mud Bruneteau, Eddie Wares and Brown again counted in the third before Doug Bentley bagged one for Hawks. The defeat cracked Hawks' three-game winning streak, and left them in fourth place.

Peterborough Collegiate Basketeers In Action

There will be plenty of basketball at the Collegiate gymnasium tonight when a tournament for senior and junior girls' teams, including entries from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough will be staged. The tourney will continue on Saturday morning and afternoon, with the proceeds going to the Collegiate's Mobile Kitchen fund. Here is a glimpse of some of the Collegiate players in action. From LEFT to RIGHT, they are Janet Collins, Shirley Mortimer, Joan Rahmel, and Margaret Langley.

Big Ball Tourney Set For Toronto

WHICITA, Kan., Feb. 20—(CP).—President Ray Dumont of the Semi-Pro Baseball Congress announced today that the 1942 Canadian championship baseball tournament would be staged at Toronto some time in July.

It will be the first time that an officially recognized sandlot baseball championship in Canada has ever been recognized by the organization, Dumont said.

The tournament will be held under the supervision of Lloyd Douglas of Toronto, Canadian commissioner of semi-pro baseball.

Brown Nets Four As Capitals Down Reds 7-4

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 20—(CP).—Patrick Conway (Connie) Brown, slim left winger who was counted on by Detroit Red Wings to be one of their stars in the 1940-41 campaign after a fine showing in the National Hockey League playoffs the year before, is still trying to get back into the big time.

Connie, who comes from the little town of Vankleek Hill, not far from Ottawa, has had his ups and downs since jumping into the pro ranks with Detroit in 1938 from the Cornwall club in the Quebec Senior Hockey League. He has been with the Wings on three occasions since then, but each time his stay has been short and he has drifted back to the minors.

Last night, however, Connie proved he is on the upswing again as he came through with four goals to lead Indianapolis to a 7-4 win over Providence.

The victory swept Caps into a contending position for western division honors as they now remain but one point behind Cleveland Barons and Hershey Bears, co-holders of the top spot.

On another league front last night Washington Lions pulled out their second victory in as many nights when they blanked Buffalo 2-0 behind the superb goal-minding of Bert Gardiner, former member of Canadiens in the National League.

One Below The Reds.

Washington still remains well off the pace in the eastern section held by Springfield Indians, but their win over the Herd put them within one club. Buffalo's position was unchanged by the loss and lead Pittsburg by three points for fourth spot in the western division table.

Although four goals in one game is nothing out of the ordinary in the American League this season, it having been accomplished by several other players and shaded by a six-goal-per-game show by Red Heron, Brown's barrage was completed in masterly fashion.

After Providence had taken a 3-1 lead early in the second period, Brown opened fire and beat Goaler Mike Karakas three times in less than four minutes. Providence came back to get the equalizer before the period ended, but Indianapolis came through with three more in the closing frame, Brown's fourth tally ending the scoring.

Besides Brown, Jud McAtee, John Keating and Bill Jennings scored for Caps. Ab Demarco led the Red scoring with two goals and Buck Jones and Jack Forsey picked up the others.

Washington had to wait until late in the closing period before getting the goals to whip the Bisons. The Herd outplayed Lions over the first two periods, but were unable to get by Gardiner. Then at 13 minutes of the third session, Polly Drouin sent Washington ahead with Lou Trudel scoring the second goal 12 seconds before the game ended.

Brant Lions Lace St. Mike's 22 to 3

BRANTFORD, Feb. 20.—Roaring along with an eye to putting the bee on all the scoring honors in the O.H.A. Big Seven Junior A Group, the local Lions handed St. Mike's of Toronto a 22-3 walloping here last night. It was the highest scoring Junior "A" game seen here in years.

Simpson and West each got half a dozen goals, Fitzpatrick got five, Campbell and Linn two each, and Fraser one. Gregoire, McReavey and Imonti scored for St. Mike's.

St. Michael's: Goal, Cleary; defense, Rebstock and Foley; centre, Imonti; wings, Dodd and Stanton; subs, Carter, Schmalz, Gregoire, O'Neil, McReavy, Midghall.

Brantford Lions—Goal, Hammer; defense, Quackenbush and Simon; centre, Simpson; wings, Fitzpatrick and Latham; subs, Weist, Linn, Campbell, Fraser, Giesebrecht, Barriksy.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press

Don Grosso and Sid Abel of Detroit improved their scoring positions among the individual leaders in the National Hockey League race, when they contributed to the Red Wings 6-1 win over Chicago last night. Grosso moved into a fourth-place tie with Bill Thoms, Chicago, each with 36 points, while Abel picked up an assist to go on even terms with Gordie Drillon, Toronto, in sixth place. Both have 36 points.

The Ranger line of Bryan Hextall, Phil Watson and Lynn Patrick continue to hold down the first three places with totals of 46, 43 and 41 points respectively, while trailing Drillon and Abel are the Boston duo, Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer, now members of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who have 35 points to their credit.

Greenberg was transferred from Boling Field, Washington, to McDill Field after re-enlisting in the air corps. DiMaggio is there for spring training at St. Petersburgh with the Yankees. Oddly enough, Greenberg is stationed only about 30 miles from where his former teammates, the Detroit Tigers, are training.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The death of John Burke, who fought that famous 110-round bout with Andy Bowen in New Orleans, has been reported from two different places within three years, but old-timers say the "real" Burke died several years before these reports started coming in.

Higbe To Train Home With Wife

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Kirby Higbe, star Brooklyn pitcher who declined to accompany the squad to Havana when he learned his wife would not be allowed to go, disclosed today he plans to work himself into shape here.

"I'll do some running and play golf, and get myself into pretty good shape by the time they get back," he said.

The Brooklyn club did not invite players' wives, Secretary John McDonald said, "because we're the first ball club ever to train outside the United States during a war, and we didn't want to add any complications. Besides(we are using planes and there isn't room for them."

Skitch Well Up In Big 'Spiel Aggregate Race

TORONTO, Feb. 20—(CP).—The Ontario Curling Association's 15th annual bonspiel today neared finals in all events, with Walter Cowan's Toronto High Park rink leading the grand aggregate race on nine wins against two defeats.

Alex. Gardiner's Sarnia rink was first to reach a final bracket, defeating Bert Kennedy's Toronto Royal Canadians 13-12 in a semi-final match in the Birks-Ellis-Ryrie competition in the last draw last night. Bert Hall's star Kitchener rink was knocked out of Birks-Ellis-Ryrie play last night, losing 13-10 to Dr. A. E. Walkeys Hamilton Vics.

Although the Cowan rink led the aggregate field entering play today, the Lindsay rink skipped by Percy Skitch appeared to have an excellent chance to take the competition. Cowan has a maximum of three more games to play, while Skitch, with eight wins and one loss, has five. Dr. C. Brereton's Toronto Granites, third in the aggregate, also have a good chance to win. Brereton has won seven and lost one, with a maximum of five left to play.

Finals in five of the six events probably will be completed tonight, at the end of the 'spiel's fifth day. The North American Life, Seiberling, Seagrams, Birks-Ellis-Ryrie and O'Keefe's events likely will finish, with the Royal York final being played tomorrow.

Bilin Line Holds; Rangoon Half Deserted

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 20 — (AP)—This city, which in normal times boasts a population of almost 500,000, was half-deserted today as British Empire troops fought to stem a Japanese invasion drive on the banks of the narrow Bilin River, only 80 miles to the northeast.

(A military commentator in London said today that British positions along the Bilin River are intact after 24 hours of fierce attacks and counter-attacks.)

Last reports from the battlefront indicated the defenders were standing their ground in the face of heavy Japanese attacks, but Rangoon was prepared to hear at any hour that the invaders had forced a crossing of the stream.

Loss of the Bilin River line probably would mean British forces would have to fall back upon the Sittang River, 30 miles to the west and last natural barrier protecting Rangoon.

The Sittang is only 20 miles from Pegu, which is barely 50 miles north of Rangoon on the railway connecting this port with the Burma supply road to China.

(Advices yesterday from Chungking said the sea approaches to Rangoon had been mined and that the city no longer was a practical point of entry for supplies to China. Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, now in India, was said to have arranged to replace the Burma Road with a new India-to-China supply route.)

With the menace to Rangoon clearly defined, it was estimated that approximately 200,000 Indian residents already had departed from the city, bound mostly for India.

Heroes Of Bomber Attack On Axis Submarine

The six-man crew of the B-25A bomber that recently attacked and very probably destroyed a German submarine off the Atlantic coast is shown giving the thumbs-up gesture after they had been honored by their superior officers at Governors Island. The six received letters of commendation for their feat, which was carried out after they first signalled location of lifeboats containing survivors of the torpedoed China Arrow. Four bombs were dropped, all of which fell in dangerous proximity to the sub. A big oil slick indicated damage to the U-boat.

Two Other Dissenters

Of two Liberals who dissented from the government policy because they favored immediate enactment of conscription without a plebiscite, one—Fred Hoblitzell of Toronto-Eglington—voted with the government on adoption of the address and the other—Ross Gray of Lambton West —was absent.

Both recorded their stand by voting for the Conservative amendment to the address which expressed regret at the plebiscite policy and called for complete mobilization of resources, manpower and womanpower.

The vote on that amendment was 172 against and 35 in favor. Mr. Neill joined with Mr. Gray and Mr. Hoblitzell in supporting the Conservative stand but the other Independents as well as the New Democracy and C.C.F. groups voted with the Liberals against it.

Anti-conscriptionist critics of the government were able to record their views on a sub-amendment proposed by Mr. Lacombe which expressed regret the government had not decided to stand by its pledges and called for exemption of farmers and war industrial workers from military service.

The sub-amendment was defeated 195 to 11. The affirmative voters were Messrs. Raymond, Pouliot, Lacroix of Beauce, Lacroix of Quebec-Montmorency, Parent, Gauthier, D'Anjou, Bourget, Lizotte, Lacombe and Roy.

Earlier Mr. Pouliot appealed from a speaker's ruling throwing out a sub-amendment he proposed Wednesday. The speaker was sustained 162 to 16.

Besides the four formal divisions yesterday there was one Wednesday when a C.C.F. sub-amendment calling for conscription of wealth and material resources, and nationalization of industry, was voted down 190 to 16.

Just Two Themes

The debate which ended yesterday was one of the longest in recent years and remarkable in that most of the speeches centred around the two main themes, the plebiscite and compulsory overseas service. Close to 140 speeches were made and most of them included arguments on these issues.

Mr. Neill made the only lengthy speech yesterday and it was about the Japanese problem on the Pacific coast. He criticized the government for being too slow in acting with regard to the Japanese, for imposing too few restrictions and applying them only to Japanese Nationals, and for what he termed indifference toward Pacific Coast defence.

Canadian - born Japanese were more dangerous than those born in Japan, said Mr. Neill, and yet the government was not interfering with them. He said the only final solution of the Japanese problem in the west coast province was repatriation and added he hoped the government would see this was done when the war was ended.

The other holdovers in the war cabinet are Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Lord President of the Council, Sir John Anderson. Capt. Lyttelton was a member of the old inner group as minister of state for the Middle East.

The changes were generally applauded by the press, but political circles believed public opinion might force Mr. Churchill to name a new air minister in place of Sir Archibald Sinclair, who has been criticized since the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau successfully ran the English Channel.

In this connection there was some speculation over the announcement last night that Air Marshal A. T. Harris, head of the Royal Air Force delegation now in Washington, had been named commander in chief of the bomber command, replacing Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, who has been given a "special appointment."

Authoritative quarters, however, denied this move had anything to do with the Channel episode, and there was some talk that Air Marshal Peirse might be given supreme command of the United Nations air forces in the Southwest Pacific.

Some minor changes outside the war cabinet itself appeared to be in prospect. Informed quarters said that Lord Moyne probably would retire as head of the colonial office and that his place would be taken by Lord Cranborne.

Wood to be Shifted

These quarters also said it was likely that Sir Kingsley Wood would be relieved as Chancellor of the Exchequer when Mr. Churchill and the Conservative party, of which he is leader, had agreed on a succession.

The departure of Lord Beaverbrook from the war cabinet was received calmly by the press, some sections of which noted that he had not always been able to get along with others in the cabinet, notably Mr. Bevin.

Capt. Lyttelton's position as minister in charge of production still remained somewhat obscure, but it was believed it would be clarified during next week's war debate. Informed sources indicated the ministries of supply and aircraft production, as well as Admiralty shipbuilding enterprises, would be placed under his control.

By naming Sir Stafford Cripps as House of Commons leader the prime minister made a major concession to those who have demanded that he lighten his own tasks by detailing to another the task of answering for the government on the floor of Commons.

He stood firm on another major point, however, by refusing to give up the portfolio of minister of defence, holding to the thesis that it is inextricably bound together with the post of prime minister.

A minor point was his refusal to limit drastically the size of the war cabinet and divorce its members from departmental duties. Some of his critics in the House had urged an inner cabinet of five members.

Conservatives close to the prime minister, however, promised that in the near future there would be a reallocation of certain ministerial duties and a remodelling of inter-departmental executive committees, which have much to do with the coordination of the fighting services.

Mr. Churchill is expected to call a meeting of the new war cabinet within 24 hours.

In the absence of specific details about Sir Stafford Cripps' powers, the comment from some sources was that Mr. Churchill, as heretofore, had no favored "No. 2" man but had spread war tasks evenly.

Evening newspapers felt the prime minister had emerged with increased popularity because he had bowed to the will of parliament.

Timor is a mountainous island of 12,000 square miles whose Portuguese eastern section was occupied by Netherlands and Australian troops Dec. 18 in a move to block its use by the Japanese.

The Indies govern the western area of Timor, which as a whole is the largest of the Lesser Sunda Islands and home of 800,000 persons. Neutral Portugal protested the occupation of her area and was reported Dec. 26 to have dispatched troops to take over guard duty from the two Allies.

Japanese planes raided Koepang, capital of Timor, Feb. 4 in the first direct thrust at the island, which lies at the end of the Malaya Archipelago 450 miles northwest of Darwin, Australian military and naval base which has been raided three times in two days.

Timor, about 300 miles long, produces gold, copper, gypsum and petroleum. Sandalwood, copra, ponies, cattle and hides rank high among its exports.

Poultry Marts Call On Storage

TORONTO, Feb. 20 — (CP). — The dressed poultry market shows very little change, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports. Fresh receipts of all kinds are light and the quality of arrivals of chicken is reported as poor owing to stagginess and other causes. To meet requirements storage holdings are being called on for both local and out-of-town demand. While local sales were reported showing some slight improvement there was a decided decrease in volume moved to outside points.

The general trend of the market was quiet, though quotations to producers and country shippers remained the same as last week.

Dealers are quoting producers and country dealers (nominal):—

Broilers.—1½ to 2½ lbs., grade A milk-fed, 29c; grade B milk-fed, 27c.

Chickens. — Grade A, milk-fed, over 5 lbs. 24 to 25c; 4 to 5 lbs. 23 to 24c; 3 to 4 lbs. 21 to 22c; Grade B milk-fed, over 5 lbs. 22 to 23c; 4 to 5 lbs. 21 to 22c; 3 to 4 lbs. 19 to 20c; Grade A, over 5 lbs. 22 to 23c; 4 to 5 lbs. 21 to 22c; 3 to 4 lbs. 19 to 20c; Grade B, over 5 lbs. 20 to 21c; 4 to 5 lbs. 19 to 20c; 3 to 4 lbs. 17 to 18c.

Fowl.—Grade A, over 5 lbs. 20 to 22c; 4 to 5 lbs. 19 to 21c; 3 to 4 lbs. 17 to 18c; grade B, over 5 lbs. 18 to 20c; 4 to 5 lbs. 17 to 19c; 3 to 4 lbs. 15 to 16c.

Happy Woman's Story

Everyone who is subject to any form of indigestion should know of this woman's experiences. Advice from one who has had such severe attacks is advice worth having. She writes:—

"I suffered from indigestion, gastritis and constipation, and was so very ill, I had (on medical advice) to live on soda biscuits and milk for three months. Well, a friend advised me to take Kruschen, and now I am pleased to say I am greatly improved. I can eat and enjoy a good meal without any painful after-effects, my skin is clearer—in fact, quite clear—and there is no sign of constipation. I would advise anyone suffering the same to take Kruschen."

—(Mrs.) M. R. L.

The immediate effect of the several salts in Kruschen is to stimulate your liver and kidneys to normal action and help to free your system of poisonous waste matter. Soon after you start on Kruschen you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without distressing after-effects. Ask for the special

Y.P.U. Auctions Decorated Baskets

FAIRMOUNT, Feb. 20.—(ENS).—The Y.P.U. held their annual basket social on Friday evening which turned out a very successful affair.

Miss E. D. Scott, recreation convener, took charge of the program. After a brief worship service assisted by Clark Armstrong and Charlie Knight, she put on several contests which were enjoyed by all.

A splendid supply of baskets of almost every shape and make were decked with ribbons, flags and other decorations, were then handed out to the able auctioneer, Mr. F. Ballantyne, who with his humorous remarks had the bids running all the way from $1 up to $10.

Lunch was served to those who were not fortunate enough in procuring a basket. Proceeds for the evening were $25.40.
